RED SHIRT LEADER HEADS RUSS AFFAIRS

ANARCHIST LENINE IS PREMIER OF THE BOLSHEVIKI REGIME

ALL MINISTERS ARE OF THE BOLSHEVIKIS

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—The all Russian congress of workmen's and soldiers' delegates is reported unofficially to have named a cabinet composed of Bolsheviki and then adjourned.

The cabinet is headed by Nikolai Lenine, as premier, and Leon Trotzky holds the post of foreign minister.

The cabinet will serve until the constituent assembly approves it or selects a new one.

Minister of Finance—M. Svortzoff.
Minister of Agriculture—M. Milliutin.
Minister of Labor—M. Sheliapnikoff.
Committee on War Marine—M. Ovisnikoff, Kreylenko and Bibenko.
Minister of Commerce—M. Nogen.
Minister of Education—M. Lunacharsky.
Minister of Justice—M. Oppokov.
Minister of Supplies—M. Theodorovitch.
Minister of Posts and Telegraphs—M. Aviloff.
Minister of Communications—M. Riazanoff.

In reply to a peasant deputy who protested against the arrest of the former ministers, Trotzky announced that the socialist members of the Kerensky cabinet would be released from the fortress of SS. Peter and Paui pending an investigation. He said the others would be held.

The congress took action to turn over to the land committees for distribution the landed estates and state and church lands. The lands of the Cossacks and the peasants will not be confiscated.

AS MATTERS STAND OHIO WETS WIN OUT

Booze Boosters Now Hold a Margin of Slightly Above Thousand.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 10.—With official county totals from nine counties received and announced today by the secretary of state,(included in the tabulation, the vote in the Ohio wet and dry election today showed a majority of 1,085 against prohibition.

The tabulation, which included returns from sixty-eight counties, officially received by the secretary of state, fourteen county seat official returns and six unofficial but complete county returns showed: For prohibition, 522,445; against prohibition, 523,530.

FORMER LOCAL MAN INHERITS ESTATE

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 10.—A. W. Curtis, of Detroit, formerly superintendent of the Red Cross Manufacturing company, in this city, and a former resident of Fort Wayne, has learned that he is one of the three heirs to a $300,000 estate, in Wisbech, England. The money comes at the death of his mother last August, and the estate is to be divided equally between Mr. Curtis and his two brothers, who are in England. Mr. Curtis is in Detroit, working as superintendent of a section of the American Car and Foundry company.

The brothers in England wrote to Bluffton asking for Mr. Curtis but his exact location was unknown. He was located by a United Press representative and notified of his good fortune. The Detroit man will not go to England after the money until the close of the war and it will be kept in trust by his brothers. The estate consists of a number of warehouses, a department store and two country homes.

FIRE DESTROYS LIGHT PLANT AT CROMWELL

Saw Mill Also Burns, Causing a Loss Estimated at $7,000.

Cromwell, Ind., Nov. 10.—The M. Moore & Co. light plant and sawmill were destroyed by fire here early this morning, causing a loss estimated at $7,000.

The fire was discovered shortly after 1 o'clock by a watchman. Although the flames spread rapidly the fire department was able to save a number of large piles of lumber. The origin is unknown. Officials of the company say that the plant will be rebuilt at once.

As a result of the fire Cromwell will be in darkness tonight except those residents fortunate enough to have kerosene lamps.

HERE'S STORY OF TROTZKY, ANARCHIST LEADER IN RUSSIA, AS TOLD BY FORMER COMRADES IN NEW YORK

In Their Cellar Men Who Were Once Pals of the Bolsheviki Talk of Man Who is Now in Limelight in the Capital of Russia and to Front in World's News.

Special Dispatch from
FREDERICK M. KERBY,
Of Our New York Bureau.

New York, Nov. 10.—I have just come from the cellar at 77 St. Mark's Place, in the heart of New York's East Side, where Leon Trotzky, the man who has overthrown the Kerensky government in Petrograd, for three months edited the little Russian revolutionary socialist paper, Novy Mir, the organ of the Rusisan branch of the socialist party in America.

Surrounded by three of them men who have shared exile with Trotzky in Siberia, and later were his associates in Vienna, Berne and Paris, I sat at the desk in the dingy hole at the rear of the cellar that Trotzky used.

In the intervals between the clank of the presses behind the wooden partition that separated the press room from the editorial sanctum, I got his comrades' story of the man who is now the leader of the Bolsheviki in Petrograd, on whom the future of Russia may depend.

"A wonderful man," said Alexander Menshoy, now editor of Novy Mir. "Tall, commanding, about 40 years old, with a wonderful personality and a winning smile, Trotzky is not a driver, but a leader.

He is one of the very best speakers in Russia. I have heard him speak many times and he is eloquent. A writer, too, he is, and so powerful a one that the German government passed a sentence of six months' imprisonment against him, although he was not in Germany at the time, because of his book attacking Prussianism and kaiserism.

"You must not say that Trotzky is pro-German; he hates kaiserism and militarism with a nenduring hatred."

"Trotzky was born in southern Russia, in the province of Kherson; his father a poor farmer. We do not know how he got his education, but when he was 18 years old he was already connected with the revolutionary movement—the socialist - democratic party. During the first Russian revolution in 1905, he was in Petrograd, as chairman of the council of workmen's delegates. When the revolution was crushed, all members of that council were arrested—Trotzky with them. He was sent to Siberia—his second sentence, since he had already been deported there when 20 years old because he was a socialist. He escaped from Siberia to Switzerland.

"When the present war broke out he was in Vienna publishing a Russian socialist newspaper, and contributing to the German paper, New Zeit, and the French paper L'Humanite.

THIS IS THE ONLY PICTURE OF TROTZKY IN THE UNITED STATES

A PAIR OF KINGS MEET TO PLEDGE MUTUAL CONCORD

Copenhagen, Nov. 10.—King Gustav of Sweden is making a private visit to the king of Denmark. King Christian, at a dinner to the king of Sweden, said that Gustav's visit confirmed their continued concord and co-operation and that happy results would be obtained for the two nations. In reply King Gustav declared that all efforts toward concord and co-operation always would have his loyal support.

Summary of the Day's War News

Along a forty-five mile stretch of the Piave river in northeastern Italy the armies of the Austro-German invaders and the Italian defenders are lined up on opposite sides of the stream. But although Piave line on the lower course of the river has been successfully reached by the Italian forces in their retirement they are being subjected to a newly developed menace on thier left flank.

The Teutonic command has finally sprung its expected drive on the western edge of the Trentino.

Pressing south in the Sugana valley Austro-German troops have forced their way as far as Asiago, Berlin announces, and after desperate street fighting have captured that place.

Rome indicates successful Italian resistance to thrusts in the Tesino basin at Brocon pass. The German announcement, however, may indicate the subsequent pushing back of the line in this sector, which is in the northern Sugana valley region.

The attack in the Asiago district must be held by the Italians if their Piave line is not to be turned, and the whole of northeastern Italy fall into the hands of the invaders. In their offensive of 1916 the Austrians pushed down into the Asiago hills, but ultimately were checked and afterward driven back near their border. It is approximately eleven miles from Asiago to the Italian plains, the Austro-German objective, and the hilly country is admirably adapted to defense.

Further west in the Trentino an Austro-German attack was launched in the Ledro valley but was quickly repulsed.

In Flanders the British attacked north morning and at points pushed forward half a mile in the early fighting. The assault was on a limited front about a mile and a half.

AUSTRO-GERMAN ADVANCE MEETS STIFF DEFENSE

Report From Rome Says Drive Has Been Arrested, But Berlin Has a Different Version.

BIG TURNING MOVEMENT UNDER WAY

Rome, Nov. 10.—The enemy has been checked in the Odro valley, the war office announces. A hostile thrust at Brocon, in the Tesino basin, also has been checked. From Sugana to the sea the Italian rear guards disengaging themselves from the enemy crossed the river, blowing up the bridges.

An Italian rear guard force, which had been surrounded at Lorenzago, succeeded in forcing its way out.

The announcement follows:

"From St. Elivio to the Sugana valley there was normal fighting activity. Strong army detachments attacked our advanced positions in the Ledro valley but were repulsed promptly in spite of the heavy artillery preparation which preceded the action.

"In the mountainous area between the Sugana valley and the Piave valley local engagements took place. A hostile thrust at Brocon in the Tresino basin was checked. At Lorenzago one of our rear guards, surrounded, succeeded in pushing through the village, which was occupied by the enemy.

"On the plains from the railway station of Sugana to the sea our rear guards disengaged themselves from the enemy pressure and crossed the river, blowing up the bridges afterwards.

"Last night five of our airships effectively bombed the crossing of the Tagliamento at Latisana the town of Motta Di Livenza, and troops moving on roads leading to the river."

INVADERS REACH THE PIAVE.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—(Via London.)—The Austro-German forces which are invading northern Italy have reached the Piave river. Asiago has been captured.

The Piave river has been reached all the way from Suzgana to the Adriatic.

Asiago is on the Trentino front twenty miles west of the Piave river, along which the Italians have been expected to fight a decisive battle. The capture of Asiago indicates the Austrians and Germans have begun an offensive on the Trentino front in an effort to outflank the Piave line. The breaking of the Italian front at this front would entail retirement of the Italians from the Piave line.

Suzgana is at the foothills of the Alps. The Germans have reached the Piave all along its course over the plains of northern Italy.

BRITISH ADVANCE FAR.

British Front In Belgium, Nov. 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—The British troops which attacked this morning in the Passchendaele area were reported at an early hour to have battled their way forward as much as 800 yards at some points.

The British army passed many strongly fortified farms north and northwest of Goeberg. At this point they were fighting nearly half a mile from their jumping-off place. The line was pushed northward along the Passchendaele ridge almost to the point at which the highest crest starts sloping downward.

Today's operations were carried out on a 2,500- yard front for limited objectives, which had been virtually all gained by 10 o'clock.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

London, Nov. 10.—The British made an attack this morning on the Flanders front near Passchendaele. The war office announces that early reports indicate good progress.

"At sunrise this morning our troops attacked German positions northwest and north of Passchendaele. The first reports indicate that good progress was made. The weather is stormy with heavy rain and high wind.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED.

Paris, Nov. 10.—German troops undertook a series of advances last night against French positions northwest of Rheims, says today's official report. They were repulsed by the French.

The announcement follows: "Northwest of Rheims the night was marked by a series of efforts directed by the

IS VERY LATEST THING IN TRENCH FASHIONS Y'KNOW

New York, Nov. 10.—A model of the latest thing in trench fashions—the vermin proof "cootie shirt"—has just been received here and the American fund for French wounded is planning to turn them out by hundreds at its factory in New York. The cootie shirt, which is said to enjoy great popularity among the men in the trenches, is made of cheese cloth and is dipped in creosote and their germicidal solutions. Owing to the tenture of the fabric, the shirt can be made only by hand.

"The vermin cling to the cotton fabric and are destroyed when the garment is dipped in boiling water," said an official of the organization today. "It isn't pleasant to talk about such things, but think how less pleasant it is for the soldiers to have to put up with cooties along with all the other hardships."

SUPPLY OF FOOD GRAVE PROBLEM NOW IN FRANCE

Washington, Nov. 10.—War's demand upon the resources of France is strikingly illustrated in figures on food stuffs production prepared by Maurice Long, minister of gerenal revictualing of France and made public here today by the food administration.

Production of foodstuffs, including [illegible] weight in 1913 to 222,000,000 hundred weight in 1917, Mr. Long said, and this forecasts the rationing system for additional articles of consumption. FIREMAN CARRIER INSTANTLY KILLED

Confused by the fog and miscalculating the distance from the second section of the Pennsylvania Broadway limited at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, L. R. Carrier walked upon the tracks at Dola, O., and was instantly killed. Mr. Carrier was a fireman on westbound extra freight train No. 7777, with Engineer R. R. Farries, which had taken a siding at Dola to give the right of way to the passenger train. He was on the south side of the tracks and when he saw the passenger train coming attempted to get to the north side again, when he was struck. He was hurled a considerable distance and was dead when picked up by the other members of the crew. The body was turned over to the coroner and later placed on passenger train No. 1007, which arrived here at 1:10 o'clock. Mungovan & Ryan received the remains and took them to their undertaking parlors to be prepared for burial.

Fireman L. R. Carrier took employment on the road August 6, 1917, and had worked only three months. He was born in Danville, Ill., in April, 1896, and came with his parents to Dixon, O., when he was a small boy and resided there up to the time he came to Fort Wayne to work on the road. He was married two weeks ago to Miss Cordrey, a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. T. Cordrey, the former the pastor of the Methodist church at Dixon. Mr. and Mrs. Carrier had just completed arrangements for housekeeping at 1819 Hanna street.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed. It is probable that the interment will be made at Dixon at a time to be announced later.

The train which struck Fireman Carrier was the second section of the Broadway limited, No. 29, made up of eleven Pullman cars and carrying a party of St. Clair Oil company people, who had been east and were returning to their homes. This train was in charge of Conductor S. H. Myers, Engineer Thomas Sinclair and Fireman W. H. Jackson.

MITCHENER'S RISE WAS RAPID.

Began Work as Dispatcher on Nickel Plate in 1894.

Hundreds of Fort Wayne railway people will recognize in the accompanying portrait the likeness of a man well known in this part of the country as a hustler in railway work. R. W. Mitchener began work on the Nickel Plate in the capacity of dispatcher in 1894 and worked himself up by attention to business to his present responsible position, general superintendent of the road. He has been in Fort Wayne often and is known to all the Nickel Plate trainmen and nearly all of the other employes of the company.

The accompanying picture represents four generations of the P. L. Hall family. The personnel of the group is as follows: P. L. Hall, eighty-three years old; J. E. Hall, fifty-four years old; A. R. Hall, sr., twenty-three years old, and A. R. Hall, jr., five months old. The photograph was taken here a short time ago, when P. L. Hall, the head of the family, who resides in Pittsburg, was visiting his son, J. E. Hall, of 2827 South Harrison street. After a two months' visit here, the aged gentleman went to Denver, Colo., making the trip alone, and spent a few weeks with another son, Alvin R. Hall, who is prominently connected with an industrial concern. This week Mr. Hall, sr., is up in Westmoreland county, Pa., shooting rabbits, a smoewhat srtenous sport supposed to be confined to a much younger class. In fact, he is one of the most vigorous men of his age in the country. J. E. Hall, the grandfather, and A. R. Hall, the father of Alvin R. Hall, jr., are employed at the General Electric works, the former in the production department, and the latter in a clerical position in the main office. J. E. Hall is one of the veteran employes of the big concern, his services dating from December 17, 1889, when he took a clerical position in the Pittsburg office. The company was then the Fort Wayne Electric company, of which R. T. McDonald was the head and practically the sole proprietor. Later Mr. Hall entered the sales department, and in 1898 was appointed manager of the Pittsburg office, remaining in charge there until May, 1906, when he was transferred to the Indiana territory, where he had charge of the entire sales in the state. In 1914 he became connected with the production department, of which H. E. Stocker is the head. He has obtained a six months' leave of absence and will leave next week for Denver, Col., where he will assume the office of assistant manager of the Capital Electric company, one of the important industries of that city. Mr. Hall has always been prominent in the social and educational organizations at the General Electric works. He is a member of the Quarter Century club and of the Electro-Technic club, and always took a prominent part in the activities of those organizations. He has also been active in Masonic bodies, and takes great interest in all movements for the advancement of the order.

BIG CROWD FOR HATTIESBURG.

Agent John E. Ross Expects to Take Over 100 to Camp.

John E. Ross, who is getting up a personally conducted excursion to Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., has made provision for handling 144 persons and it now looks as if he would have a full quota. The meeting at the passenger station for the purpose of "feeling the pulse" of the public on the excursion proposition demonstrated a decided interest in it. The plan contemplates a six-day stay at the camp and the cost to the excursionists, including transportation, meals, etc., will be $66, providing 100 people take the trip. This is now assured, as sixty-six signed up at the meeting and more have since signed. The excursion party is to leave Fort Wayne at 12:25 o'clock Tuesday, November 20, over the G. R. & I., and returning arrive in Fort Wayne Tuesday, November 27. During the stay at Hattiesburg the cars will be available to the excursionists at all times. Sixty-six dollars covers the entire cost to the excursionists. It is necessary for Mr. Ross to know in advance who is going and all persons contemplating the trip are requested to see him and hand in their names.

ROAD SUPERVISOR HURT.

Frank Woolsifer Has Shoulder Blade Broken.

While assisting in cleaning up the debris from the wreck of some Wabash cars at Coalton, O., yesterday, Frank Woolsifer was struck by a piece of the large derrick hook when it broke as a car was being lifted. His shoulder was broken and he sustained some injuries to his head, causing slight concussion. Mr. Woolsifer was taken to the Peru hospital on train No. 1 yesterday and will be confined there for a week or more. He resides in Defiance, but is well known all along the road, at present holding the office of track supervisor.

ARE MARRIED 25 YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kendrick, of 117 Buchanan street were married 25 years ago today. Mr. Kendrick is a well known bricklayer in this city, and is also greatly interested in organized labor. He has been secretary of the Fort Wayne Bricklayers' union for the past 15 years and also president of the state convention of bricklayers held in Indianapolis, Ind., annually. Mr. Kendrick is also wel known in the city and enjoys a large circle of friends. No celebration of their silver wedding will take place as Mr. Kendrick has left for Indianapolis to attend the annual convention now in session in the capital.

START THE FALL INSPECTION.

The fall inspection of stationary power, heating and water plants of the eastern end of the Western division of the Pennsylvania will commence next week by Boilermaker H. W. G. Heine and Machinist Frank Hebert, who for a number of years were assigned to this duty. It will consume two or three weeks.

TO BE RETIRED DECEMBER 1.

John V. Bugbee, residing at 2630 Pittsburgh street, attained the age of seventy this morning and will pass to the pension system of the Pennsylvania December 1. He took a position as a track laborer on the road May 1, 1872, and has remained constantly in that position since. He was born November 7, 1847. Another old employe who will be pensioned December 1 is Cornelius Denahy. He began work in the shops as a laborer December 1, 1886, and January 1, 1913, was appointed janitor in the shops. He was born November 23, 1847. Mr. Denahy resides at 1930 Weisser Park avenue.

TWO CROSSING ACCIDENTS.

Two automobiles came to grief last night when they attempted to beat Pennsylvania trains at crossings. The drivers in each escaped by jumping. One of the accidents was at Beegrove, Ind., where Andrew Chambers failed to get his auto truck over the tracks in time to prevent a smash up and the other was at Indiana Harbor, where passenger train No. 118 smashed an auto into smithereens.

CLASS IN MILLINERY.

A new class in millinery to be taught by Miss Ethel Seaney has been formed at the Wayne Knitting Mills, under the management of the vocational school. The class will meet on Wednesdays between the hours of 7 and 9.

RETURNS TO S. F. BOWSER & COMPANY

E. J. Little Will Have Charge of the New York Office.

E. J. Little is again to be prominently connected with the business interests of S. F. Bowser & Co., having accepted the position of eastern representative with headquarters in New York. He was with the company ten years prior to January last, when he resigned to take a position with the Wildwood Builders. He was assigned to the position he now takes with S. F. Bowser & Co. over a year ago, but on account of failing health he resigned and went with the Wildwood Builders because he did not care to move from Fort Wayne at that time. Mr. Little was one of the best known and most active of the Bowser salesmen and officers for a number of years, and the men who were associated with him in that business so long will be glad to learn that he is returning to the company. At present Mr. Little has charge of the Y. M. C. A. campaign and is a busy man. He is prominent in that work, as well as in other lines, being president of the Quest club, member of the Shriners and of the Commercial club. He will go to New York as soon as he completes his work with the Y. M. C. A.

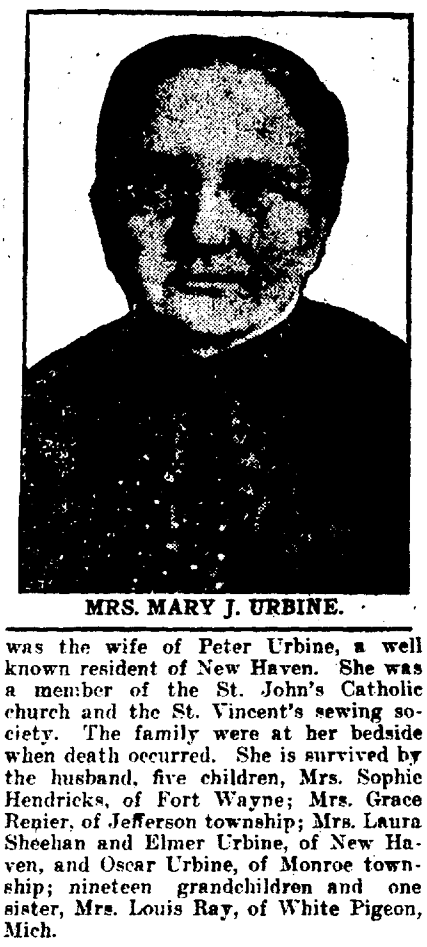
THE DEATHS.

URBINE.

Mrs. Mary J. Urbine, aged 63, died Friday night at St. Joseph's hospital after a four months' illness. Her condition became critical a few days ago, and she was taken to the hospital. The deceased was the wife of Peter Urbine, a well known resident of New Haven. She was a member of the St. John's Catholic church and the St. Vincent's sewing society. The family were at her bedside when death occurred. She is survived by the husband, five children, Mrs. Sophie Hendricks, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. Grace Renier, of Jefferson township; Mrs. Laura Sheehan and Elmer Urbine, of New Haven, and Oscar Urbine, of Monroe township; nineteen grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Louis Ray, of White Pigeon, Mich.



MRS. MARY J. URBINE.

FRANKLIN.

Mrs. Ida Mae Franklin, age 21, died at 2 o'clock Saturday morning at her home, 132 Brackenridge street, after suffering for six weeks from complications. The deceased, with her husband, moved to Fort Wayne last April from Dayton, Ohio, and the husband took employment with the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company. Surviving are the husband and a three-weeks-old baby, two sisters and father, in Wolcotville. The remains will be shipped to Winchester for burial.

GULDLIN.

Miss Clara Guldlin, sister of O. N. Guldlin, of Fort Wayne, passed away at 8:20 Friday night in Valley City, N. D. The deceased was born and educated in Christiana, Norway, and came to America with her brother in 1882. They lived for a while in eastern cities and in 1900 came to Fort Wayne. On account of her ill health the deceased led a quiet life, but she was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Guldlin left Saturday for Valley City to attend the funeral services.

BILGER.

The infant daughter of Clarence Bilger, 1517 Winter street, passed away at 10 o'clock Friday night. Funeral services at 2 o'clock Saturday, from the home.

FILE APPLICATIONS.

The bulletin board of the Fort Wayne Commercial club bears the applications of G. Claude Bowers and C. A. Quiber. With the exception of one resignation the membership has been at a standstill for the last few months.

BOARD OF SAFETY APPOINTS POLICEMAN

Applications for Positions on Police Force Are Very Rare.

The board of safety appointed Jacob Hovel to the office of policeman on the Fort Wayne police force Friday evening. Hovel has had considerable experience along this line, having been on the Pennsylvania froce under Captain Stoll for many years. He has recently been in the employ of the Nickel Plate company. The new officer will begin his duties immediately.

The dearth of applicants for places open on the police force has long been a source of annoyance to the entire system. The unusual high cost of all essential living material combined with the insufficient wages paid to the new members of the force has always proved effectual in keeping married men from applying. Fort Wayne is steadily growing, while the growth of the police force is almost at a standstill, making the effectual patroling of all parts of the town almost impossible.

The Births.

To Work Nights.

The city hall installed a number of lights in the new Fox building, corner Washington and Calhoun, in order to enable the contractors to put on night shifts. The work will now be pushed with all possible speed.

New Smallpox Cases.

Two new cases of smallpox were reported at the board of health offices Saturday. The home of S. Miles, 733 High street, and W. Collisen, 1825 Lafayette street, have both been placed under quarantine.

The lack of cars has proven to be a serious hindrance to a number of street paving jobs in Fort Wayne. Laselle, Liberty, Osage, Lake, Wildwood, Webster and Kinnaird are all thoroughfares which are being held up because of the shortage. Unless some other method of transporting the asphalt material is found contractors will have to wait until the shortage is relieved.

CREDIT MEN WILL MEET NEXT TUESDAY

The Fort Wayne Credit Men's association will hold its regular monthly banquet at the Wayne hotel on Tuesday evening(Nov. 13, at 6:30 p. m.

The principal speaker and honored guest of the evening will be Charles F. Hoerr, president of the Home Bank and Trust company, of Chicago. Mr. Hoerr will speak on the very interesting subject, "The Building of a Credit Man."

The local Credit Men's association, organized less than a year ago, has grown very rapidly and includes in its membership over fifty local wholesale and manufacturing concerns. Its membership also includes representatives from a number of the larger concerns in the nearby towns, Huntington, Auburn, Garrett and similarly located towns within a radius of fifty miles of Fort Wayne being represented.

The banquet Tuesday evening will be a brilliant affair, covers being laid for some seventy-five members and guests.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The Crystal branch of the W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Solon Lenfesty, 2125 Gay street. Mrs. Martha Ridenour, county suprintendent, was present and gave a short talk, complimenting the union on its efficient work during the past year. An interesting feature of the program was the echoes from the state convention, held in Anderson. Mrs. Z. J. Russell gave a short talk.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE.

The Intermediate league of the First M. E. church will meet Sunday night at 6:30.

PFLIEGER IS WORRIED OVER WIFE'S CONDITION

Louis J. Pflieger, the man held without bail for shootnig his wife with attempt to kill at Chicago, is growing very restless in his cell at the county jail. His principal fear seems to be that his will die. Although he has not asked for an attorney he is planning his defense when put on trial in Chicago. His first request in the morning and his last in the evening is for the city papers. Although he still insists that he is glad that he shot his wife, he earnestly hopes that she will recover. No word as to the woman's condition has been received today, but the last report stated that she was in a critical condition. Officials from Chicago to take Pflieger back are expected Monday.

A SACRED RIGHT, MAYBE.

Washington, Nov. 10.—While awaiting a court decision on whether it violates the bone dry law for a traveler to carry liquor into a prohibition territory as part of personal baggage, Attorney General Gregory has ordered that searches of baggage by federal agents without warrant shall cease at once. The department of justice contends that such transportation of liquor does violate the bone dry law, but wants a court decision.

DRUGGISTS BAN BOOZE DOPE.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 10.—Wholesale druggists of North and South Carolina, Florida and Georgia, in convention today, adopted a resolution pledging themselves to discontinue the sale of proprietary medicines which they are led to believe are substitutes for liquor.

NEW BONDS BELOW PAR.

New York, Nov. 10.—The new United States liberty bonds 4 per cents broke under par for the first time today on the stock exchange when the price fell to 99.98. Sales ranged from single bonds of $1,000 to blocks of $72,000.

FARMER MAY DIE OF HURTS.

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 10.—Thomas Bennett, 54, a farmer residing near this city, had his right arm crushed so badly that amputation may be necessary, and sustained internal injuries that may prove fatal when thrown from a wagon when the team he was driving ran away. Bennett was driving into the city with a loaded wagon when the horses took fright.

FIGHTERS PLAY FOOTBALL.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The Great Lakes naval training station football team arranged today to play the eleven from the officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan, at Stag field on Thanksgiving day for a war charity. Both teams are composed of former collegians, several of whom are stars of western conference elevens.

FIRST WIFE AND MOTHER TO GIVE HER HUSBAND TO NATIONAL ARMY

Mrs. Wiliam Brownlow and her son of Elmira, N. Y. Mrs. Brownlow is the first wife and mother to give her husband to the new national army. Her husband sailed with Base Hospital No. 4. It was the unit that was received by the king and queen at Buckingham palace. She is living on a soldier's salary and thus is contributing her bit to the defeat of the central powers.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Revival meetings have been commenced by the Church of God, at the auditorium of the town hall. Services every evening. Rev. R. O. Marsh, evangelist, of Salamonia, Ind., will have the meetings in charge.

Paulding does not seem to desire saloons, as the town voted wet by ninety-three votes.

C. M. Hudson, formerly engaged in the grocery business at Paulding, but now a successful bean farmer near Jackson, Mich., sends a barrel of produce to W. B. and N. E. Harper. Among the contents was a bunch of potatoes, twelve in number, all grown together. The curiosity has been placed on exhibition in the window of the W. B. Harper grocery.

Michael Ryan, of Tiffin, O., who has been visiting near this place the guest of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jahn Ryan, south of town, departed Thursday for Champaign, Ill., where he will visit relatives for a short time.

Mrs. John Donat has gone to Spencerville, Ind., where she will be a guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Beerbour, and family, for a few days.

Mrs. Claud Liggett, of Clarion, Mich., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Ossie Yahne, in the home of Mrs. Sophia Seeley on Canal street. Mrs. Liggett will be better known here as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Cutting, at one time residents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Geyer, living near section 8, were passengers to Fort Wayne, Friday, from there going to Cissna Park, Ill., where they will visit his brother, George Geyer, and family.

The final figures give Paulding county's subscription to the Liberty Loan as being $152,150.

Three citizens of Latty, Dr. A. H. Mouser, A. M. Crosby and Oscar Holtsberry have gone to the wilds of Michigan on a three weeks' hunting trip.

B. A. Zeigler's new brick residence is nearing completion.

John Greer has made extensive improvements to his home on Woodcox street. The house has been put on a concrete and block foundation, a new roof, a fine porch, etc. The exterior also has been nicely painted and now presents a handsome appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Graham, of Paulding, have received a card from their son, Stanley, announcing his safe arrival in France.

That Dowell has returned from Colorado, where he has been ranching the past two years. He has sold his homestead near Timpas, which he took up when he first went there.

The Stiver Canning factory, northwest of town, has been merged into a stock company. Although this was a backward season the factory did a fine business. The output has grown each year, but there is a ready market for it all, and more, at good prices.

COAL DEALERS MEET.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 10.—Twenty Jay county coal dealers at a business meeting last evening in the Commercial association rooms with John W. Holmes, fuel administrator, gave an accounting of the amount of coal on hand, the amount in transit and the amount needed by Jay county residents. Each Thursday Mr. Holmes will receive word from the state fuel administrator, Evans Woolen, stating just how much he may have for the county. Jay county had little coal on hand, but it is thought that enough will be shipped here to relieve the shortage soon.

WILL LEAVE HICKSVILLE.

Hicksville, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Dr. N. H. Jackson, has received a telegram from Dr. Dixon, president of the State Epileptic Farm colony at Wahjamega, Mich., stating that he had been appointed resident physician of that institution. The position is one of much responsibility and a decided honor to the one receiving same. He will enter upon his new duties in the near future. Dr. and Mrs. Jackson have been in Hicksville a number of years. The doctor has built up a good practice. The family is prominent in social circles and will be greatly missed from the activities of our little town.

HUNTINGTON GIRL MISSING.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 10.—Wilma Good, age thirteen years, is missing from the home of her mother, Mrs. Ina Enck, and the only clew to her disappearance is the supposition that she left Huntington last Wednesday with a woman member of the Boyle Woolfolk tabloid troupe, which played "The Sunny Side of Broadway" at the Huntington theater last Friday and Saturday.

CLOSING FESTIVITIES FOR HEALTH WEEK

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 10.—The closing festivities for health week were held Friday evening when an excellent program of addresses and music was given at the high school auditorium. Dr. Arthur Estabrook, of Cold Springs, N. Y., spoke on "War and the Many Effects on the Community," and a talk on Red Cross work was given by J. L. Felser, director of the civilian relief of the lake district. The Carmena club sang several numbers. The health parade was a grand success. The parade, which was in charge of J. A. Jones and U. C. Brouse, formed on East Mitchell street and, headed by the city band, marched to Main street. All the secret orders were represented by floats, all the school children were in the line of march and the literary clubs were riding in gaily decorated automobiles, all with banners suggesting health.

Kendallville Brief Notes.

Mrs. Elva Miller, of Niles City, Mo., and Mrs. George Baucherman and daughter, Ruth, of Three Rivers, Mich., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Dillon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Levy and child, of Minneapolis, Minn., are the guests of Mrs. Levy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Jacobs. They will make this city their home, Mr. Levy becoming identified with the Specialty Case company.

Rev. I. M. McVey and wife, and Rev. J. H. Evans attended the Noble county Sunday school convention at Ligonier Friday.

Rev. Herbert F. Morrill, of Chicago, will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

Miss Florence Elizabeth Baughman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Baughman, and Cyrus J. Helmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helmer, of near South Milford, were united in marriage Thursday evening, at the parsonage of the Evangelical church, Rev. J. H. Evans performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Helmer will make their future home on a farm near South Milford.

One hundred members of the I. O. O. F. from Garrett, Auburn, Butler and Waterloo, attended the interurban meeting here Thursday evening. The Auburn degree team exemplified the work of initiating two candidates. A banquet and social time followed the work.

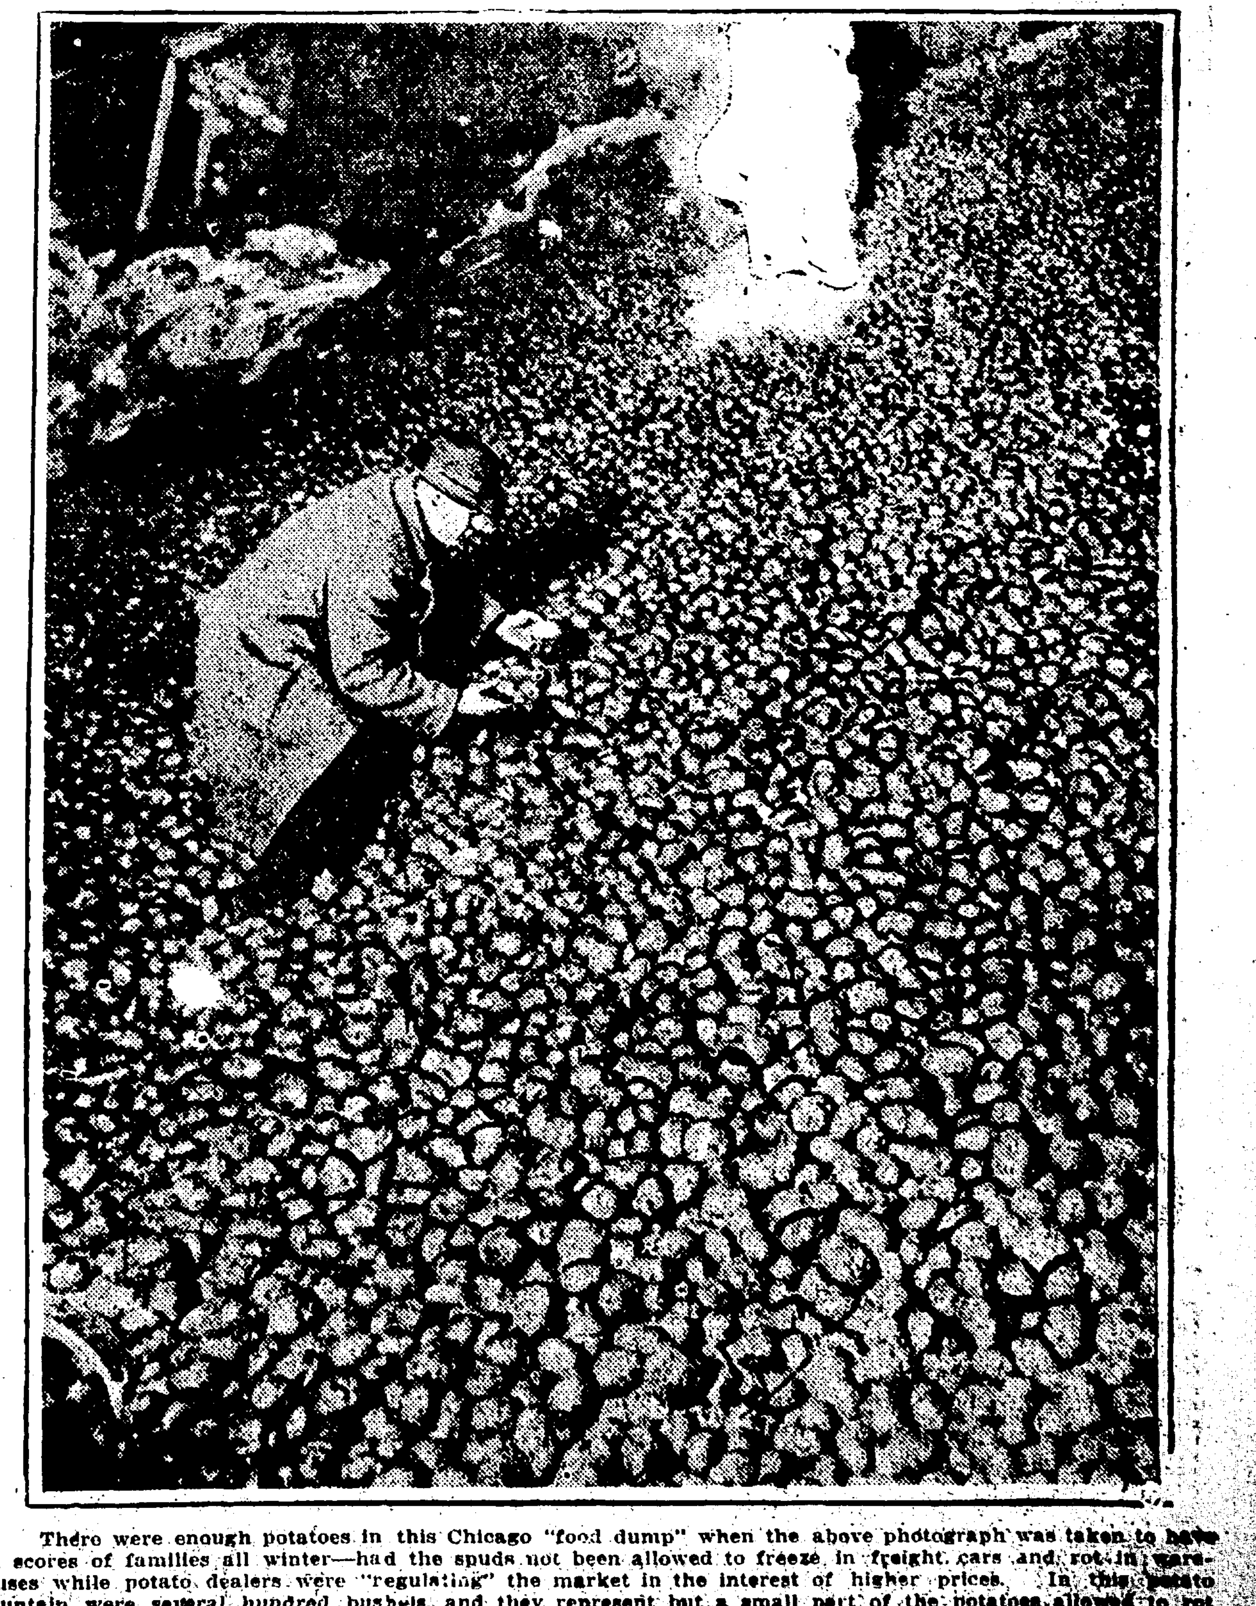
POTATOES WASTED—A WHOLE MOUNTAIN OF 'EM!



Thdre were enough potatoes in this Chicago "food dump" when the above photograph was taken to have fed scores of families all winter—had the spuds not been allowed to freeze in freight cars and rot in warehouses while potato dealers were "regulating" the market in the interest of higher prices. In this potato mountain were several hundred bushels, and they represent but a small part of the potatoes allowed to rot and freeze by our wasteful marketing and transportation methods, says Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago food administrator. Wheeler will try to reclaim from the many Chicago food dumps such foods as are not entirely spoiled and portions of which may be used.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1917.

TWO KINDS OF SUFFRAGISTS.

The Alice Paul coterie of lady monomaniacs whose members are trying to starve themselves to death in the Washington jail offer rather a sorry picture as contrasted with the rational suffragists. For some eight or nine months the so-called militants of the Congressional union have been picketing the White House, annoying the president, inciting riots and defying the police. The notion, of course, is that if they can make themselves sufficiently intolerable as nuisances the federal suffrage amendment resolution will be passed by congress. So far they have contrived to get nowhere but to jail and workhouse.

Arrest, conviction, fine and imprisonment are essential parts of their program. Their propaganda without those incidents would be a great futility. There is no martyrdom in being unmolested. "Mankind would little note nor long remember" that a few scores of silly women had sauntered about the White House gates toting banners for twelve months or twenty months and got no rise out of the police. Nothing in that to make a chapter of history or weave into epitaphs. To be pinched, to be polluted with prison soil and offended with prison garb and prison fare define the necessities of their case. The exaggerated ego feeds itself better on coarse food than upon dainties and delicacies. Miss Paul and her comrades would have been greatly disappointed and treacherously circumvented had the jail authorities not stupidly provided them with the makings of a hunger strike. That filled the bill, or at any rate the bill was filled when the prison doctor began forcibly to pipeline nourishment to Miss Paul's flouted stummy.

And there they are—some of them in jail and some of them tramping about the White House. Meanwhile suffrage has won a signal triumph in the greatest state of the union, and that, too, by the help of President Wilson. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and a number of other leaders of the rational suffragists have just been at the White House to thank President Wilson for the aid he gave them in New York and to ask him to place his influence behind the Anthony amendment in congress. And perhaps he will do that. We somehow have the notion that when congress assembles Mr. Wilson will have seen his way to advance the cause of suffrage that wise, for he is a true advocate of suffrage for women. When he shall have done so and the amendment shall have been sent forth for ratification by the states, you will not have to get your ear to the ground to hear the triumphant shriek of Miss Paul and the balance of the Silly Sally sisterhood.

"We did it! Our martyrdom melted the heart of the Philistine! We marched for it, we braved the storm for it, we defied the police for it, we were noisomely immured for it, we starved ourselves for it, through us and alone through us the holy cause of woman has advanced with victorious tread to the goal God set for it." This or words to that effect will resound and perhaps there may be a distorted chapter of history and some epitaphs after all.

And history may have a hard time presenting and posterity may encounter difficulty understanding that Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Frances Willard, Carrie Chapman Catt, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and their devoted sisters of the sane and regal democracy of womanhood ever were anything but a lot of shrilling and irritating hussies who could make a noise but were wanting in the courage to do and die to strike the shackles from the bond woman of a continent; whereas, Miss Alice Paul had been fed with a pump and could proudly show her police record.

ANARCHY OF CIVIL WAR.

It is important to keep in mind that all the news issuing now from Russia proceeds through German channels or is passed from Petrograd by the Bolsheivik faction now in control of the capital. The situation may be nowhere near the discouraging status these accounts picture, but even the most optimistic construction placed upon events is grave enough.

Russian diplomats and other agents of the provisional government of Russia now in this country and other nations of the allied cause take pains to assure the world that the Bolshevikis that have deposed the Kerensky government are in control only of Petrograd, are not so numerous and not at all so strong as these startling incidents of the week seem to indicate and join in a prediction that the more moderate element that has been overthrown will be able to reassert itself and bring about order.

This must be the general hope, but it is a hope in which no great confidence can be felt. Only a change in the situation can make the world feel any relief as to Russia. The outlook is better for a reign of anarchy with such concomitants of disorder, violence and nameless excesses as the extinction of strong authority inevitably must bring, or the perhaps worse horrors of civil war. Russia is in area the greatest country on the globe and the most populous of all Caucasian lands. What may come when that agglomeration of races and tribes that had been forcibly knit together in what until last spring was the Russian empire begins to stir with the pains of disintegration or to clash with the social, political and radical animosities certain to be heated by the clashing of purposes and prejudices it is not difficult to imagine.

The description of men who have seized the reins of power in the capital is not of the kind that can rule one hundred and eighty millions of mixed peoples. The man Lenine is an anarchist agitator whose statesmanship is in his mouth. He is stirring the mass with promises of land and a division of wealth. That merely serves to get him his strength of a following. How he shall control the populace, bring order out of the chaos that is developing and procure the obedience of those weltering masses to that authority without which there can be no state is something he is not now taking into account. The very nature of his appeal is the thing that will accomplish the undoing of his plan.

The hope of the future for Russia lies immediately in the army. Part of the army is in a state of defection and all of it may be susceptible. If Kerensky means to resist the counter-revolution and attempt to re-establish the authority of the provisional government he cannot accomplish that without force and force means civil war. If Kerensky can rally no sufficient part of the army to the older standard of the revolution, events must have their way under such auspices as the anarchism of Lenine and the Bolshevik may provide. Nothing would be quite so promising of effectual measures against the grotesque pretension of the red propaganda of the Bolshevik as that General Korniloff were at liberty to rally his Cossacks to the banners of rational democracy and regulated order.

The psychologic phases of the food and the fuel situation are in one respect unlike. Prices of food have produced fretfulness. The prices of coal, though similarly exorbitant, are little considered. Coal will be taken gladly at almost any price. The difference doubtless is due to the difference of situations. Food is no wise scarce, if we except a depletion of sugar supplies in the east, while coal is hard to obtain and in some regions is doled out by the bushel under authority that there may be a little relief for all who suffer. But this situation ought not to encourage coal dealers to suppose the psychologic aspects may not undergo a change when the sharper edge of the coal shortage shall have been blunted by increased supplies. The average man will be as ready to protest the price of fuel as of food when he no longer has anything as to fuel to fret him but the price.

If Russia is seriously going about it to establish an anarchism it will help in some respects. There will be a place for all the cranks, kickers, grouches, soreheads and freaks of every kind and description to fly to for refuge. This country has a good sprinkling of them and it will be the one bully place to which to banish those dangerous pests that are known as the I. W. W.'s.

Mr. Kerensky saw it coming and lost no time in getting away. That may have been merely a case of safety first, but we suspect that the young premier will soon be faring back to Petrograd at the head of an army with banners that is willing to fight Russian anarchy even if it feels rather sweet toward Prussian autocracy.

"ALL WE CAN."

We should save for liberty
All we can;
We should help democracy
All we can;
We should pinch the dollar till
It squawks out against its will—
In this way bump Kaiser Bill
All we can!

We should learn to eat less food—
All we can;
We should make corn meal taste good—
All we can;
We should substitute for wheat,
We should cut down on our meat,
And of candy never eat
All we can!

We should wear much cheaper suits—
All we can;
We should buy those paper boots—
All we can;
We should use our underwear
Till there isn't any there;
We should go—well, rather bare—
All we can!

We should keep our faces firm—
All we can;
While we pot the frightful Germ
All we can;
We should see this war thing through,
Brave and cheery, strong and true;
Let us do things—let us do
All we can!

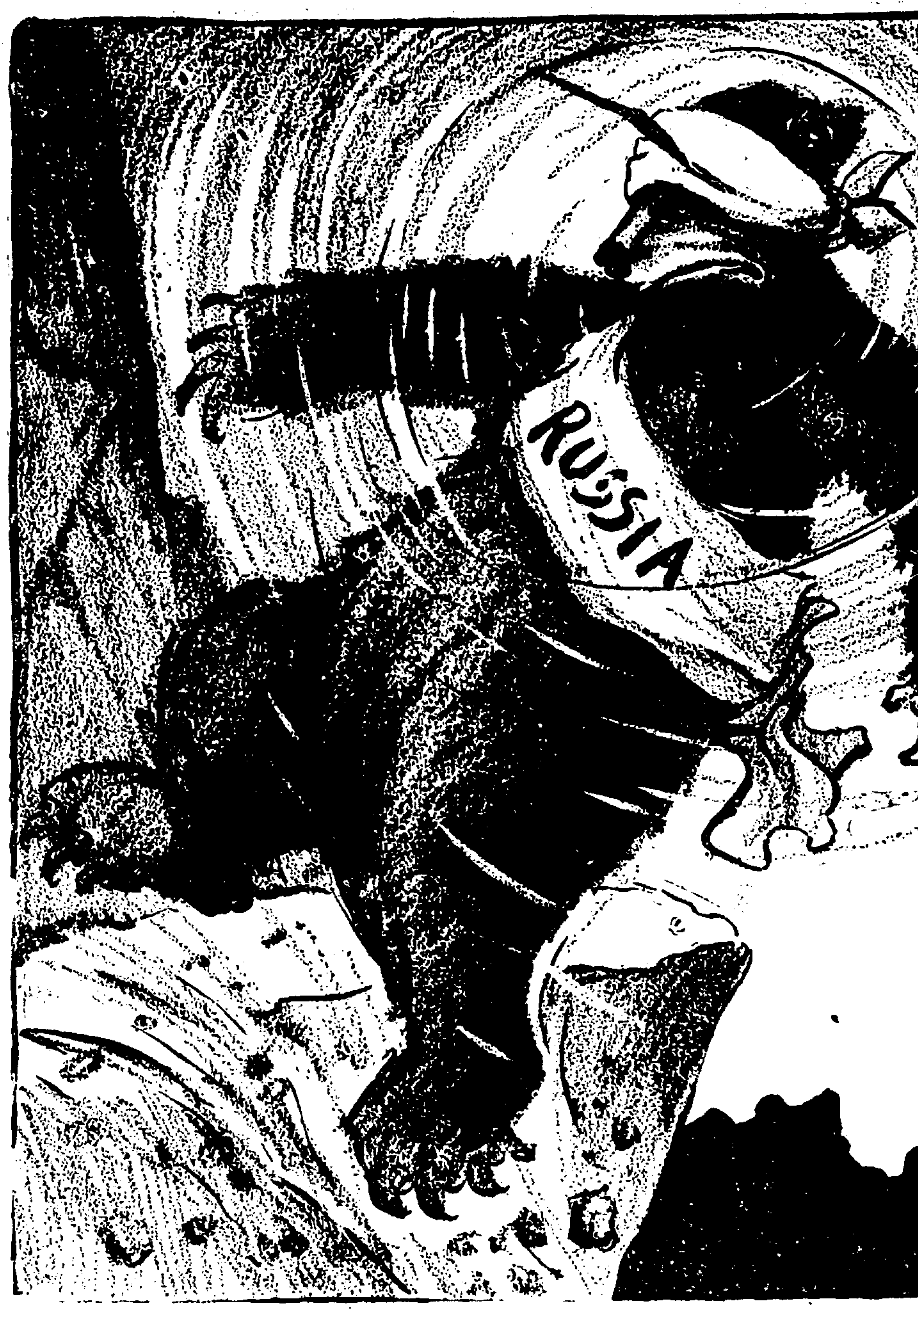
OVER THE PRECIPICE



PROTECTING UNCLE SAM'S SEA SKIRMISHERS WHERE RISK CONCERNS HESITATE

By THE HON. L. S. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

No sailor who risks his life on Uncle Sam's merchant fleet of today or on his far greater fleet of tomorrow need fear that he will leave those dependent on him penniless. Uncle Sam has decreed that he can not leave them penniless, even if he would. Months ago the government realized that these merchant sailors were the country's real advance guard, its sea skirmish line, sent forth, first of all, in advance of the army and even of the navy, to draw the German fire, daily and hourly, without uniforms and without cheers, as a mere matter of duty. It was decided that the men who did this were really as much a part of the national service as were the army and navy, and it made prompt provision for the care of their families in case they were lost or captured. Only two months after war was declared congress wrote into law a merchant-sailor-insurance clause under which the treasury department stands ready to lessen, as far as money can, the effects of their loss upon their families. This provision passed almost unnoticed by the country, whose attention was centered on the insurance of the ships rather than on that of the sailors. But the families of the twenty-one men who have since perished have reason to note the difference and to bless the law, as has also the wife of Captain Oliver, of the steamship Campana, who was carried away to Germany as a prisoner. For all of these it spells the difference between comfort and penury.

Under the government plan a blanket policy is written providing for the insurance of the master, the officers, and the crew of every ship that sails from an American port to the war zone, and vice versa, in an amount equal to twelve times their monthly wages plus all bonuses, and providing further that no individual insurance shall be for less than $1,500 or more than $5,000. The policy also provides that the full amount shall be paid not only for death but also for permanent disability, or for the loss of both hands, arms, feet, legs, or eyes. For lesser injuries from 45 to 65 per cent. of the principal sum is to be paid.

Nor are prisoners forgotten. Uncle Sam recognizes his liability to families that are temporarily deprived of their breadwinners as much as to those that are permanently deprived. No American sailor need eat his heart out in prison wondering how his family is managing to live. Uncle Sam will pay them his full wages until such time as the total amount paid shall equal the principal sum for which he was insured.

Death awards are paid to the estate of the insured for distribution to his family free of all liability for debt. Awards for injury are paid only to the insured himself, and awards for imprisonment are held for him, unless he himself has directed to whom they are to be paid. No attorney or claim agent is necessary to aid in the collection of Uncle Sam's insurance, and none is entitled to receive any payment for helping to collect it, except where the liability is contested by the government and is tried in a United States district court. Then the judge may award the attorney not more than 10 per cent. of the amount secured.

The provision as to contested cases is necessary, though Uncle Sam has no thought of contesting death losses. His whole intention is exactly the opposite. But everybody knows that there are cases where men have disappeared at sea and have turned up later with marvelous tales of their escape. Since the war began not a few sailors and passengers from torpedoed ships have come back after being given up for dead, and so long as human nature remains what it is there will always be a few men who would not hesitate to impose on their dear avuncular relative if occasion offered and to stay away from home until their insurance had been collected—and spent. It is for such cases as these that Uncle Sam is forced to be prepared.

At the time this article was written, however, no such case had even been suspected. Only two ships have been sunk with loss of life since the law went into effect. One of these, the Kansan, sank in seven minutes with the loss of four men, insured for a total of $7,200; and there is no question as to their fate. The other steamer, the Montano, was torpedoed in broad daylight and sank in one minute.

Insurance is compulsory. It is not left to the memory of men who might forget or be unwilling. But it is not a gift. Uncle Sam considers that shipowners who are getting rich out of the enormous freight rates they are charging owe something to the families of the men who do the work for them when these men are "scuppered and left in the lurch."

The law provides that if the owners of any vessel traversing the war zone fail to insure the master, officers, and crew before the ship goes to sea the secretary of the treasury may take out insurance for them with the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance and may further fine the owners not more than $1,000 to help them to remember next time; and may also charge his interest both on the premium and on the fine.

In the early days of the law an American schooner with a complement of 20 men slipped off to sea from New York without being insured. The insurance to be paid was more than $50,000, and the owners "just forgot" to put up the premium. But the collector of the port did not forget. He reported the case to the treasury, and the secretary took out the insurance and called on the owners to make good. However, as it was a first offense, the secretary let them off with a fine of $500 (and the premium, of course.) The insurance referred to did not cover the hull, and as there was no loss of life no payment was made.

This case and one or two very recent ones that are still under investigation are the only ones known in which neglect or confusion has imperiled the standing of the crews; and as the government keeps very close tab on all sailings and arrivals it is unlikely that any others will get through.

The losses since war insurance went into effect have not been great. From June 26 to August 31, the complements of 119 steamers and 27 sailing vessels were insured by the government for a total value of nearly $16,000,000. These ships carried nearly 10,000 sailors. Total losses incurred, approximately $40,000.

Three steamers, the Kansan, Motano and Campana, and three sailing vessels, the Carmela, Augustus Welt, and Laura C. Anderson, were destroyed—about one steamer in every forty, and one sailing ship in every nine. All the men lost were on the Kansan and the Montano. Capt. Albert Oliver, of the Campana, was taken prisoner; and the bureau has arranged to pay the first monthly installment of $337.50 to his wife, and will continue to pay this amount during detention for the next year.

ONE CAUSE FOR HAPPINESS.

(Statesville, (N. C.) Landmark.)

In these days of bounding prices it's a joy to find something on which the price is stationary, or has decreased. It's a cause of happiness provided we are not interested in the sale of that something. If we are interested as a seller, then the condition is all wrong, and the country's going to the bad. The cause for joy right now is the statement that turpentine, which formerly sold for $1.10 a gallon, now sells for 45 cents. When the price got to $1.10 the paint people cut out turpentine in mixing paints and substituted mineral oils, hence the drop in price. As nobody hereabouts owns turpentine distilleries we can feel good over the decrease in price. When we're gloomy and grouched over the high cost of things, buy a gallon of turpentine, save 65 cents and be happy—provided you don't have to drink the turpentine.

HIS AMBITION.

(Toledo Blade.)

The editor of a Jerusalem newspaper declares that the kaiser has been plotting to get control of all Asia.

Taking thought of the Prussian plots which recently have been exposed, it would seem as if Asia was only an unimportant division of Emperor Wilhelm's ambition. What he really desires is Europe, Africa, Australia, Asia, America from Halifax to Hell-for-Sartin, the starry constellations and the keys to heaven.

The kaiser's yearnings are not pikers.

EDISON'S FAVORITE PURSUIT.

(Tit-Bits.)

Thomas A. Edison's favorite pursuit is chemistry. Even as a boy telegraphist getting his first start towards a career, this inclination was manifest in his experiments with batteries and electric devices, and it still remains his greatest pleasure.

His laboratory is splendidly equipped. Every known substance ranging through all the kingdoms of matter from lanthanum to shark's teeth and including over 200,000 specimens, is kept on hand for immediate availability. It is a collection of over thirty years' standing, encouraged from time to time by prizes for new additions offered by the inventor to his men.

His own laboratory table is never, in any circumstances, allowed to be touched. A notice posted on the doorway reads to the effect that Mr. Edison is not to be disturbed in the course of his experiments except for matters of the utmost importance. So fond is he of his beloved pastime that he declares his idea of heaven is to be able to continue it, and his injunctions to his staff are: "When I die I want my table forwarded to me by wireless."

There is little doubt but that the pickpocket arrested here Saturday evening is one of a gang of Chicago toughs who have been operating in Indiana for the past few weeks. The gang followed the political demonstrations working each town in turn as it chanced to have a rally. At Goshen they made a big haul of watches and at Elkhart they got a number of fine watches and considerable money.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

REV. GEHL DELIVERS AN ELOQUENT SERMON

Forty Hours of Devotion Opens at St. Peter's Church Friday.

An immense congregation heard Rev. Gehl in an eloquent sermon delivered by him at St. Peter's church at the evening service of forty hour devotion Friday evening, which opened with solemnity Friday morning. The eloquent missionary engaged by the rector, Rev. Charles H. Thiele, was heard by an immense congregation, both at the morning and evening services. For the evening services he chose his text, (St. John 6:59) the words of the Savior: This is the bread that came down from heaven.

Forty hours of devotion opened at St. Peter's church Friday morning with solemn mass and procession. Rev. Michael Aichinger, pastor of Immaculate Conception church, at Auburn, Ind., was celebrant. Rev. Eugene J. Gehl, missionary of St. Francis, Wis., was deacon. Rev. John Dapp, of St. Peter's, sub-deacon and Rev. Charles H. Thiele, the rector, was master of ceremonies.

A large number of St. Peter's school children dressed in white and bearing flowers participated in the imposing services.

Saturday morning masses were held at 5:15, 6 and 7 o'clock and high mass at 9 o'clock. This afternoon from 1:30 till 2:30 o'clock the holy hour was observed. Evening services will take place at 7:45 o'clock consisting of the recitation of the litany of the Holy Name followed by services and benediction of the most blessed sacrament.

Sunday mass will be celebrated at 6, high mass at 7, children's mass at 9 and solemn high mass at 10:30 o'clock. There will be a solemn observance of the holy hour in the afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock and in the evening at 7:45 will occur the closing of the devotion of forty hours.

ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION IS HELD

Hartwell Gosney is Elected President of Allen County Association.

The Allen County Sunday School association held its yearly meeting at the Plymouth Congregational church on Thursday, all day and evening.

The forenoon was given to the receiving of reports and appointing committees, followed by an address by Mrs. S. Lemen, of the state Sunday school boarr. The afternoon speaker, Mr. Tunnison, chose as subject, "Some Teen-Age Problems." The nominating committee recommended Hartwell Gosney for president, and the recommendation was unanimously accepted.

A special committee consisting of Rev. Hostetter, Rev. Borkett, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Pool and Rev. Tomes, were appointed with power to work in conjunction with the president-elect and other officers of the organization.

Rev. Laudeman delivered the address of the evening on "Preparation for the Work of the Kingdom." The Sahara quartette delivered several selections which were enjoyed by all present.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Over 600,000 Women Will Observe World Fellowship Week Nov. 11 to 18.

From November 11 to 18, inclusive, over six hundred thousand women will be observing World Fellowship Week in the Young Women's Christian associations of the world.

The local Y. W. C. A., 325 West Wayne street, want the people of Fort Wayne to realize that the Young Women's Christian association is a great factor in making the world safe for women.

Our foreign sisters see the need of the Y. W. C. A. and the people of Canton, China, determined to have an association. Five years ago they started their own organization, then appealed to the national board for help. Today they have their own Cantonese secretary, educated in the United States.

Japan, India, Russia, Germany, France, Turkey, South America claim our attention this week.

We have especial interest in South America and during the coming week every woman in Fort Wayne is asked to go the Y. W. C. A. and learn of the work on Buenos Aires. The "poster" in the lobby will be a "first aid" to the uninformed and a reminder to the initiated.

MENNONITE CHURCH.

Revival meetings in progress are of much help to the church. They will continue throughout next week.

Sunday services will be as follows: Sunday school will meet at 10 A. M. At 11 A. M. Evangelist Abram Metzh will speak on the subject: "The Church and Her Mission." At 2:30 P. M. he will speak on the subject: "Relation of Men and Women In the Lord," and at 8 P. M. on the subject: "The Second Coming of Christ."

GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL MONTH IS A SUCCESS

Attendance Increased as Result of Campaign Waged During October.

Statistics just completed by the City Sunday School association, show that the campaign waged during the month of October brought an increased attendance to almost all the schools that reported to the association, and new life and better organization to the schools throughout the city.

The best reports came from the Grace Reformed school, showing an increase over the corresponding Sundays of last year of 78.8%; Westminster Presbyterian, second, with 30.6%; and the Third Presbyterian followed with 24.7%.

The mass meeting was well attended, and the West Jefferson Church of Christ takes the honor of having the largest per cent. of workers present with 44 1-7%. The Third Presbyterian had the largest delegation, bringing 12.1% of their enrollment.

SOCIETY

Musical attractions are the order the coming week. The appearance in the city of the San Carlo Grand Opera company at the Palace theater on Wednesday evening is so momentous an event that few will resist attending it if they want to go. An explanation of the opera with musical passages from it will be given in Elks' hall on Monday evening. Both entertainments are under the auspices of the Morning Musical society. The opera to be given is "Aida." On Thursday night three members of the Royal Welsh Concert company will be heard in recital in the First M. E. church. There is a baritone, a tenor and a soprano who accompanies the other two singers in the company. These artists, who are Ben Davies, the tenor; Gwen Richards, soprano, and Risca Williams, baritone, were among the survivors of the world famed Royal Gwent Welsh singers saved from the Lusitania disaster. The admission charge for this concert is not large.

Each guest was provided with a bit of sewing for the bride-to-be and she was showered with gifts. On the refreshment tables were found pink candles and sunburst roses that assisted in making the party a lovely one.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Selzbrenner, of New Haven, entertained a company of their friends on Thursday evening in celebration of Mr. Salzbrenner's birthday anniversary. The house was very pretty with a decoration of flags and red, white and blue festoons of paper. Music, dancing and card games were amusements and they were followed by a supper which everyone enjoyed and appreciated. There were present besides the hosts and their son, Frederick, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Salzbrenner and family, Oscar, Erma and Enno Salzbrenner, Mr. and Mrs. John Gick and family, Rosina and Walter, Mrs. Sarah Osthe'mer and children, Charles and Frank; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Salzbrenner and children, Hulda, Edwin and Helen; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stevens and children, Gladys and Roy; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Popes, George Hankel, Marie Riemenschneider, Marie Fritche, Lena Fritche, Gusta Grime, Minnie Schonfeld, Emila Grime, Ralph Rothgeb, Emma Franke, Charles Grime, Martin Fritcha, Heiny Fritcha, Katie Hankel, Carl Zink, Hulda Brackman, Herman Fiedler, Otto Brackman, Martha Weslin, Martin Zink, Otto Wesling, Walter Salzbrenner, Alma Salzbrenner.

YOUNG WOMEN ASSISTING IN CHARITY BAZAR

MISS MARIE LANDENBERGER.

MRS. HARRY G. HOGAN.

Mrs. Harry G. Hogan and Miss Marie Landenberger are two of the young women who are busy these days in planing for the charity bazaar which will be held in the Anthony hotel on November 30, in the evening. The proceeds of the entertainment, which is under the management of the Sophie B. Wright society, will be given to the Visiting Nurse league. Aside from the booths of fancy and useful things for sale there will be a fortune telling booth where one may get a bit of the real reading of the future. Good music has been negaged for the evening.

WITH THE STUDY CLUBS

The Woman's Reading club will meet on Tuesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. to sew for the Red Cross.

The Fortnightly club will have a meeting on Monday evening at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Perley Weaver. A paper on "Evolution" will be read by Mrs. Weaver. On the discussion are named Mrs. Ella Wilding, F. B. Shoaff, Dr. W. D. Calvin and Dr. G. W. McCaskey. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance comes up.

The meeting of the Bay View Study club next week has been changed from Tuesday to Monday and Mrs. A. C. Paulsen, 1609 East Wayne street, will be the hostess. There will be a review of "Mr. Britling Sees It Through" and a reading of "Woman's Part in Government."

There will be a meeting of the Saturday club with Mrs. A. H. Perfect on Monday afternoon.

Ladies of the Travel club are asked to go to the meeting on Monday afternoon with Mrs. F. G. Gauntt. Members are requested to bring their sewing bags with them, as Red Cross work is to be done at each meeting.

The Thursday Shakespeare club has decided to devote all its time to Red Cross work and devoted the time last Thursday afternoon to a sewing at the home of Mrs. A. K. Remmel.

The Round Table will meet on Monday with Miss Barva. "Our Problem With the Black Race" is the subject for a paper and discussion.

The General Culture club will hold its meeting on Thursday with Mrs. W. C. Duglay. The Monroe doctrine and woman's work in municipalities are topics to be discussed.

The attention of all Morning Musical members is again called to the lecture-recital to be given in Elks' hall next Monday evening, preparatory to hearing the San Carlo Opera company's presentation of "Aida" at the Palace theater on the following Wednesday evening.

The South Side Reading club will meet on Tuesday evening with Mrs. G. W. Knauss, 1239 Parkdale drive. This is a change from the previous announcement.

Limit Meals to One a Day to Be Willowy

It isn't training the voice which makes so many grand opera singers—well, fat. It's because they eat too much food too many times a day, take too little exercise and live easy-going lives.

This is the "inside stuff" which Mme. Margarete Matzenauer, famous contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company gave on her arrival in Los Angeles recently.

Mme. Matzenaur knew she could afford to make this comment, for her own appearance, due to her striking height, is of slenderness. She revealed her secret when she admitted that formerly she was—say heavier. Dieting, however, reduced her proportions.

"It's simple," she explained. "I eat all I want, but I'm careful not to choose fatty foods. Most artists eat irregularly. When they finish a performance at night they are ravenously hungry. They eat heavily and then sleep. My only heavy meal is at noon. I take some tea in the afternoon and a light lunch at night."

It is this formula, she says, that has enabled Mme. Matzenauer to win the reputation she has gained for versatility. Her latest demonstration of this quality was in a recent appearance as Carmen, when she stepped in at the Metropolitan at a moment's notice and gave an unrehearsed interpretation of the Spanish cigarette girl.

The subject of greatest interest to Mme. Metzenauer at this time is the question of her nationality. At present she is a Hungarian; formerly she was a subject of Italy, according to the Italian code which makes the wife of an Italian also a crown subject. Her divorce, however, restored her allegiance to Austria-Hungary, the nation of her birth.

Steps already have been taken, however, to give her American citizenship. She declares the United States is her real home, and that she will take out naturalization papers as soon as possible.—Los Angeles Express.

KEEPING ROOT VEGETABLES BY STORING AT HOME.

The United States department of agriculture provides these suggestions for storing root vegetables:

"Potatoes are kept without difficulty in a cool, dry and dark place. Sprouts should not be allowed to grow in the spring.

"Sweet potatoes may be kept until January if cleaned, dried and packed in chaff so that they will not touch each other.

"Carrots, turnips, parsnips and beets remain plump and fresh if placed in earth or sand filled boxes on the cellar flor. Remove the tops before burying these vegetables."

Cabbage, although a green vegetable, is the most conspicuous rival of root vegetables. Cabbages should be placed in barrels with the roots uppermost.

Pumpkins and squash are also a part of the fall treasure which must be given a place in the cellar. To keep well, they should be thoroughly ripe, should be placed on shelves well separated from each other, and should be wiped with a cloth occasionally.

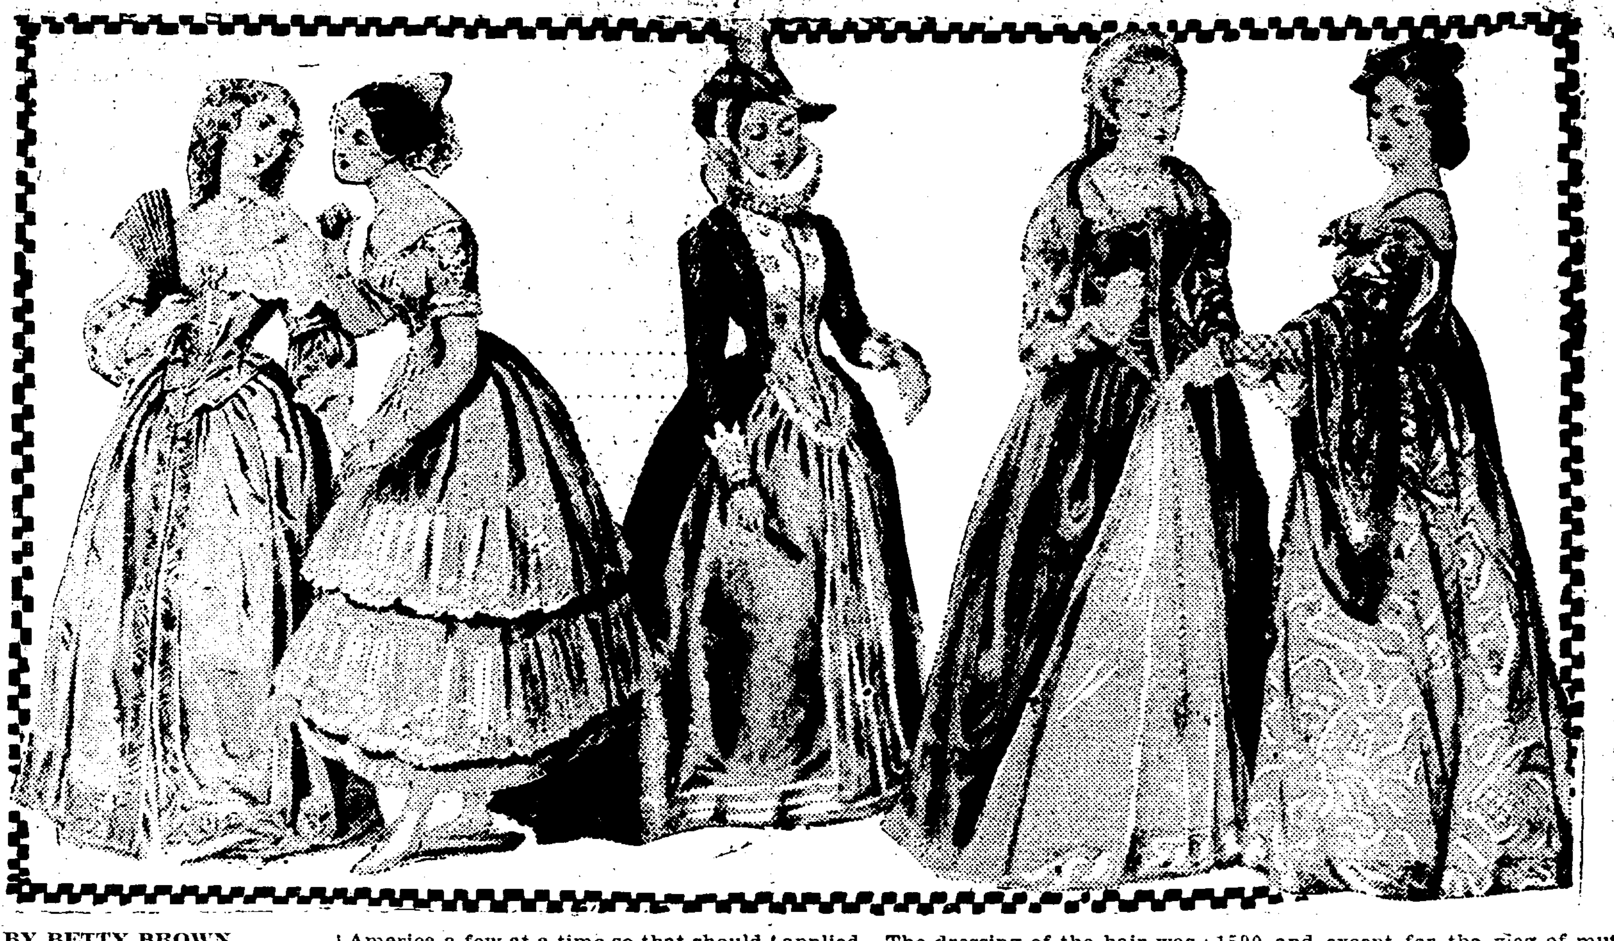
FAMILY TREE OF ANCIENT FASHION TRANSPLANTED TO THE UNITED STATES



BY BETTY BROWN.

The curious looking ladies pictured today are the great-great-grandmothers of American fashions!

Straight from the huge photograph album that illustrates the family tree of fashion come these fascinating pictures of the court ladies who roamed through the romantic castle corridors of the sixteenth century.

Charles Kurzman, New York importer, has just brought to America the famous Book of Styles, long the property of a great Paris costume designer.

The treasured volumes, of which there are several, were sold to the American for the sum of $150,000. The purchaser considers them so valuable that he is bringing them to America a few at a time so that should the ship bearing them be lost the whole collection would not be destroyed. The owner will present the books to the Metropolitan Museum of Art or the public library, where they will be accessible to American designers and students of history and art. The books contain pictures of costumes worn asa early as 600 A. D.

The first two costumes are ball gowns of the period of Louis XIV., about 1668. They were known as "a collets debodres"—that is, having deep bordering collars of lace falling over the shoulder and upper arm. The richest lace was used lavishly on all costumes and bows of ribbon appeared profusely, on the sleeves, on skirts, in their hair, or wherever they could be applied. The dressing of the hair was a matter of great moment.

One of the ladies displays a shower of ringlets about her face and neck, and the other's polished waves end in a great knot reinforced with a lace ruffle and an enormous filigree comb. The tiny, pointed bodices were the idols of their early French hearts.

In all these costumes is seen the popularity of what we know as the "hoop-skirt," but which the French called the "vertugadin." These enormous skirts were constructed of circles of iron, wood, or whalebone sewn inside the skirt.

The "coches," direct ancestor of the modern corset, was framed of strips of wood, and later of whalebone.

The central figure is a costume of 1590 and except for the "leg-of-mutton" sleeves and the starched ruff, it is like the "church-bell" fashions which followed it. This was an English costume of the Elizabethan mode.

The last two figures are earlier by twenty-five years. They have low cut bodices and flowing, "angel sleeves," which are returning to favor in present-day fashions. The jeweled objects depending from the heavy carved chains at the belt are mirrors.

We sometimes smile at the fantastic names modern designers give to the colors of the season, but we discover that the early costumers could equal our 1917 "field-mouse gray," "deer-brown" and "beet-root red" with even greater flights of fancy in their "rat-color," "widow's joy," "envenomed monkey" and "chimney-sweep!"

MUNCIE MINISTER TO PREACH AT GARRETT

Rev. Eddie Thomas to Participate in Services at Methodist Church.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., Nov. 10.—Rev. Eddie Thomas, of Muncie, Ind., the well known evangelist who conducted a successful revival meeting in this city last winter, will be present at the morning Sunday school and church service at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning and participate in the services. Rev. Thomas has many friends in this city who will nudoubtedly take advantage of this opportunity of hearing him again. The attendance contest which is on between the schools of Auburn, Kendallville and this city, is becoming very interesting and is the means of getting many people out to Sunday school. Auburn has won the flag for three Sundays and Garrett is determined to win next Sunday. A committee is busy inviting all who do not attend elsewhere to be present Sunday morning and help Garrett win. By going to Sunday school we start the day right and show our interest in the betterment of our community.

Garrett Short Notes.

The Xmas boxes to be sent to the Garrett boys who are in France will be shipped Saturday. The boys are being remembered by the Pocahontas Camp Fire Girls of this city and not only the boys abroad but all of the Garrett boys who are in Uncle Sam's service in this country will receive a nice remembrance from these patriotic girls.

The juniors of the Garrett high school sprung one on the seniors when they put up a flag on the staff at the high school building Tuesday. The sight of their "inferiors" flag rather infuriated the wise seniors, so they proceeded to put one over on the juniors and did succeed in getting it down. Late that night the seniors climbed the staff and tacked their flag up and then treated the pole to a coat of grease. Thursday evening the juniors planned to hold a parade, but owing to the "unexpected detention" of some of their members it was called off. But things reached a happy climax Friday when some of the juniors scaled the pole at the noon hour and took down the senior flag and put up "Old Glory" with the admonition, "Take that down if you dare." Their stunt was greeted with a cheer and the Stars and Stripes were saluted by all. The schools are progressing fine and the feeling of good fellowship that prevails between the faculty and the students is admirable.

George Carroll, former superintendent of the public schools of this city, who has been in the officers' reserve corps at Fort Benjamin Harrison since September 1, has been given the commission of first lieutenant in the balloon division of the signal corps, and will undoubtedly leave for France very soon. Mr. Carroll is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carroll, of East Keyser streea, and his many friends in this city are pleased to learn of his commission.

Mayor J. A. Clevenger and wife entertained the members of the Golf club last evening at their pleasant home on East King street. Thirty members were present and enjoyed a most pleasant evening. Mrs. Clevenger served lunch, after which a smoker was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. George Novinger and children will spend the week end in Chicago as guests of the former's son, Karl, who is in the great lakes training station.

Mrs. James Barge and daughter, Miss Ruth, are spending a few days with friends in Toledo and Detroit.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brown gave them a surprise party Friday evening in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The guests were all masked and took along a pot luck supper.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM OF SPEECH HAS ITS LIMIT

President Schurman, of Cornell, Says Treason Cannot be Uttered.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The doctrine of academic freedom of thought and speech cannot be reconicel with treason or sedition, President Schurman said in his annual report to the Cornell university board of trustees today. The coming year, he said, was likely to test severely the academic devotion to that doctrine. "Perhaps no institution in the land has insisted on it more strenuously than Cornell," he said. "On that account it is especially incumbent on the Cornell community while continuing to adhere inflexibly to their views on academic freedom to recognize the duties and proprieties which the just assertion of this fundamental right necessarily involves especially in time of war. It cannot of course be reconciled with treason or sedition. If it be urged that the abstract right reaches everything beyond that forbidden area, it is proper to point out that the duties of good citizenship may fairly impose voluntary limitations upon the exercise of the right.

"There is a presumption in war time in favor of not embarrassing the government by criticism even when one's private opinion may not coincide with the policy which the government pursues; for the government represents for the time being the will of the nation, and criticism tends to paralyze volition and action. Certainly the nation has a right to expect that every critic shall make it clear that he is for America and not for the enemies of America and that he is not indifferent to the issue for which America contends by force of arms."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

One tablespoonful of turpentine boiled with your white clothes will greatly aid in the whitening.

Scorched stains can be removed at once by rubbing with peroxide; apply until it vanishes and then finish ironing.

Turpentine and soap will remove ink stains from linen.

MAY USE THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY FOR FREIGHT

Use by the government of the Lincoln highway, over which to transport freight across country in motor trucks to relieve the congestion of the railroads, is indicated in a letter received by Governor Cox, of Ohio, from Washington D. C. The letter asks that that part of the highway which is in Ohio be put in good condition by the state for this purpose. Governor Cox has directed the state highway commissioner and the highway advisory board to call a meeting of county commissioners of Columbiana, Stark, Wayne, Richland, Crawford, Wyandotte, Hardin, Allen and Van Wert counties, through which the road passes, to obtain immediate action on the government request. The road in Indiana is said to be in good condition.

TRAIN CLIMBER IS WANTED AT MANSFIELD

Chief of Police Lenz has received a card from Mansfield, O., asking him to apprehend Harry Grimme, wanted at that place for breaking his parole. Grimme was arrested Friday for train-climbing and was ordered held by Judge Kerr to enable the federal authorities to ascertain his age. Grimme, who was arrested here under the name of Murphy, was convicted in January, 1916, for receiving stolen goods. He was paroled on August 18, 1917, and broke his parole in October. He will be delivered to the Mansfield authorities

Butterflies Useful In Food Conservation

Miss Emily Kutz is a good conserver. Not an eight-hour cook—look at her gown, man—but a stenographer with the food administration. She is a Washington debutante of a couple of seasons ago who got tired of being a social butterfly. Her father, Colonel Charles Kutz, is doing his bit in France.

City ____________ State __________

There are no fees or dues to be paid. The Food Administration wishes to have as members all of those actually handling food in the home.

Anyone may have the Home Card of Instruction, but only those signing pledges are entitled to the Membership Window Card, which will be delivered upon receipt of the signed pledge.

Cut this out carefully and send it to the Federal Food Administrator, Room 20, State House, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Do not send it to Washington. Send it to Indianapolis.

This is the same as the pledge card, and just as official. Do not sign this if you have signed a pledge card. Do not sign a pledge card if you sign this.

When you send this in, with your name and address, you will be sent free: (1) a handsome three-colored window membership card to show that you are trying to live up to the suggestions of the food administration at your house; (2) an interesting and valuable book of suggestions and recipes, entitled "Ten Lessons on Food Conservation"; (3) a wall card to hang in your kitchen, entitled "The Kitchen War Creed," to show you how you can help win the war in your own kitchen if you wish.

And the food administration will mail you other helpful things later, perhaps.

To sign this card is a patriotic privilege. It will make you a leader in your neighborhood in the task of saving certain foods for our soldiers and our allies.

Sign this card. Show Mr. Hoover you are with him. Hang out your window membership card when it comes. Read the interesting literature that will be sent you.

The government is not going to ask for your canned goods or for anything else, because you sign this card. You incur no obligations. You merely promise to study the problem of "food saving to win the war" and do what you can to help

Our Table Cutlery, Plated Ware, Etc., will give you the desired service and style at a very moderate cost. Come and see it; we'll let you be the judge.

HOW THE WAR WORK FUND OF THE Y. M. C. A. WILL BE USED

During the coming week Fort Wayne and Allen county people will be asked to contribute a total of $45,000 to the war fund of the Y. M. C. A., as a part of the great national movement in which it is expected that $35,000,000 will be raised. How is that money to be used? The question is here answered:

The money that will be given to the Y. M. C. A. by the people of America is for the war fund—not for the Y. M. C. A., for itself.

In other words the Y. M. C. A. places its world wide organization at the service of the American people to aid and protect in mother's and father's way the American boy in the trenches. The law has a phrase of Latin origin "in loco parentis"—"in the place of the parents"—and this the Y. M. C. A. accomplishes. Every Y. M. C. A. secretary is a trained worker among men for men—a leader, a light, a column, to give the soldier boys away from home, homesick, perhaps body sick, a personality to lean on.

A trained worker—there are other organizations fully as anxious to stand by the soldier abroad or away from home—but none that has the trained force to do so. The man who helps the Y. M. C. A. to do the work is relieved of the fear that the money will not do what it is expected to do. The trained workers have been doing for years or have the benefit of the experience and schooling of those experienced and know the short cuts to results better than those who have not had the training and do not have access to the advice of the experienced.

A dollar given to the Y. M. C. A. organization will yield a dollar's worth of benefits. Every man that knows how hard it is to make the dollar pull its worth will appreciate the effectiveness of the Y. M. C. A. machine. With the money for its needs it will wipe out the moral dangers to our soldiers fighting far from home for our liberties and the safety of our women and children against the German war machine of frightfulness.

The Y. M. C. A. houses are called huts but to the soldier they are homes of comfort and convenience when well and for courage and moral support when weary and sick at heart.

The huts have chairs, tables, writing materials, books, magazines, papers, music, games, warmth, light, sociabilities—yes, and postoffices—and they afford the men a clean club for their idle hours. A typewriter is convenient for those who know how to use the machine.

The Y. M. C. A. also provides amusements, entetarinments, movies, dramatic performances, concerts, minstrelsy—as well as religious meetings, Bible classes and lectures.

All these things cost money but your donation does the paying—not the boys in camp.

Paying money for such things for our dear boys fighting and risking their lives for us while we stay at home in comfort is not giving money—it is buying the sweetest satisfaction that the conditions permit. Such a satisfaction is worth self denial in big chunks.

You are warm about your fires and never know hunger—is that true of your boy or your neighbor's boy?

If money you can do without will provide the boy in the battle some comfort—can you rest easy in body or conscience until it is placed in hands that will use it for relief and for comfort?

Gradually the fires of war are melting down, the radical hates and the social differences of the American people. The melting pot never had the heat to merge the elements before. Gradually the American people are becoming one in thought and one in action—gradually, as they realize the crisis in our national life is one of assault on our people and on our honor and meant to be deadly. It is not the army only that is fighting. This is a war in which every American has the same interest—the same purpose and same reward or loss.

The way to bear your part is to provide the money that lightens the burdens of the men at the front through the Y. M. C. A. work and the Red Cross work.

The Red Cross is charged with services to relieve the wounded and the sick in body. It is charged with the work of prevention of disease.

The Y. M. C. A. charged with the work of sustaining the morals of the men so that the disease that follow immorality shall not strike down the soldier and throw additional burdens upon the well men in camp, or prolong the war. One cannot bear the entire load. There must be organizations for both services. It is now the time to provide the money for the Y. M. C. A. Will you do your part?

OSSIAN NEWS

Ossian, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Wilson, their granddaughter, little Mabel Wilson, and Mrs. Issac Allen left yesterday for Louisville, Ky., to visit over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's son, Vance Wilson, who is a member of the emergency corps at Camp Taylor.

Miss Gladys Kern, a teacher in the Van Buren schools, came Thursday night for an over Sunday visit with her cousin, Miss Ilow Elzey. On Friday she went to Fort Wayne to visit the city schools.

Mrs. Ernest Vananda was hostess for the S. P. C. Square club Thursday evening at a very delightful social meeting. While the ladies visited they were busy with needle work. The hostess served a delicious lunch. Those present were Mesdames Ethel Wilson, Oda Henline, Carrie Melching, Maude Swihart, Mame Poffenberger, Glen Weirich and Bessie Vananda. Their next meeting will be with Mrs. Fred Vananda.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Timbrook and family expect to go to Auburn Sunday to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Timbrook.

A union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Presbyterian church on Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 29, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Will E. Hamilton, pastor of the M. E. church, will deliver the sermon and the M. E. choir will have charge of the music.

Rev. Garfield Dawe goes to Uniondale Sunday evening to speak at the Sunday school convention. Mr. T. V. Rector, of Ossian, will go to Kingsland that same evening to fill Rev. Dawe's pulpit.

Fred Chalfant, of Garrett, visited Wednesday afternoon in Ossian with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Chalfant.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clarb, Mrs. Adam Turner and Mrs. Samuel Hughes motored to Bluffton Thursday, where they called on friends.

At the W. T. M. convention of the M. E. church, which was held in the Simpson M. E. church, of Fort Wayne, this week, Mrs. E. H. Roe, of Ossian, was made treasurer of the organization for the ensuing year.

Mrs. H. C. Trevey and Mrs. Lee Chalfant spent Thursday visiting with Miss Anna Glass and Mrs. Margaret McClelland, living north of Ossian.

The members of the Whileaway club were very nicely entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. A. F. Roe. "Items of interest" were given at roll call, and later current events were discussed with interest. A nice one course lunch was served. Those present were Mesdames Park Summers, Fred Mills F. E. Foughty, Walter Timbrook, Orin McMullen, Will Hoopengardner, J. W. Crummitt, H. C. Hunter, Miss Grace Derr and Miss Marguerite Burnett, as a guest. Their next meeting will be with Mrs. Park Summers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ormsby and Mr. and Mrs. Will Pence, of Uniondale, were in Ossian the other evening calling on friends and attending the Y. M. C. A. mass meeting.

Mrs. Harmon Potee and daughter, Miss Josephine Potee, of Princess Ann, Maryland, arrived in Ossian yesterday morning for a visit with Ossian relatives. Mrs. Potee is a sister of Mrs. William Double and Mrs. George Snyder.

E. H. Roe, Rev. Garfield Dawe, Miss Ilow Elzey and Mrs. Carl Wilson will compose a quartet from Ossian to sing at the township Sunday school convention, which will be held at Uniondale Sunday night.

Mrs. Lucas M. Fry suffered a nervous collapse Wednesday evening, after the funeral of her husband, and was quite seriously ill for a few hours. She is reported better today.

The Standard Bearers met the other night at the home of their superintendent, Mrs. J. W. Metts. About fifteen were present. Miss Mary Way led the devotional exercises and sang a solo. Miss Susie Bailey and Miss Ruby Hamilton took part in the program.

Mrs. Robert Ashcroft and children, of Galion, Ohio, are here for a visit with Mrs. Ashcroft's father, Jacob Kay, and her sister, Mrs. C. Double.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Davis have as their guest now their daughter, Mrs. Oswal Newton, who was recently married at Fort Wayne to Mr. Newton, an interurban condctor from South Bend. They expect to go to housekeeping in South Bend soon.

Mrs. Ora Bradds went to Jamestown, Ohio, the first of this week to visit her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Frink and family are planning to go to Pleasant Mills, Sunday, to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Carey Zerkle.

Dr. Fred A. Metts, of Bluffton, visited with his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Mets and family, the other day.

Mrs. Mary Nichols, of North Manchester, came to Ossian this week to spend the winter in the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. Frank Grow. Mrs. Nichols is an aunt of Mrs. Grow.

John Ashburn is home from Convoy, Ohio, where he went to attend the funeral of his wife's cousin, Noah Wiseman.

Miss Jennie Ryan has gone to Warren for an extended visit in the home of Marcellus Ryan.

Mrs. Nora Earl has returned to Fort Wayne after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vananda and other Ossian relatives.

Mrs. Henry Kirkhoff has received word from her son, Henry Kirkhoff, who has been stationed at Fort Hunt, V., since last May. He has been transferred to Camp Lee, at Petersburg, Va., and has been made a sergeant of his company.

Mrs. M. L. Hunter visited a day this week in Sheldon, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Miller.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" Relieves Stomach Distress in Five Minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will sweeten a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is usually a sign of acidity of the stomach.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches or dizziness. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin helps to neutralize the excessive acid in the stomach which is causing the food fermention and preventing proper digestion.

Relief in five minutes is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to usually keep the entire family free from stomach acidity and its symptoms of indigestion, dyspepsia, sourness, gases, heartburn, and headache, for many months. It belongs in your home.—Advertisement.

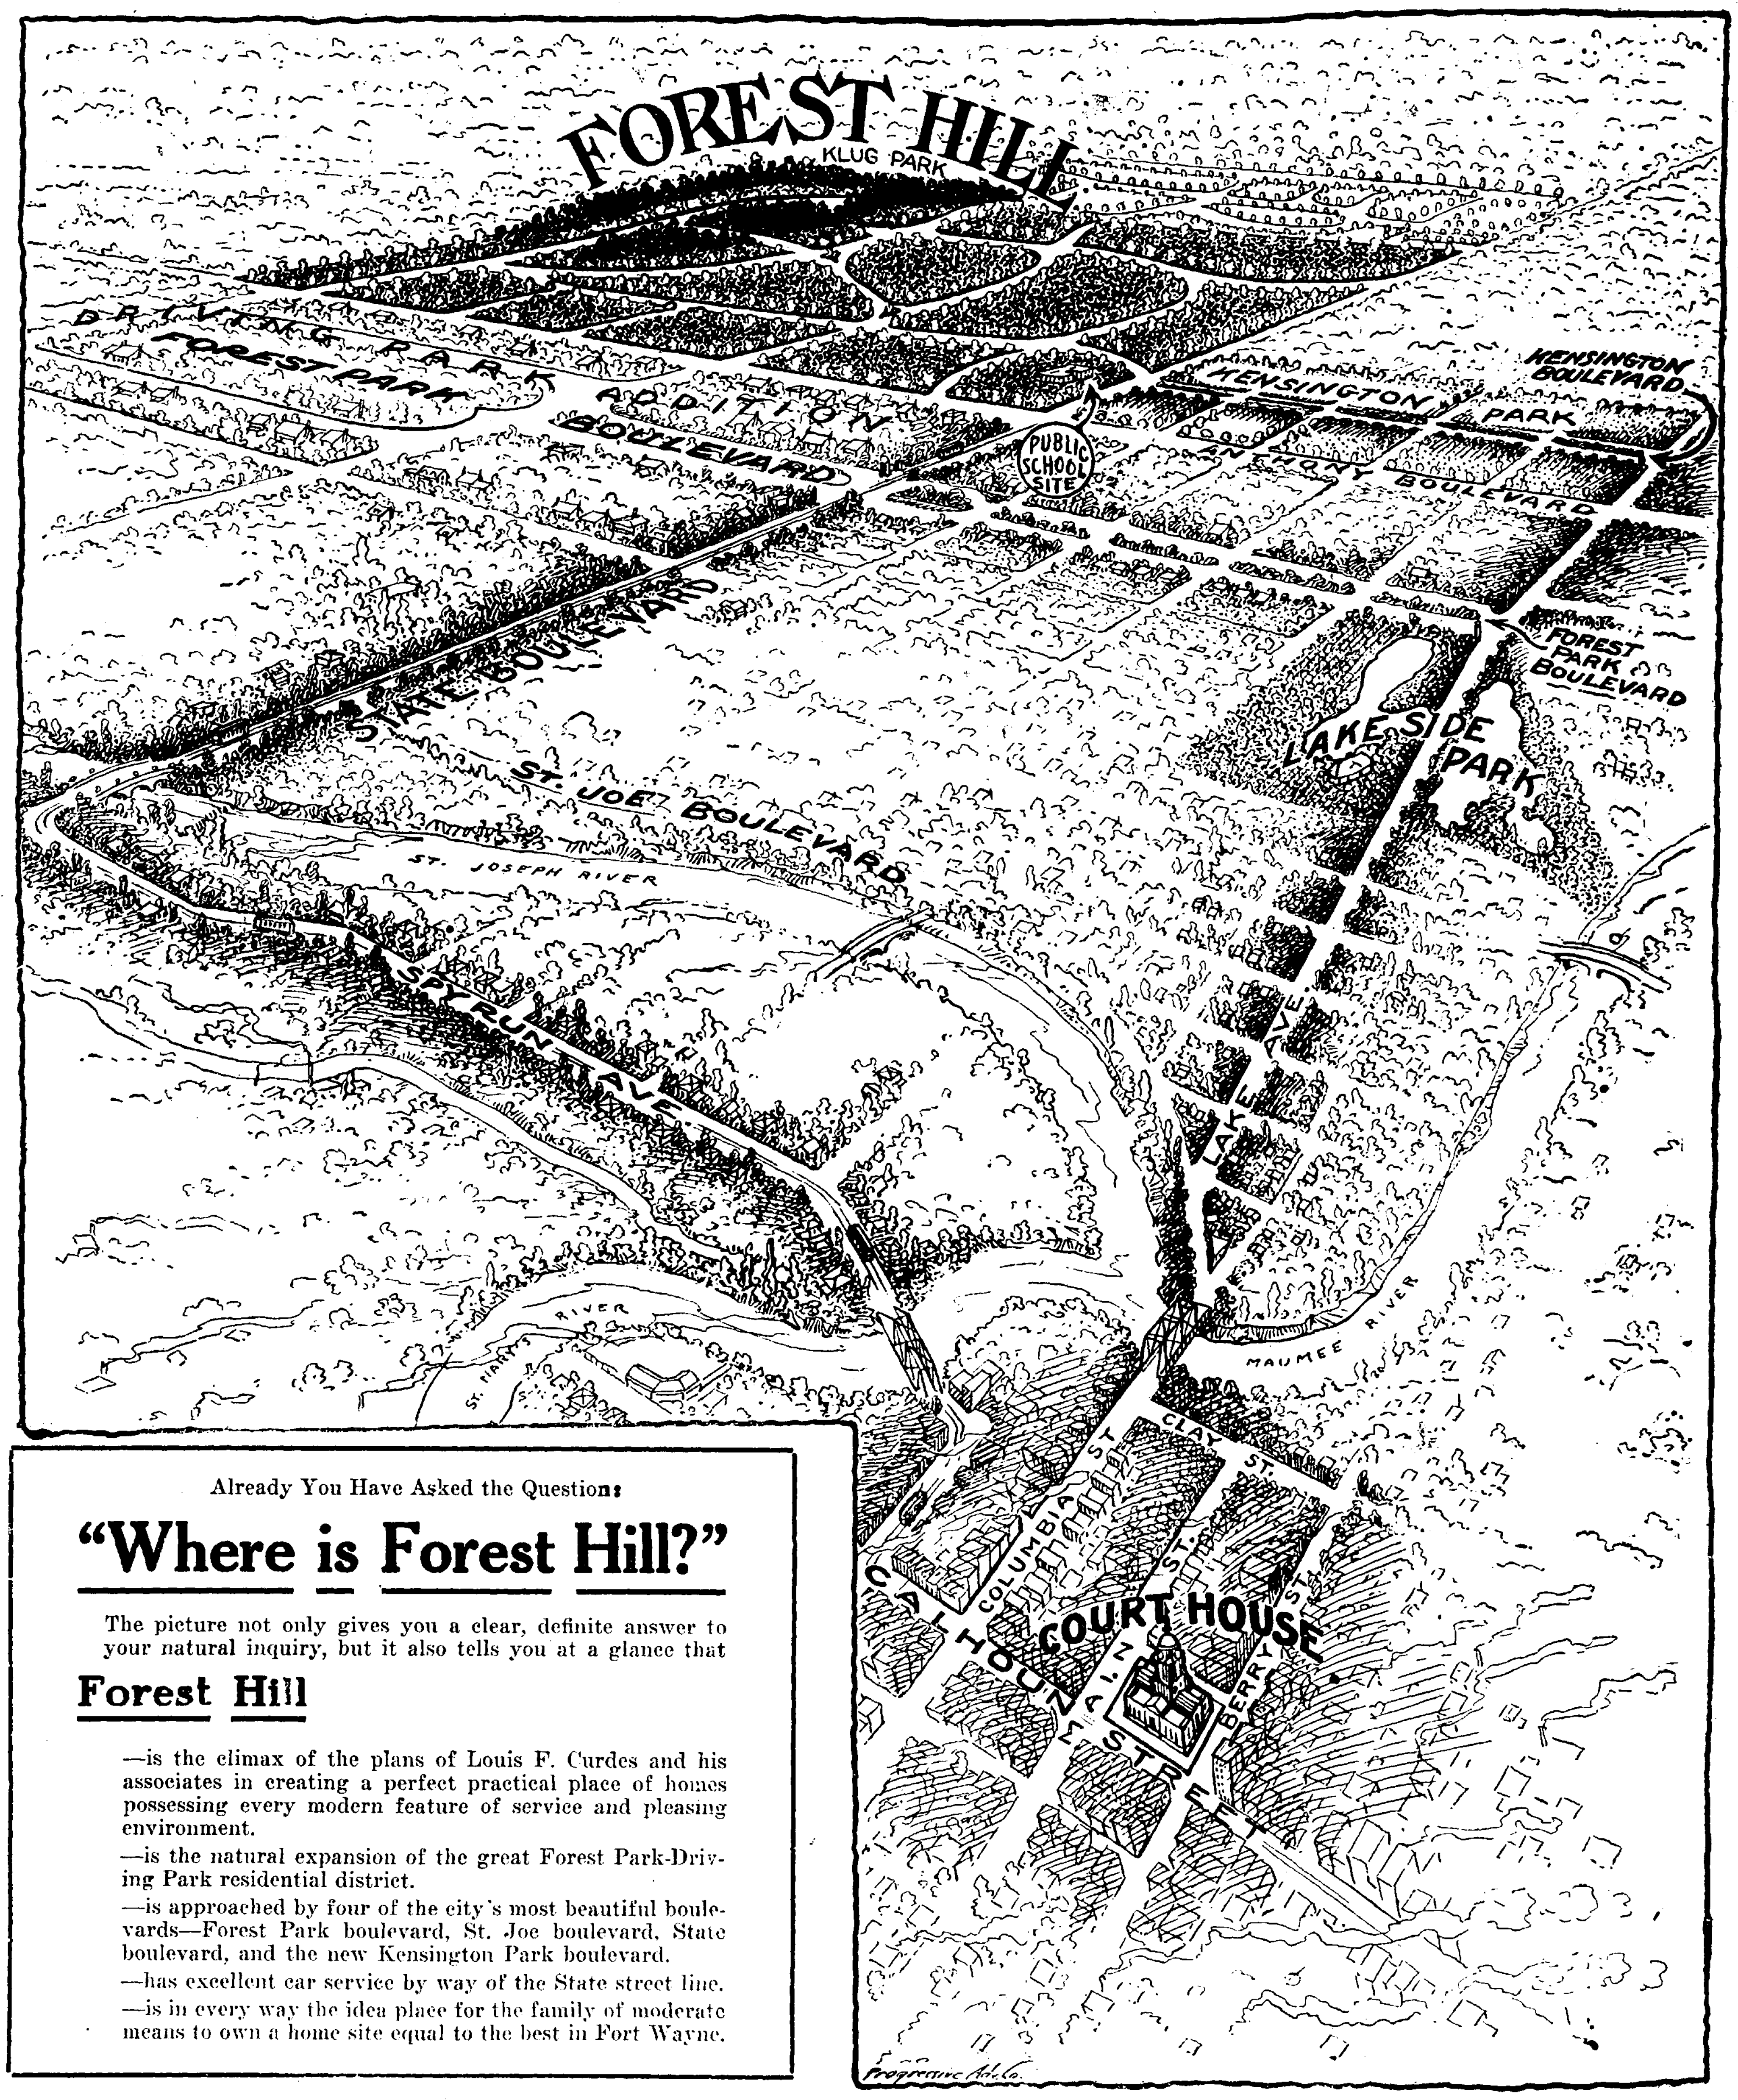
Forest Hill



Already You Have Asked the Question:

"Where is Forest Hill?"

The picture not only gives you a clear, definite answer to your natural inquiry, but it also tells you at a glance that

Forest Hill

—is the climax of the plans of Louis F. Curdes and his associates in creating a perfect practical place of homes possessing every modern feature of service and pleasing environment.

—is the natural expansion of the great Forest Park-Driving Park residential district.

—is approached by four of the city's most beautiful boulevards—Forest Park boulevard, St. Joe boulevard, State boulevard, and the new Kensington Park boulevard.

—has excellent car service by way of the State street line.

—is in every way the idea place for the family of moderate means to own a home site equal to the best in Fort Wayne.

Announcement

FOREST HILL Will be a finished development in the spring of 1918. During the year 1917 large sums have been spent in making this naturally beautiful place into a great popular home community in perfect harmony with the Forest Park and Driving Park districts, of which it is the natural expansion.

Beginning only six years ago to create Forest Park boulevard from an uninteresting "wilderness" into a place of beautiful homes, Louis F. Curdes and the men who are associated with him in developing the northeastern portion of the city, broadened their effort four years ago to include Driving Park—and now, with the greater expansion, by the creation of Forest Hill, they will give to the people of Fort Wayne the greatest of all opportunities to secure ideal home sites in the new and strikingly popular portion of the city.

Forest Hill is now ready for inspection, although it will not be entirely completed until early next spring. At the present time you may see the paved drives and boulevards, ready for their final asphalt finish; the sidewalks, the finished portion of the boulevard lighting system, and the general broad, yet comprehensive plan of parkways, roomy lots and the expanse of wooded and open lots. The best sewer system in Fort Wayne has been installed. Water, electric lighting and all modern conveniences are to form a part of this ideal place.

People who are looking forward to next year should now see Forest Hill—"in the Forest Park-Driving Park District." A moment's thought of what has happened in this neighborhood during the past seven years gives you a clear picture of Forest Hill of the near future.

MANY HAVE SIGNED THE FOOD PLEDGE

Meeting Held Friday Night Revealed a Total of 8,756 Signatures.

The closing of the food pledge drive in Fort Wayne was marked by a rousing meeting held Friday night at the Elks' temple. The reports of the teams showed that 8,756 cards had been signed making a total of nearly 40,000 who would observe food saving days. This total number was based on the supposition that there were five in each family that signed a card.

Another war time measure that was discussed was fall plowing for next spring's war gardens. The best results may be obtained by this fall plowing. Over a hundred ladies were present at the meeting Friday night and pledged to support all war measures coming up in the future.

COUNTRY CLUB GARDENS INVITE OUTSIDE PEOPLE

That the great popularity of the Country Club gardens is extending itself to places outside of the city of Fort Wayne is evident from the fact that several out-of-town people have bought lots here in this new suburban development of the City and Suburban Building company. Ralph W. Withrow, a Roanoke man, has just purchased a lot from the company through Ed Rieke. He expects to build in the gardens next spring.

Conservation Must Become a Dominant American Trait

We have all recently been brought face to face with some stern realities which have made us see that there is one striking weakness in American character—Extravagance.

The ablest men of our day have been detailed to show us how to economize on this or that, as you know. Hasn't that quite a significance to you?

With America's industries clambering for more funds with which to do greater things let's economize financially by placing pocket funds at once in a good bank.

We believe that the First and Hamilton National Bank has much to offer you as a reason for connecting yourself with us.

GREAT DRIVE OF THE TURKS

British Forces Making Hot Pursuit of the Enemy in Palestine.

TURKISH LOSSES ARE TREMENDOUS

Ten Thousand Fall, While Great Number Are Made Prisoners.

London, Nov. 10.—The British army in Palestine pursuing the defeated Turks has made further extensive gains the war office announces. Askalon has been occupied.

The Turkish casualties exclusive of prisoners, are ten thousand. The number of guns captured has been increased to more than seventy.

The communication follows:

"General Allenby reports that yesterday mounted troops moved forward rapidly and captured another 400 prisoners and ten guns. Our line now runs in a southeasterly direction from two miles north of Hammeh, which is two miles from the coast and four miles northeast of Askalon, to two miles north of Arak-el-Henshiyeh on the central railway. This line is generally ten to six miles north of the Wadi-Hesu river. Askalon has been occupied by infantry and artillery.

"North of Beersheba there were no developments."

The British column, which is advancing along the Mediterranean coast assisted by French and British warships, has gained nearly twenty miles since the recent capture of Gaza. Hammeh is fifteen miles above Gaza. The British are now only about five miles below the latitude of Jerusalem, which, however, is forty-eight miles inland, and has not thus far been menaced directly.

TERRY HUT BUSTS INTO LIMELIGHT

Many Indictments There of Men for Conspiring to Commit Burglary.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 10.—Nineteen men were named in indictments returned by the grand jury at noon today. Twelve are charged with operating gamblig, or slot machines, and the others face charges of conspiracy to commit buglaries. While it is not mentioned in the indictments, it is generally understood that the theft of slot gaming machines are meant.

These indictments and three others naming persons whose names were supressed, were immediately delivered into the hands of the sheriff for service.

The indictments charging conspiracy to commit burglary name George (Eddie) Gosnell and Frank (Buster) Clark, West End saloon keepers, who were indicted each sixe times, a few weeks ago charged with conspiracy to steal automobile tire casings and the subsequent of the conspiracy. Harry Barker, Earl Jeffers, Chester Brannin and Everett Johnson, named jointly with Gosnell and Clark in those indictments also were named in the indictments. George Sovern who served one year in prison on conviction in the election cases of 1914 was named for the first time.

Sovern recently joined his wife in California. One indictment charges that Gosnell, Clark, Jeffers, Baker, Johnson and Brannin conspired on July 18 to rob the saloon of Nick Burson of certain goods and chattels. Another charge is that on July 14, Clark, Jeffers, Sovern, Johnson and Brannin conspired to rob the saloon of William H. Dillard; another that Clark, Gosnell, Jeffers, Johnson and Brannin conspired on July 3 to rob the saloon of William J. Otte, and another that Clark, Gosnell, Ben Taylor, Barker, Kennedy and Jeffers conspired on July 10 to rob the saloon of Charles Hart. Jeffers, Johnson, Brannin, Taylor, Kennedy and Barker are named as witnesses.

ORDERS PEACE MEETING CLOSED IF DISLOYAL

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—Acting Governor John G. Oglesby today directed Samuel Insull, chairman of the state council of defense, to inform the chief of police and corporation council of Chicago that they would be held responsible for dispersing a so-called peace meeting, scheduled for 3 o'clock today in Chicago "if anything of a seditious character either in action or words takes place." Little was learned here of the nature of the gathering except that it was to be addressed by Professor Nearing of Toledo university. Governor Lowden sent troops to Chicago some weeks ago to prevent sessions of the People's Council of America for democracy and peace, but the delegates organized and dispersed before the soldiers arrived.

BARBER GUILTY OF SUNDAY DESECRATION

A. Gardiner is Fined $1 and Costs by Jury in Circuit Court.

Union barbers won their case against A. Gardiner, the Columbia street barber, charged with Sabbath desecration. A jury in the circuit court returned a verdict Saturday morning finding him guilty and assessed a fine of $1 and costs.

The case was bitterly fought, the jury deliberating almost throughout the entire night before reaching a verdict. Much interest was manifested in the case, the theory of the state being that if aGrdiner was found not guilty there was no reason why other barbers could not do business on Sunday. The barbers' union assisted the prosecution in every way possible.

After being convicted in a justice court some time ago Gardiner appealed the case to the circuit court. He was represented by Hartzell & Todd, while Emrick & Buhler appeared for the state.

TOO MUCH NAGGING.

Alice Bohen Files Suit for Divorce From Henry M. Bohen.

Alleging that her husband has the habit of cursing her and is guilty of continual nagging, Alice Bohen, through her attorneys, Ryan, Ryan & Aldrich, filed suit in the superior court Saturday asking for a divorce from Henry M. Barbara Holland, 1117 Fairfield avenue, filed suit in the superior court, Saturday, through her attorneys, Ryan, Ryan and Aldrich, asking for a divorce from Henry Holland, who she says, two years ago whipped her and frequently called her foul and abusive names. She asks for a restraining order to prevent him from molesting her and from disposing of the household goods. They were married in 1901 and separated Saturday.

DIVORCES GRANTED.

Three of Them Are Allowed by Judge Yaple in Superior Court.

Three decrees of divorce were granted Friday afternoon by Judge Carl Yaple in the superior court as follows: Caroline Zehendner from Geo. Zehendner; Grace A. Waltke from Henry A. Waltke, and Julia M. Warner from Perry L. Warner. The last case created considerable comment at the time it was filed, Mrs. Warner first charging that her husband had failed to provide and Warner had filed affidavit some days before asking for exemption from army service on the ground of having a dependent wife. Warner's case was reconsidered by the selection board and he was certified for service, although Mrs. Warner withdrew her original complaint and filed a new one in which the failure to provide allegation was stricken out.

CHARGES NEGLECT.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO MRS. MARY POHLMEYER

Fred Pohlmeyer, Young Architect, Fails to Appear When Case is Called.

A decree for divorce has been granted to Mrs. Mary Pohlmeyer from Fred Pohlmeyer, a young architect now managing the cigar store at the Metropolitan bowling alleys, by Judge Carl Yaple in the superior court.

The case was filed some weeks ago following a series of quarrels that created no little excitement in the 1500 block, Spy Run avenue, where they had resided. No alimony was allowed by the court, a settlement having been reached prior to the filing of the suit.

It also was agreed that Mrs. Pohlmeyer was to secure the divorce without contest. Soon after the separation Mrs. Pohlmeyer returned to the home of her parents, near Defiance, O.

Mrs. Pohlmeyer was represented by Attorneys Ryan, Ryan and Aldrich.

GEO. S. FOWLER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

George S. Fowler, aged 76, passed at 2 o'clock at his home, 206 Douglas avenue. Mr. Fowler has been a prominent business man of Fort Wayne for years, being connected with the George S. Fowler Co., Inc., Railway and Marine Supplies, with headquarters at Washington, D. C. He was widely respected by all his business associates.

The deceased was born October 11, 1842, in Bristol, New Hampshire, and came to Fort Wayne in the early sixties where he has remained ever since. Mr. Fowler has been a member of the First Presbyterian church for a number of years.

Death came at the end of over a year's suffering with heart trouble. For the past few weeks his condition was considered serious. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Peter E. Pickard and Miss Harriet Fowler; also three grandchildren, Misses Louise, Marjory and Florence Pickard.

ARMY STAYS SIX MONTHS

Nationals Will Not be Sent to France for Half Year is the Rumor.

SHIPPING NEEDED TO SEND SUPPLIES

Allies Need Food and War Materials Worse Than Our Soldiers.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The possibility that the first increment of the national army will not be sent to France for at least six months loomed large today when it became known that the allies' demands for food, coal and iron are so strong as to forecast use of available ocean tonnage for their transportation for troops.

The decision of the question will rest largely on reports expected soon from the American mission now abroad and on figures being assembled by Food Administrator Hoover to show the amount of grain and other food products available for export in the United States and South American countries.

Present indications are, the food administration believes, that the food situation, particularly in England, France and Italy, will force the United States to use its ships to send food instead of soldiers.

Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, the food administration's representative on the American mission, has been instructed to gather information on the allies' food needs at the earliest possible time and forward it here so that the war and navy departments and the shipping board may make arrangements in advance if it appears there can be no surplus of tonnage for transportation of the first increment of the national army now in training camps.

Plans for the second draft would be affected by the postponement of the removal of the first increment from camps, but since the camps' capacity is much greater than their present assignments, it would not be necessary to delay the draft until the camps are actually emptied.

APPEALS FOR Y.M.C.A. FUND

Statement of Association's War Work is Made by Secretary Eddy.

A CHOSEN AGENT OF THE GOVERNMENT

Work is Founded on the Broadest Lines for All Men.

New York, Nov. 10.—The following statement regarding the war work of the Young Men's Christian association, was issued today by Sherwood Eddy, assistant general secretary of the general committee:

"The Y. M. C. A. has been chosen by the government as the agent or arm of the nation to minister to the physical, social and moral needs of the men in the armies, together with one or two other organizations. In France there are two organizations working for the soldiers—the Red Cross and the Red Triangle of the Y. M. C. A. The former cares for all the wounded who are carried to the rear. The latter cares for the walking wounded, the fighting men, the welfare work of the allied armies of France, Italy and Russia, and the six million prisoners of war—a total of 24,000,000 men in all, calling for a total budget of $35,000,000 or an average of $1.50 per soldier.

"The Y. M. C. A. works on broad lines. It is open alike to Jew and Gentile, to Catholic and Protestant. In France the Catholics hold their mass in the huts, the Protestants their services and the Jews their synagogue. We have all inherited unhappy divisions and narrowness from the past. The war is bringing us together.

"The Y. M. C. A. seeks to evangelisze but never to proselytize. It seeks to hold every man through to his God, his own church, his own faith, his home and his own best self. Workers of all creeds are uniting under its roof to minister to the men as lay helpers. There is an opportunity for us to present a common front and to serve the need of our common humanity. In these war camps we can get together on the broad platform of faith in God, in humanity and in righteousness, every man holding a right to his own creed, but co-operating with all others in the face of our one common human need.

"Our men are facing great physical hardship in the 'hell' of the trenches and the moral menace of fighting in a far country removed from all the good influences of home. Can we not meet the needs of these men and provide them a home away from home? Can we not forget the mistakes and divisions of the past and face the crisis of the present and the challenge of the future? It is the biggest moral challenge which ever confronted our people."

MILITARY NEWS

PENNSY EMPLOYE TELLS OF Y. M. C. A.

Harry McNamara, of Co. F, 21st Engineers, Writes from Camp Grant.

Harry McNamara, of Company F, Twenty-first engineers, a former Pennsylvania company employe, writes to his brother from Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., as follows, in comment upon the Y. M. C. A. and its worth to the soldiers:

"I never did know what the Y. M. C. A. really meant, and I don't think you do, either, unless you have been in camp. I can say the Y. M. C. A. does more than its share toward winning the great war, and may the good Lord help you and all that are working hard to maintain it. They are giving us all this paper, and in fact everything we want, and it is free of charge. They gave us each a New Testament, a book called 'The Soldier's Spirit' and a book about Jesus Christ, and they are the best books I ever read, and I can say I am giving all the spare time I have in helping the Y. M. C. A. I see now where all the money goes. Take it from me, there's no graft in the Y. M. C. A. I have learned that here, and the soldiers down here trust all the 'Y' men. I saw a soldier down here give a 'Y' man $20 and told him to keep it for him until he called for it, and he did not even ask for a receipt for it. One of the other soldiers said: 'Are you sure you will get it back?' Here is the answer: 'Yes; the 'Y' is better than a bank, and when I call for it I will receive it.' The men that work for the 'Y' are all honest men and are trying hard to get us all close to our Lord Jesus Christ.

"I know if a lot of people who have money to spare could see the good the 'Y' is doing in these camps for the boys who have left home and are giving their very lives for the flag, they surely would give more. Don' tforget to tell all the pastors to pray for the Y. M. C. A. men as well as for the soldiers, as they are doing their bit as well as we are, and may the Lord keep them in good health."

CLARENCE ROSSELOT ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Writes a Letter to His Parents Telling of His Ocean Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Rosselot, residing on rural route No. 1 out of Fort Wayne, are in receipt of a letter from their son, Clarence L. Rosselot, telling of his safe arrival in England. Clarence is a member of the medical corps and enlisted on July 25. His letter is as follows:

"I arrived here this morning and have been having a fine trip. We left New York Wednesday evening, October 3 and anchored in the harbor of Halifax on Friday afternoon. Left there Saturday afternoon with a fleet of nine other boats, one a cruiser and the rest freighters and passenger boats.

"We had very rough weather from Thursday until Saturday. A good many of the boys were seasick, but I felt fine all the time and really enjoyed the trip. Eight destroyers met us Tuesday evening and then our ships ——with two destroyers left the other boats and we landed at ——— at noon, Wednesday. We took a train there at 5 p. m. and got off at South Hampton at 2 a. m. Thursday. From there we walked out to the camp about two miles and got there about 4 o'clock. There were 1,200 soldiers, officers and Red Cross nurses on the boat.

"I am feeling fine and hope the same of all of you."

Married Men.

Many married men have asked questions about getting into the army, and for the information of all similarly situated, Sergt. Arthur Turner, of the recruiting station, has given out the following:

"Men who are separated from their wives but not divorced, may enlist providing they make affidavit that the wife will not come on the government for support other than that which he may send her from his salary while in the service. Married men, living with their wives, may be accepted in all divisions except in the infantry, cavalry, artillery and coast artillery, providing [illegible] wife will not come on the government for support other than that sent back by the husand from his wages."

Dr. Barnett Home.

Dr. C. E. Barnett, a captain in the medical reserve corps, has returned on a twenty-five day furlough from Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, where he is on duty in the military hospital. He will await orders to some eastern port for immediate foreign duty.

Field Artillery Closed.

Three recruits were sent to Indianapolis, Friday, two to the engineer unit and one to the aviation section. The field artillery and cavalry sections are closed except to previous service men who may still get in the cavalry. All other branches of the service are still open except that the quartermaster corps is closed except to cooks and bakers.

Three Enlistments.

Three more enlistments were received Thursday at the local recruiting station, raising the total for the month to thirty-one. Two of these men went to the coast artillery, and one to the remount.

Mrs. Theodore Gebhard is in receipt of a postal card from her son Theodore, a member of Battery D, of the Rainbow division, telling of his safe arrival in France. Gebhard served with Company E on the Mexican border and was later transferred to the battery. Mrs. Gebhard lives at 1043 Grant avenue.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT BONDS SELL AT PAR

They Are Sold to the Tri-State Loan and Trust Company.

Road improvement bonds to the amount of about $76,000 were sold Saturday by William F. Ranke, county treasurer, to the Tri-State Loan and Trust company at par.

The bonds are for the improvement of the Pulver, Menchy, Munich, Scherer and Winchester roads. Bonds for the improvement of the Young road were sold to a party at Decatur.

These bonds have been held by the county treasurer for over a month.

BULGARIA SINGS AN AWFUL HYMN OF BITTER HATE

Washington, Nov. 10.—Publication of a Bulgarian hymn of hate, teeming with incitement to cruelty and atrocities has aroused officials and diplomats here and drawn from the Bulgarian minister, Stephen Panaretoff, the declaration that the purported author, Ivan Arnaudoff, described as "The Bulgarian Pindar," is of no standing to bespeak the national sentiments of Bulgaria.

A literal translation of the poem bristles with expressions and phrases of revolting incitement to the most unspeakable cruelties to the men, women and children of enemy countries overrun by Bulgarian troops.

ONE OF VILLA'S BROTHERS GETS OUT OF CORRAL

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 10.—Federal agents are seeking Hipolito Villa, brother of Francisco Villa, the bandit leader who has not reported to them since last Saturday and who is believed to have crossed the border near Presidio. By agreement the department of justice gave Villa his liberty on condition he stayaway from the border and make daily report to the authorities. This arrangement has been in effect nearly a year and Villa was punctual in his reports until last Saturday. On Monday it was [illegible]

HELFFERICH QUITS OFFICE

German Vice Chancellor is Dropped to Bring on Political Peace.

VON PAYER NAMED TO SUCCEED HIM

What is Now Called a Liberal Government Has Sway in Berlin.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—Via London.—Dr. Karl Helfferich, the vice-chancellor, has capitulated and political peace once more has been restored. The cabinet containing Count von Hertling as chancellor, Friedrich von Payer as vice-chancellor, and Herr Friedberg as vice-president of the Prussian ministry, means a virtually coalition liberal government.

The socialists accept the appointment of von Payer as evidence that Count von Hertling is willing to work with the present group of reichstag majority parties, but they are reserving to themselves complete liberty of action. The conservatives are the only important reichstag faction not having a member in the new government, which may be said to mark the active initiation of the first parliamentary cabinet in Prussia and Germany. Chancellor von Hertlin returned today to Munich, where he will assist in the reorganization of the Bavarian ministry from which he retires. His first public appearance as chancellor is expected to take place when the reichstag opens its next session on Nov. 22.

The liberals are now getting ready to combat the reactionaries in their efforts to obstruct the enactment of the Prussian electoral reform bill. These measures are expected to be ready for first reading at the end of this month. The clericals, national liberals, progressives, socialists and Poles will constitute an ample majority for it in the lower chamber of the Prussian diet.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT ADDRESSES TEACHERS

R. W. Himelick Will Assume Active Duties on Monday Morning.

Professor R. W. Himelick, the new public school superintendent, will assume active duties Monday morning. A reception at the high school building was held for him Friday after school hours. Superintendent Himelick comes to Fort Wayne with many new ideas and principles on school work. In his address to the teachers he stated that he was vitally interested in their various duties and urged thme to come to him with all matters of complaint or doubt.

In speaking of Fort Wayne's school system Superintendent Himelick said that the children of Fort Wayne spent entirely too much time in the grades. According to his views the grade schools should extend to about the sixth instead of the eighth grade. The great number of pupils dropping out of high school before even their freshman year was completed was another topic for discussion.

HIGH SCHOOLERS BUSY REHEARSING FOR PLAY

Farce Comedy, Who's Crazy?" Will Be Given Within a Few Weeks.

For the first time in the history of the school, the high school senior play is to be given in the Majestic theater instead of the high school auditorium. This move has been found to be necessary because of the great number of people who have already engaged tickets for the affair. The title of the play, "Who's Crazy," is not very enlightening, but sufficient to say the farce comedy of the highest type which it portrays is exactly suited to the talent of high school seniors.

The entire cast under the direction of Mr. Franklin is sparing no effort to make this play a great success. Rehearsals are being held daily and the players will soon be ready for the final dress rehearsal to be held on the evening of November 27. The play will be be given two evenings, November 28 and 30.

LIKE HUSBAND, ENDS LIFE.

Scottsburg, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Mary Payne, daughter of E. Gladden, former secretary of the Indiana state board of forestry, committed suicide some time yesterday by shooting herself through the heart. She was alone in her home at the time. Her death follows that of her husband, Marcellus Payne, Sept. 20, when she had been married but a short time. Payne shot Mrs. Payne and killed himself. Mrs. Payne was sent to a hospital and [illegible]

INTEREST CENTERS IN WABASH-DEPAUW GAME

Indiana and Purdue Have No Games Scheduled—Notre Dame to Iowa.

With no football games scheduled today for either Indiana or Purdue, and Notre Dame playing Morningside college at Sioux City, Iowa, the interest of football fans in Indiana today centered in the annual clash between Wabash and DePauw at Indianapolis this afternoon. The two schools have been meeting on the gridiron for a quarter of a century and during that time Wabash has won two more games than DePauw, who is expected to cut the Little Giants' lead to one game this afternoon.

The practice work at Indiana and Purdue this past week was comparatively light because of the fact that there were no games scheduled for today and also because the season is nearing an end and the coaches did not want their men to grow stale. Purdue has before it only the game with Wabash and the annual clash with Indiana, which will be played at Bloomington Nov. 24. DePauw is the only remaining opponent, with the exception of Purdue, on the crimson schedule, although there has been some talk of a post-season game with the University of West Virginia to be played at Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., where the national guard troops of the two states are encamped, on Dec. 5.

Little advance information has been received in this state as to what may be expected in the Notre Dame-Morningside game. The Notre Dame squad left Indiana, however, feeling confident of an easy victory, since it defeated the army at West Point last Saturday.

Hanaver and Franklin met on Franklin field, while Rose Poly was in Chicago for a game with DePaul. Earlham battled Wittenburg at Richmond and hoped to turn back the invaders from Ohio.

TAKES OVER CIRCUS.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Jess Willard's circus, which was installed in winter quarters near Jacksonville, Fla., has been leased by the government, according to Walter Monohan, sparring partner of the heavyweight champion, who has been traveling with Willard's show. Monohan came to Chicago Wednesday from the south after the show quit for the year. Jess intends to winter along the Florida beach. The show was taken off Willard's hands by a department of the United States army quartermaster corps, and the numerous saddle horses and other animals will bring a good rental, besides taking the heavy expense burden of winter feeding off Jess's purse. When the show was leased the government also contracted to take over the services of the big force of workmen with the show.

INDIANA GAMES.

At Indianapolis—Wabash vs. DePauw.

At Richmond—Earlham vs. Wittenberg.

At Detroit—Rose Poly vs. University of Detroit.

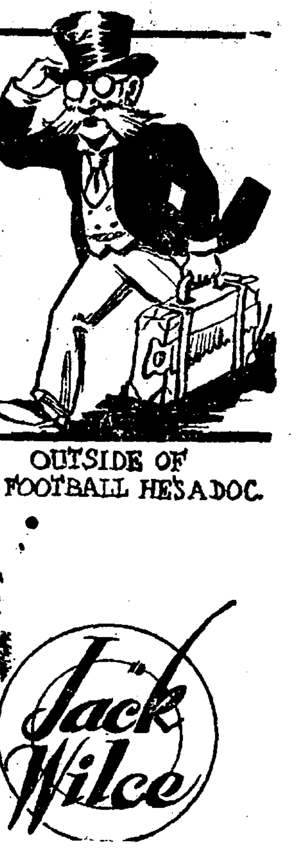
At Sioux City—Notre Dame vs. Morningside.

At Chicago—Culver vs. Loyola.

THIRD GAME.

Frankfort, Ind., Nov. 10.—The Frankfort Tigers will play their third game of the season here Sunday with the Peru LaBelles. The LaBelles average 165 pounds to the man, and have won five out or six games played. The Tigers have won from the Elwood Independents and the Kokomo Wildcats.

MINUTE MEN OF BASEBALL—JACK WILCE



OUTSIDE OF FOOTBALL HE'S A DOC.
Jack Wilce

(By Paul Purman.)

Can you win football games by psychology?

Can you make thought waves produce touchdowns and goals?

We don't pretend to know—but here's the story.

In 1916 Ohio state, the baby of the western conference, was playing Illinois, in the game whrich was eventually to give the Buckeye the big nine title.

Only a few minutes remained to play. Illinois had scored early and Ohio had just crossed the Illini goal. The score was 6 to 6 and Chick Harley was changing his wet shoes for dry ones preparatory to trying for goal from a difficult angle.

"He is going to kick that goal," said Wilce dramatically. "You must all believe he is. I want everyone of you fellows to concentrate and know he is until the ball goes over the bar."

Then Harley kicked and the ball sailed squarely between the posts. Ohio had won.

That is one side of the most successful young coach in the middle west. He constantly studies the psychology of every situation which comes up in games or in practice.

The other side is that he is a plugger; believes in thoroughness, in extensive preparation and he has absolutely no use for precedents.

His thoroughness is carried on throughout the entire year. He is constantly in touch with his players to see that they stand well in school scholastically; he conducts winter classes in football theory and long sessions of spring practice. He keeps in touch with the college alumni looking for new material. In the winter he spends long hours with a checker board working out new plays for the coming season.

With his men he is a driver. He demands hard work and gets it. He is quick to recognize earnest effort, and last year recommended for the varsity "O" a man who had not played in nearly enough games to win it.

"Nobody on the squad has worked harder than he has for three years," was Wilce's explanation, and the man got his letter.

Wilce is a Y. M. C. A. man—a man of character and a true sportsman against whom not the slightest insinuation of unfairness has ever been brought by an opponent. At Ohio State they hope he will stay forever, but he may some day give up coaching to take up medicine. He has made it his study ever since taking up coaching at Ohio. He graduated and played football at Wisconsin, where he was an all-western fullback and a crew man.

"HANDS OFF" POLICY.

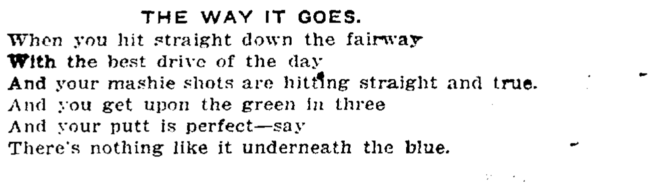
National Commish May Not Heed Hickey's Plea.

New York, Nov. 10.—Whether the national commission will interfere in the threatened revolt of several A. A. and International league cities is problematical. The heads of the two major leagues are inclined to favor a new league. They figure it will be a good thing for the game, will keep up interest in the sport during the war and also will prove a financial success.

But the commission will undoubtedly adopt a "hands-off" policy in settling the dispute. It will not interfere, according to all reports, because of technicalities. The commission's jurisdiction is confined to disputes between major and minor leagues. The third league has not yet been formed. It is not as yet a major circuit. Thus the commission will be in its rights in refusingto heed Hickey's plea.

KNOCKS OUT HOMELAND.

Milwaukee, Nov. 10. — "Pinkey" Mitchell, brother of Richie Mitchell, a favorite local lightweight, celebrated his entrance into the ranks of professional boxers by knocking out Joe Homeland, of Chicago, in the second round of a six-round bout. Mitchell floored his opponent three times in the second with wallops to the jaw when Referee Stout put a stop to the affair.



THE WAY IT GOES.

When you hit straight down the fairway
With the best drive of the day
And your mashie shots are hitting straight and true.
And you get upon the green in three
And your putt is perfect—say
There's nothing like it underneath the blue.

But when you slice the drive at One
And hook a brassie shot
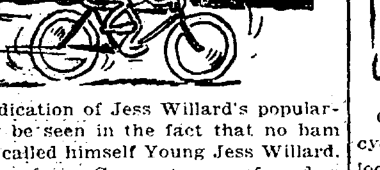
And miss a three-foot putt at Eight
And all that sort of rot,
Can you blame a guy for feelinig pretty sore?

OH! HE'S POPULAR.



FRESH AS I WAS TEN YEARS AGO!

An indication of Jess Willard's popularity may be seen in the fact that no ham has yet called himself Young Jess Willard.

A man from Germantown refereed a football game in which a soldier team was beaten. The soldiers probably thought they were discriminatde against.

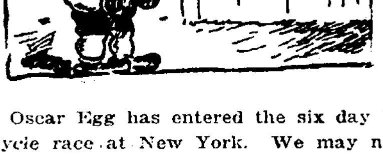
EGGS IS EGGS.



Oscar Egg has entered the six day bicycle race at New York. We may now look for bulletins like this: 'Eggs was strictly fresh after the tenth lap"

A third big league would give ticket sclapers a better chance to cop the dough at world series time. Another advantage would be that a few of the 8,000 ball players who think they ought to manage big league teams would get a chance.

NINE MEMBERS IN ARMY.

Cleveland, Nov. 10.—War is cutting deeply into the ranks of the Cleveland club of the American league. Nine members of the club have been called for the selective draft, the latest being Herman DeBerry, a catcher.

EVERYTHING IS SET FOR SUNDAY'S GAME

Friars and Racine Will Meet in Most Important Contest of Season.

Everything is set for Sunday's game with the fast Racine team at League park. The Friars will present practically the same line-up as last Sunday against the Toledo Maroons.

The game is the most important that has been played here this season for the reason that it may determine whether the Friars will play the Hammond Clabby's, who are claiming the state championship and who a few Sundays ago were defeated by Racine.

There is n ocertainty of Baujan, Pine Village end, and teammate of Helvie, being here Sunday, although a strenuous effort is being made to get him. An effort also is being made to secure Johnson, last year's halfback, who is now director of athletics fo rthe Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, at Akron.

Referee Joe Magidsohn, of Michigan university, who has given such entire satsfaction in the games in which he has officiated, has wired that he will be unable to be present, but is sending Aldridge, of Chicago university. Racine will furnish the umpire in the person of Gerum, and Jake Ritter, of this city, will again act as head linesman.

The preliminary game between the Tigers and Pyramids will start at 1:15 o'clock and the big game at 2:30 o'clock. Tickets are on sale at Meyer Bros.' drug store at Wayne and Calhoun streets.

The line-up of the two teams is as follows:

Friars.	Racine.
L. E.—Helvie (U)	L. E.—Ratchford.
L. T.—Jones (C)	L. T.—Eck.
L. G.—Denison (B)	L. G.—McEachron.
C—Feeney (A)	C.—Sehl.
R. G.—Bashaw (F)	R. G.—Glockson.
R. T.—Lockwood (H)	R. T.—Ruetz.
R. E.—Berghoff (M)	R. E.—Dory.
Q.—Dorais (G) capt.	Q.—Newton.
L. H.—Pliska J)	L. H.—Schnell.
R. H.—Specht (E)	R. H.—Foster.
F. B.—Chambers (R)	F. B.—Hueller.

Friar Substitutes—(B) Bradley, (L) Young, (N) Ambrose, (O) Ball, (P) Mann, (S) Robbins, (T) Smith, (K) Huntington.

SPORT RAVINGS

Friday night Richmond high school defeater Winchester high by an overwhelming score. Fort Wayne meets Richmond on February 15. Winchester defeated the local team in the first game of the season, but Coach Wright has a much better team now and hopes to beat Richmond when they get together.

The local management may secure Johnson, who played in the opening game against Camp Custer, here Sunday to go against Racine. Johnson always was a favorite in Fort Wayne and his playing would be welcomed.

Fullback Howard of Indiana University wil come in for much consideration when the all-conference team is picked. Howard is one of the best backfield men the state school has ever had.

Indiana will be interested Saturday in the game at Indianapolis between DePauw and Wabash for the secondary championship of the state. DePauw, who has lost only one game, and that to Purdue by a 7 to 6 score, rules the favorite over Wabash, who was seriously crippled by fourteen of last year's star team going to the army. The Little Giants started the season with a whole new team but they are working smoothly now and may spring a surprise on the confident Methodists.

Michigan is given the edge over Cornell in the only interesectional battle of the day. The eastern team is not up to it's usual standard and Coach Yost has developed a powerful eleven in a short time.

The conference title may be decided in the game between Ohio State and Wisconsin. Ohio, last year's champions, with a stronger team than ever, rule the favorites. The game will be a merry battle between two of the west's best players, Harley, all-American back, of Ohio, and Simpson, of Wisconsin. Both of these men do their team's punting and passing. Nearly al of the Buckeye plays are built around Harley.

Indiana and Purdue are resting for the big game of the Indiana year between the Boilermakers and the Hoosiers. Indiana will rule a heavy favorite this year.

The record crowd of the season will be at League park Sunday to see the Friars take the fast Racine team. The Friars will go into the game the favorites with all loyal Fort Wayne fans and this sort of support and confidence has won many games which otherwise would have been lost.

MAY NAME BRONKIE.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—Should Jack Hendricks, manager of the Indianapolis club, which won the 1917 American Association pennant, be selected to succeed Miller Huggins as pilot of the St. Louis National league team, Herman Bronkie, third baseman of the locals, will be named playing manager to succeed Hendricks, according to the stove-league critics. Bronkie has been field captain of the Indians for the last two seasons. He had some managerial experience in 1913 when he finished the season as pilot of the Toledo Association club after Topsy Hartsel had been deposed. Those who are so sure Bronkie will succeed Hendricks in the event of the latter leaving Indianapolis, point to the fact that such an appointment would be a good wartime measure, as Bronkie would be a playing manager and thus would save the salary of one man. Bronkie came to Indianapolis in 1914, when J. C. McGill purchased the club.

NAVY VS. GEORGETOWN.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 10.—Navy is in prime condition fo rits game with Georgetown this afternoon, which may prove to be one of the hardest of the local season. The Middies will be able to put their full strength in the field.

MARION HIGH SCHOOL WINS.

Marion, Ind., Nov. 10.—Marion high school basketball team was defeated last night by the Kokomo high school quintet in a fast game 28 to 19. Kokomo took the lead in the first half and was never in danger.

MICHIGAN PLAYING CORNELL'S ELEVEN

Wolverines Wind Up Their Home Schedule With the Ithicans.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 10.—The University of Michigan winds up its home football schedule this afternoon with Cornell as its opponent. Michigan expects a hard fight, but Coach Yost and members of the team are confident of victory. Dr. Sharpe, the Cornell coach, was not optimistic concerning the outcome, but said his team would fight from start to finish. Sharpe probably will not have the services of left half back Vanhorn, but expects to start Pendleton at full-back. These two men have been suffering from injuries.

Yost will have both Sparks and Weston in today's game. Weston, taking Sparks place at quarter-back, when the latter was injured recently, has developed into the sensation of the local season. Yost intends to use Sparks at left half-back today.

SPORTING NOTES.

New York women golfers advocate securing a course exclusively for female enthusiasts. Almost all the clubs in that district restrict the play of women to the early days of the week and reserve the links for the use of men during Saturday and Sunday.

Milwaukee boxing commission is considering the introduction of a rule which was carried out in France previous to the war. It is proposed to have each boxing club engage four seconds to act in the corners of the contesting boxers, in order that they may have proper attention during their bouts.

Coach Charles Brickley, of Boston college football team, offers a silver loving cup to the player of the team showing the best spirit and best work on the football field and in the lecture rooms. This is the former Harvard captain's first step as supervisor of athletics to bring into closer relationship the athletic and the scholastic branches of Boston college activities.

University of Pennsylvania has a ruling making athletics compulsory for all students that are able-bodied and well. Dartmouth may require students to take at least three hours of athletics each week.

Columbia university spent $42,591.45 on athletics last year.

Prominent association football teams not entered in the annual cup ties for the national cup, conducted by the United States Football association, the governing body of the sport, include Pullman, of Chicago, twice semi-finalists; Howard and Bullough, of Pawtucket, R. I., and Brooklyn Celtic. Loss of players through the war has caused many other teams to disband.

EMROES ARE CHALLENGED.

The East End Grays challenge the Emroes for a game of basketball to be played next Tuesday night. For particulars 'phone 6052 red, between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight.

Wabash and De Pauw Clash at Capital

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—DePauw and Wabash coherts paraded through the downtown streets here today in preparation for thei rannual football clash at Washington park here this afternoon. DePauw, with her team of veterans, was picked a favorite, but the Wabash supporters are hoping for a surprise. The little giants have won the preceding two games which DePauw played in this city.

The weather was a little warm for the players but great for the spectators and a record-breaking attendance for the contest was expected.

BADGERS AND BUCKEYES WILL GRAPPLE TODAY

Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—Ohio State started a slight favorite in the football game today with the University of Wisconsin eleven on camp Randall field, due to its unbroken string of victories for the season and the presence of Harley, All-American halfback, and his running mate, Stinchcomb, in the lineup. The Badgers, however, refused to cocede anything and pointed to the victory over Minnesota as indicative of their strength. With fair weather promised and preparations made for 28,600 spectators, the game is expected to furnish the stellar football contest in the conference today. The probable line-up:

Wisconsin.		Ohio State.
Weston	L. E.	Bolen
Scott	L. T.	H. L. Courtney
Kralovec	L. G.	Karch
Carpenter	C.	Vadyne
Kiekhefer	R. G.	Seddon
Hancock	R. T.	H. G. Courtney
Kelly	R. E.	Peabody
Simpson	Q. B.	Yerges
Bondi	L. H.	Stinchcomb
Gould	R. H.	Harley
Jacobis	F. B.	Boesei

WILL USE SAME LINEUP.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Coach Fred Marshy at Northwestern university, announced before the football contest with the Michigan Agricultural college, that he would use the same lineup that has played in all the games this season. This meant tnat Brightmire was on the reserve list, due to his injuries, and would be called upon only in case of emergency. Underhill will pilot the purples. The aggies are said to outweigh the Northwestern eleven.

BASKETBALL RESULTS.

At Lapel—Lapel high school, 61; Frankton, 11.

Butler, 42; Tenth United States infantry, 7.

SEMINOLES.

ATHLETICS IMPORTANT.

Camp Funston, Kan., Nov. 10.—Athletics is playing one of the biggest parts in the training of the men of the Eighty-ninth national army division at Camp Funston. Staff members lay special stress on the necessity of athletics, declaring it puts fight and spirit into the men. Football is to be continued just as long as the weather permits, according to Lieut. Paul Withington, director of athletics at the cantonment. This winter the athletic work will consist of boxing, wrestling, handball, basketball, indoor racing and all kinds of intra-mural sports.

LEARY ENLISTS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—Jack Leary, first-baseman with the championship Indianapolis club, has enlisted. Leary telegraphed Jack Hendricks, manager of the club, that he had enlisted in the navy as a yeoman at Waltham, Mass., his home. During the playing season, Leary expressed a desire to do "his bit." He wanted to enter the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison at that time, and only the fact that his brother joined the Massachusetts national guard and his mother depended on Jack for her support, prevented him from enlisting.

READY FOR RETURN MATCH.

Columbus, Nov. 10.—Bryan Downey, the Columbus welterweight, and Young Denny, of New Orleans, are ready for the return match of ten rounds which will be decided here Monday night, November 12. In their previous encounter, Downey had the better of the New Orleans ringman.

"FIRST SNOW" EDDYTORIUL

Well, whot we perdickted in last wks ishue has came to pass sinst whitch it done last Thursday night somers twixt bedtime and sunup, namely, towit viz as follers:—the first snow Bingville has had so far this season.

We dont know that we have ever took our costick eddytoriul pen in hand and dasht off a red hot eddytoriul on the 1st snow of the season and we dont know as the 1st snow of the season is important enuff to dash off a eddytoriul about, but being as we cant think up ennything more importanter at this sitting this subjeck of the "First Snow" will haft to do.

Ole Dad Henderson our lokal wether profet who perdicks what the wethers a goin to be hit or miss (mostly miss) when he got up last Thursday morning and seen snow on the ground tuk his 2-foot rule and went outside his house to measure the deepth of same for comparison with the deepth of the 1st snows of former yrs. Jest as Dad stepd outen the back kitchink door into the snow with his 2-foot rule in one hand and his cane in tother his foot slipd and he come down with a dull sikkening thud dogblame neer stabbin hisself in the vitals with his 2-foot rule. After Dad got on his feet and expresd hisself in langwidge befitting the occashion he meashurd the deepth of the snow and made it out 6 intches, but Lem Brown says only about 3 intches fell being as Dad meashured betwixt his house and woodshed where the snow had drifted.

Be that as it may to wake up and behold this 1st snow on the ground was a good eal of a surprise to everybuddy in Bingville altho they knowd it would come sooner or later, but they wassent expeckting it to sneek down on em in the dark, as it were.

Some grate pote of the past whose name has excaped us for the moment has wrote a pome entiteld, "Bootifool Snow." We cant jest repeet the lines of this pome being as they aint suffishently fumilyer to us, but from whot we can recolleckt this pote goes on to tell whot a lovely thing snow is becuz its so pure and white et cettery too numerus to mentchion.

All we have to say in this conneckshion is that the pote who wrote that pome couldnt of been as mutch ackustomd to snow eight munths in the yr like Bingville folks is, or he wouldnt talk so mutch about snow being so turrible bootifool. If he had to waller around in snow three or four ft deep all winter long like we haft to do here in Bingville he mite write things about snow and he mite call it things but he wouldnt call it bootifool. In our eddytoriul opinyun enuff snow is a genteel suffishency but when its three or four ft deep its altogether sooperfloos.

However well haft to make the best of the snow whitch has fell and the best of what further snow falls in the fuchure. Snow is somethink whitch we cant pervent. If we could we would.

Sossiety Items

Miss Amelia Tucker, our raining sossiety queen in a conversashion whitch we had with her tother day informd us that every indicashion pints to a unoshually gay & festive soshial season amungst the Bingville smart set this winter being as several seleckt taffy-pulls, charade parties and other festivities too numerus to mentchion is skeduled to take place in the not far distant fuchure.

Sim Wilkins says if he can git the floor down in his new barn he'll give a barn dance next Satterday night a week. Sim is workin fit to bust hisself to git the barn floor down in time, but it dont look as if he could make it.

Miss Clemintina Osgood made a shopping tower to the co seat with her mother one day last wk and purchased a pr of elbow gloves for speshial occashions. Miss Clementina will probly be saw wearing these gloves at soshial events later on.

Miss Sally Hoskins give a birthday party at her residence last Satterday afternoon from 1 to 6 p. m. in honner of her 19th birthday. It ockurd to us that Miss Milly must be oldern 19 so we went to the trubble to consult our back files as to when she was borned and it pains us to a nounce that Miss Milly will be 24 on next Satterday instid of 19. We persoom Milly has made a mistake in her calkilashions.

Hank Dewberry our well knowd but good for nothink cittizen informs us that his bulldog "Buster" is for sale to whoever desires a good watch dog. Hank says "Buster" eats moren he does hisself and he cant a ford to support him no longer. Good reason for selling. Here is a chanst to git a bulldog cheep.

P. S. (SPESHIAL NOTIS)—The above item about Hank's bulldog aint exactly whot you would call a sossiety item and should not be regarded as sutch, but we diddent have no room for it ennywhere else.—Editor Bugle.

PLEASE READ THIS IF YOU DONT READ NOTHINK ELSE IN THE PAPER!

Old Enoch Timmins one of the most respeckted cittizens of Hardscrabble was in Bingville last wk and made the trip clean over here speshially to subscribe for the Bingville Bugle whitch he done paying cash in advance like a gentleman whitch funds was recd by us with great cheer & acclaim.

We told Enoch that we cornsiderd it rather strange that he should come to Bingville to subscribe for the Bugle when the Hardscrabble Banner was published rite in his own town under his nose as we mite say.

"Pooh!" says Enoch, "the Hardscrabble Banner aint fit for nothink but to bild fires with and it aint very good even for that. Besides the edditor of the Hardscrabble Banner aint got as mutch brains in his head as Providence commonly gives to a goose. I tuk the Banner long enuff to find out whot a skandalus good for nothink cheep imitashun of a noosepaper it were, then I stopd it and desided to take the Bugle whitch is full of intelligent informashun to say nothink of your brillyunt eddytoriuls on all the leading topicks of the day."

When sitch a uprite man as Enoch Timmins talks about the Hardscrabble Banner and the editor of same as per above all we got to say is there must be some truth in it. In fackt we beleeve every word Enoch says about the Hardscrabble Banner & we also agree with whot he says about the Bugle.

When you want a noosepaper whitch is not only good to bild fires with and to spread on cupboard shelves, but also to read by intelligent people and thus add to your sum total of huming nolledge. Subscribe for the Bugle.

SPESHIAL REQUEST—Hardscrabble Banner please copy.

Quite coolish as we go to press and it may be more so tomorrow. Time alone will tell.

The resent snow will likely make the roads muddy & practikally impossible until it freezes up.

Are you aware that your Bugle subscripshion is back ennywhere from 5 to 15 yrs, depending on whitch partickler dead beat you be on the list? If this shoe pinches you come to the Bugle offis and pay up like a man—or a woman as the case may be.

Doc Livermore wants Jabe Winslow to let him amputate that bunch on his nose whitch is growin bigger & bigger, but Jabe says if it growd so big he couldnt see past it he wouldnt let Doc Livermore amputate it. Jabe says he lost a horse onct by letting Doc Livermore try to cure it and as a result he wouldnt let Doc docter a sick cat as fur as he is concernd. Jabe is a very plain spoke man.

Miss Almira Hobbs and Clem Winkley who have been keeping company for several yrs and who had a fall out recent has made up agin and we have it on good orthoritty that they be jest as love sick at present as they ever was. Miss Almira ort to pester Clem into poppin the questshion afore they fall out agin. First thing she knows she'll lose him yet.

Plutarch Stone of Sorrow Hollow cald at the Bugle offis last wk and when Plutarch come in we thort shure he had came to pay us somethink on his back subscripshion whitch he aint never paid a cent on sinst he subscribed so we was as perlite as could be. Plutarch smoked two pipefuls of our tobacko and talkd a hour after whitch he departed without payin us a ct or makin any referents to the fackt that he owed us. The gall of some people simply amazes & flabbergasts us at times.

Abe Thomas had a barl of hard cider to spring a leek last wk and before he discuverd it haff the barl had excaped. It made Abe turrible gloomy & blue to think of a whole haff barl of good old hard cider with a awful kick to it a going to waste when it mite of been used by Abe in emergencies or for medisinal use only.

After wearing mourning for several yrs Widow Hinckley has sprooced up like everythink recent and roomer has it that old Si Cummings has been paying her considerable attenshion lately. Nabers has observd a lite in the front parler of the Widows home quite numerously of late. The widow is a fine woman and we wouldnt blame Si if he did marry her, but we should think that he ponder a long time afore hed take over Bud Hinckley the widows son who aint quite rite in his head for a step-son.

Jim Mason got a cirkler thru the mail last wk from a stranger in Noo York who says if Jim will send him $500 he'll send back $1000 worth of counterfeit money whitch looks jest as nacherl as real money and cant be told from it. Jim says this looks like a turrible good chanst to double his money, but hes afeard theres some ketch to it. Jims purty smart if he does say so hisself.

Hi Henderson pasd thru our midst lately as fast as his horses could run and like to of run over Deacon Snodgrass who was crossin the road and is as deef as a post. Hi misd the Deacon only by a few intches. Everybuddy was commenting on His reckless of drivin so fast until he driv back about a hour later and explaind that his horses was runnin off when he pasd thru Bingville and he couldnt git em stopd until he come to Tecks Hill.

Hen Weathersby prop of our general store has posted a notis in the store requesting them as spends their evgs there not to set on the counter becuz it disarranges his ginghams, muslins and other drygoods. If they dont set on the counter where will they set, pray? If Hen desires to cater to his custummers let him furnish chairs, boxes, et cettery to set on.

Mrs. Cy Hoskins lost her purse somewheres on Main st betwixt her home and the P. O. last Tuesday afternoon containing $15. Whoever returns this purse will be rewarded very liberal and asked to stay to dinner. LATER—Whoever picked up this purse was saw to do it and unless it is returnd at onct the law must take its course. STILL LATER—Mrs. Hoskins has found her purse on the mantel at home where she left it and forgot all about it.

Miss Molly Tucker had a severe attack of the toothake last wk & as a result her right cheek was swole up twict as big as the left whitch give Miss Molly sitch a lop-sided and ridicklus apearants that it was all a person could do to keep from bustin out laffin in her fase when they met her. We persoom however it wassent no laffin matter to Miss Molly.

Dad Henderson perdicks that this is a going to be a turrible cold winter. Dad generally waits until after winter is haff over afore he perdicks whether its a going to be hard or open. Well we shall see how near Dad comes to hittin it.

VERDI'S OPERA "AIDA" AT THE PALACE WEDNESDAY EVENING

The San Carlo Grand Opera company, whose members, including the leading stars, have so firmly established themselves in all the big opera-loving communities that they are now aware of the degree of merit expected of them when they appear, will come to Fort Wayne next Wednesday morning by special train from Toledo, where Monday and Tuesday will be spent. This organization, according to the exchanges, is replete with splendid voices and personalities. The names of the principals speak eloquently of the aim of the San Carlo management to make the 1917-18 tour of the organization the attractive feature of the present operatic season, the very highest ideals in all departments, principals, orchestra, chorus, scenery, decorations, costumes and all of that being splendidly maintained. It is the only company that has solved the problem of opera for the people. It is supported by the people, without the aid of guarantees or subsidies; its managers have secured many of the world's foremost songbirds, removed the dollar-mark from them and steadfastly refuses to exploit them with barrels of printer's ink, as if printer's ink sounds well or constitutes musical art. There are many fine artists who could well be featured as stars, but the San Carlo company is the San Carlo company. Its forces recently invaded seasoned, opera-going New York city in a series of twenty-four performances and shattered all records for attendance and receipts there, so far as visiting companies are concerned.

Music critics have been generous and just in their estimation of the San Carlo performances, because it is an organization that has the hearty cooperation of every member. Each one is the possessor of a superb voice, with the added dramatic potentiality of a singing actor or actress. They have been gathered from the strongholds of art; they sing with unity, fine pitch and excellent tonal quality. The organization has always been recognized as a wonderful singing body, ever since its forces numbered among them such singers as Nordica, Campanari, Constantino and others. The performances are animated by a high and intelligent artistic enthusiasm. They are said to have real vitality; the kind that gets deep into the popular soil and enriches the love for the higher forms of music. Instant recognition has been won from the most critical audiences in the country, and the tours embrace all the prominent cities from Quebec to San Francisco, and from Winnipeg to New Orleans.

Verdi's "Aida," to be sung here by the San Carloans, is a masterpiece redolent of all the melodic perfume of its composer's native country, yet filled with evidences of the Wagner influence, and is a story that is tragically told as well by the music as by the dramatic action. Artists that stand foremost in public favor, will appear in the leading roles of the spectacular opera here. A splendid cast has been worked out, which will afford devotees of music to hear the following principals of the organization:

Mme. Mary Kaestner, dramatic soprano or Lusia Darclee, dramatic soprano, in the title part; Miss Frances Ingram, the celebrated Chicago opera contralto, who comes as a special "guest" artist for this occasion; Senor Manuel Salazar, the eminent Spanish tenor, acknowledged Spain's premier opera star; Mons. Joseph Royer, new French baritone, now making his first tour of the United States; Signor Pietro DeBlasi, former leading basso with the original Boston Theatre company; Signor Natale Cervi, former leading basso with the Montreal opera; Signor Luciano Rosini, second tenor, from the Carlo Felice, Florence.

"AIDA"

—Cast—

Aida	Mary Kaestner or Luisa Darclee
Radames	Manuel Salazar
Amonasro	Joseph Royer
Amneris	Frances Ingram
Ramfis	Pietro Debiasi
King of Egypt	Natale Cervi

It is recalled that Salazar sings his biggest aria, "Celeste Aida," shortly after the rise of the curtain on the first act. This is one of the most beautiful arias ever written into an operatic score, and patrons wishing to enjoy it should be in their seats not later than 8:15.

Verdi's Opera "Aida" in Three Acts.

The text of Verdi's immortal opera "Aida" was translated from the French of Locle by Antonio Ghielanzoni. The opera was first produced at Cario, Egypt, December 24, 1871; at La Scala, Milan, in 1872; in Paris in 1876; in London later in the same year; and the first American presentation was in 1873, the cast including Torriani, Cary, Campanini and Maurel. The scene is laid in Memphis and Thebes, in Pharaoh's time.

The opera was written by request of the Viceroy of Egypt, who wished to celebrate the opening of his new opera house at Cairo by the production of a work with an Egyptian theme from the pen of the most popular composer of his time. The story originated with Marietta Bey, the famous Egyptologist, and seems to have inspired Verdi to unusual efforts.

Brief Story of the Opera.

Aida, daughter of Amonasro, King of Ethiopia, has been captured by the Egyptians, and is a slave at the court of Memphis, where she and the young soldier, Radames, have fallen in love. Radames goes to the Egyptian war, and during his absence the king's daughter discovers his attachment and is furious, as she herself loves Radames. Radames returns covered with glory, bringing many prisoners and among them, Amonasro, Aida's father. The king releases all the prisoners except Aida and Amonasro, and furthermore bestows upon the unwilling Radames the hand of his daughter.

In the next scene Amonasro forces his daughter to persuade Radames to become a traitor. The latter's love for Aida and his distastes for the approaching union with Amneris, leads him to consent. Amneris, however, has overheard the plot, and after vainly trying to induce Radames to abandon Aida, she denounces him as a traitor, and he is condemned to be buried alive. When the crypt is sealed he discovers Aida, who had concealed herself there that she might die with him, and the lovers slowly suffocate in each other's arms.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"MILITARY MAIDS" IN MUSICAL COMEDY TOMORROW

The ideas of musical comedy patrons have advanced so rapidly the past two seasons, that a manager can no longer expect to command attention with a mediocre attraction of the brand that has been handed out by some of the musical companies. The people who patronize a theatre now expect the same production, as to scenery and costumes that they would in the legitimate houses. Realizing this state of affairs Wainstock, who is looked upon as a showman of the first magnitude, has enlisted the services of the ablest people obtainable to give a performance of the kind that is demanded by the people who pay to see musical comedy. To begin with, he has engaged such well known stars as George A. Clark, that versatile comedian; Leona Fox, Charles Fagan, Caroline Warner, Myrtle Franks, Ben Holmes, James Hilbert, Harry Van. The scenery and costumes together with electrical effects have never before been attempted, and he deserves credit for the successful manner in which he has catered to the desire of the public. The company is a very good one, and the musical numbers are gems, and of that jingling kind that sets an audience whistling as they leave the theatre. Don't forget the beauty chorus of twenty sparkling pretty maidens all under twenty.

AT THE PALACE

MAX GRUBER'S PACHERDYM.

Trick Elephant With Human Brain at the New Palace.

Max Gruber's famous Pacherdym, the trick elephant with the human brain, is the stellar actor in the Gruber animal act de luxe that features the bill for the first portion of the week opening at the New Palace Sunday afternoon. Gruber has taught this remarkable elephant a score of tricks that no other of these ponderous beasts can even attempt to do. In addition to the big elephant Gruber is presenting a group of ponies and dogs in a novel series of feats.

Harry Richards and Bessie Kyle, the best team of kidding funsters the Palace ever has presented are on this bill in their skit, "Club Night." Both have excellent singing voices but it is in their persiflage that they excel.

Yates and Reed, in their satire, "Double Crossing," a snappy study in travesty; Tabor and Green, two versatile darkies, who sing a bit, talk a bit, dance a bit and play a bit; Alex Sparks, Harry Ali and company in the skit, "Cat Tails," in which the two men do amusing cat impersonations, and the Steindel boys in a short musical recital on the piano and the violin also are on this bill.

Battery Films.

Tonight will afford the final opportunity for enjoying the official films of Batteries B and D, made just prior to the embarkation of these units for France. This exclusive film release is projected in conjunction with a real laugh show featured by Ed Blondell in "The Boy From Home," assisted by Katherine Caine. Included on this bill are Fred Whitfield and Marie Ireland in the rural satire, "The Belle of Bingville." Frazer, Bunce and Harding, a trio of comedians as alike as triplets, who do an identity act, "Who's Who?" The three Misses Weston in vocal and instrumental numbers. The Casting Lamys in an aerial thriller, and Nolan and Nolan, a crack team of jugglers.

AT THE GRAND.

"STRAIGHT SHOOTING."

"They are too strong for us. You get the settlers to your cabin, and I'll go get Black-eyed Pete and his Mexicans. They don't like the cattle men any better than you do." And with that, Cheyenne Harry, who had come to shoot up the settlers at a price, sped away to the mountain fastness. Harry was a fearless, hard-riding, straight-shooting bad man, whos gun was at the service of the highest bidder. The cattle chief had hired Harry and Fremont, a gun man of another kind, to rid the country of settlers, but Harry had in a weakening moment looked upon the face of Olive, the daughter of one of the settlers, and the badness had oozed out of him like water from a sponge.

When news went back to the cattle camp that Harry had gone over to the settlers, Fremont was commissioned to "get" his late accomplice as a preliminary to the big raid that night. All this information was brought to the settler by Hoot, Olive's sweetheart. A duel in the streets of the settlement settled Fremont, and then came the raid. When the cattlement had been routed, with many saddles empty, came the greatest test of Harry's reform, the test of himself. Should he give up the girl to Hoot, who loved her too, when he felt so certain he could cut out Hood? This battle tested Harry as nothing before ever had. It gives just the proper climax to a story of increasing thrill and finest suspense.

AT THE ORPHEUM

MADGE EVANS IN "THE ADVENTURES OF CAROL."

"I am going up to your grandmother's at the end of the subway to pay her a visit. I'll be back this afternoon."

With these words Mrs. Montgomery took leave of her little daughter Carol. But soon Carol became lonesome.

"I think I'll go and visit grandmother, too," she said to herself.

Accordingly Carol took her little parasol and her little satchel and bravely set forth. Kindly policemen directed her to the subway and the subway guard saw to it that she had a good seat. During the trip she fell asleep and the guard awakened her at the end of the line.

"I think I know the way," responded Carol.

But she didn't know the way and soon she was lost.

"Where do you live?" questioned a policeman.

"Please don't ask me. I know, but I can't tell you," said Carol.

The reason she wouldn't answer was this: Her father was a naval officer who was being dogged by spies. He had told Carol never to answer any questions put to her by strangers, as in doing so she might be bringing harm to her daddy.

Carol steadfastly refused to answer all the questions put to her and, as the result, she experienced many surprising adventures. You will see them all in "The Adventures of Carol," the unusual and wholly delightful new World-Picture Brady-Made in which charming little Madge Evans is the delightful star, at the Orpheum.

DECATUR NEWS.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 10.—Miss Agnes Krick, of Gary, will return tomorrow to her work after a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krick.

Miss Esther Bowers has returned from Plymouth where she visited with her father, J. S. Bowers, who is in a nerve sanitarium there. Her sisters, Mrs. Kaugh, of Fort Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes, of Kendallville, accompanied her there. In Fort Wayne she called on her sister-in-law, Mrs. Will Bowers at Hope hospital, who is getting along well since an operation.

Miss Mary Osborne, of Indianapolis, of the state Anti-Tuberculosis society, was here and appointed School Superintedent M. F. Worthmann and the city high school students to take charge of the Red Cross Christmas seal campaign for the county. They began today with the distribution of 50,000 seals and expect to sell them all.

Tony and Herman Myers gave a delightful barn dance at the farm of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Myers, south of the city. The Geels boys furnished the music.

Henry Morningstar, of Celina, O., was here on business. Mr. Morningstar has the distinction of having boarded for forty-four years at one hotel in Celina.

Ralph Jahn, who enlisted and was called to military service this week, is at home again, having been granted a week's furlough on account of the illness of his father and brother.

Articles of incorporation of the Alberson cemetery in Jeffersontownship, have been filed with County Recorder A. C. Augsburger.

Mrs. Bargaret Meibers and daughters, Mrs. Anna Dropplemann and Mrs. C. B. Maibers spent yesterday in Fort Wayne.

The Adams County Sunday School association has elected the following officers for the new year: President, C. L. Walters; vice-presidents, John Nelson and J. F. Lehman; secretary treasurer, Helena Liechty, Berne.

Miss Josephine Malley has gone to Chicago to attend to business and pleasure.

Mrs. J. H. Voglewede and Mrs. Margaret Meibers have returned from a two weeks' visit in Toledo, O., with their sister and duaghter, Mrs. B. Uhl.

Rev. and Mrs. W. Paul Marsh were initiated by the Eastern Star chapter last evening. The state grand matron, Ella Smyzer, of Terre Haute, was the guest of honor also, and a banquet was given.

MRS. WARD BAILEY SUES FOR DIVORCE

Ward Bailey is Charged With Failure to Provide and Desertion.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Bailey, formerly Miss Esther Campbell, has filed suit for divorce from her husband, Ward Bailey, in the circuit court of DeKalb county. Mrs. aBiley charges her better half with non support, neglect and desertion. She states that they were married August 24, 1916, and have always lived with her parents in this city, as her husband would never provide a home for her although earning a salary that would enable him to do so.

Auburn Short Items.

The funeral of Carl Hettinger was held Friday afternoon at the Methodist church and interment was made at Woodlawn. Mr. Hettinger was killed at Kalamazoo, Mich., on the railroad tracks. It was a custom of his to walk along the railroad tracks to his work, it being a nearer route, and although no one saw him get killed the general supposition is that he was struck by a switch engine. Mrs. Hettinger will be remembered as Miss Pearl Roberts, of this city. The body was brought here Friday morning.

Frank H. Cook, of Garrett, is asking the court for judgment for $20,000 against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company for injuries sustained while working in the shops at Garrett. He claims to have been injured in a fall from a ladder when he was engaged in putting in a belt rigging in the saw shop.

The collection of clothing given by the people of DeKalb county for the children of Belgium and France will be displayed Saturday and over Sunday in the display windows of several of the local stores. The display from Garrett will be seen in the windows at the Bowers store and other goods will be seen at Schaab's, Culbertson's, Nebelung's and the Gas office.

The working girls of Auburn held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening for the purpose of organizing for the Y. M. C. A. war fund and any other war work in which they can be of assistance. Rev. A. P. Bourns, pastor of the Auburn Presbyterian church, had charge of the meeting and many were present and showed a keen interest in the work as outlined.

Roswell Bowers, an Auburn lad who enlisted early in the summer, has been made sergeant at Camp Shelby, at Hattiesburg, Miss.

Mrs. Arilla Carson, of Union township, filed action for a divorce Friday from her husband, Clayborn W. Carson. She charges her hubby with habitual drunkenness and non-support. The couple were married in 1912 and separated last July. They have one child, a son, four years old.

ANOTHER THEFT.

Ernest Marine, the auto and tire thief arrested in Fort Wayne and who escaped from the Delaware county sheriff, evidently must have covered practically all of northern Indiana in his thefts. Chief of Police Lenz received a letter Saturday from A. W. Sherer saying that Marine stole a tire from his machine in Indianapolis a few days before his arrest here.

PASTORS TO VOICE PLEA

Y. M. C. A. War Work Fund to be Urged from Pulpits Tomorrow.

PREPARING FOR NEXT WEEK'S DRIVE

Many Meetings Are Held as Campaign Teams Organize.

Opening guns of Allen county's campaign to provide $45,000 to aid the war work fund of the Y. M. C. A., will be fired from pulpits of many city churches tomorrow, when pastors will urge upon their congregations the need of active support for the three-days' drive of the soliciting teams on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next.

Preliminary work discloses a widely-awakened interest in the spendidly beneficent movement, and a popular determination that Allen county shall not only do her full share, but that her patriotic generosity will carry her "over the top" in this campaign with an amount n excess of the assigned quota.

More Club Captains.

City Campaign Director E. J. Little is rapidly lining up the club organizations for the campaign drive. Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, has consented to captain the Rotary club team.

L. L. Bart is announced as the captain of the campaign team representing the Fort Wayne Real Estate board. George H. VanArnam, past president of the Quest club, will serve as the captain of the team representing that live organization. The club at a meeting on Friday, took enthusiastic action to participate in the campaign.

Meetings Over the County.

Outside districts, as well as the city, are falling in line in handsome fashion, and the organization of the county under the direction of Arthur F. Hall and A. J. Hutchins is progressing rapidly. Last evening O. E. Tomes addressed the Parent-Teacher club at the Wayne-Haven school, and other county meetings scheduled are as follows:

Lafayette township—George Meyers will act as chairman of a meeting to be held in the Christian church, Beech Grove, Wednesday night.

Lake township—Earl Rummel will act as chairman of a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock Monday night in the Arcola Bank hall, Arcola.

Marion township—On Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. O. E. Tomes, of Fort Wayne, will speak at a meeting to be held at Poe. Cortez Hubler will act as chairman.

Maumee township—A general meeting of the people of Maumee township will be held in the M. E. church at Woodburn, Sunday night, with J. R. Yaggy, chairman. E. F. Yarnelle, Lieutenant Fuelling and E. W. Peirce will speak. All of the other churches will close to enable the people to attend the general meeting.

Scipio township—A meeting will be held on Sunday afternoon, announcement to be made later.

Testaments for the Boys.

A man from Auburn visited the Y. M. C. A. campaign headquarters in Fort Wayne on Friday and stated that it was his desire to provide a number of New Testaments for men at the front who desire them, and to distribute them either directly to addresses to be furnished or through the Y. M. C. A. The latter plan was adopted, and the caller, who would not leave his name, gave three hundred copies of the Holy Word to be sent to the men in the cantonments or at the front. He stated that more would be forthcoming, as the demand is apparent.

Coming From Army Camp.

That the soldier boys in the camps are vitally interested in the Y. M. C. A. war work campaign because they appreciate fully what the Y. M. C. A. means to them in the form of better surroundings, wholesome recreations and uplifting influences is demonstrated by the fact that soldiers from Camp Zachary Taylor at Louisville are going out into the state to assist the campaign. I. H. Fuelling, a Fort Wayne soldier, will come to this city on this mission, and will deliver several addresses on Sunday in support of the work. At 9:30 Sunday morning Mr. Fuelling will speak before the Men's Bible class of the Firtst Baptist church, at 10:30 he will speak at Simpson M. E. church, and in the afternoon at the school hall of his home church —Concordia Lutheran. In the evening Mr. Fuelling will speak at Woodburn, where E. F. Yarnelle is also to sing.

Rev. W. T. Arnold, of Bluffton, was the principal speaker at a meeting in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. war work fund at Decatur, Friday evening, at which ten of the twelve townships in Adams county were represented. E. W. Peirce, of Fort Wayne, was another speaker at the meeting.

At Angola, Friday evening, Rev. H. B. Master, of Fort Wayne, spoke at a meeting held in the Steuben county court house, while A. C. Neal, also of Fort Wayne, was addressing another Steuben county audience at Fremont in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. campaign.

FALL RETAIL TRADE BRISK IN ALL LINES

Merchants Report Excellent Business With Return of Seasonable Weather.

The perfect weather of the past week has been reflected in the retail trade conditions which suffered a little from the cold, sleety days of the preceding weeks. Buying was brisk during the entire week, and especially on Wednesday, which some of the merchants now regard as "the new Saturday." Thousands of out of town people are now coming to the city regularly on Suburban day, as they recognize the weekly shopping day as the time of exceptional opportunity to buy war-time necessities at money-saving prices. It is noticeable, the merchants report, that the trade from outside is confined largely to lines which are not to be found in the stores of the smaller towns, and that the out of town patrons are evidently observing the slogan, "Try your home merchant first; then try Fort Wayne." Each week The Sentinel will give full announcement to the Suburban day "special."

ARRANGE FOR BIG POULTRY EXHIBITION

Annual Affair Promises to Be Largest Ever Held Here.

Fort Wayne is to have its annual poultry show on January 17 to 22. The decision to hold the affair was made at Friday night's meeting of the Poultry Fanciers' association. Two downtown buildings have been offered and one of them will be rented within a few days.

Purdue university will in a large way contribute to the show this year. Owing to the special efforts of the government in urging the people to raise chickens in order to reduce the high cost of living the school exhibit will be a large one.

The association has arranged to have two licensed judges of the American Poultry association make the selections of prize winners. The exhibit promises to be an exceptionally large one owing to the closing of smaller county shows this year because of the war. Many exhibits from nearby towns will be entered in the exhibition.

BIG COAL SUPPLY FOR INDUSTRIAL RESERVE

Washington, Nov. 10.—Coal estimated at 250,000 tons will be conserved annually for essential industrial and domestic use by a new order of the fuel administration limiting the use of fuel for electric display lighting to the hours between 7:45 and 11 o'clock p. m.

The order is but a phase of a big campaign planned by Dr. Garfield to restrict the use of fuel during war-time to those industries whose product is vitally necessary to the public or of use in carrying on the war.

NEGRO AND A GUN CAUSE A STAMPEDE

Art Morgan is a bad negro. He was arrested late Friday evening on Melita street after he had threatened to blow the head off of his landlady. The testimony of the landlady, her daughters and two boarders showed that Morgan tried his best to accomplish his threat, but Morgan gave a rather fanciful story about another one of his race for whom the lead bullet was intended. Judge Kerr ordered the gun and a wicked looking banana knife destroyed and sentenced Morgan to fifteen days on the county roads and fined him $35 and costs. His sentence was extremely light because none of the witnesses could testify that he was pointing the gun, all declaring that they were too scared to look.

Steals Coat.

Reymas Lucusom, a pretty little 16-year-old girl, was arrested by Detective Sergeant Pappert on a charge of larceny. A coat and pocketbook that had been stolen were found in her room. The girl had been working at the Holman street lamp works and had taken various articles from her fellow employes. Among these was the coat belonging to Marcella Kloren. She was bound over to the juvenile court.

Alvina in Again.

Alvina Genard was in court on a drunk charge Saturday morning. The offense is not the first by any means, but she was let go upon her promise to be good. Joe Hart and Matt Torrent, both drunks, were given $1 and costs and $5 and costs, respectively.

Didn't Like Caller.

Eugene Barrand didn't like his daughter's young man and told her so. The daughter objected to having the young man made aware of the fact and grew peevish when her father held open the door for him. As a result Barrand started a general house-wrecking just to show who was boss. Officer Fred Fry settled the argument by taking the man to the station. He had cut his head so badly in the melee that it was necessary to give him medical attention. Judge Kerr decided that the fellow had had punishment enough and continued the case indefinitely.

Violates Ordinance.

H. J. Bowerfind violated a city ordinance when he stopped his car within the danger zone of the fire plug at the corner of Berry and Barr streets. His machine was pushed to the police station and Bowerfind was ordered to appear. It developed that he was inside of the limits by a very small margin and was therefore let go with a warning.

Auto Accident.

C. F. Israel, 1447 Taylor street, reported to the police that he collided with a motorcycle at the corner of Taylor street and Riedmiller avenue Friday evening. The rider of the motorcycle gave his name as Sowers. Although slightly hurt about the legs Sowers was able to proceed.

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

Spencerville, Ind., Nov. 10.—The Christian Endeavor society of the Lutheran church met at the parsonage on Thursday evening and elected their officers which was followed by music furnished by the Misses Helen Lake and Leone Widdifield, after which apples and popcorn were served. The new officers are: President, Harry Hersh; vice president, Gaylan Markle; secretary-treasurer, Miss Mary Henderson; chorister, Bertha Thornburgh; assistant, Florence Beams; organist, Gaylan Markle; assistant, Mary Pervines. Chairmen of the committees are: Sunshine, Miss Marjoria Hollabaugh; Lookout, John Ruppert; Missionary, Mrs. Mumma; Prayer Meeting, Miss Margerate Lake.

Mrs. Henry Beams and Mrs. George Beams motored to Auburn on Friday afternoon to attend the funeral of the former's nephew, Carl Hettinger, of Kalamazoo. The young man was killed on the railroad.

Miss Leiba Horn, of Fort Wayne, spent Saturday night and Sunday the guest of Miss Ruth Gratz and sister, Miss Olive.

Mrs. Frank Bachtol and daughter, of Coletown, spent several days the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Wilmot and family.

William Tyndall, Mrs. William Allen and daughter, Emma, and Mrs. Milton Chaney, left on Friday afternoon to spend a few days visiting the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jason Kees, of Fort Wayne.

Miss Lelia Horn and Don Gorrell were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gratz and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank House, Mrs. Wilmott Coburn, of Coburntown; Charles Boston, of near Grabill, and Mrs. Frank Bachtol and daughter, of Coletown, were Tuesday guests at the homo of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Wilmott.

A weiner roast was enjoyed by the freshman class and Miss Bertha Thornburgh, on Thursday afternoon after school on the green.

FUEL ADMINISTRATOR NAMES AN ASSISTANT

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Albion, Ind., Nov. 9.—F. B. Parks, of Kendallville, fuel administrator for Noble county, was at the Hub Wednesday on official business and as a result of his visit appointed Guy Hardenbrook, assistant cashier at the Farmers' bank, as fuel administrator for Albion, after conferring with our coal dealers and business men. Mr. Parks expressed the belief that Albion would not suffer for coal, but prospects for the better are not looming up—not even in the distance. Mr. Hardenbrook will direct a supply for our citizens first, then furnish business places, factories and commercial plants.

Easy to Rid Home of Rats and Mice

There is no need of suffering from the depredations of rats and mice now that Stearns' Paste is readily obtainable at nearly every store. A small box of this effective exterminator costs but 35 cents and is usually sufficient to completely rid the house, store or barn of rats and mice. The U. S. government has bought thousands of pounds of Stearns' Paste for use in cities where rats and mice are plentiful. The Paste is also efficient in destroying cockroaches and waterbugs. — Advertisement.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

The prompt and positive action of this simple, inexpensive home-made remedy in quickly healing the inflamed or swollen membranes of the throat, chest or bronchial tubes and breaking up tight coughs, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (60 cents worth), into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. You then have a full pint—a family supply—of a much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is known the world over for its promptness, ease and certainty in overcoming stubborn coughs and chest colds.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THE EVENING SENTINEL FILLS WOMEN'S NEEDS

Just now, in addition to the many reasons prevailing in ordinary times, there are numerous special reasons why the women who buy food and other supplies for the family should not let a day pass without a careful reading of every page of the Evening Sentinel.

Skip nothing. Read the news columns, editorials, selected women's features, the market page, store news of Fort Wayne merchants, want-ads — everything—as all hold money-saving suggestions.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

THE LOST CARD THAT SAVED A LOST SOUL AND MADE MAN AND CHRISTIAN OF OUTCAST

(Rev. Gerrit Verkuyl in the Christian Endeavor World.

About eight years ago a worker of the Pacific Garden Mission of Chicago, handed a printed invitation to a young man who was at the point of entering an evil resort. The card contained the golden text of the Bible, with the address of the mission on the reverse side. For a moment as the young man looked at it there was hesitation in his step. Then he thrust the card into his vest pocket, and followed his course. Six years later, moneyless and friendless, his body well night broken by debauch, when even his decent clothes had been gambled away, he put on that old vest, and, thrusting his fingers nervously into his pockets, recovered the card. It helped him to find the Christ.

He was a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and had practised law in a little town of that state. The big city attracted him; there seemed to be more chance for an ambitious lawyer. He secured a desk in a lawoffice, and upon his inquiring where he might most easily get started his new acquaintances advised the handling of cases for toughs and gamblers. Thus it came about that within a month from his coming to Chicago he had joined the ranks of shyster lawyers.

In order to make a success of the work he was forced to become intimately acquainted with the crooked ways of the underworld. He learned to "walk in the counsel of the ungodly." From this it was no long step to "the seat of the scornful." Six short years sufficed to drag down a young man of good family and respectable position to the lowest rung on the professional ladder.

Throughout these years of decline he remained in private life "within the law." While defending criminals whom he knew to be guilty and trying to show their innocence, he never committed a criminal act. And he might have kept free from crime, had it not been for the unrelenting hold which gambling took on him. The day came when the gambling-den had robbed him of everything he possessed—his books, his diamond stud, his ring, his watch, and his last decent suit of clothes. There was nothing more he could risk. Then it occurred to him that his mother had intrusted to him the deed and title to her little home, the house which she and his father had wrested from the small wages the father had earned while raising the boy and four other children. Driven by the devil of gambling, he staked that document, and lost.

When he awoke the following morning, it startled him that finally he had become a thief. That he had stolen from his own mother made the deed look so much the blacker. He knew well enough that she would never cite him into court; but there was no way of restoring the goods, and some day she must find him out. Silently the purpose crept upon him to put his few records in order, to write his mother a letter of confession, to ask forgiveness, and to rid the earth of one more nuisance.

He scanned his notes and papers and pawn-tickets, feeling over his person. What was that old card doing in his vest pocket? Where did he get hold of it? On it the words were printed, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." The words were not new to him, but that they should face him at so critical a moment, this impressed him deeply. The address on the reverse side brought to mind the incident of six years previous. It was the card he had received on his way to an evil resort.

The incident contained the elements of surprise and adventure that particular appeal to a gambler; for men of that type strongly believe in superhuman agencies. This strange find might present a clew that was worth following up; who could tell? Anyway, he decided to follow directions, to walk over to the Pacific Garden Mission, and to see what turn affairs might take.

His clothes, though no longer new, were much better than those of the other outcasts; but he knew that he was one of their kind. Looking about, he saw on the walls the words of his card, "For God so loved." There seemed to be something uncanny about it.

The mission workers came over to talk with him, but he gave them little satisfaction. There were too many dark and hidden labyrinths within and too litle sense of sin in the presence of mercy.

Toward the close of the evening session a student at the Moody Institute happened in, who had spent some years in Minnesota. He had never met the gambler personally, but had frequented his old home town, so that he was able to get into closer touch with him. A room was placed at their disposal, and there the weary sinner told the story of his failure. When he had finished, my friend, who afterward told me, said, "Now tell the heavenly Father this same story just as you told it to me."

"Can't, said the gambler; "don't know how."

"Simply use the words you used when you talked to me, but be talking to our Father in heaven," rejoined the fisher of men.

"But that would be praying," objected the thief; "and I can't pray. You can pray for me if you want to."

Still the other insisted that the wayward child should tell the Father all about it, until at last the gambler argued that he had no right to call God his Father, that he had no right to talk to Him. It was a great point gained. "I know you have no right to," said my friend, "but our heavenly Father gives you the right. You start out with the words, Merciful Father, and then go on just as you talked to me."

At last the wretch was persuaded. Falling upon his knees, he told God the awful story of his downward course, then pleaded to be forgiven for the sake of Jesus. When he was through, he turned to the man next to him, half hoping, half in doubt. "Do you really believe He'll forgive me?" For answer he was directed once more to the card. "Maybe there's something in it," remarked the doubtful penitent, to which the believer replied: "Something in it? There's everything in it. And let me tell you here and now, there's nothing in anything else." The gambler knew the truth of it, and silently consented.

That same evening the winner of souls was due at a prayer meeting with four other men whom he had promised to bring. The lawyer went with them. There was time before the service to request of the pastor to let some special word fall for the gambler's benefit. The season of prayer was earnest; it helped the penitent to see more clearly the face of a loving Father. Before the meeting was over the wayward son had come back, and the Father in heaven had received him. There were no more doubts after that.

But the affair demanded an immediate straightening out. With faith a-plenty our friends dispatched a telegram to the lawyer's mother, assigning a certain hotel in the city where at an appointed hour she was to meet her son. Then, without consulting the culprit he went to the gambling-den that had robbed his protege. From the police he gained the code for entering, and soon found himself face to face with the keeper. Soft words were not likely to have effect with a man of that type. It was made very clear to him that unless he gave up at once the deed to the poor widow's little home there would be worse things in store for him. It took some argument, but the Christian worker came out of that den with the documents in his pocket, and left the keeper feeling glad to be through with the affair.

Mother and son met at the appointed place. He made a clean breast of it, and asked for her forgiveness. The mother had heard rumors, but had not been willing to believe them. In due time their new friend handed back the papers to the wondering mother.

Today mother and son are again living in their little Minnesota town, where he has resumed his practice. There is small danger of his ever returning to the city. But should he go, he will seek different friends, and there will be a different story.

Who handed him the card on that fateful night eight years ago may never be known until the books are opened; but the Word did its silent work. As for the man who God used to bring home His truth, he is now preaching the gospel in the Dakotas, where he is bringing others still.

Stricken Love Has a Sequel in a World's Work of Evangelism

(Leonard Woolsey Bacon.)

You may go to the old burying-ground of Northampton, Mass., and look upon the early grave of David Brainerd, side by side with that of the fair Jerusha Edwards, whom he loved, but did not live to wed. What hopes, what expectations for Christ's cause, went down into the grave with the wasted form of that young missionary, of whose work now remained but the dear memory, and a few score swarthy Indian converts! But that majestic old Puritan Saint, Jonathan Edwards, who had hoped to call him his son, gathered up the memorials of his life in a little book.

And the book took wings and flew beyond the sea, and alighted on the table of a Cambridge student—Henry Martyn. Poor Martyn! Why would he throw himself away, with all his scholarship, his genius, his opportunities! Such a wasted life it seemed! What had be accomplished when he turned homeward from "India's coral strand," broken in health, and dragged himself as far northward as that dreary khan at Tocat by the Black Sea, where he crouched under the piled-up saddles to cool his burning fever against the earth, and there died alone, among unbelievers, no Christian hand to tend his agony, no Christian voice to speak in his ear the promises of his Master whom, as it seemed to men, he had so vainly served. To what purpose was this waste? But out of that early grave of Brainerd, and that lonely grave of Martyn has sprung the noble army of modern missionaries.

But thou, O Lord my God, hearken; behold and see and have mercy and heal me, thou in whose presence I have become a problem to myself; and that is my infirmity.—Augustine.

Mr. Bryan Pays His Respects to Theory of Man's Evolution

(Christian Standard.)

In one of hs addresses at the late Winona Bible conference, Mr. Bryan paid his respects to the theory of evolution. He said, in substance:

If the Bible is a man-made book, then man should be able to produce another book equally as good, or man has degenerated.

If man made this book, he made it in a time when there were no great colleges and universities, and no great accumulations of knowledge. It was made from a scanty storehouse, if man-made, yet it deals with all great subjects from creation to everlasting life.

Man has made marvelous development in the last nineteen centuries, but on the subject, "How to Live," he has made no progress beyond the Bible teachings. Man needs a hundred, or hundreds of books to train the mind, but this one book is sufficient to train the heart.

Man's first failure is in the realm of morals. He first breaks down there, and the breakdown is due to lack of the education of the heart. Morality is the test of a man's endurance. The fundamental idea in religion is God. If the Darwinian theory be true, Christianity is false. If man has triumphed by the "survival of the fittest," then substituting love in its place will lead to the degeneracy of men. The Darwinian theory of evolution puts God so far away that he is no conscious force in the life of a man. If God is not such a force in a man's life, the life will be a failure and is likely to be dangerius to society. Drummond's theory is that nothing in the mineral kingdom rises until some power from the vegetable kingdom reaches down and lifts it up. So, in the spiritual world, there must be the lifting power from a higher kingdom, reaching down and transforming that which is low into that which is higher. Jesus said: "If I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me."

Evolution does away with the lifting power of the gospel, and substitutes therefore a theory which puts God so far away that he has no conscious influence in the life of man. German rationalism, and, undoubtedly, the present world war itself, is the fruitage of the theory of evolution, which has undermined the gospel of the Prince of Peace, taken God out of the lives of men, and put the doctrine of the "survival of the fittest," or "might makes right," in its place.

OBEDIENCE.

As we enter the path of obedience we begin to know. "He that doeth the will of God shall know of the doctrine." Each step of faith brings its proof of reason to justify it. Each duty we do in obedience to command gives us the assurance that we are in the right path. Duty, submission, obeying the rules that God has laid down, that is the pathway of faith, and after faith knowledge. God does not reveal himself to the idle gaze of curiosity, or to the mind that thinks itself big enough to weigh him in its balance. Irreverence cannot see God "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him;" and fear means the faith of obedience, the venture of trust. So the humble pathway of faith comes to reason, and reason goes back to strengthen faith for new journeys, and to kindle its eye with a new hope. What wonderful gifts of God in Christ for our salvation here, and for our unending growth in knowledge, and in love, in life everlasting.—Bishop Randolph.

"We live but one life, we pass but once through this world. We should live so that every step shall be a step onward and upward. We should strive to be victorious over every evil influence. We should seek to gather good and enrichment of character from every experience, making our progress ever from more to more. Wherever we go we should try to leave a blessing, something which will sweeten another life or start a new song or an impulse of cheer or helpfulness in another heart. Then our very memory when we are gone will be an abiding blessing."

ETERNITY.

A colored minister, in preaching on eternity, used this illustration of its immensity. He said:

"If a sparrow should take a drop of water from the Atlantic ocean at Coney Island and hop a hop a day until he reached the Pacific ocean at San Francisco, and when he got there, should let the drop fall into the Pacific, when this was done should turn around and hop a hop a day all the way back to Coney Island, get another drop and do the same thing until he had carried the whole Atlantic over into the Pacific, it would then be only early morning in enternity."

SUCCESS.

(By ALVA LEE KELTON.)

He has made a success of life, if a few
If the smile on his face and the words that he spake
Will be missed when he's gone, and if one heart shall ache
Because he is not here; yes, if only one mourn,
The world is better for his having been born.

He has made a success of life, if the end
Finds him tenderly borne to the grave by a friend.
If but one man shall say, "He was honest and true;
His voice was a voice that I have oft listened to;
He has made a success; for no man can do more.

Success, when you sum it all up, isn't gold,
Nor is it in doing some deed that is bold;
For the money we make and the houses we build
Mean nothing the moment the voice has been stilled.
But he has succeeded who, when he has gone,
In the heart of another is still living on.

—Gospel Advocate.

YOUR HEALTH AND HOW YOU CAN KEEP IT

Climate Often Lures Consumptive Into Unwise Move.

The consumptive who longs to go away to a favorite climate or what he thinks will prove a more favorable climate must consider the advantages and disadvantages. How much good the better climate will do, and what he forefits in making the change, whether the gains will compensate for the loss.

First is expense. It costs considerable to go away from home and live as a coisumptive must live. There is the question of railroad fare, living expenses and medical supervision. There is usually a farbetter chance of regaining health at home than going away without sufficient funds in search of the will o' the wisp, a perfect climate.

Food also must be considered, for the consumptive needs greater attention to food than does the well individual. The food should be good, well prepared and appetizing. One should consider whether this will be obtainable away from home.

Work must also be considered for many expect to secure work to pay their expenses in the locality to which they go in search of health. One should know whether work can be obtained and whether it willbe work under conditions favorable to recovery of health.

The possibility of proper medical supervision must be looked into for every consumptive needs at times competent medical advice and supervision. This is particularly so for a patient who has not had training as to how a consumptive should live and what he should avoid.

Absence of family and friends is another important point to be considered, for in leaving family and friends to go among strangers in a new locality one should realize the possible effects. This is particularly true for one who has never before been away from home. It is practically impossible for a consumptive who is homesick to regain health.

How to Guard Your Children Against Germs.

Germs of disease come chiefly from other people's mouths and hands.

Therefore be careful to keep a young baby away from anyone who is not perfectly well. So-called colds, such as running nose, sore throat, bronchitis and all other such diseases, are easily communicated and may be serious for the baby.

Measles, whooping cough and diphtheria are very serious diseases for young children. The older the child the less the danger of fatal results.

Tuberculosis very often gets its start in infancy. Protect the baby from infection. Common ways of infecting a baby are by kissing, coughing or sneezing near the child, or allowing him to play with dirty toys.

Milk from tuberculosis cows frequently is the cause of tuberculosis in a baby. Enlarged glands in children are frequently caused by infection from the milk of tuberculous cows.

Children under one year of age are subject to diseases caused mainly by disordered digestion. Such ailments are first indicated by loss of appetite, headache, vomiting, and, often pain in the stomach.

At such times do not feel the child. Instead give it a dose of castor oil. To a child under two years give a teaspoonful; for children over two years of age, give two teaspoonfuls, increasing the dose for older children.

In giving castor oil the mouth should first be cooled by swallowing a little cool water. The spoon should be thoroughly wet so that the oil will slip off easily. The oil can be covered with a little orange juice to conceal the taste. After taking the oil, the child should lie down quietly for 20 minutes or half an hour.

If the castor oil does not act and the child does not appear better, send at once for a doctor.

Outdoor Sleeping and How to Keep Warm in Winter.

On winter nights don't close your windows because you are cold but learn to keep warm with it open.

First arrange your room so that you do not sleep in a direct draught. If that is impossible the following simple method may be employed:

Cut a heavy piece of cotton six inches longer than the width of the window frame and 18 inches wide. Tack it along its lower edge to the window sill and hook the upper corners to the window frame. The windows may then be opened wide, but the current of air will be directed upwards.

Equally important is the bed. A thick mattress and pad should be sufficient under the sleeper, but if the mattress is thin, place heavy wrapping paper under it. Flanelette sheets may be used in preference to cotton. The lighter the top cover the better.

If down or lamb's wool are too expensive, a quilt made of two layers of flannelette with an interlining of newspapers will prove an excellent covering over the blankets.

The Klondyke bed is made by tucking the blankets under the mattress-pad at feet and sides and binding the whole securely by tucking the top covering 12 inches under the mattress at foot and sides.

For stormy weather a horse blanket or quilt with a canvas covering makes an excellent protection. The bed should be heated by hot water bottles before entering it and the covering must not be so tight that the feet are uncomfortable.

The best preparation for the cares of tomorrow is the faithful performance of the duties of today.

A Christian Mother's Outspoken Words of Love, Faith and Hope

(The Evangelical.)

I was in the company of a talented Christian lady when a friend said to her, "Why have you never written a book?"

"I am writing two," was the quiet reply. "Have been engaged on one for ten years, the other five."

"You surprise me" cried the friend," "what profound works they must be!"

"It doth not appear yet what we shall be," was her reply, "but when He makes up His jewels my great ambition is to find them there."

"Your children?" I said.

"Yes, my two children; they are my life work."

I rejoiced to hear this Christian mother's outspoken words of love and faith, and said in my heart, if all mothers builded over against their own house in this manner what would there be for reformers to do?

I know another—"who being dead yet speaketh." These volumes which lie by my hand are old and worn so that you can hardly read the words "Cottage Bible;" well do I remember a plain sweet face bending over these open volumes. She never held a pen other than for friendship's sake. Yet she gave the world the five living epistles. It was given her to come to the table of the Lord with every child. Once her wayward boy, to all human appearance, lay dying in a foreign land, yet he lived to say to that mother, "I knew you were praying for me. I knew you would pray me home."

Years after that faithful mother had gone to her rest he came for a casual visit to the old home. It was the evening of the usual weekly prayer-meeting, and he stood up to say a word for Jesus, and closed by saying, "Whatever I am or ever hope to be, or if I ever enter heaven, I owe it all to my mother."

The effect was electrical. One mother instantly arose and said, "When I am gone will my children say this of me?"

Another fell on her knees and begged God's mercy on her children. Prayer followed prayer, and a mighty outpouring of God's spirit in that church, in which scores of the young were gathered in, was the result.

Death to Self is Life in Christ, as He Himself Tells

Jesus answered them saying:

"The hour is come that the Son of man should be glorified.

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone, but if it die, it bringeth forth much friut.

"He that loveth his life shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life enternal."

Do you see that grain of wheat, alone and fruitless? Within its narow walls is a germ of life, instinctively yearing for a larger, nobler, fruitful life, yet cabined, repressed.

There is but one gateway to life and fruitfulness, viz:

"Fall into the ground and die."

You cannot climb up some other way. You cannot go around. There is no short cut.

Repelling though it may be, the law is inexorable.

Dread it, shrink form it, try to shun it if you will, there is no escape. "Fall into the ground and die," you must.

If you love your life as a grain of wheat, you lose it.

If you hate your present life, you will find the larger life and fruitfulness.

The application is plain: Death to the self life is the only gateway to life in Christ and fritutfulness.

"If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be (and shall see me.)"

"If any man serve me, him will my Father honor."

Last Week's Question and the Answer

Last week's query: "What is the Bible's list of a lady's wardrobe?" is answered in Isaiah, Chapter 3, Verses 18-23:

"In that day the Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their cauls, and their round tires like the moon,
"The chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers,
"The bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earrings,
"The rings, and nose jewels,
"The changeable suits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wimples, and the crisping pins,
"The glasses, and the fine linen, and the hoods, and veils."

THREE KINDS OF BOYS AND A STORY THAT SHOWS WHICH OF THEM KNOWS HOW TO BE HAPPY

JOHN M. OSKISON
In Mother's Magazine.

The happiest boy in my neighborhood is Sammy Jones. A prize for being the most discontented would have to be divided between Willie Smith and "Tubby" Trott. We were talking about boys—their characteristics and their training—when one of us turned out this:

A boy I like is Sammy Jones,
He never cries, nor loudly moans:
"Oh, mother, give me this and that—
Some roller skates, a baseball bat—
Just like the ones their mothers got
For Willie Smith and 'Tubby' Trott."

Young Sammy takes a piece of string,
Six empty spools, a busted spring,
A board, three sticks, one wire nail,
A hoop from off a broken pail,
And mixes 'em with brains and zeal—
First think you know, a pushmobile!

Mrs. Smith's husband is the most successful lawyer in town. She probably has more money to spend than any other woman in town—and she has spending it. One of her favorite extravagances is her son, Willie. He is nearly nine; he has a pony, an air rifle, ball-bearing, two-wheeled roller skates, a twelve-ounce eight-dollar tennis racket and every book in which he has displayed an interest—however fleeting—is in his library.

Is Willie satisfied, grateful, or interested? He is not! He is carrying around a fretful air and dissatisfied face because his mother won't get him a track long enough to go round the back garden, and a train pulled by an electric engine—a train big enough for him to ride in, and which costs I don't know how many hundreds of dollars.

The Trotts have a nice house in a nice part of town. Mr. Trott is an honest and prosperous grocer. Mrs. Trott has to count the dollars she spends; and she thinks twice before spending five dollars for any sort of toy for Henry (alias "Tubby.")

"Tubby's" real sorrow is that he can't have the same toys that Willie Smith has. Thus, he wants a bugle, "like Willie Smith got last Christmas"; he thinks he wants to be bugler of his scout company, like Elmer Nixon. "Tubby" is only ten, but he thinks a scout ought to be fully trained when he joins at the age of twelve. The fact that Willie can hardly ride his pony, that he makes himself a nuisance by thoughtlessly shooting the air rifle, that he is a poor roller skater, and that he can't stay on a tennis court ten minutes at a time, makes no appeal to "Tubby." He is sorely discontented merely because he can't have what some other boy has.

Sammy Jones—Well, I have tried to picture him in the twelve lines of rhyme. It is true that Sammy's mother has less to spend that Mrs. Trott, yet Sammy is not the town's poorest boy by a long shot. Very early in his life, Sammy learned that his mother refused to accept as a reason for buying something for him the statement that some other boy had it. Mrs. Jones used to say this:

"What I want to know, Sammy, is whether or not you would like this thing. I know you'd like it today—but how about next week?"

Sammy, of course, couldn't tell about next week until it came.

In those intervals of waiting, as Sammy grew to the age of constructive couriosity, he began to plan and work for some of the things he wanted. I am sure that he was the first boy on the streets, in our town, to go hopping and pushing up the hills and then go coasting deliriously down on a pushmobile. It was homemade and subject to sudden and disastrous breakdowns, but it taught Sammy one great truth—if you want to be popular, get something different, and something into which you put yourself.

Mrs. Jones is quite willing to spend money on Sammy—indeed, she has a mother's pride and joy in doing so. But in one particular she has developed differently from Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Trott. Whereas they want Willie and Henry to have, she wants Sammy to be.

Do you see the difference? Willie and Henry, being dear and wonderful boys, deserve, and ought to have, the very best of everything. But Sammy, being equally dear and wonderful, must be the best. To arrive at excellence, in the opinion of Mrs. Jones, doesn't so much mean giving her boy things as it does teaching him what they mean, how to use them, and how to get them.

It is only a monkey-instinct, Mrs. Jones says, which makes "Tubby" Trott want the same kind of roller skates that Willie's mother bought for Willie. Before she buys them for Sammy, she wants to know—and from Sammy, if possible—whether or not they are really the best skates a boy can have, how well they wear, and whether or not they will give Sammy more fun than anything else of equal cost. In buying the skates, will Sammy become merely the play satellite of Willie Smith? If so, is that really good for Sammy?

The whine and the note of bitter envy, which come into the child's voice as it cries, "Other children have it—why can't I?" does not belong there. The child is human, and therefore covetous of what is interesting and amusing. But the child is, also generous. It is quite willing to admire a neighbor's fire engine and baby doll if the child next door will only come and play with its bridge-building materials or its tea set.

The fact is that the mothers too often are responsible for the child's envy of what other children possess. And the root of envy feeds in very shallow soil.

There is a distinction between envy and ambition. The first may drive us quite as hard as the second, but what a difference in the results! To come back to the three boys of Our Town, I think "Tubby" Trott spends as much time worrying over the problem of whether or not he can get thinks like Willie Smith's as Sammy Jones spends in building his devices and in earning money to help buy what he himself can't make. But it is anxious work and planning for "Tubby," whereas Sammy has the pure joy of anticipation, plus the stimulus which comes from knowing that you are helping to create a pleasure.

Broadly speaking, no family ever has money enough to satisfy the desires all its members. The children always can find other children who have more to spend, have better clothes and more elaborate toys, have an automobile in the family, or enjoy long trips during the summer. The boy or girl in high school always can find classmates who have more to spend on clothes, on parties, on football gear, on candy, in going to the theater. No young man or woman in college but will see some one else outstrip him, or her, in acquiring those things which money can buy—ample rooms, the materials for elaborate parties, generous contributions to the many college activities, the extra books recommended, the little week-end trips to country houses, and again clothes!

Out of college—or arrived at the age—the young man or woman marries and begins a life in which the spending competition seems to become the most strenuous of any period. Young wives demand a shelter—either owned or rented—in the best section of Our Town, where prices are high. And it isn't difficult to persaude the husband that if he expects to succeed he had beeter not advertise himself unable to pay what some other man is paying for a house or an office.

While the child is still in its most impressionable years, it can be made to understand most quickly that the money problem of its family is not like that of any other. It may be difficult to explain with complete satisfaction to the naturally socialistic mind of the child why the Smiths have more to spend than the Trotts, and why the Trotts have more than the Joneses. It may seem unjust and illogical. But also it must seem illogical that Sammy Jones at nine is taller and stronger, can run faster and dive better, than any boy in Our Town under eleven.

It is a question of getting in tune with the practical world as soon as possible.—Mother's Magazine.

THE MIZ.

A young Boston mother, with a practical sense of humor, has made a valuable contribution to the science of domestic discipline and incidentally solved a theological difficulty. Everybody has heard of the child who after long hearing of the phrase in the commandments, "the sea, and all that in them is," wanted to know what "the miz" was. This mother, after an extended and apparently hopeless struggle to develop in her young blood habits of order, procured a generous cretonne bag, on which were embroidered in large letters the words "The Miz." Into this went everything that the children left lying about, and once "in the miz," an article remained there for the rest of the week. On Saturday night Tom received back his knife, Katie her book, Jack his tennis racquet, and so on for toys, or clothing, or personal belongings of any sort. Will, who had been capless for a couple of days, was once more able to cover his curly head, and Nell once more was in a condition to skate. At first "The Miz" on Saturday night bulged like an overfed elephant; but as time went on it became leaner and leaner, until its opening ceased to be a moment of the discipline of humor and common sense.

quarters. The other six had testified last night at the trials of their fellows in city court. They were being taken by a round about route to headquarters in three touring cars by city policemen when they were halted by the black shrouded figures who pointed rifles and pistols.

Had Planned Leniency.

The policemen had intended to exact the I. W. Ws. a promise to leave the city and not return whereupon the prison sentences would have been suspended. The policemen in charge of the prisoners offered no violence but were forced to drive the motor cars to the rendezvous in a ravine near the city and watch the work of the "Knights of Liberty" none of whom were recognized because of the disguises. Later in the night the streets of Tulsa were placarded with printed signs bearing this warning:

"Notice to I. W. Ws."

"Dont let the sun set on you in Tulsa."

(Signed)

"VIGILANCE COMMITTEE."

When the party reached the ravine the Industrial Workers were ordered to strip to the waist. A careful guard was kept over each one who previously had been searched and whose hands had been tied with ropes.

Lashed Then Tarred.

A circle of motor cars was drawn about a huge tree and in the glare of the headlights man after man was tied up and lashed on the back until the blood ran. Hot tar then was applied and handfuls of feathers thrown into the tar.

One old man begged for mercy and cried that he was not an I. W. W. but a "knight" declared he had been arrested in the raid on the state headquarters and he took his turn at the whipping post.

When the residence of J. Edgard Pew, vice-president of the Carter Oil company was blown up here October 29 by a nitroglycerine bomb, city, county, state and federal officials asserted it was thought premature breaking of an I. W. W. plot to terrorize the old industry of which Tulsa is a center. The reign of terror, it was said, was scheduled to begin Nov. 1. Extensive plans were made to combat the alleged aims of the I. W. W. and there were no serious developments.

HERE'S STORY OF TROTZKY, ANARCHIST LEADER

"He was expelled from Austria because he had written a book against kaiserism, and went back to Switzerland and from there to Paris, where he became editor of the Russian newspaper, Our Cause.

"That paper was suppressed by the French censorship and Trotzky ordered to leave Franc. He went to spain, but on request of the French he was again deported, so he sailed for New York, arriving last January.

"In New York he helped organize the Socialist Propaganda league, became a member of the Russian branch of the American socialist party, an dtemporarily, while our editor was away on lecture tour, he edited the paper here, fo rthree months.

"April 27, after the Russian revolution, he left New York for Petrograd by way of Canada and Norway, but was arrested at Halifax with a few others of his comrades. On the intercession of Milukoff, he was released and arrived in Petrograd in May. He was almost immediately elected a member of the council of workmen and soldiers' delegates.

"He is identified with the Bolsheviki groups and wa selected chairman of the Bolsheviki convention recently held in Petrograd.

"He was arrested in July by the Kerensky government, after the uprising in Petrograd, but was released, and took a prominent part in the so-called democratic convention about a month ago. He was the leader of the left wing in that convention.

"Trotzky, as a leader of the Bolsheviki, stands for three things: First, peace; but not a separate peace; a general peace under the familiar formula of no annexations and no indemnities. All these men are against a separate peace with Germany. Why do they want a general peace? Because the war has ruined Russia, and she cannot be rebuilt until peace comes.

"The second demand is that the land shall be given immediately to the peasants. Without this, nothing can be done for the reconstruction of Russia.

"The provisional government consented to the distribution of land, long ago, but they want to wait until the constitutional assembly shall solve that problem. The Bolsheviki want the assembly to convene at once. That is their third demand. The land owners want the constitutional assembly delayed until the war is ended.

"The fourth demand of Trotzky and the Bolsheviki is that all the power shall be given over to the councils of workmen and soldiers' delegates; that is, that the council of ministers shall consist of representatives of the peasantry and the workmen, and be responsible to them.

"The news from Russia shows that the Bolsheviki have a lot of people behind them, but how many, and who is going to support them, and who is going to fight them, are difficult things to say."

IRELAND HAS PROSPERITY

in Ireland, particularly less war-time curtailment of personal liberty, as for instance, regarding restrictions in eating and drinking. There is no conscription there, no "defense of the realm act" and few war taxes.

More and Better Food.

There is not only more food and drink there than in England, but it is of better quality. And in most parts of Ireland it is cheaper. Meatless and potatoless days are unknown there. Potatoes were never so plentiful. That they are cheaper even than in the United States was unknown to the commissary department of the American navy which recently shipped to the flotilla about 10,000 bushels, but which were never unloaded. After discharging its cargo of other foodstuffs, the naval supply ship was sent to another port where the potatoes were sold to the British government.

Fresh meat also is cheaper in Ireland than in England or the United States. The Americans buy a large part of their meat ashore. Porterhouse steaks are from 5 to 7 cents a pound cheaper than in the United States.

Large Portions Served.

The Americans are struck by the large portions served in Ireland as compared with the lean ones they get in England. For three shillings they get a meal which includes soup, fish or lobster and sometimes both, hot or cold meat, dessert, cheese and biscuits and tea or coffee. The same meal in a hotel of corresponding grade in England would cost at least six shillings.

Drink, too, is not only more plentiful but of better quality. The drinking places in Ireland are open all day and until 11 o'clock at night, whereas in England and Scotland they are only open for two hours in the afternoon and three hours in the evening.

In England today it is considered indelicate to ask a friend for a match. In France matches are well nigh unobtainable. All the continental countries are suffering from a match famine. Not so in Ireland. Hotels, barrooms and cigar stands all have matches in abundance and they are used with the same freedom as in time of peace.

Great Area Under Plow.

The immense amount of land under the plow impresses the visitor and he talks with many farmers who boast of the record prices they are getting for their product, especially their live stock. Cows, sheep and pigs are so plentiful that the beautiful rolling landscape is fairly dotted with them. Neither is the farmer troubled with a shortage of labor as in England. Labor is plentiful and of good quality and laborers not only in the agricultural but also in the industrial districts, being largely young men and women. This favorable labor situation is due to the fact that there has been practically no emigration from Ireland for three years, and the thousands of young men and women who formerly set out for America each month now remain in the country.

enemy against our trenches and small posts, especially in the sectors of Loivre, Courcey and Dugodat. We repulsed the enemy by our fire and he was not able to approach our lines at any point.

"East of Neuville we penetrated a German trench and destroyed shelters.

"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun frnot) the artillery duel continues spiritedly near Chaume wood, where in patrol engagements we took prisoners.

In the Vosges and Alsace we inflicted considerable losses in raiding enemy lines northwest of Sennones and east of Seppois. There is nothing to report elsewhere.

months will be offered by the Maximalist government of Petrograd. During this time, Nikolai Lenine, leader of the Maximalists plans that representatives elected by the people of all nations will settle the question of peace. Lenine's government is willing to consider proposals for a just peace from either side.

Moscow, the ancient capital of Russia, is reported to have gone over to the revolutionists. The garrison has suported the revolutionary government in taking over the government offices. Conditions in Moscow and Petrograd are reported to be quiet. The Bolsheviki element in the peasant's congress and the workmen's and soldiers' organizations is meeting with opposition from members of the Petrograd municipal council and the minimalists. The opposing factions will not acknowledge the authority of the Maxamilists and are said to be planning an appeal to the Russian nation regarding the Petrograd revolt. A cabinet has been named by the Bolsheviki with Lenine as premier. As yet no clashes between the Maximalists and the supporters of the Keresnky cabinet are reported and the whereabouts of Kerensky is still in doubt. The revolutionary committee had ordered that the former premier be arrested and imprisoned with other ministers now in the fortress in Petrograd. Lenine also has given instructions that his forces shall move against any soldiers supporting Kerensky and has appealed to the railroad men not to transport Kerensky adherents. It is not clear whether the Russian armies as a whole have accepted the new government but it is reported that some units have gone to the revolutionary side. All available Russian advi es except reports from Germany must come through Petrograd and even these have not indicated any great rush to the revolutionary leaders from the soldiers outside Petrograd and Moscow. The Russian war office has not issued a statement for several days. Berlin in its statement, however, mentions no great activity on the eastern fronts and there are no reports that the Austro-Germans have taken advantage of the disorder in Petrograd to make a determined attack at vital points between the Baltic and Black seas. A report from Copenhagen says the Germans have occupied the Aland islands at the entrance to the gulf of Bothnia which lies between Sweden and Finland.

Italy's armies, under a new commander, General Diaz, are in their new positions, probably along the Piave river, ready to offer stout sistance to the Austro-German invaders. It is apparent the momentary halt on the Livenza river was only for the purpose of delaying the enemy as much as possible until the bulk of the Italian forces could establish themselves in the new defense line. British and French troops have arrived in northern Italy and will aid the Italians in beating back the invaders from capturing Venice and the rich manufacturing district in Lombardy and Piedmont. Berlin reports the Teutons advancing toward the Piave through hill and over plain, indicating that the Italian withdrawal in the Carnic Alps has not yet halted.

General Cadorna has been appointed Italian member of an inter-allied staff. The other members are General Foch, one of the great French leaders, and General Wilson, of the British staff. These three probably will take supreme direction of the allied campaign in northern Italy. It was General Foch who drove the wedge into the German forces at the battle of the Marne.

The British campaign in Palestine continues with marked success. The entire Turkish army is retiring northward toward Jerusalem from the Gaza-Beersheba line. British and French warships are bombarding the retreating Turks from the coast, while British aviators are harrassing them with bombs and machine gun fire.

PLAN TO USE WASTE WOOD.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Plans for using all available wastewood as fuel are being considered by the fuel administration. Fuel administrators in several states already have taken a step in the direction by appealing to farmers to cut timber in clearing their farms into cordwood rather than burning it in the field.

RED CROSS TO SHIP CAR OF SUPPLIES

Eight Local Workers Attend Convention of Lake Division at Cleveland.

The Northern Indiana warehouse of the Red Cross will ship a car of supplies for the fighting men of the United States army the first of next week. This car will contain ninety packed boxes, filled with knittings, surgical dressings, hospital garments, hospital linen, Christmas packs and comfort kits. A shipment was received at the warehouse Saturday from Bluffton chapter of the Red Cross and a similar shipment came from Nappanee.

A number of Red Cross workers from the warehouse and the workshop are attending the convention of the Lake division at Cleveland Saturday. Those attending are Mrs. A. E. Fauve, Mrs. E. J. Rieke, Mrs. William K. Noble, Dr. Jessie Calvin, Mrs. Clarence Schoo, Miss Winifred Callahan, Mrs. N. D. Doughman and Mrs. Max Fisher.

Mrs. Samuel M. Foster donated $10, a friend gave $5 and Max Bierbaum, of the Dudlo plant, gave $1 to the general fund of the Red Cross. The ladies of Sand Point are planning to aid the local chapter by holding a chicken supper next Friday night at the Sand Point school, No. 5, Wayne township. The supper will commence at 6 o'clock and continue as long as anyone wants to eat. The proceeds will be turned over to the Red Cross. The supper has been sanctioned by the Allen County Council of Defense.

The Red Cross has received a supply of yarn but have no place to keep it. They would like to get a small bookcase from some one who has an old one for which they have no use.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

This morning the pressure distribution is rather irregular, with an area of high pressure occupying the Rocky mountain states and a depression of slight intensity centered over the lower Missouri valley. Scattered precipitation occurred at several widely separated stations, but as a rule the weather has been fair. The temperature changes have been generally unimportant, but the weather is somewhat cooler in northern Rocky mountain states.

MOTHER OF ONE OF THE NATION'S FIRST HERO DEAD IN THE WAR FOR LIBERTY WAS FOREWARNED OF HER SON'S FATE, SHE BELIEVES

What Weird Premonition Foretold to Evansville Woman the Death of Her Offspring in Trenches?—Strange Story of the War.

Special Dispatch from Marie Barnett.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 9.—What mysterious wireless, beyond the knowledge of man, forewarned Mrs. Alice Dodd of the death of her son, James Gresham, first soldier of the American army killed in battle in France?

The perils of army life were not a new nightmare to Mrs. Dobb. Her son had enlisted four years ago. She was proud of him. She signed his papers, for he was under age.

He was in the first contingent to France, too. His risks in warfare were an old thought to his mother. And yet—

Why did Mrs. Dodd, brave and proud, weep unaccountably in terror each day for a week? Why was it that on a certain morning while she was eating breakfast something strange seemed to enter among the familiar surroundings of the room, and her eyes and throat got full, and her heart suddenly became a dull lump in her breast?

I was the messenger first to inform her that her son James was immortalized at 23 as the first American soldier to stain the soil of France with his blood in land battle—what premonition had traveled to her swifter than telegraph?

"Don't you think any mother would be glad to have her boy the first to give his life for his country in such a cause?" I had asked her, as casually as I could. Then I raised my glance to her eyes. There was no light in them. "Ah, God! It's not my boy that's dead?" she cried. But not in question. And then only two more sentences:

"God help me to endure."

"Will they bring his body home?"

In her hand she held a little silk handkerchief embroidered in gay-colored floss, her son's last gift to her before he went "over the top." She felt only the personal tragedy—not the heroism and the history.

"Yes, he's a hero, and for his sake I ought to be brave," she said, and she was weeping.. "But I'm not a hero. I am just a mother—and my boy is dead."

Besides his mother and stepfather, William Dodd, James Gresham leaves two brothers and two sisters. They are better able to detach themselves from the sense of loss so far as to feel that with Thomas Enright, of Pittsburg, and M. D. Hay, of Glidden, Ia., James Gresham forms one of an immortal trio as the first members of the American expeditionary force to give their lives in battle.

AN UNCERTAIN COURSE IN THE STOCK MARKET

Some Imporvements Shown in Standard Issues and Closing is Strong.

New York, Nov. 10.—Stocks pursued an uncertain course during today's short session, some issues of the same class, notably the motor group, scoring gain, while others were inclined to react. Leaders moved more consistently, however, advancing for the most part. Standard rails added to yesterday's improvement and equipments, especially steels, also hardened, though subject to occasional pressure. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 350,000 shares.

HAY MAKES ADVANCE; MAY REACH $20 MARK

The effect of the present war is clearly shown by the continued high price of hay. It is predicted that before the first of the year it may reach a $25 price. A number of bailers have gone through the country and contracted for hay at a price better than $20 a ton. Hay on the local markets reached a top price of $21 a ton. Twelve loads were received at the city scales and five loads were bailed hay.

As was expected, Saturday was a fairly good corn day. Five loads of new corn received ready market at $1.00@1.15 a bushel. Old corn went back to the $2 mark for two loads. Four loads of oats brought 58@59c a bushel. There was a large market Saturday Prices remained about the same.

Michigan and New York Concord grape shipments have dwindled and dealers are cleaning up what they have in storage at steady prices. The scarcity of sugar has kept the demand at a minimum and prices have been extremely low in comparison with other fruit.

A $361 car, plus $15 freight, plus $100 for electric starter, plus $13.70 for changing from 3-inch to 3½ inch tires, and, if you want demountable rims add about $20 more. Shock absorbers would cost another $10 to $20; a mohair top costs $25 to $30. Oh, yes, a ventilating wind shield is $10. Change your lamps for lamps with dimmers is another outlay of $6 or more. Now you have parted with about $550 and still have a $361 car, without a speedometer. So, why not buy a

ALL MINISTERS ARE OF THE BOLSHEVIKIS

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—The all Russian congress of workmen's and soldiers' delegates is reported unofficially to have named a cabinet composed of Bolsheviki and then adjourned.

The cabinet will serve until the constituent assembly approves it or selects a new one.

Minister of the Interior—M. Rickoff.
Minister of Finance—M. Svortzoff.
Minister of Agriculture—M. Milliutin.
Minister of Labor—M. Sheliapnikoff.
Committee on War Marine—M. Ovisnikoff, Kreylenko and Bibenko.
Minister of Commerce—M. Nogen.
Minister of Justice—M. Oppokov.
Minister of Supplies—M. Theodorovitch.
Minister of Posts and Telegraphs—M. Aviloff.
Minister of Communications—M. Riazanoff.

In reply to a peasant deputy who protested against the arrest of the former ministers, Trotzky announced that the socialist members of the Kerensky cabinet would be released from the fortress of SS. Peter and Paul pending an investigation. He said the others would be held.

The congress took action to turn over to the land committees for distribution the landed estates and state and church lands. The lands of the Cossacks and the peasants will not be confiscated.

FORMER LOCAL MAN INHERITS ESTATE

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 10.—A. W. Curtis, of Detroit, formerly superintendent of the Red Cross Manufacturing company, in this city, and a former resident of Fort Wayne, has learned that he is one of the three heirs to a $300,000 estate, in Wisbech, England. The money comes at the death of his mother last August, and the estate is to be divided equally between Mr. Curtis and his two brothers, who are in England. Mr. Curtis is in Detroit, working as superintendent of a section of the American Car and Foundry company.

The brothers in England wrote to Bluffton asking for Mr. Curtis but his exact location was unknown. He was located by a United Press representative and notified of his good fortune. The Detroit man will not go to England after the money until the close of the war and it will be kept in trust by his brothers. The estate consists of a number of warehouses, a department store and two country homes.

FIRE DESTROYS LIGHT PLANT AT CROMWELL

Saw Mill Also Burns, Causing a Loss Estimated at $7,000.

Cromwell, Ind., Nov. 10.—The M. Moore & Co. light plant and sawmill were destroyed by fire here early this morning, causing a loss estimated at $7,000.

The fire was discovered shortly after 1 o'clock by a watchman. Although the flames spread rapidly the fire department was able to save a number of large piles of lumber. The origin is unknown. Officials of the company say that the plant will be rebuilt at once.

As a result of the fire Cromwell will be in darkness tonight except those residents fortunate enough to have kerosene lamps.

AS MATTERS STAND OHIO WETS WIN OUT

Booze Boosters Now Hold a Margin of Slightly Above Thousand.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 10.—With official county totals from nine counties received and announced today by the secretary of state,(included in the tabulation, the vote in the Ohio wet and dry election today showed a majority of 1,085 against prohibition.

The tabulation, which included returns from sixty-eight counties, officially received by the secretary of state, fourteen county seat official returns and six unofficial but complete county returns showed: For prohibition, 522,445; against prohibition, 523,530.

AUSTRIA STILL FOR OBTAINING SPEEDY HONORABLE PEACE

Amsterdam, Neb. 10.—In discussing the visit to Berlin of Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister the Fremdenblatt of Vienna in a leading article, apparently inspired, points out that the program of the Austro-Hungarian empire remains unalteredand is directed toward a speedy and honorable peace.

HERE'S STORY OF TROTZKY, ANARCHIST LEADER IN RUSSIA, AS TOLD BY FORMER COMRADES IN NEW YORK

In Their Cellar Men Who Were Once Pals of the Bolsheviki Talk of Man Who is Now in Limelight in the Capital of Russia and to Front in World's News.

Special Dispatch from
Of Our New York Bureau.

New York, Nov. 10.—I have just come from the cellar at 77 St. Mark's Place, in the heart of New York's East Side, where Leon Trotsky, the man who has overthrown the Kerensky government in Petrograd, for three months edited the little Russian revolutionary socialist paper, Novy Mir, the organ of the Rusisan branch of the socialist party in America.

Surrounded by three of them men who have shared exile with Trotzky in Siberia, and later were his associates in Vienna, Berne and Paris, I sat at the desk in the dingy hole at the rear of the cellar that Trotzky used.

In the intervals between the clank of the presses behind the wooden partition that separated the press room from the editorial sanctum, I got his comrades' story of the man who is now the leader of the Bolsheviki in Petrograd, on whom the future of Russia may depend.

"A wonderful man," said Alexander Menshoy, now editor of Novy Mir. "Tall, commanding, about 40 years old, with a wonderful personality and a winning smile, Trotzky is not a driver, but a leader.

He is one of the very best speakers in Russia. I have heard him speak many times and he is eloquent. A writer, too, he is, and so powerful a one that the German government passed a sentence of six months' imprisonment against him, although he was not in Germany at the time, because of his book attacking Prussianism and kaiserism.

"You must not say that Trotzky is pro-German; he hates kaiserism and militarism with a nenduring hatred."

"Trotzky was born in southern Russia, in the province of Kherson; his father a poor farmer. We do not know how he got his education, but when he was 18 years old he was already connected with the revolutionary movement—the socialist - democratic party. During the first Russian revolution in 1905, he was in Petrograd, as chairman of the council of workmen's delegates. When the revolution was crushed, all members of that counced were arrested—Trotzky with them. He was sent to Siberia—his second sentence, since he had already been deported there when 20 years old because he was a socialist. He escaped from Siberia to Switzerland.

"When the present war broke out he was in Vienna publishing a Russian socialist newspaper, and contributing to the German paper, New Zeit, and the French paper L'Humanite.

THIS IS THE ONLY PICTURE OF TROTZKY IN THE UNITED STATES

A PAIR OF KINGS MEET TO PLEDGE MUTUAL CONCORD

Copenhagen, Nov. 10.—King Gustav of Sweden is making a private visit to the king of Denmark. King Christian, at a dinner to the king of Sweden, said that Gustav's visit confirmed their continued concord and co-operation and that happy results would be obtained for the two nations. In reply King Gustav declared that all efforts toward concord and co-operation always would have his loyal support.

Summary of the Day's War News

Along a forty-five mile stretch of the Piave river in northeastern Italy the armies of the Austro-German invaders and the Italian defenders are lined up on opposite sides of the stream. But although Piave line on the lower course of the river has been successfully reached by the Italian forces in their retirement they are being subjected to a newly developed menace on thier left flank.

The Teutonic command has finally sprung its expected drive on the western edge of the Trentino.

Pressing south in the Sugana valley Austro-German troops have forced their way as far as Asiago, Berlin announces, and after desperate street fighting have captured that place.

Rome indicates successful Italian resistance to thrusts in the Tesino basin at Brocon pass. The German announcement, however, may indicate the subsequent pushing back of the line in this sector, which is in the northern Sugana valley region.

The attack in the Asiago district must be held by the Italians if their Piave line is not to be turned, and the whole of northeastern Italy fall into the hands of the invaders. In their offensive of 1916 the Austrians pushed down into the Asiago hills, but ultimately were checked and afterward driven back near their border. It is approximately eleven miles from Asiago to the Italian plains, the Austro-German objective, and the hilly country is admirably adapted to defense.

Further west in the Trentino an Austro-German attack was launched in the Ledro valley but was quickly repulsed.

In Flanders the British attacked north morning and at points pushed forward half a mile in the early fighting. The assault was on a limited front about a mile and a half.

QUAIL SEASON OPENS TODAY IN INDIANA

The quail season opened Saturday in Indiana and will continue for thirty days. As a result Fort Wayne hunters or at least many of them were out early. Many farmers, it is said, will not permit the hunting of these birds on their farms, in keeping with the edict of F. N. Wallace, state entomologist, who urges hunters to refrain from shooting the birds.

Plenty of Work, Abundant Crops and Plenty of Foodstuffs.

LITTLE WARTIME RESTRICTION FELT

Sharp Contrast With the Conditions Prevailing in Great Britain.

Base of the American Flotilla in British War, Oct. 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—When an American naval man, who has visited Ireland in time of peace, is asked what has impressed him most about Ireland in war the inevitable answer is "Ireland's prosperity and freedom from war-time restrictions of other countries." Hundreds of Americans in the naval forces have visited England and Scotland and even France. All agree that there is more freedom

DIMMER GOES ON BROADWAY AS A MEASURE OF WAR

New York, Nov. 10.—Broadway's far-famed "Great Whiteway" will be dimmed for the remainder of the war, commencing tonight, by order of the fuel administrator at Washington. The myriads of lights in their fantastic advertising designs will now glow only from 7:45 until 11 o'clock each night instead of from dusk until the early morning hours. The fuel administration estimated that 50 per cent. of the coal used in producing electricity to light up the "whiteway," might well be saved.

AUSTRO-GERMAN ADVANCE MEETS STIFF DEFENSE

Report From Rome Says Drive Has Been Arrested, But Berlin Has a Different Version.

BIG TURNING MOVEMENT UNDER WAY

Rome, Nov. 10.—The enemy has been checked in the Odro valley, the war office announces. A hostile thrust at Brocon, in the Tesino basin, also has been checked. From Sugana to the sea the Italian rear guards disengaging themselves from the enemy crossed the river, blowing up the bridges.

An Italian rear guard force, which had been surrounded at Lorenzago, succeeded in forcing its way out.

The announcement follows:

"From St. Elivio to the Sugana valley there was normal fighting activity. Strong army detachments attacked our advanced positions in the Ledro valley but were repulsed promptly in spite of the heavy artillery preparation which preceded the action.

"In the mountainous area between the Sugana valley and the Piave valley local engagements took place. A hostile thrust at Brocon in the Tresino basin was checked. At Lorenzago one of our rear guards, surrounded, succeeded in pushing through the village, which was occupied by the enemy.

"On the plains from the railway station of Sugana to the sea our rear guards disengaged themselves from the enemy pressure and crossed the river, blowing up the bridges afterwards.

"Last night five of our airships effectively bombed the crossing of the Tagliamento at Latisana the town of Motta Di Livenza, and troops moving on roads leading to the river."

INVADERS REACH THE PIAVE.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—(Via London.)—The Austro-German forces which are invading northern Italy have reached the Piave river. Asiago has been captured.

The Piave river has been reached all the way from Suzgana to the Adriatic.

Asingo is on the Trentino front twenty miles west of the Piave river, along which the Italians have been expected to fight a decisive battle. The capture of Asiago indicates the Austrians and Germans have begun an offensive on the Trentino front in an effort to outflank the Piave line. The breaking of the Italian front at this front would entail retirement of the Italians from the Piave line.

Suzgana is at the foothills of the Alps. The Germans have reached the Piave all along its course over the plains of northern Italy.

BRITISH ADVANCE FAR.

British Front In Belgium, Nov. 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—The British troops which attacked this morning in the Passchendaele area were reported at an early hour to have battled their way forward as much as 800 yards at some points.

The British army passed many strongly fortified farms north and northwest of Goeberg. At this point they were fighting nearly half a mile from their jumping-off place. The line was pushed northward along the Passchendaele ridge almost to the point at which the highest crest starts sloping downward.

Today's operations were carried out on a 2,500- yard front for limited objectives, which had been virtually all gained by 10 o'clock.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

London, Nov. 10.—The British made an attack this morning on the Flanders front near Passchendaele. The war office announces that early reports indicate good progress.

"At sunrise this morning our troops attacked German positions northwest and north of Passchendaele. The first reports indicate that good progress was made. The weather is stormy with heavy rain and high wind.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED.

Paris, Nov. 10.—German troops undertook a series of advances last night against French positions northwest of Rheims, says today's official report. They were repulsed by the French.

The announcement follows: "Northwest of Rheims the night was marked by a series of efforts directed by the

IS VERY LATEST THING IN TRENCH FASHIONS Y'KNOW

New York, Nov. 10.—A model of the latest thing in trench fashions—the vermin proof "cootie shirt"—has just been received here and the American fund for French wounded is planning to turn them out by hundreds at its factory in New York. The cootie shirt, which is said to enjoy great popularity among the men in the trenches, is made of cheese cloth and is dipped in creosote and their germicidal solutions. Owing to the tenture of the fabric, the shirt can be made only by hand.

"The vermin cling to the cotton fabric and are destroyed when the garment is dipped in boiling water," said an official of the organization today. "It isn't pleasant to talk about such things, but think how less pleasant it is for the soldiers to have to put up with cooties along with all the other hardships."

SUPPLY OF FOOD GRAVE PROBLEM NOW IN FRANCE

Washington, Nov. 10.—War's demand upon the resources of France is strikingly illustrated in figures on food stuffs production prepared by Maurice Long, minister of gerenal revictualing of France and made public here today by the food administration.

Production of foodstuffs, including all cereals, potatoes and beet root has decreased from 358,000,000 hundred weight in 1913 to 222,000,000 hundred weight in 1917, Mr. Long said, and this forecasts the rationing system for additional articles of consumption. He estimates that France's requirements this year could be held to forty million hundred weight of cereals, but the task of procuring this amount promises to be difficult since it was impossible to import anything like this quantity last year.

FIREMAN CARRIER INSTANTLY KILLED

Confused by the fog and miscalculating the distance from the second section of the Pennsylvania Broadway limited at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, L. R. Carrier walked upon the tracks at Dola, O., and was instantly killed. Mr. Carrier was a fireman on westbound extra freight train No. 7777, with Engineer R. R. Farries, which had taken a siding at Dola to give the right of way to the passenger train. He was on the south side of the tracks and when he saw the passenger train coming attempted to get to the north side again, when he was struck. He was hurled a considerable distance and was dead when picked up by the other members of the crew. The body was turned over to the coroner and later placed on passenger train No. 1007, which arrived here at 1:10 o'clock. Mungovan & Ryan received the remains and took them to their undertaking parlors to be prepared for burial.

Fireman L. R. Carrier took employment on the road August 6, 1917, and had worked only three months. He was born in Danville, Ill., in April, 1890, and came with his parents to Dixon, O., when he was a small boy and resided there up to the time he came to Fort Wayne to work on the road. He was married two weeks ago to Miss Cordrey, a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. T. Cordrey, the former the pastor of the Methodist church at Dixon. Mr. and Mrs. Carrier had just completed arrangements for housekeeping at 1813 Hanna street.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed. It is probable that the interment will be made at Dixon at a time to be announced later.

The train which struck Fireman Carrier was the second section of the Broadway limited, No. 29, made up of eleven Pullman cars and carrying a party of St. Clair Oil company people, who had been east and were returning to their homes. This train was in charge of Conductor S. H. Myers, Engineer Thomas Sinclair and Fireman W. H. Jackson.

MITCHENER'S RISE WAS RAPID.

Began Work as Dispatcher on Nickel Plate in 1894.

Hundreds of Fort Wayne railway people will recognize in the accompanying portrait the likeness of a man well known in this part of the country as a hustler in railway work. R. W. Mitchener began work on the Nickel Plate in the capacity of dispatcher in 1894 and worked himself up by attention to business to his present responsible position, general superintendent of the road. He has been in Fort Wayne often and is known to all the Nickel Plate trainmen and nearly all of the other employes of the company.

R. W. MITCHENER.

Machinist James McLaughlin and Machinist George McCarthy, of the Wabash, have been temporarily transferred to Montpelier to "help out" with a rush of roundhouse work. Jack Moran, also of the local plant, has been temporarily assigned to the foremanship at the Montpelier roundhouse.

The accompanying picture represents four generations of the P. L. Hall family. The personnel of the group is as follows: P. L. Hall, eighty-three years old; J. E. Hall, fifty-four years old; A. R. Hall, sr., twenty-three years old, and A. R. Hall, jr., five months old. The photograph was taken here a short time ago, when P. L. Hall, the head of the family, who resides in Pittsburg, was visiting his son, J. E. Hall, of 2827 South Harrison street. After a two months' visit here, the aged gentleman went to Denver, Colo., making the trip alone, and spent a few weeks with another son, Alvin R. Hall, who is prominently connected with an industrial concern. This week Mr. Hall, sr., is up in Westmoreland county, Pa., shooting rabbits, a smoewhat srtenous sport supposed to be confined to a much younger class. In fact, he is one of the most vigorous men of his age in the country. J. E. Hall, the grandfather, and A. R. Hall, the father of Alvin R. Hall, jr., are employed at the General Electric works, the former in the production department, and the latter in a clerical position in the main office. J. E. Hall is one of the veteran employes of the big concern, his services dating from December 17, 1889, when he took a clerical position in the Pittsburg office. The company was then the Fort Wayne Electric company, of which R. T. McDonald was the head and practically the sole proprietor. Later Mr. Hall entered the sales department, and in 1898 was appointed manager of the Pittsburg office, remaining in charge there until May, 1906, when he was transferred to the Indiana territory, where he had charge of the entire sales in the state. In 1914 he became connected with the production department, of which H. E. Stocker is the head. He has obtained a six months' leave of absence and will leave next week for Denver, Col., where he will assume the office of assistant manager of the Capital Electric company, one of the important industries of that city. Mr. Hall has always been prominent in the social and educational organizations at the General Electric works. He is a member of the Quarter Century club and of the Electro-Technic club, and always took a prominent part in the activities of those organizations. He has also been active in Masonic bodies, and takes great interest in all movements for the advancement of the order.

BIG CROWD FOR HATTIESBURG.

Agent John E. Ross Expects to Take Over 100 to Camp.

John E. Ross, who is getting up a personally conducted excursion to Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., has made provision for handling 144 persons and it now looks as if he would have a full quota. The meeting at the passenger station for the purpose of "feeling the pulse" of the public on the excursion proposition demonstrated a decided interest in it. The plan contemplates a six-day stay at the camp and the cost to the excursionists, including transportation, meals, etc., will be $66, providing 100 people take the trip. This is now assured, as sixty-six signed up at the meeting and more have since signed. The excursion party is to leave Fort Wayne at 12:25 o'clock Tuesday, November 20, over the G. R. & I., and returning arrive in Fort Wayne Tuesday, November 27. During the stay at Hattiesburg the cars will be available to the excursionists at all times. Siyty-six dollars covers the entire cost to the excursionists. It is necessary for Mr. Ross to know in advance who is going and all persons contemplating the trip are requested to see him and hand in their names.

ROAD SUPERVISOR HURT.

Frank Woolsifer Has Shoulder Blade Broken.

While assisting in cleaning up the debris from the wreck of some Wabash cars at Coalton, O., yesterday, Frank Woolsifer was struck by a piece of the large derrick hook when it broke as a car was being lifted. His shoulder was broken and he sustained some injuries to his head, causing slight concussion. Mr. Woolsifer was taken to the Peru hospital on train No. 1 yesterday and will be confined there for a week or more. He resides in Defiance, but is well known all along the road, at present holding the office of track supervisor.

ARE MARRIED 25 YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kendrick, of 117 Buchanan street were married 25 years ago today. Mr. Kendrick is a well known bricklayer in this city, and is also greatly interested in organized labor. He has been secretary of the Fort Wayne Bricklayers' union for the past 15 years and also president of the state convention of bricklayers held in Indianapolis, Ind., annually. Mr. Kendrick is also wel known in the city and enjoys a large circle of friends. No celebration of their silver wedding will take place as Mr. Kendrick has left for Indianapolis to attend the annual convention now in session in the capital.

START THE FALL INSPECTION.

The fall inspection of stationary power, heating and water plants of the eastern end of the Western division of the Pennsylvania will commence next week by Boilermaker H. W. G. Heine and Machinist Frank Hebert, who for a number of years were assigned to this duty. It will consume two or three weeks.

TO BE RETIRED DECEMBER 1.

John V. Bugbee, residing at 2620 Pittsburgh street, attained the age of seventy this morning and will pass to the pension system of the Pennsylvania December 1. He took a position as a track laborer on the road May 1, 1873, and has remained constantly in that position since. He was born November 7, 1847. Another old employe who will be pensioned December 1 is Cornelius Denahy. He began work in the shops as a laborer December 1, 1886, and January 1, 1913, was appointed janitor in the shops. He was born November 23, 1847. Mr. Denahy resides at 1930 Weisser Park avenue.

TWO CROSSING ACCIDENTS.

Two automobiles came to grief last night when they attempted to beat Pennsylvania trains at crossings. The drivers in each escaped by jumping. One of the accidents was at Beegrove, Ind., where Andrew Chambers failed to get his auto truck over the tracks in time to prevent a smash up and the other was at Indiana Harbor, where passenger train No. 118 smashed an auto into smithereens.

CLASS IN MILLINERY.

A new class in millinery to be taught by Miss Ethol Seaney has been formed at the Wayne Knitting Mills, under the management of the vocational school. The class will meet on Wednesdays between the hours of 7 and 9.

RETURNS TO S. F. BOWSER & COMPANY

E. J. Little Will Have Charge of the New York Office.

E. J. Little is again to be prominently connected with the business interests of S. F. Bowser & Co., having accepted the position of eastern representative with headquarters in New York. He was with the company ten years prior to January lest, when he resigned to take a position with the Wildwood Builders. He was assigned to the position he now takes with S. F. Bowser & Co. over a year ago, but on account of failing health he resigned and went with the Wildwood Builders because he did not care to move from Fort Wayne at that time. Mr. Little was one of the best known and most active of the Bowser salesmen and officers for a number of years, and the men who were associated with him in that business so long will be glad to learn that he is returning to the company. At present Mr. Little has charge of the Y. M. C. A. campaign and is a busy man. He is prominent in that work, as well as in other lines, being president of the Quest club, member of the Shriners and of the Commercial club. He will go to New York as soon as he completes his work with the Y. M. C. A.

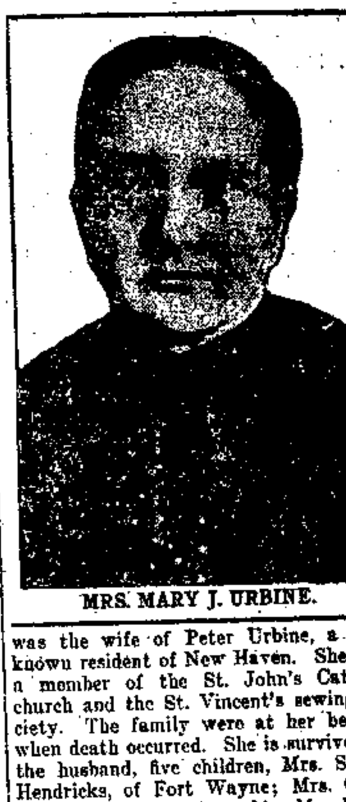
THE DEATHS.

URBINE.

Mrs. Mary J. Urbine, aged 63, died Friday night at St. Joseph's hospital after a four months' illness. Her condition became critical a few days ago, and she was taken to the hospital. The deceased was the wife of Peter Urbine, a well known resident of New Haven. She was a member of the St. John's Catholic church and the St. Vincent's sewing society. The family were at her bedside when death occurred. She is survived by the husband, five children, Mrs. Sophie Hendricks, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. Grace Renier, of Jefferson township; Mrs. Laura Sheehan and Elmer Urbine, of New Haven, and Oscar Urbine, of Monroe township; nineteen grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Louis Ray, of White Pigeon, Mich.



MRS. MARY J. URBINE.

FRANKLIN.

Mrs. Ida Mae Franklin, age 21, died at 2 o'clock Saturday morning at her home, 132 Brackenridge street, after suffering for six weeks from complications. The deceased, with her husband, moved to Fort Wayne last April from Dayton, Ohio, and the husband took employment with the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company. Surviving are the husband and a three-weeks-old baby, two sisters and father, in Wolcotville. The remains will be shipped to Winchester for burial.

GULDLIN.

Miss Clara Guldlin, sister of O. N. Guldlin, of Fort Wayne, passed away at 8:20 Friday night in Valley City, N. D. The deceased was born and educated in Christiana, Norway, and came to America with her brother in 1882. They lived for a while in eastern cities and in 1900 came to Fort Wayne. On account of her ill health the deceased led a quiet life, but she was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Guldlin left Saturday for Valley City to attend the funeral services.

BILGER.

The infant daughter of Clarence Bilger, 1517 Winter street, passed away at 10 o'clock Friday night. Funeral services at 2 o'clock Saturday, from the home.

FILE APPLICATIONS.

The bulletin board of the Fort Wayne Commercial club bears the applications of G. Claude Bowers and C. A. Quiber. With the exception of one resignation the membership has been at a standstill for the last few months.

BOARD OF SAFETY APPOINTS POLICEMAN

The board of safety appointed Jacob Hovel to the office of policeman on the Fort Wayne police force Friday evening. Hovel has had considerable experience along this line, having been on the Pennsylvania froce under Captain Stoll for many years. He has recently been in the employ of the Nickel Plate company. The new officer will begin his duties immediately.

The dearth of applicants for places open on the police force has long been a source of annoyance to the entire system. The unusual high cost of all essential living material combined with the insufficient wages paid to the new members of the force has always proved effectual in keeping married men from applying. Fort Wayne is steadily growing, while the growth of the police force is almost at a standstill, making the effectual patroling of all parts of the town almost impossible.

The Births.

To Work Nights.

The city hall installed a number of lights in the new Fox building, corner Washington and Calhoun, in order to enable the contractors to put on night shifts. The work will now be pushed with all possible speed.

New Smallpox Cases.

Two new cases of smallpox were reported at the board of health offices Saturday. The home of S. Miles, 743 High street, and W. Collisen, 1325 Lafayette street, have both been placed under quarantine.

The lack of cars has proven to be a serious hindrance to a number of street paving jobs in Fort Wayne. Laselle, Liberty, Osage, Lake, Wildwood, Webster and Kinnaird are all thoroughfares which are being held up because of the shortage. Unless some other method of transporting the asphalt material is found contractors will have to wait until the shortage is relieved.

CREDIT MEN WILL MEET NEXT TUESDAY

The Fort Wayne Credit Men's association will hold its regular monthly banquet at the Wayne hotel on Tuesday evening (Nov. 13, at 6:30 p. m.

The principal speaker and honored guest of the evening will be Charles F. Hoerr, president of the Home Bank and Trust company, of Chicago. Mr. Hoerr will speak on the very interesting subject, "The Building of a Credit Man."

The local Credit Men's association, organized less than a year ago, has grown very rapidly and includes in its membership over fifty local wholesale and manufacturing concerns. Its membership also includes representatives from a number of the larger concerns in the nearby towns. Huntington, Auburn, Garrett and similarly located towns within a radius of fifty miles of Fort Wayne being represented.

The banquet Tuesday evening will be a brilliant affair, covers being laid for some seventy-five members and guests.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The Crystal branch of the W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Solon Lenfesty, 2125 Gay street. Mrs. Martha Ridenour, county suprintendent, was present and gave a short talk, complimenting the union on its efficient work during the past year. An interesting feature of the program was the echoes from the state convention, held in Anderson. Mrs. C. J. Russell gave a short talk.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE.

The Intermediate league of the First M. E. church will meet Sunday night at 6:30.

PFLIEGER IS WORRIED OVER WIFE'S CONDITION

Louis J. Pflieger, the man held without bail for shootnig his wife with attempt to kill at Chicago, is growing very restless in his cell at the county jail. His principal fear seems to be that his will die. Although he has not asked for an attorney he is planning his defense when put on trial in Chicago. His first request in the morning and his last in the evening is for the city papers. Although he still insists that he is glad that he shot his wife, he earnestly hopes that she will recover. No word as to the woman's condition has been received today, but the last report stated that she was in a critical condition. Officials from Chicago to take Pflieger back are expected Monday.

A SACRED RIGHT, MAYBE.

Washington, Nov. 10.—While awaiting a court decision on whether it violates the bone dry law for a traveler to carry liquor into a prohibition territory as part of personal baggage, Attorney General Gregory has ordered that searches of baggage by federal agents without warrant shall cease at once. The department of justice contends that such transportation of liquor does violate the bone dry law, but wants a court decision.

DRUGGISTS BAN BOOZE DOPE.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 10.—Wholesale druggists of North and South Carolina, Florida and Georgia, in convention today, adopted a resolution pledging themselves to discontinue the sale of proprietary medicines which they are led to believe are substitutes for liquor.

NEW BONDS BELOW PAR.

New York, Nov. 10.—The new United States liberty bonds 4 per cents broke under par for the first time today on the stock exchange when the price fell to 99.98. Sales ranged from single bonds of $1,000 to blocks of $72,000.

FARMER MAY DIE OF HURTS.

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 10.—Thomas Bennett, 54, a farmer residing near this city, had his right arm crushed so badly that amputation may be necessary, and sustained internal injuries that may prove fatal when thrown from a wagon when the team he was driving ran away. Bennett was driving into the city with a loaded wagon when the horses took fright.

FIGHTERS PLAY FOOTBALL.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The Great Lakes naval training station football team arranged today to play the eleven from the officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan, at Stag field on Thanksgiving day for a war charity. Both teams are composed of former collegians, several of whom are stars of western conference elevens.

FIRST WIFE AND MOTHER TO GIVE HER HUSBAND TO NATIONAL ARMY

Mrs. William Brownlow and her son of Elmira, N. Y. Mrs. Brownlow is the first wife and mother to give her husband to the new national army. Her husband sailed with Base Hospital No. 4. It was the unit that was received by the king and queen at Buckingham palace. She is living on a soldier's salary and thus is contributing her bit to the defeat of the central powers.

ANTWERP NEWS.

Revival meetings have been commenced by the Church of God, at the auditorium of the town hall. Services every evening. Rev. R. O. Marsh, evangelist, of Salamonia, Ind., will have the meetings in charge.

Paulding does not seem to desire saloons, as the town voted wet by ninety-three votes.

C. M. Hudson, formerly engaged in the grocery business at Paulding, but now a successful bean farmer near Jackson, Mich., sends a barrel of produce to W. B. and N. E. Harper. Among the contents was a bunch of potatoes, twelve in number, all grown together. The curiosity has been placed on exhibition in the window of the W. B. Harper grocery.

Michael Ryan, of Tiffin, O., who has been visiting near this place the guest of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jahn Ryan, south of town, departed Thursday for Champaign, Ill., where he will visit relatives for a short time.

Mrs. John Donat has gone to Spencerville, Ind., where she will be a guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Beerbour, and family, for a few days.

Mrs. Claud Liggett, of Clarion, Mich., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Ossie Yahne, in the home of Mrs. Sophia Seeley on Canal street. Mrs. Liggett will be better known here as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Cutting, at one time residents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Geyer, living near section 8, were passengers to Fort Wayne, Friday, from there going to Cissna Park, Ill., where they will visit his brother, George Geyer, and family.

The final figures give Paulding county's subscription to the Liberty Loan as being $152,150.

Three citizens of Latty, Dr. A. H. Mouser, A. M. Crosby and Oscar Holtsberry have gone to the wilds of Michigan on a three weeks' hunting trip.

B. A. Zeigler's new brick residence is nearing completion.

John Greer has made extensive improvements to his home on Woodcox street. The house has been put on a concrete and block foundation, a new roof, a fine porch, etc. The exterior also has been nicely painted and now presents a handsome appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Graham, of Paulding, have received a card from their son, Stanley, announcing his safe arrival in France.

That Dowell has returned from Colorado, where he has been ranching the past two years. He has sold his homestead near Timpas, which he took up when he first went there.

The Stiver Canning factory, northwest of town, has been merged into a stock company. Although this was a backward season the factory did a fine business. The output has grown each year, but there is a ready market for it all, and more, at good prices.

COAL DEALERS MEET.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 10.—Twenty Jay county coal dealers at a business meeting last evening in the Commercial association rooms with John W. Holmes, fuel administrator, gave an accounting of the amount of coal on hand, the amount in transit and the amount needed by Jay county residents. Each Thursday Mr. Holmes will receive word from the state fuel administrator, Evans Woolen, stating just how much he may have for the county. Jay county had little coal on hand, but it is thought that enough will be shipped here to relieve the shortage soon.

WILL LEAVE HICKSVILLE.

Hicksville, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Dr. N. H. Jackson, has received a telegram from Dr. Dixon, president of the State Epileptic Farm colony at Wahjamega, Mich., stating that he had been appointed resident physician of that institution. The position is one of much responsibility and a decided honor to the one receiving same. He will enter upon his new duties in the near future. Dr. and Mrs. Jackson have been in Hicksville a number of years. The doctor has built up a good practice. The family is prominent in social circles and will be greatly missed from the activities of our little town.

HUNTINGTON GIRL MISSING.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 10.—Wilma Good, age thirteen years, is missing from the home of her mother, Mrs. Ina Enck, and the only clew to her disappearance is the supposition that she left Huntington last Wednesday with a woman member of the Boyle Woolfolk tabloid troupe, which played "The Sunny Side of Broadway" at the Huntington theater last Friday and Saturday.

CLOSING FESTIVITIES FOR HEALTH WEEK

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 10.—The closing festivities for health week were held Friday evening when an excellent program of addresses and music was given at the high school auditorium. Dr. Arthur Estabrook, of Cold Springs, N. Y., spoke on "War and the Many Effects on the Community," and a talk on Red Cross work was given by J. L. Feiser, director of the civilian relief of the lake district. The Carmena club sang several numbers. The health parade was a grand success. The parade, which was in charge of J. A. Jones and U. C. Brouse, formed on East Mitchell street and, headed by the city band, marched to Main street. All the secret orders were represented by floats, all the school children were in the line of march and the literary clubs were riding in gaily decorated automobiles, all with banners suggesting health.

Kendallville Brief Notes.

Mrs. Elva Miller, of Niles City, Mo., and Mrs. George Baucherman and daughter, Ruth, of Three Rivers, Mich., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Dillon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Levy and child, of Minneapolis, Minn., are the guests of Mrs. Levy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Jacobs. They will make this city their home, Mr. Levy becoming identified with the Specialty Case company.

Rev. I. M. McVey and wife, and Rev. J. H. Evans attended the Noble county Sunday school convention at Ligonier Friday.

Rev. Herbert F. Morrill, of Chicago, will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

Miss Florence Elizabeth Baughman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Baughman, and Cyrus J. Helmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helmer, of near South Milford, were united in marriage Thursday evening, at the parsonage of the Evangelical church, Rev. J. H. Evans performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Helmer will make their future home on a farm near South Milford.

One hundred members of the I. O. O. F. from Garrett, Auburn, Butler and Waterloo, attended the interurban meeting here Thursday evening. The Auburn degree team exemplified the work of initiating two candidates. A banquet and social time followed the work.

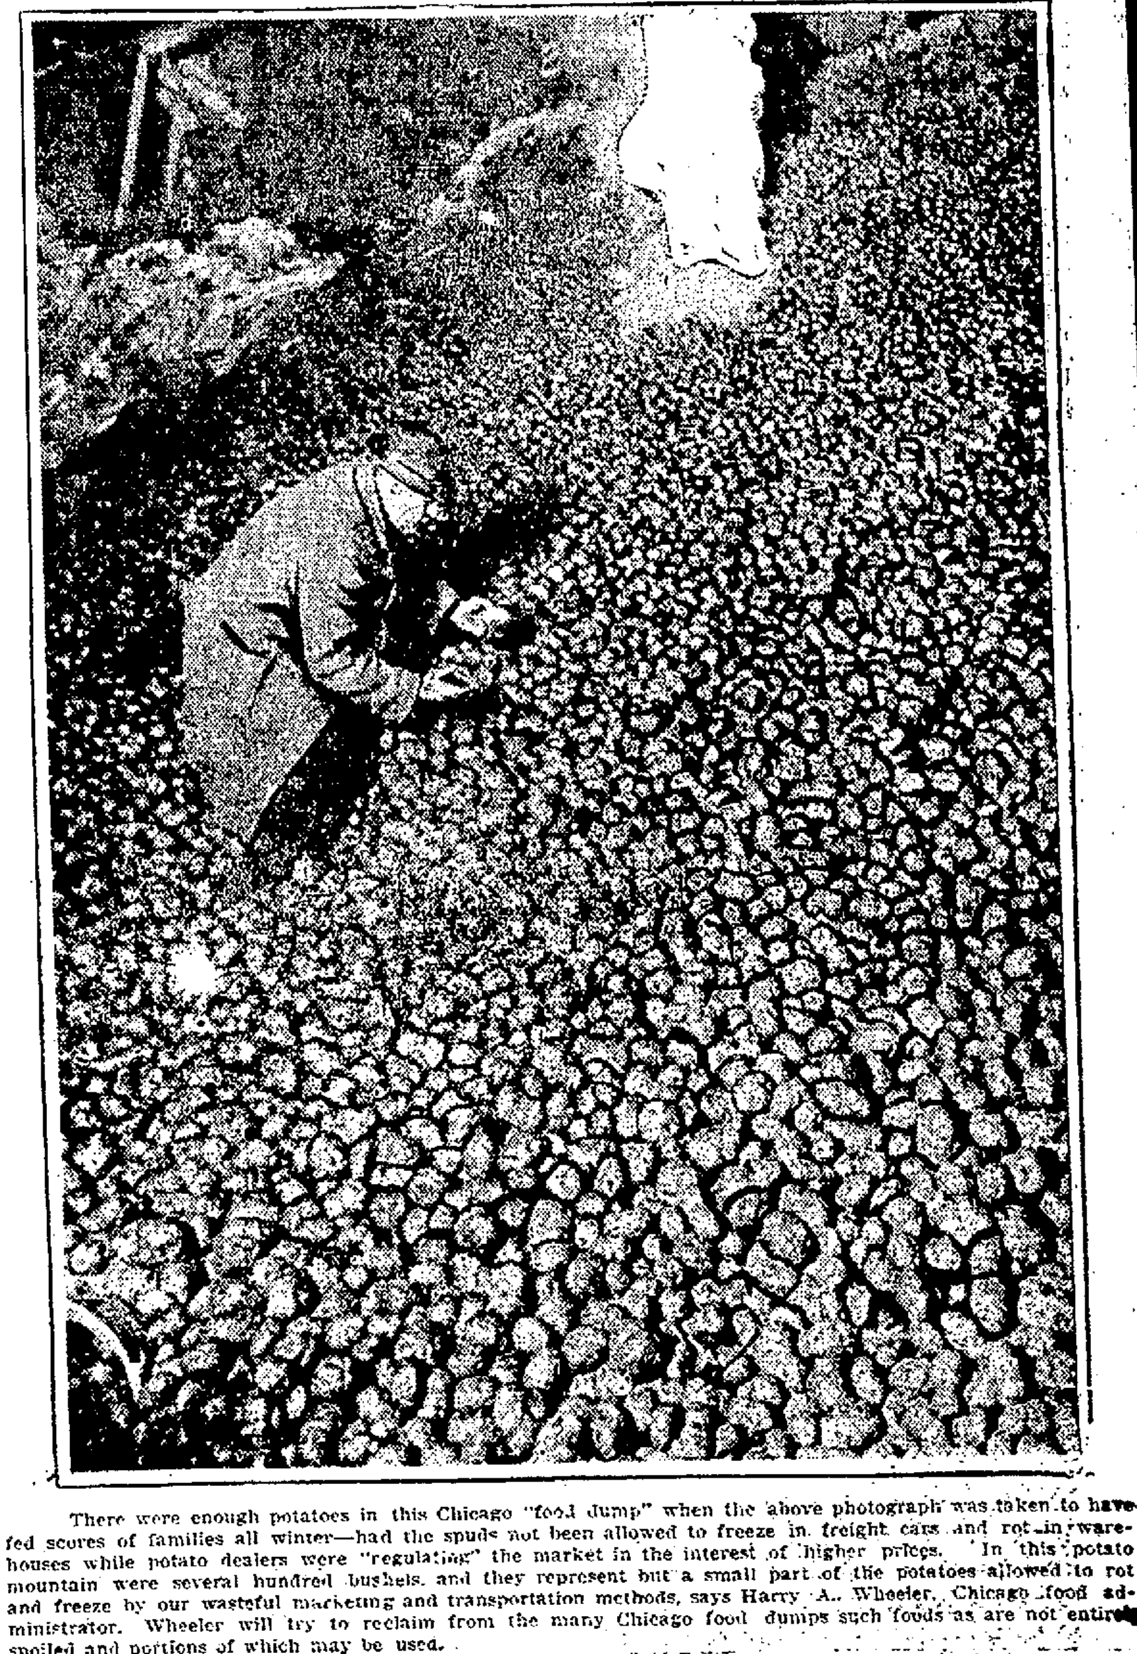
POTATOES WASTED—A WHOLE MOUNTAIN OF 'EM!



There were enough potatoes in this Chicago "food dump" when the above photograph was taken to have fed scores of families all winter—had the spuds not been allowed to freeze in freight cars and rot in warehouses while potato dealers were "regulating" the market in the interest of higher prices. In this potato mountain were several hundred bushels, and they represent but a small part of the potatoes allowed to rot and freeze by our wasteful marketing and transportation methods, says Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago food administrator. Wheeler will try to reclaim from the many Chicago food dumps such foods as are not entirely spoiled and portions of which may be used.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1917.

TWO KINDS OF SUFFRAGISTS.

The Alice Paul coterie of lady monomaniacs whose members are trying to starve themselves to death in the Washington jail offer rather a sorry picture as contrasted with the rational suffragists. For some eight or nine months the so-called militants of the Congressional union have been picketing the White House, annoying the president, inciting riots and defying the police. The notion, of course, is that if they can make themselves sufficiently intolerable as nuisances the federal suffrage amendment resolution will be passed by congress. So far they have contrived to get nowhere but to jail and workhouse.

Arrest, conviction, fine and imprisonment are essential parts of their program. Their propaganda without those incidents would be a great futility. There is no martyrdom in being unmolested. "Mankind would little note nor long remember" that a few scores of silly women had sauntered about the White House gates toting banners for twelve months or twenty months and got no rise out of the police. Nothing in that to make a chapter of history or weave into epitaphs. To be pinched, to be polluted with prison soil and offended with prison garb and prison fare define the necessities of their case. The exaggerated ego feeds itself better on coarse food than upon dainties and delicacies. Miss Paul and her comrades would have been greatly disappointed and treacherously circumvented had the jail authorities not stupidly provided them with the makings of a hunger strike. That filled the bill, or at any rate the bill was filled when the prison doctor began forcibly to pipeline nourishment to Miss Paul's flouted stummy.

And there they are—some of them in jail and some of them tramping about the White House. Meanwhile suffrage has won a signal triumph in the greatest state of the union, and that, too, by the help of President Wilson. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and a number of other leaders of the rational suffragists have just been at the White House to thank President Wilson for the aid he gave them in New York and to ask him to place his influence behind the Anthony amendment in congress. And perhaps he will do that. We somehow have the notion that when congress assembles Mr. Wilson will have seen his way to advance the cause of suffrage that wise, for he is a true advocate of suffrage for women. When he shall have done so and the amendment shall have been sent forth for ratification by the states, you will not have to get your ear to the ground to hear the triumphant shriek of Miss Paul and the balance of the Silly Sally sisterhood.

"We did it! Our martyrdom melted the heart of the Philistine! We marched for it, we braved the storm for it, we defied the police for it, we were noisomely immured for it, we starved ourselves for it, through us and alone through us the holy cause of woman has advanced with victorious tread to the goal God set for it." This or words to that effect will resound and perhaps there may be a distorted chapter of history and some epitaphs after all.

And history may have a hard time presenting and posterity may encounter difficulty understanding that Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Frances Willard, Carrie Chapman Catt, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and their devoted sisters of the sane and regal democracy of womanhood ever were anything but a lot of shrilling and irritating hussies who could make a noise but were wanting in the courage to do and die to strike the shackles from the bond woman of a continent; whereas, Miss Alice Paul had been fed with a pump and could proudly show her police record.

ANARCHY OF CIVIL WAR.

It is important to keep in mind that all the news issuing now from Russia proceeds through German channels or is passed from Petrograd by the Bolsheivik faction now in control of the capital. The situation may be nowhere near the discouraging status these accounts picture, but even the most optimistic construction placed upon events is grave enough.

Russian diplomats and other agents of the provisional government of Russia now in this country and other nations of the allied cause take pains to assure the world that the Bolshevikis that have deposed the Kerensky government are in control only of Petrograd, are not so numerous and not at all so strong as these startling incidents of the week seem to indicate and join in a prediction that the more moderate element that has been overthrown will be able to reassert itself and bring about order.

This must be the general hope, but it is a hope in which no great confidence can be felt. Only a change in the situation can make the world feel any relief as to Russia. The outlook is better for a reign of anarchy with such concomitants of disorder, violence and nameless excesses as the extinction of strong authority inevitably must bring, or the perhaps worse horrors of civil war. Russia is in area the greatest country on the globe and the most populous of all Caucasian lands. What may come when that agglomeration of races and tribes that had been forcibly knit together in what until last spring was the Russian empire begins to stir with the pains of disintegration or to clash with the social, political and radical animosities certain to be heated by the clashing of purposes and prejudices it is not difficult to imagine.

The description of men who have seized the reins of power in the capital is not of the kind that can rule one hundred and eighty millions of mixed peoples. The man Lenine is an anarchist agitator whose statesmanship is in his mouth. He is stirring the mass with promises of land and a division of wealth. That merely serves to get him his strength of a following. How he shall control the populace, bring order out of the chaos that is developing and procure the obedience of those weltering masses to that authority without which there can be no state is something he is not now taking into account. The very nature of his appeal is the thing that will accomplish the undoing of his plan.

The hope of the future for Russia lies immediately in the army. Part of the army is in a state of defection and all of it may be susceptible. If Kerensky means to resist the counter-revolution and attempt to re-establish the authority of the provisional government he cannot accomplish that without force and force means civil war. If Kerensky can rally no sufficient part of the army to the older standard of the revolution, events must have their way under such auspices as the anarchism of Lenine and the Bolshevik may provide. Nothing would be quite so promising of effectual measures against the grotesque pretension of the red propaganda of the Bolshevik as that General Korniloff were at liberty to rally his Cossacks to the banners of rational democracy and regulated order.

The psychologic phases of the food and the fuel situation are in one respect unlike. Prices of food have produced fretfulness. The prices of coal, though similarly exorbitant, are little considered. Coal will be taken gladly at almost any price. The difference doubtless is due to the difference of situations. Food is no wise scarce, if we except a depletion of sugar supplies in the east, while coal is hard to obtain and in some regions is doled out by the bushel under authority that there may be a little relief for all who suffer. But this situation ought not to encourage coal dealers to suppose the psychologic aspects may not undergo a change when the sharper edge of the coal shortage shall have been blunted by increased supplies. The average man will be as ready to protest the price of fuel as of food when he no longer has anything as to fuel to fret him but the price.

If Russia is seriously going about it to establish an anarchism it will help in some respects. There will be a place for all the cranks, kickers, grouches, soreheads and freaks of every kind and description to fly to for refuge. This country has a good sprinkling of them and it will be the one bully place to which to banish those dangerous pests that are known as the I. W. W.'s.

Mr. Kerensky saw it coming and lost no time in getting away. That may have been merely a case of safety first, but we suspect that the young premier will soon be faring back to Petrograd at the head of an army with banners that is willing to fight Russian anarchy even if it feels rather sweet toward Prussian autocracy.

"ALL WE CAN."

We should save for liberty
All we can;
We should help democracy
All we can;
We should pinch the dollar till
It squawks out against its will—
In this way bump Kaiser Bill
All we can!

We should learn to eat less food—
All we can;
We should make corn meal taste good—
All we can;
We should substitute for wheat,
We should cut down on our meat,
And of candy never eat
All we can!

We should wear much cheaper suits—
All we can;
We should buy those paper boots—
All we can;
We should use our underwear
Till there isn't any there;
We should go—well, rather bare—
All we can!

We should keep our faces firm—
All we can;
While we pot the frightful Germ
All we can;
We should see this war thing through,
Brave and cheery, strong and true;
Let us do things—let us do
All we can!

OVER THE PRECIPICE

By THE HON. L. S. ROWE,
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

No sailor who risks his life on Uncle Sam's merchant fleet of today or on his far greater fleet of tomorrow need fear that he will leave those dependent on him penniless. Uncle Sam has decreed that he can not leave them penniless, even if he would. Months ago the government realized that these merchant sailors were the country's real advance guard, its sea skirmish line, sent forth, first of all, in advance of the army and even of the navy, to draw the German fire, daily and hourly, without uniforms and without cheers, as a mere matter of duty. It was decided that the men who did this were really as much a part of the national service as were the army and navy, and it made prompt provision for the care of their families in case they were lost or captured. Only two months after war was declared congress wrote into law a merchant-sailor-insurance clause under which the treasury department stands ready to lessen, as far as money can, the effects of their loss upon their families. This provision passed almost unnoticed by the country, whose attention was centered on the insurance of the ships rather than on that of the sailors. But the families of the twenty-one men who have since perished have reason to note the difference and to bless the law, as has also the wife of Captain Oliver, of the steamship Campana, who was carried away to Germany as a prisoner. For all of these it spells the difference between comfort and penury.

Under the government plan a blanket policy is written providing for the insurance of the master, the officers, and the crew of every ship that sails from an American port to the war zone, and vice versa, in an amount equal to twelve times their monthly wages plus all bonuses, and providing further that no individual insurance shall be for less than $1,500 or more than $5,000. The policy also provides that the full amount shall be paid not only for death but also for permanent disability, or for the loss of both hands, arms, feet, legs, or eyes. For lesser injuries from 45 to 65 per cent. of the principal sum is to be paid.

Nor are prisoners forgotten. Uncle Sam recognizes his liability to families that are temporarily deprived of their breadwinners as much as to those that are permanently deprived. No American sailor need eat his heart out in prison wondering how his family is managing to live. Uncle Sam will pay them his full wages until such time as the total amount paid shall equal the principal sum for which he was insured.

Death awards are paid to the estate of the insured for distribution to his family free of all liability for debt. Awards for injury are paid only to the insured himself, and awards for imprisonment are held for him, unless he himself has directed to whom they are to be paid. No attorney or claim agent is necessary to aid in the collection of Uncle Sam's insurance, and none is entitled to receive any payment for helping to collect it, except where the liability is contested by the government and is tried in a United States district court. Then the judge may award the attorney not more than 10 per cent. of the amount secured.

The provision as to contested cases is necessary, though Uncle Sam has no thought of contesting death losses. His whole intention is exactly the opposite. But everybody knows that there are cases where men have disappeared at sea and have turned up later with marvelous tales of their escape. Since the war began not a few sailors and passengers from torpedoed ships have come back after being given up for dead, and so long as human nature remains what it is there will always be a few men who would not hesitate to impose on their dear avuncular relative if occasion offered and to stay away from home until their insurance had been collected—and spent. It is for such cases as these that Uncle Sam is forced to be prepared.

At the time this article was written, however, no such case had even been suspected. Only two ships have been sunk with loss of life since the law went into effect. One of these, the Kansan, sank in seven minutes with the loss of four men, insured for a total of $7,200; and there is no question as to their fate. The other steamer, the Montano, was torpedoed in broad daylight and sank in one minute.

Insurance is compulsory. It is not left to the memory of men who might forget or be unwilling. But it is not a gift. Uncle Sam considers that shipowners who are getting rich out of the enormous freight rates they are charging owe something to the families of the men who do the work for them when these men are "scuppered and left in the lurch."

The law provides that if the owners of any vessel traversing the war zone fail to insure the master, officers, and crew before the ship goes to sea the secretary of the treasury may take out insurance for them with the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance and may further fine the owners not more than $1,000 to help them to remember next time; and may also charge his interest both on the premium and on the fine.

In the early days of the law an American schooner with a complement of 20 men slipped off to sea from New York without being insured. The insurance to be paid was more than $50,000, and the owners "just forgot" to put up the premium. But the collector of the port did not forget. He reported the case to the treasury, and the secretary took out the insurance and called on the owners to make good. However, as it was a first offense, the secretary let them off with a fine of $500 (and the premium, of course.) The insurance referred to did not cover the hull, and as there was no loss of life no payment was made.

This case and one or two very recent ones that are still under investigation are the only ones known in which neglect or confusion has imperiled the standing of the crews; and as the government keeps very close tab on all sailings and arrivals it is unlikely that any others will get through.

The losses since war insurance went into effect have not been great. From June 26 to August 31, the complements of 119 steamers and 27 sailing vessels were insured by the government for a total value of nearly $16,000,000. These ships carried nearly 10,000 sailors. Total losses incurred, approximately $40,000.

Three steamers, the Kansan, Montano and Campana, and three sailing vessels, the Carmela, Augustus Welt, and Laura C. Anderson, were destroyed—about one steamer in every forty, and one sailing ship in every nine. All the men lost were on the Kansan and the Montano. Capt. Albert Oliver, of the Campana, was taken prisoner; and the bureau has arranged to pay the first monthly installment of $337.50 to his wife, and will continue to pay this amount during detention for the next year.

ONE CAUSE FOR HAPPINESS.

(Statesville, (N. C.) Landmark.)

In these days of bounding prices it's a joy to find something on which the price is stationary, or has decreased. It's a cause of happiness provided we are not interested in the sale of that something. If we are interested as a seller, then the condition is all wrong, and the country's going to the bad. The cause for joy right now is the statement that turpentine, which formerly sold for $1.10 a gallon, now sells for 45 cents. When the price got to $1.10 the paint people cut out turpentine in mixing paints and substituted mineral oils, hence the drop in price. As nobody hereabouts owns turpentine distilleries we can feel good over the decrease in price. When we're gloomy and grouched over the high cost of things, buy a gallon of turpentine, save 65 cents and be happy—provided you don't have to drink the turpentine.

HIS AMBITION.

(Toledo Blade.)

The editor of a Jerusalem newspaper declares that the kaiser has been plotting to get control of all Asia.

Taking thought of the Prussian plots which recently have been exposed, it would seem as if Asia was only an unimportant division of Emperor Wilhelm's ambition. What he really desires is Europe, Africa, Australia, Asia, America from Halifax to Hell-for-Sartin, the starry constellations and the keys to heaven.

The kaiser's yearnings are not pikers.

EDISON'S FAVORITE PURSUIT.

(Tit-Bits.)

Thomas A. Edison's favorite pursuit is chemistry. Even as a boy telegraphist getting his first start towards a career, this inclination was manifest in his experiments with batteries and electric devices, and it still remains his greatest pleasure.

His laboratory is splendidly equipped. Every known substance ranging through all the kingdoms of matter from lanthanum to shark's teeth and including over 200,000 specimens, is kept on hand for immediate availability. It is a collection of over thirty years' standing, encouraged from time to time by prizes for new additions offered by the inventor to his men.

His own laboratory table is never, in any circumstances, allowed to be touched. A notice posted on the doorway roads to the effect that Mr. Edison is not to be disturbed in the course of his experiments except for matters of the utmost importance. So fond is he of his beloved pastime that he declares his idea of heaven is to be able to continue it, and his injunctions to his staff are: "When I die I want my table forwarded to me by wireless."

There is little doubt but that the pickpocket arrested here Saturday evening is one of a gang of Chicago toughs who have been operating in Indiana for the past few weeks. The gang followed the political demonstrations working each town in turn as it chanced to have a rally. At Goshen they made a big haul of watches and at Elkhart they got a number of fine watches and considerable money.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

REV. GEHL DELIVERS AN ELOQUENT SERMON

Forty Hours of Devotion Opens at St. Peter's Church Friday.

An immense congregation heard Rev. Gehl in an eloquent sermon delivered by him at St. Peter's church at the evening service of forty hour devotion Friday evening, which opened with solemnity Friday morning. The eloquent missionary engaged by the rector, Rev. Charles H. Thiele, was heard by an immense congregation, both at the morning and evening services. For the evening services he chose his text, (St. John 6:59) the words of the Savior: This is the bread that came down from heaven.

Forty hours of devotion opened at St. Peter's church Friday morning with solemn mass and procession. Rev. Michael Aichinger, pastor of Immaculate Conception church, at Auburn, Ind., was celebrant. Rev. Eugene J. Gehl, missionary of St. Francis, Wis., was deacon. Rev. John Dapp, of St. Peter's, sub-deacon and Rev. Charles H. Thiele, the rector, was master of ceremonies.

A large number of St. Peter's school children dressed in white and bearing flowers participated in the imposing services.

Saturday morning masses were held at 5:15, 6 and 7 o'clock and high mass at 9 o'clock. This afternoon from 1:30 till 2:30 o'clock the holy hour was observed. Evening services will take place at 7:45 o'clock consisting of the recitation of the litany of the Holy Name followed by services and benediction of the most blessed sacrament.

Sunday mass will be celebrated at 6, high mass at 7, children's mass at 9 and solemn high mass at 10:30 o'clock. There will be a solemn observance of the holy hour in the afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock and in the evening at 7:45 will occur the closing of the devotion of forty hours.

ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION IS HELD

The Allen County Sunday School association held its yearly meeting at the Plymouth Congregational church on Thursday, all day and evening.

The forenoon was given to the receiving of reports and appointing committees, followed by an address by Mrs. S. Lemen, of the state Sunday school boarr. The afternoon speaker, Mr. Tunnison, chose as subject, "Some Teen-Age Problems." The nominating committee recommended Hartwell Gosney for president, and the recommendation was unanimously accepted.

A special committee consisting of Rev. Hostetter, Rev. Borkett, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Pool and Rev. Tomes, were appointed with power to work in conjunction with the president-elect and other officers of the organization.

Rev. Laudeman delivered the address of the evening on "Preparation for the Work of the Kingdom." The Sahara quartette delivered several selections which were enjoyed by all present.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE Y. W. C. A.

Over 600,000 Women Will Observe World Fellowship Week Nov. 11 to 18.

From November 11 to 18, inclusive, over six hundred thousand women will be observing World Fellowship Week in the Young Women's Christian associations of the world.

The local Y. W. C. A., 325 West Wayne street, want the people of Fort Wayne to realize that the Young Women's Christian association is a great factor in making the world safe for women.

Our foreign sisters see the need of the Y. W. C. A. and the people of Canton, China, determined to have an association. Five years ago they started their own organization, then appealed to the national board for help. Today they have their own Cantonese secretary, educated in the United States.

We have especial interest in South America and during the coming week every woman in Fort Wayne is asked to go the Y. W. C. A. and learn of the work on Buenos Aires. The "poster" in the lobby will be a "first aid" to the uninformed and a reminder to the initiated.

MENNONITE CHURCH.

Revival meetings in progress are of much help to the church. They will continue throughout next week. Sunday services will be as follows: Sunday school will meet at 10 A. M. At 11 A. M. Evangelist Abram Metzh will speak on the subject: "The Church and Her Mission." At 2:30 P. M. he will speak on the subject: "Relation of Men and Women in the Lord," and at 8 P. M. on the subject: "The Second Coming of Christ."

GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL MONTH IS A SUCCESS

Attendance Increased as Result of Campaign Waged During October.

Statistics just completed by the City Sunday School association, show that the campaign waged during the month of October brought an increased attendance to almost all the schools that reported to the association, and new life and better organization to the schools throughout the city.

The best reports came from the Grace Reformed school, showing an increase over the corresponding Sundays of last year of 78.8%; Westminster Presbyterian, second, with 30.6%; and the Third Presbyterian followed with 24.7%.

The mass meeting was well attended, and the West Jefferson Church of Christ takes the honor of having the largest per cent. of workers present with 44 1-7%. The Third Presbyterian had the largest delegation, bringing 12.1% of their enrollment.

SOCIETY

Musical attractions are the order the coming week. The appearance in the city of the San Carlo Grand Opera company at the Palace theater on Wednesday evening is so momentous an event that few will resist attending it if they want to go. An explanation of the opera with musical passages from it will be given in Elks' hall on Monday evening. Both entertainments are under the auspices of the Morning Musical society. The opera to be given is "Aida." On Thursday night three members of the Royal Welsh Concert company will be heard in recital in the First M. E. church. There is a baritone, a tenor and a soprano who accompanies the other two singers in the company. These artists, who are Ben Davies, the tenor; Gwen Richards, soprano, and Risca Williams, baritone, were among the survivors of the world famed Royal Gwent Welsh singers saved from the Lusitania disaster. The admission charge for this concert is not large.

YOUNG WOMEN ASSISTING IN CHARITY BAZAR

MISS MARIE LANDENBERGER.

MRS. HARRY G. HOGAN.

Mrs. Harry G. Hogan and Miss Marie Landenberger are two of the young women who are busy these days in planing for the charity bazaar which will be held in the Anthony hotel on November 30, in the evening. The proceeds of the entertainment, which is under the management of the Sophie B. Wright society, will be given to the Visiting Nurse league. Aside from the booths of fancy and useful things for sale there will be a fortune telling booth where one may get a bit of the real reading of the future. Good music has been negaged for the evening.

WITH THE STUDY CLUBS

The Woman's Reading club will meet on Tuesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. to sew for the Red Cross.

The Fortnightly club will have a meeting on Monday evening at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Perley Weaver. A paper on "Evolution" will be read by Mrs. Weaver. On the discussion are named Mrs. Ella Wilding, F. B. Shoaff, Dr. W. D. Calvin and Dr. G. W. McCaskey. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance comes up.

The meeting of the Bay View Study club next week has been changed from Tuesday to Monday and Mrs. A. C. Paulsen, 1609 East Wayne street, will be the hostess. There will be a review of "Mr. Britling Sees It Through" and a reading of "Woman's Part in Government."

There will be a meeting of the Saturday club with Mrs. A. H. Perfect on Monday afternoon.

Ladies of the Travel club are asked to go to the meeting on Monday afternoon with Mrs. F. G. Gauntt. Members are requested to bring their sewing bags with them, as Red Cross work is to be done at each meeting.

The Thursday Shakespeare club has decided to devote all its time to Red Cross work and devoted the time last Thursday afternoon to a sewing at the home of Mrs. A. K. Remmel.

The Round Table will meet on Monday with Miss Barva. "Our Problem With the Black Race" is the subject for a paper and discussion.

The General Culture club will hold its meeting on Thursday with Mrs. W. C. Duglay. The Monroe doctrine and woman's work in municipalities are topics to be discussed.

The attention of all Morning Musical members is again called to the lecture-recital to be given in Elks' hall next Monday evening, preparatory to hearing the San Carlo Opera company's presentation of "Aida" at the Palace theater on the following Wednesday evening.

The South Side Reading club will meet on Tuesday evening with Mrs. G. W. Knauss, 1239 Parkdale drive. This is a change from the previous announcement.

Limit Meals to One a Day to Be Willowy

It isn't training the voice which makes so many grand opera singers—well, fat. It's because they eat too much food too many times a day, take too little exercise and live easy-going lives.

This is the "inside stuff" which Mme. Margarete Matzenauer, famous contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company gave on her arrival in Los Angeles recently.

Mme. Matzenaur knew she could afford to make this comment, for her own appearance, due to her striking height, is of slenderness. She revealed her secret when she admitted that formerly she was—say heavier. Dieting, however, reduced her proportions.

"It's simple," she explained. "I eat all I want, but I'm careful not to choose fatty foods. Most artists eat irregularly. When they finish a performance at night they are ravenously hungry. They eat heavily and then sleep. My only heavy meal is at noon. I take some tea in the afternoon and a light lunch at night."

It is this formula, she says, that has enabled Mme. Matzenauer to win the reputation she has gained for versatility. Her latest demonstration of this quality was in a recent appearance as Carmen, when she stepped in at the Metropolitan at a moment's notice and gave an unrehearsed interpretation of the Spanish cigarette girl.

The subject of greatest interest to Mme. Metzenauer at this time is the question of her nationality. At present she is a Hungarian; formerly she was a subject of Italy, according to the Italian code which makes the wife of an Italian also a crown subject. Her divorce, however, restored her allegiance to Austria-Hungary, the nation of her birth.

Steps already have been taken, however, to give her American citizenship. She declares the United States is her real home, and that she will take out naturalization papers as soon as possible.—Los Angeles Express.

KEEPING ROOT VEGETABLES BY STORING AT HOME.

The United States department of agriculture provides these suggestions for storing root vegetables:

"Potatoes are kept without difficulty in a cool, dry and dark place. Sprouts should not be allowed to grow in the spring.

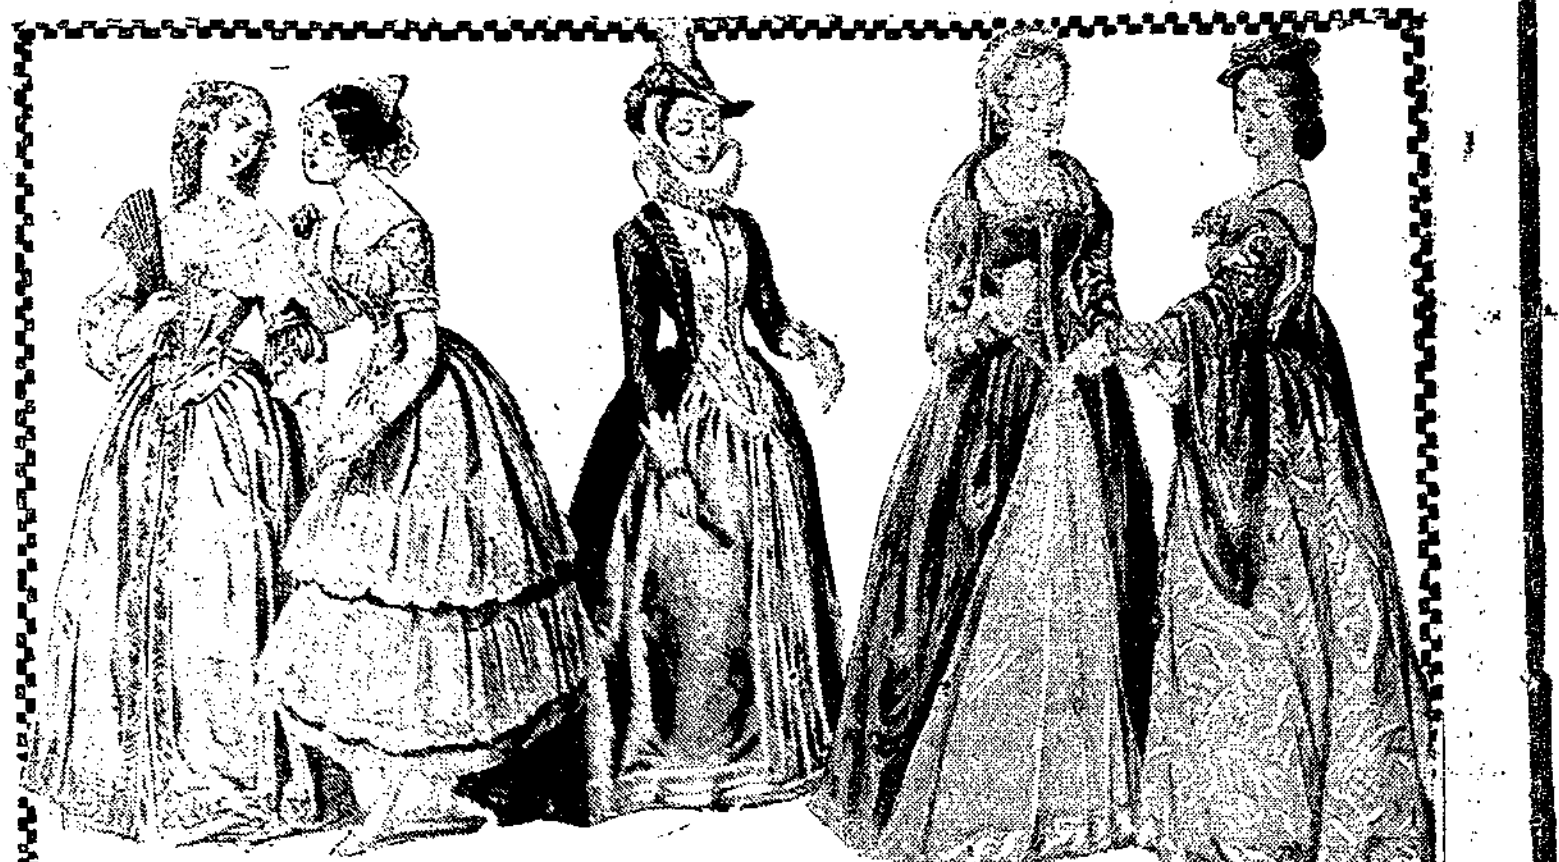
"Sweet potatoes may be kept until January if cleaned, dried and packed in chaff so that they will not touch each other.

"Carrots, turnips, parsnips and beets remain plump and fresh if placed in earth or sand filled boxes on the cellar flor. Remove the tops before burying these vegetables."

Cabbage, although a green vegetable, is the most conspicuous rival of root vegetables. Cabbages should be placed in barrels with the roots uppermost.

Pumpkins and squash are also a part of the fall treasure which must be given a place in the cellar. To keep well, they should be thoroughly ripe, should be placed on shelves well separated from each other, and should be wiped with a cloth occasionally

FAMILY TREE OF ANCIENT FASHION TRANSPLANTED TO THE UNITED STATES



BY BETTY BROWN.

The curious looking ladies pictured today are the great-great-grandmothers of American fashions!

Straight from the huge photograph album that illustrates the family tree of fashion come these fascinating pictures of the court ladies who roamed through the romantic castle corridors of the sixteenth century.

The treasured volumes, of which there are several, were sold to the American for the sum of $150,000. The purchaser considers them so valuable that he is bringing them to America a few at a time so that should the ship bearing them be lost the whole collection would not be destroyed. The owner will present the books to the Metropolitan Museum of Art or the public library, where they will be accessible to American designers and students of history and art. The books contain pictures of costumes worn ass early as 600 A. D.

The first two costumes are ball gowns of the period of Louis XIV., about 1588. They were known as "a collets debodres"—that is, having deep bordering collars of lace falling over the shoulder and upper arm. The richest lace was used lavishly on all costumes and bows of ribbon appeared profusely, on the sleeves, on skirts, in their hair, or wherever they could be applied. The dressing of the hair was a matter of great moment.

One of the ladies displays a shower of ringlets about her face and neck, and the other's polished waves end in a great knot reinforced with a lace ruffle and an enormous filigree comb. The tiny, pointed bodices were the idols of their early French hearts.

In all these costumes is seen the popularity of what we know as the "hoop-skirt," but which the French called the "vertugadin." These enormous skirts were constructed of circles of iron, wood, or whalebone sewn inside the skirt.

The "coches," direct ancestor of the modern corset, was framed of strips of wood, and later of whalebone.

The central figure is a costume of 1590 and except for the "leg-of-mutton" sleeves and the starched ruff, it is like the "church-bell" fashions which followed it. This was an English costume of the Elizabethan mode.

The last two figures are earlier by twenty-five years. They have low cut bodices and flowing, "angel sleeves," which are returning to favor in present-day fashions. The jeweled objects depending from the heavy carved chains at the belt are mirrors.

We sometimes smile at the fantastic names modern designers give to the colors of the season, but we discover that the early costumers could equal our 1917 "field-mouse gray," "deer-brown" and "beet-root red" with even greater flights of fancy in their "rat-color," "widow's joy," "envenomed monkey" and "chimney-sweep!"

MUNCIE MINISTER TO PREACH AT GARRETT

Rev. Eddie Thomas to Participate in Services at Methodist Church.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., Nov. 10.—Rev. Eddie Thomas, of Muncie, Ind., the well known evangelist who conducted a successful revival meeting in this city last winter, will be present at the morning Sunday school and church service at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning and participate in the services. Rev. Thomas has many friends in this city who will nudoubtedly take advantage of this opportunity of hearing him again. The attendance contest which is on between the schools of Auburn, Kendallville and this city, is becoming very interesting and is the means of getting many people out to Sunday school. Auburn has won the flag for three Sundays and Garrett is determined to win next Sunday. A committee is busy inviting all who do not attend elsewhere to be present Sunday morning and help Garrett win. By going to Sunday school we start the day right and show our interest in the betterment of our community.

Garrett Short Notes.

The Xmas boxes to be sent to the Garrett boys who are in France will be shipped Saturday. The boys are being remembered by the Pocahontas Camp Fire Girls of this city and not only the boys abroad but all of the Garrett boys who are in Uncle Sam's service in this country will receive a nice remembrance from these patriotic girls.

The juniors of the Garrett high school sprung one on the seniors when they put up a flag on the staff at the high school building Tuesday. The sight of their "inferiors" flag rather infuriated the wise seniors, so they proceeded to put one over on the juniors and did succeed in getting it down. Late that night the seniors climbed the staff and tacked their flag up and then treated the pole to a coat of grease. Thursday evening the juniors planned to hold a parade, but owing to the "unexpected detention" of some of their members it was called off. But things reached a happy climax Friday when some of the juniors scaled the pole at the noon hour and took down the senior flag and put up "Old Glory" with the admonition, "Take that down if you dare." Their stunt was greeted with a cheer and the Stars and Stripes were saluted by all. The schools are progressing fine and the feeling of good fellowship that prevails between the faculty and the students is admirable.

George Carroll, former superintendent of the public schools of this city, who has been in the officers' reserve corps at Fort Benjamin Harrison since September 1, has been given the commission of first lieutenant in the balloon division of the signal corps, and will undoubtedly leave for France very soon. Mr. Carroll is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carroll, of East Keyser streen, and his many friends in this city are pleased to learn of his commission.

Mayor J. A. Clevenger and wife entertained the members of the Golf club last evening at their pleasant home on East King street. Thirty members were present and enjoyed a most pleasant evening. Mrs. Clevenger served lunch, after which a smoker was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. George Novinger and children will spend the week end in Chicago as guests of the former's son, Karl, who is in the great lakes training station.

Mrs. James Barge and daughter, Miss Ruth, are spending a few days with friends in Toledo and Detroit.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brown gave them a surprise party Friday evening in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The guests were all masked and took along a pot luck supper.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM OF SPEECH HAS ITS LIMIT

President Schurman, of Cornell, Says Treason Cannot be Uttered.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The doctrine of academic freedom of thought and speech cannot be reconicel with treason or sedition, President Schurman said in his annual report to the Cornell university board of trustees today. The coming year, he said, was likely to test severely the academic devotion to that doctrine. "Perhaps no institution in the land has insisted on it more strenuously than Cornell," he said. "On that account it is especially incumbent on the Cornell community while continuing to adhere inflexibly to their views on academic freedom to recognize the duties and proprieties which the just assertion of this fundamental right necessarily involves especially in time of war. It cannot of course be reconciled with treason or sedition. If it be urged that the abstract right reaches everything beyond that forbidden area, it is proper to point out that the duties of good citizenship may fairly impose voluntary limitations upon the exercise of the right.

"There is a presumption in war time in favor of not embarrassing the government by criticism even when one's private opinion may not coincide with the policy which the government pursues; for the government represents for the time being the will of the nation, and criticism tends to paralyze volition and action. Certainly the nation has a right to expect that every critic shall make it clear that he is for America and not for the enemies of America and that he is not indifferent to the issue for which America contends by force of arms."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

One tablespoonful of turpentine boiled with your white clothes will greatly aid in the whitening.

Scorched stains can be removed at once by rubbing with peroxide; apply until it vanishes and then finish ironing.

Turpentine and soap will remove ink stains from linen.

MAY USE THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY FOR FREIGHT

Use by the government of the Lincoln highway, over which to transport freight across country in motor trucks to relieve the congestion of the railroads, is indicated in a letter received by Governor Cox, of Ohio, from Washington D. C. The letter asks that that part of the highway which is in Ohio be put in good condition by the state for this purpose. Governor Cox has directed the state highway commissioner and the highway advisory board to call a meeting of county commissioners of Columbiana, Stark, Wayne, Richland, Crawford, Wyandotte, Hardin, Allen and Van Wert counties, through which the road passes, to obtain immediate action on the government request. The road in Indiana is said to be in good condition.

TRAIN CLIMBER IS WANTED AT MANSFIELD

Chief of Police Lenz has received a card from Mansfield, O., asking him to apprehend Harry Grimme, wanted at that place for breaking his parole. Grimme was arrested Friday for train-climbing and was ordered held by Judge Kerr to enable the federal authorities to ascertain his age. Grimme, who was arrested here under the name of Murphy, was convicted in January, 1916, for receiving stolen goods. He was paroled on August 18, 1917, and broke his parole in October. He will be delivered to the Mansfield authorities.

Butterflies Useful In Food Conservation

Miss Emily Kutz is a good conserver. Not an eight-hour cook—look at her gown, man—but a stenographer with the food administration. She is a Washington debutante of a couple of seasons ago who got tired of being a social butterfly. Her father, Colonel Charles Kutz, is doing his bit in France.

Sign Your Country's Food Pledge—This Is It:

CUT OUT CAREFULLY ALONG THIS LINE

Pledge Card for United States Food Administration

If You Have Already Signed, Pass This On To a Friend

TO THE FOOD ADMINISTRATOR:

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the Food Administrator in my home, in so far as my circumstances permit.

Name ____________________

Street ____________________

City ____________ State ____________

There are no fees or dues to be paid. The Food Administration wishes to have as members all of those actually handling food in the home.

Anyone may have the Home Card of Instruction, but only those signing pledges are entitled to the Membership Window Card, which will be delivered upon receipt of the signed pledge.

Cut this out carefully and send it to the Federal Food Administrator, Room 20, State House, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Do not send it to Washington. Send it to Indianapolis.

This is the same as the pledge card, and just as official. Do not sign this if you have signed a pledge card. Do not sign a pledge card if you sign this.

When you send this in, with your name and address, you will be sent free: (1) a handsome three-colored window membership card to show that you are trying to live up to the suggestions of the food administration at your house; (2) an interesting and valuable book of suggestions and recipes, entitled "Ten Lessons on Food Conservation"; (3) a wall card to hang in your kitchen, entitled "The Kitchen War Creed," to show you how you can help win the war in your own kitchen if you wish.

And the food administration will mail you other helpful things later, perhaps.

To sign this card is a patriotic privilege. It will make you a leader in your neighborhood in the task of saving certain foods for our soldiers and our allies.

Sign this card. Show Mr. Hoover you are with him. Hang out your window membership card when it comes. Read the interesting literature that will be sent you.

The government is not going to ask for your canned goods or for anything else, because you sign this card. You incur no obligations. You merely promise to study the problem of "food saving to win the war" and do what you can to help

HOW THE WAR WORK FUND OF THE Y. M. C. A. WILL BE USED

During the coming week Fort Wayne and Allen county people will be asked to contribute a total of $45,000 to the war fund of the Y. M. C. A., as a part of the great national movement in which it is expected that $35,000,000 will be raised. How is that money to be used? The question is here answered:

The money that will be given to the Y. M. C. A. by the people of America is for the war fund—not for the Y. M. C. A., for itself.

In other words the Y. M. C. A. places its world wide organization at the service of the American people to aid and protect in mother's and father's way the American boy in the trenches. The law has a phrase of Latin origin "in loco parentis"—"in the place of the parents"—and this the Y. M. C. A. accomplishes. Every Y. M. C. A. secretary is a trained worker among men for men—a leader, a light, a column, to give the soldier boys away from home, homesick, perhaps body sick, a personality to lean on.

A trained worker—there are other organizations fully as anxious to stand by the soldier abroad or away from home—but none that has the trained force to do so. The man who helps the Y. M. C. A. to do the work is relieved of the fear that the money will not do what it is expected to do. The trained workers have been doing for years or have the benefit of the experience and schooling of those experienced and know the short cuts to results better than those who have not had the training and do not have access to the advice of the experienced.

A dollar given to the Y. M. C. A. organization will yield a dollar's worth of benefits. Every man that knows how hard it is to make the dollar pull its worth will appreciate the effectiveness of the Y. M. C. A. machine. With the money for its needs it will wipe out the moral dangers to our soldiers fighting far from home for our liberties and the safety of our women and children against the German war machine of frightfulness.

The Y. M. C. A. houses are called huts but to the soldier they are homes of comfort and convenience when well and for courage and moral support when weary and sick at heart.

The huts have chairs, tables, writing materials, books, magazines, papers, music, games, warmth, light, sociabilities—yes, and postoffices—and they afford the men a clean club for their idle hours. A typewriter is convenient for those who know how to use the machine.

The Y. M. C. A. also provides amusements, entetarinments, movies, dramatic performances, concerts, minstrelsy—as well as religious meetings, Bible classes and lectures.

All these things cost money but your donation does the paying—not the boys in camp.

Paying money for such things for our dear boys fighting and risking their lives for us while we stay at home in comfort is not giving money—it is buying the sweetest satisfaction that the conditions permit. Such a satisfaction is worth self denial in big chunks.

You are warm about your fires and never know hunger—is that true of your boy or your neighbor's boy?

If money you can do without will provide the boy in the battle some comfort—can you rest easy in body or conscience until it is placed in hands that will use it for relief and for comfort?

Gradually the fires of war are melting down, the radical hates and the social differences of the American people. The melting pot never had the heat to merge the elements before. Gradually the American people are becoming one in thought and one in action—gradually, as they realize the crisis in our national life is one of assault on our people and on our honor and meant to be deadly. It is not the army only that is fighting. This is a war in which every American has the same interest—the same purpose and same reward or loss.

The way to bear your part is to provide the money that lightens the burdens of the men at the front through the Y. M. C. A. work and the Red Cross work.

The Red Cross is charged with services to relieve the wounded and the sick in body. It is charged with the work of prevention of disease.

The Y. M. C. A. charged with the work of sustaining the morals of the men so that the disease that follow immorality shall not strike down the soldier and throw additional burdens upon the well men in camp, or prolong the war. One cannot bear the entire load. There must be organizations for both services. It is now the time to provide the money for the Y. M. C. A. Will you do your part?

OSSIAN NEWS

Ossian, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Wilson, their granddaughter, little Mabel Wilson, and Mrs. Issac Allen left yesterday for Louisville, Ky., to visit over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's son, Vance Wilson, who is a member of the emergency corps at Camp Taylor.

Miss Gladys Kern, a teacher in the Van Buren schools, came Thursday night for an over Sunday visit with her cousin, Miss Ilow Elzey. On Friday she went to Fort Wayne to visit the city schools.

Mrs. Ernest Vananda was hostess for the S. P. C. Square club Thursday evening at a very delightful social meeting. While the ladies visited they were busy with needle work. The hostess served a delicious lunch. Those present were Mesdames Ethel Wilson, Oda Henline, Carrie Melching, Maude Swihart, Mame Poffenberger, Glen Weirich and Bessie Vananda. Their next meeting will be with Mrs. Fred Vananda.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Timbrook and family expect to go to Auburn Sunday to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Timbrook.

A union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Presbyterian church on Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 29, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Will E. Hamilton, pastor of the M. E. church, will deliver the sermon and the M. E. choir will have charge of the music.

Rev. Garfield Dawe goes to Uniondale Sunday evening to speak at the Sunday school convention. Mr. T. V. Rector, of Ossian, will go to Kingsland that same evening to fill Rev. Dawe's pulpit.

Fred Chalfant, of Garrett, visited Wednesday afternoon in Ossian with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Chalfant.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clarb, Mrs. Adam Turner and Mrs. Samuel Hughes motored to Bluffton Thursday, where they called on friends.

At the W. T. M. convention of the M. E. church, which was held in the Simpson M. E. church, of Fort Wayne, this week, Mrs. E. H. Roe, of Ossian, was made treasurer of the organization for the ensuing year.

Mrs. H. C. Trevey and Mrs. Lee Chalfant spent Thursday visiting with Miss Anna Glass and Mrs. Margaret McClelland, living north of Ossian.

The members of the Whileaway club were very nicely entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. A. F. Roe. "Items of interest" were given at roll call, and later current events were discussed with interest. A nice one course lunch was served. Those present were Mesdames Park Summers, Fred Mills F. E. Foughty, Walter Timbrook, Orin McMullen, Will Hoopengardner, J. W. Crummitt, H. C. Hunter, Miss Grace Derr and Miss Marguerite Burnett, as a guest. Their next meeting will be with Mrs. Park Summers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ormsby and Mr. and Mrs. Will Pence, of Uniondale, were in Ossian the other evening calling on friends and attending the Y. M. C. A. mass meeting.

Mrs. Harmon Potee and daughter, Miss Josephine Potee, of Princess Ann, Maryland, arrived in Ossian yesterday morning for a visit with Ossian relatives. Mrs. Potee is a sister of Mrs. William Double and Mrs. George Snyder.

E. H. Roe, Rev. Garfield Dawe, Miss Ilow Elzey and Mrs. Carl Wilson will compose a quartet from Ossian to sing at the township Sunday school convention, which will be held at Uniondale Sunday night.

Mrs. Lucas M. Fry suffered a nervous collapse Wednesday evening, after the funeral of her husband, and was quite seriously ill for a few hours. She is reported better today.

The Standard Bearers met the other night at the home of their superintendent, Mrs. J. W. Metts. About fifteen were present. Miss Mary Way led the devotional exercises and sang a solo. Miss Susie Bailey and Miss Ruby Hamilton took part in the program.

Mrs. Robert Ashcroft and children, of Galion, Ohio, are here for a visit with Mrs. Ashcroft's father, Jacob Kay, and her sister, Mrs. C. Double.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Davis have as their guest now their daughter, Mrs. Oswal Newton, who was recently married at Fort Wayne to Mr. Newton, an interurban condector from South Bend. They expect to go to housekeeping in South Bend soon.

Mrs. Ora Bradds went to Jamestown, Ohio, the first of this week to visit her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Frink and family are planning to go to Pleasant Mills, Sunday, to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Carey Zerkle.

Dr. Fred A. Metts, of Bluffton, visited with his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Mets and family, the other day.

Mrs. Mary Nichols, of North Manchester, came to Ossian this week to spend the winter in the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. Frank Grow. Mrs. Nichols is an aunt of Mrs. Grow.

John Ashburn is home from Convoy, Ohio, where he went to attend the funeral of his wife's cousin, Noah Wiseman.

Miss Jennie Ryan has gone to Warren for an extended visit in the home of Marcellus Ryan.

Mrs. Nora Earl has returned to Fort Wayne after a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vananda and other Ossian relatives.

Mrs. Henry Kirkhoff has received word from her son, Henry Kirkhoff, who has been stationed at Fort Hunt, V., since last May. He has been transferred to Camp Lee, at Petersburg, Va., and has been made a sergeant of his company.

Mrs. M. L. Hunter visited a day this week in Sheldon, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Miller.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will sweeten a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is usually a sign of acidity of the stomach.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches or dizziness. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin helps to neutralize the excessive acid in the stomach which is causing the food fermention and preventing proper digestion.

Relief in five minutes is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to usually keep the entire family free from stomach acidity and its symptoms of indigestion, dyspepsia, sourness, gases, heartburn, and headache, for many months. It belongs in your home.—Advertisement.

PIONEER COUPLE ARE MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Surfus, Whitley County, Celebrate Golden Anniversary.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Cal Surfus, aged 73 and 75 years respectively, who were wedded fifty-five years ago Friday at Wolf Lake, celebrated the event Friday, seventy-five relatives and friends being present. The Surfus' have four living children, namely: U. M. Surfus, of Shelby, Mich.; George and Orva, of Noble county, and Mrs. George Quinn, of Noble county. The former named son was unable to attend Friday's celebration. Many presents were tendered the aged couple, who were wished several more years of life together on earth. Those present from a distance were Lavern and Will Surfus, nephews, of Des Moines, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Shane, of Milwaukee; Mrs. Samuel Stair, of Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nulf and George Gray, of Valparaiso, and Mrs. O. E. Phillips, of Warsaw.

Columbia City Short Items.

An important meeting of the Whitley County Medical society will be held Tuesday afternoon, November 13, in the Commercial club rooms, according to cards issued the members.

Rev. A. D. Sutherland, army chaplain at Palo Alto, Cal., and formerly pastor of the local Presbyterian church here, will preside over his old charge at services Sunday evening beginning at 7 o'clock. His subject will be "War-Time Religion." Monday evening he will give a lantern lecture on "Hustling the East," and while no admission will be charged, money for the Y. M. C. A. fund will be taken.

On account of shortage of coal the South Whitley creamery is hauling its cream to Wabash, where it is being churned until South Whitley gets more coal.

The Whitley county draft board has given the following numbers to Whitley county registered men whose cards came from distant points too late for the regular classification: Homer P. Johnston, 899A; Melvin R. Arick, 870A; Albert Walter, 953A; Clarence Estlick, 976A; Fred S. Baker, 1156A. These men will follow the men in the county having the above plain numbers.

Grand Chancellor F. J. Heller, of the state Pythian lodge, has obtained the Sampson Guard degree team of Butler, famed over the United States, to give the third degree work for several candidates at the Whitley-Allen-DeKalb meeting of the district in Fort Wayne November 28. Several local candidates will take the work.

George Berry, of Goshen, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Will Clapp, of this city.

Mrs. Perminta Millage, widow of the late Henry Millage, of Jefferson township, died Thursday afternoon at the home of her son, Frank Millage, at the age of 79 years. She suffered a stroke of paralysis nine weeks ago, which affected her right side, and succeeding strokes brought on the end. She was born in Fayette county, Indiana, coming to this county when a young girl. Her first marriage to the late Marcus Hasty left surviving three sons, Scott, Elfinus and A. L. Hasty, all of Jefferson township. Her second marriage to Mr. Millage, fifty-six years ago, leaves surviving six children, namely: Frank Millage, of Jefferson township; Mrs. Jasper Crowell, Mrs. Luella Hess and Mrs. Martha Phiester, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. Ollie Bell, of Battle Creek, Mich.; Oliver, also of Michigan. Mrs. Nancy Braden, of Jefferson township, also survives. The funeral occurs Sunday morning in the Laud Christian church, Rev. A. M. Gillispie officiating. Burial in the Broxon cemetery.

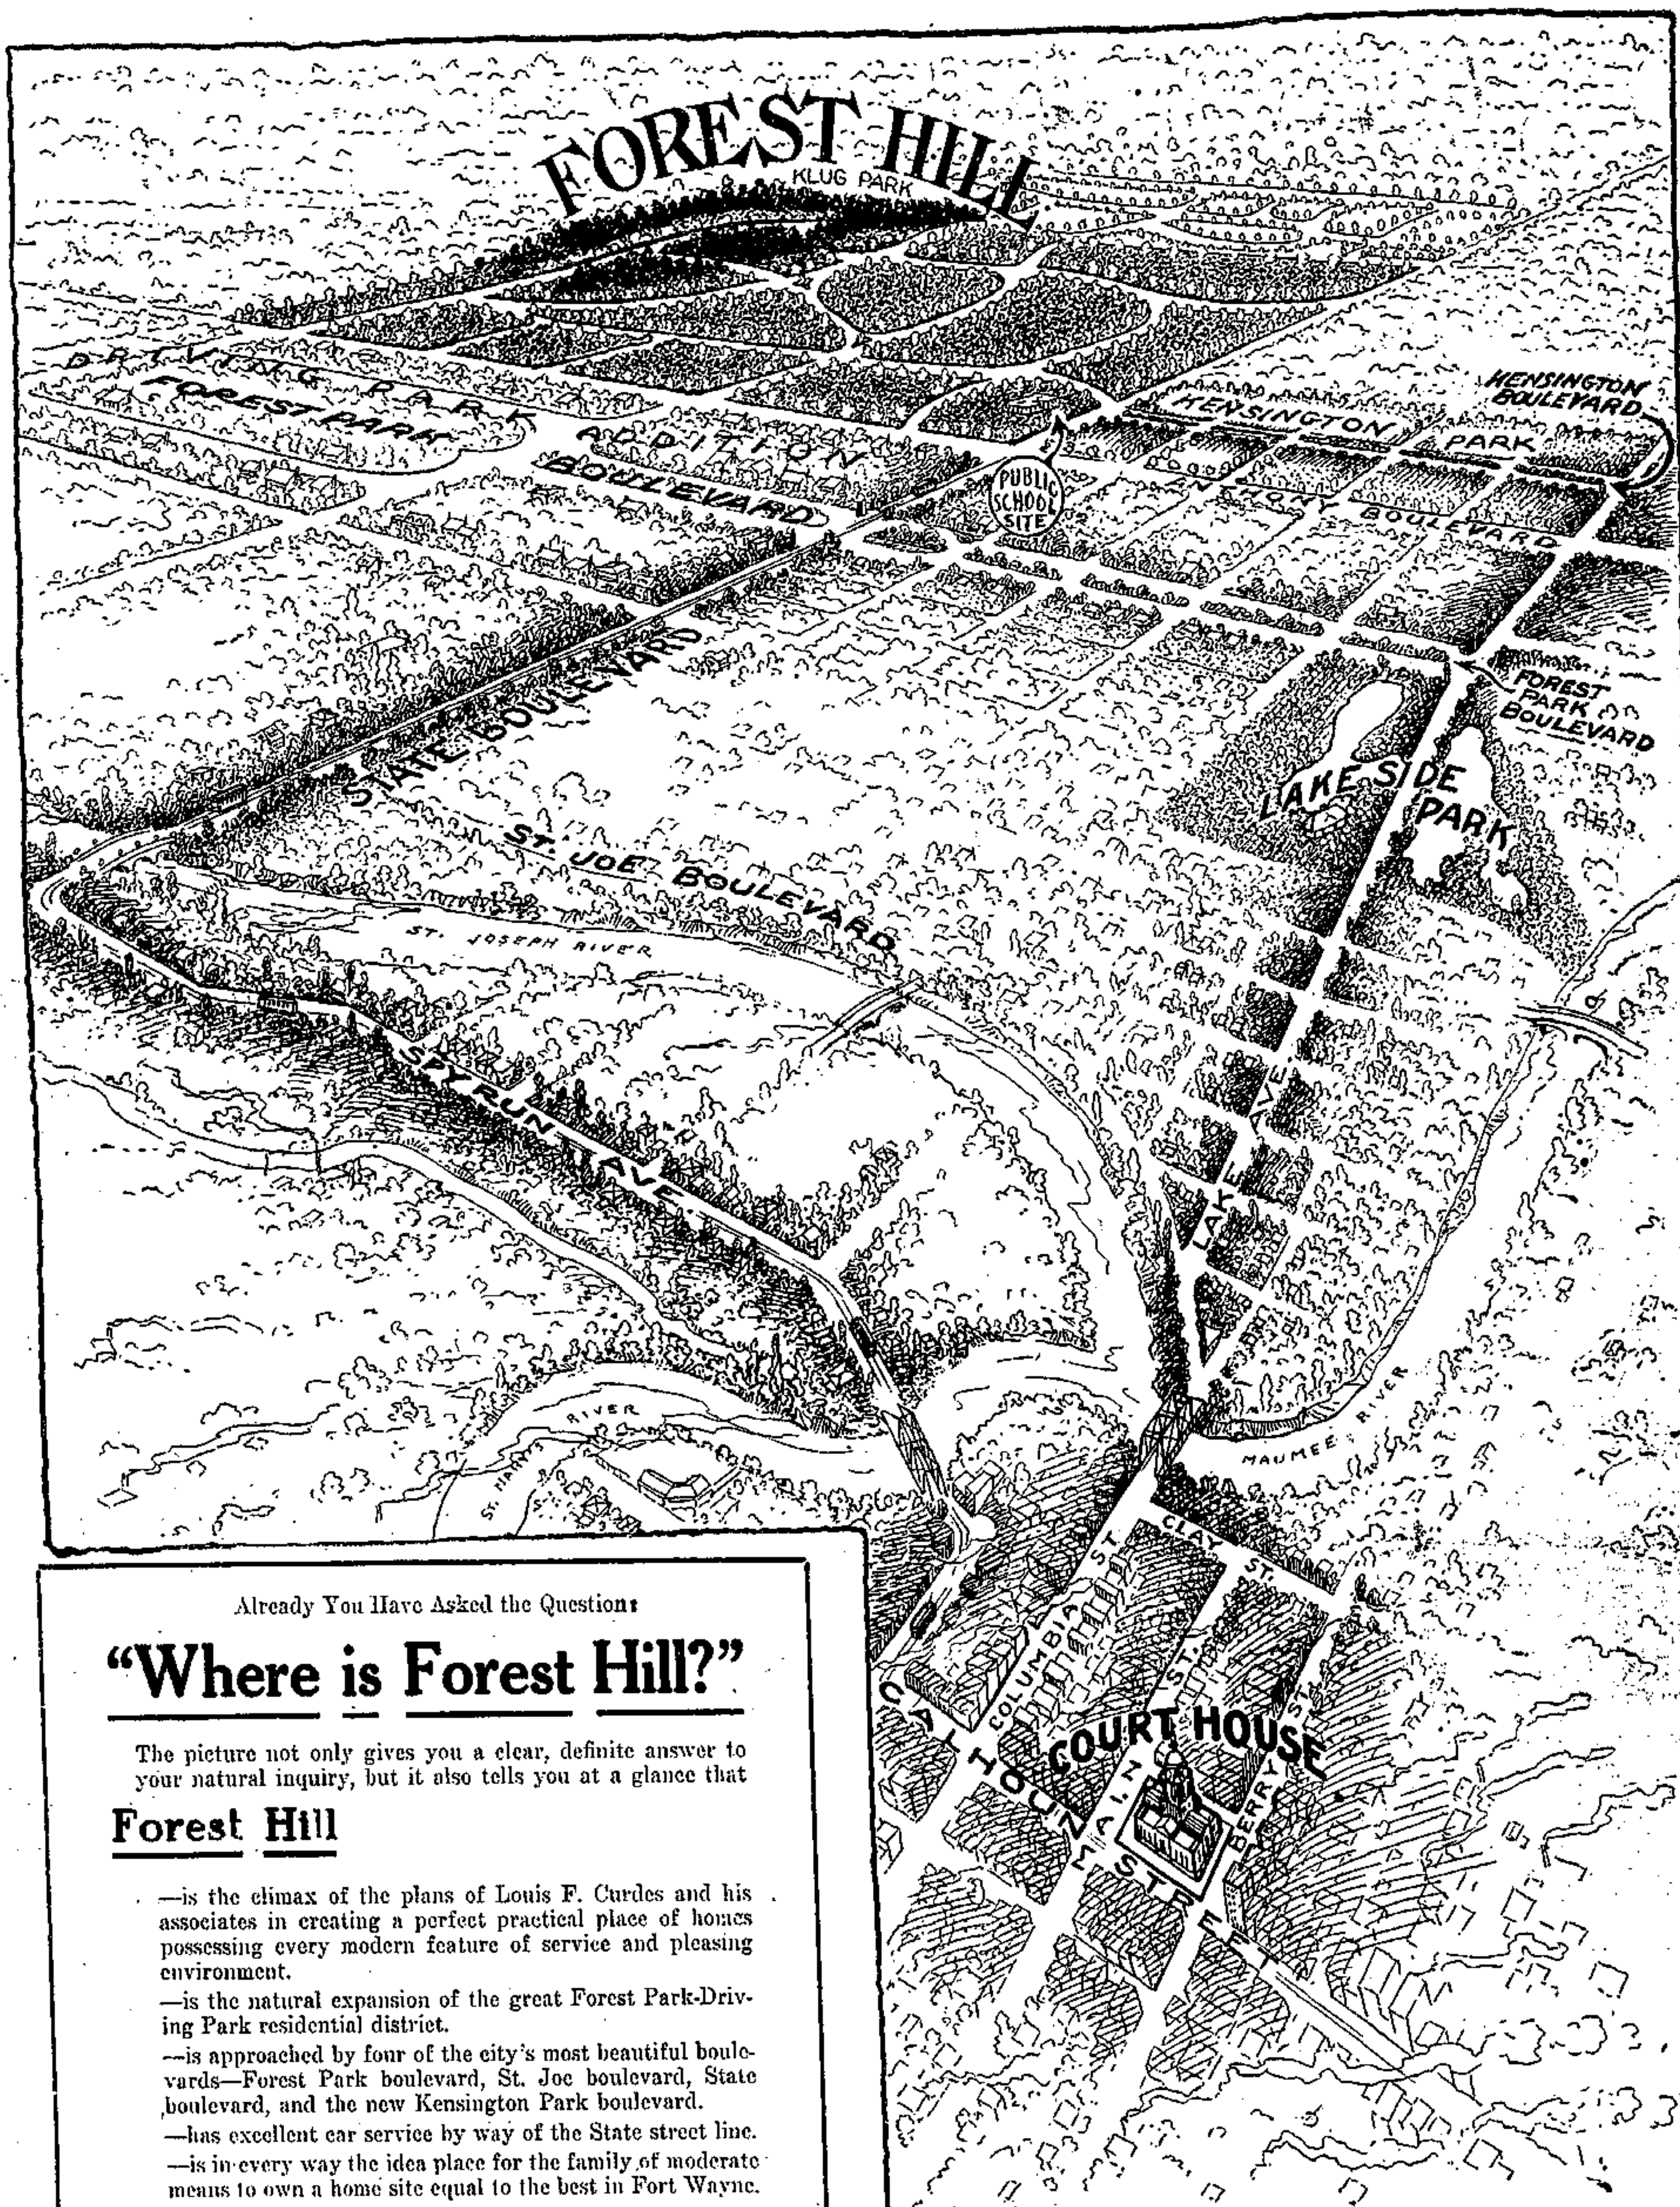
Forest Hill



Already You Have Asked the Question:

"Where is Forest Hill?"

The picture not only gives you a clear, definite answer to your natural inquiry, but it also tells you at a glance that

Forest Hill

—is the climax of the plans of Louis F. Curdes and his associates in creating a perfect practical place of homes possessing every modern feature of service and pleasing environment.

—is the natural expansion of the great Forest Park-Driving Park residential district.

—is approached by four of the city's most beautiful boulevards—Forest Park boulevard, St. Joe boulevard, State boulevard, and the new Kensington Park boulevard.

—has excellent car service by way of the State street line.

—is in every way the idea place for the family of moderate means to own a home site equal to the best in Fort Wayne.

Announcement

FOREST HILL Will be a finished development in the spring of 1918. During the year 1917 large sums have been spent in making this naturally beautiful place into a great popular home community in perfect harmony with the Forest Park and Driving Park districts, of which it is the natural expansion.

Beginning only six years ago to create Forest Park boulevard from an uninteresting "wilderness" into a place of beautiful homes, Louis F. Curdes and the men who are associated with him in developing the northeastern portion of the city, broadened their effort four years ago to include Driving Park—and now, with the greater expansion, by the creation of Forest Hill, they will give to the people of Fort Wayne the greatest of all opportunities to secure ideal home sites in the new and strikingly popular portion of the city.

Forest Hill is now ready for inspection, although it will not be entirely completed until early next spring. At the present time you may see the paved drives and boulevards, ready for their final asphalt finish; the sidewalks, the finished portion of the boulevard lighting system, and the general broad, yet comprehensive plan of parkways, roomy lots and the expanse of wooded and open lots. The best sewer system in Fort Wayne has been installed. Water, electric lighting and all modern conveniences are to form a part of this ideal place.

People who are looking forward to next year should now see Forest Hill—"in the Forest Park-Driving Park District." A moment's thought of what has happened in this neighborhood during the past seven years gives you a clear picture of Forest Hill of the near future.

MANY HAVE SIGNED THE FOOD PLEDGE

Meeting Held Friday Night Revealed a Total of 8,756 Signatures.

The closing of the food pledge drive in Fort Wayne was marked by a rousing meeting held Friday night at the Elks' temple. The reports of the teams showed that 8,756 cards had been signed making a total of nearly 40,000 who would observe food saving days. This total number was based on the supposition that there were five in each family that signed a card.

Another war time measure that was discussed was fall plowing for next spring's war gardens. The best results may be obtained by this fall plowing. Over a hundred ladies were present at the meeting Friday night and pledged to support all war measures coming up in the future.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions, and in order to cure it you must take an internal remedy. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Hall's Catarrh Medicine was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years. It is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best blood purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in Hall's Catarrh Medicine is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions. Send for testimonials, free.

BELGIAN CONVICTED AS SPY.

London, Nov. 9—Official announcement was made today of the conviction of a Belgian as a spy. The statement follows: "A Belgian subject was tried by the general court martial in London on Sept. 24 and 25 on the charge that he had come to the United Kingdom with the intent to commit acts of espionage on behalf of the enemy. He was found guilty and sentenced to death. The sentence was duly confirmed and subsequently was commuted to penal servitude for life."

COUNTRY CLUB GARDENS INVITE OUTSIDE PEOPLE

That the great popularity of the Country Club gardens is extending itself to places outside of the city of Fort Wayne is evident from the fact that several out-of-town people have bought lots here in this new suburban development of the City and Suburban Building company. Ralph W. Withrow, a Roanoke man, has just purchased a lot from the company through Ed Rieke. He expects to build in the gardens next spring.

Conservation Must Become a Dominant American Trait

We have all recently been brought face to face with some stern realities which have made us see that there is one striking weakness in American character—Extravagance.

The ablest men of our day have been detailed to show us how to economize on this or that, as you know. Hasn't that quite a significance to you?

With America's industries clambering for more funds with which to do greater things let's economize financially by placing pocket funds at once in a good bank.

We believe that the First and Hamilton National Bank has much to offer you as a reason for connecting yourself with us.

GREAT DRIVE OF THE TURKS

British Forces Making Hot Pursuit of the Enemy in Palestine.

TURKISH LOSSES ARE TREMENDOUS

London, Nov. 10.—The British army in Palestine pursuing the defeated Turks has made further extensive gains the war office announces. Askalon has been occupied.

The Turkish casualties exclusive of prisoners, are ten thousand. The number of guns captured has been increased to more than seventy.

The communication follows:

"General Allenby reports that yesterday mounted troops moved forward rapidly and captured another 400 prisoners and ten guns. Our line now runs in a southeasterly direction from two miles north of Hammeh, which is two miles from the coast and four miles northeast of Askalon, to two miles north of Arak-el-Henshiyeh on the central railway. This line is generally ten to six miles north of the Wadi-Hesu river. Askalon has been occupied by infantry and artillery.

"North of Beersheba there were no developments."

The British column, which is advancing along the Mediterranean coast assisted by French and British warships, has gained nearly twenty miles since the recent capture of Gaza. Hammeh is fifteen miles above Gaza. The British are now only about five miles below the latitude of Jerusalem, which, however, is forty-eight miles inland, and has not thus far been menaced directly.

TERRY HUT BUSTS INTO LIMELIGHT

Many Indictments There of Men for Conspiring to Commit Burglary.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 10.—Nineteen men were named in indictments returned by the grand jury at noon today. Twelve are charged with operating gambiig, or slot machines, and the others face charges of conspiracy to commit buglaries. While it is not mentioned in the indictments, it is generally understood that the theft of slot gaming machines are meant.

These indictments and three others naming persons whose names were supressed, were immediately delivered into the hands of the sheriff for service.

The indictments charging conspiracy to commit burglary name George (Eddie) Gosnell and Frank (Buster) Clark, West End saloon keepers, who were indicted each sixe times, a few weeks ago charged with conspiracy to steal automobile tire casings and the subsequent of the conspiracy. Harry Barker, Earl Jeffers, Chester Brannin and Everett Johnson, named jointly with Gosnell and Clark in those indictments also were named in the indictments. George Sovern who served one year in prison on conviction in the election cases of 1914 was named for the first time.

Sovern recently joined his wife in California. One indictment charges that Gosnell, Clark, Jeffers, Baker, Johnson and Brannin conspired on July 18 to rob the saloon of Nick Burson of certain goods and chattels. Another charge is that on July 14, Clark, Jeffers, Sovern, Johnson and Brannin conspired to rob the saloon of William H. Dillard; another that Clark, Gosnell, Jeffers, Johnson and Brannin conspired on July 3 to rob the saloon of William J. Otte, and another that Clark, Gosnell, Ben Taylor, Barker, Kennedy and Jeffers conspired on July 10 to rob the saloon of Charles Hart. Jeffers, Johnson, Brannin, Taylor, Kennedy and Barker are named as witnesses.

ORDERS PEACE MEETING CLOSED IF DISLOYAL

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—Acting Governor John G. Oglesby today directed Samuel Insull, chairman of the state council of defense, to inform the chief of police and corporation council of Chicago that they would be held responsible for dispersing a so-called peace meeting, scheduled for 3 o'clock today in Chicago "if anything of a seditious character either in action or words takes place." Little was learned here on the nature of the gathering except that it was to be addressed by Professor Nearing of Toledo university. Governor Lowden sent troops to Chicago some weeks ago to prevent sessions of the People's Council of America for democracy and peace, but the delegates organized and dispersed before the soldiers arrived.

BARBER GUILTY OF SUNDAY DESECRATION

A. Gardiner is Fined $1 and Costs by Jury in Circuit Court.

Union barbers won their case against A. Gardiner, the Columbia street barber, charged with Sabbath desecration. A jury in the circuit court returned a verdict Saturday morning finding him guilty and assessed a fine of $1 and costs.

The case was bitterly fought, the jury deliberating almost throughout the entire night before reaching a verdict. Much interest was manifested in the case, the theory of the state being that if aGrdiner was found not guilty there was no reason why other barbers could not do business on Sunday. The barbers' union assisted the prosecution in every way possible.

After being convicted in a justice court some time ago Gardiner appealed the case to the circuit court. He was represented by Hartzell & Todd, while Emrick & Buhler appeared for the state.

She asks for a restraining order to prevent him from molesting her and from disposing of the household goods. They were married in 1901 and separated Saturday.

DIVORCES GRANTED.

Three of Them Are Allowed by Judge Yaple in Superior Court.

Three decrees of divorce were granted Friday afternoon by Judge Carl Yaple in the superior court as follows: Caroline Zehendner from Geo. Zehendner; Grace A. Waltke from Henry A. Waltke, and Julia M. Warner from Perry L. Warner. The last case created considerable comment at the time it was filed, Mrs. Warner first charging that her husband had failed to provide and Warner had filed affidavit some days before asking for exemption from army service on the ground of having a dependent wife. Warner's case was reconsidered by the selection board and he was certified for service, although Mrs. Warner withdrew her original complaint and filed a new one in which the failure to provide allegation was stricken out.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO MRS. MARY POHLMEYER

A decree for divorce has been granted to Mrs. Mary Pohlmeyer from Fred Pohlmeyer, a young architect now managing the cigar store at the Metropolitan bowling alleys, by Judge Carl Yaple in the superior court.

The case was filed some weeks ago following a series of quarrels that created no little excitement in the 1500 block, Spy Run avenue, where they had resided. No alimony was allowed by the court, a settlement having been reached prior to the filing of the suit.

It also was agreed that Mrs. Pohlmeyer was to secure the divorce without contest. Soon after the separation Mrs. Pohlmeyer returned to the home of her parents, near Defiance, O.

Mrs. Pohlmeyer was represented by Attorneys Ryan, Ryan and Aldrich.

GEO. S. FOWLER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

George S. Fowler, aged 76, passed at 2 o'clock at his home, 206 Douglas avenue. Mr. Fowler has been a prominent business man of Fort Wayne for years, being connected with the George S. ARMY STAYS SIX MONTHS

Nationals Will Not be Sent to France for Half Year is the Rumor.

SHIPPING NEEDED TO SEND SUPPLIES

Allies Need Food and War Materials Worse Than Our Soldiers.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The possibility that the first increment of the national army will not be sent to France for at least six months loomed large today when it became known that the allies' demands for food, coal and iron are so strong as to forecast use of available ocean tonnage for their transportation for troops.

The decision of the question will rest largely on reports expected soon from the American mission now abroad and on figures being assembled by Food Administrator Hoover to show the amount of grain and other food products available for export in the United States and South American countries.

Present indications are, the food administration believes, that the food situation, particularly in England, France and Italy, will force the United States to use its ships to send food instead of soldiers.

Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, the food administration's representative on the American mission, has been instructed to gather information on the allies' food needs at the earliest possible time and forward it here so that the war and navy departments and the shipping board may make arrangements in advance if it appears there can be no surplus of tonnage for transportation of the first increment of the national army now in training camps.

Plans for the second draft would be affected by the postponement of the removal of the first increment from camps, but since the camps' capacity is much greater than their present assignments, it would not be necessary to delay the draft until the camps are actually emptied.

APPEALS FOR Y.M.C.A. FUND

Statement of Association's War Work is Made by Secretary Eddy.

Work is Founded on the Broadest Lines for All Men.

New York, Nov. 10.—The following statement regarding the war work of the Young Men's Christian association, was issued today by Sherwood Eddy, assistant general secretary of the general committee:

"The Y. M. C. A. has been chosen by the government as the agent or arm of the nation to minister to the physical, social and moral needs of the men in the armies, together with one or two other organizations. In France there are two organizations working for the soldiers—the Red Cross and the Red Triangle of the Y. M. C. A. The former cares for all the wounded who are carried to the rear. The latter cares for the walking wounded, the fighting men, the welfare work of the allied armies of France, Italy and Russia, and the six million prisoners of war—a total of 24,000,000 men in all, calling for a total budget of $35,000,000 or an average of $1.50 per soldier.

"The Y. M. C. A. works on broad lines. It is open alike to Jew and Gentile, to Catholic and Protestant. In France the Catholics hold their mass in the huts, the Protestants their services and the Jews their synagogue. We have all inherited unhappy divisions and narrowness from the past. The war is bringing us together.

"The Y. M. C. A. seeks to evangelisze but never to proselytize. It seeks to hold every man through to his God, his own church, his own faith, his home and his own best self. Workers of all creeds are uniting under its roof to minister to the men as lay helpers. There is an opportunity for us to present a common front and to serve the need of our common humanity. In these war camps we can get together on the broad platform of faith in God, in humanity and in righteousness, every man holding a right to his own creed, but co-operating with all others in the face of our one common human need.

"Our men are facing great physical hardship in the 'hell' of the trenches and the moral menace of fighting in a far country removed from all the good influences of home. Can we not meet the needs of these men and provide them a home away from home? Can we not forget the mistakes and divisions of the past and face the crisis of the present and the challenge of the future? It is the biggest moral challenge which ever confronted our people."

MILITARY NEWS

PENNSY EMPLOYE TELLS OF Y. M. C. A.

Harry McNamara, of Co. F, 21st Engineers, Writes from Camp Grant.

Harry McNamara, of Company F, Twenty-first engineers, a former Pennsylvania company employe, writes to his brother from Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., as follows, in comment upon the Y. M. C. A. and its worth to the soldiers:

"I never did know what the Y. M. C. A. really meant, and I don't think you do, either, unless you have been in camp. I can say the Y. M. C. A. does more than its share toward winning the great war, and may the good Lord help you and all that are working hard to maintain it. They are giving us all this paper, and in fact everything we want, and it is free of charge. They gave us each a New Testament, a book called 'The Soldier's Spirit' and a book about Jesus Christ, and they are the best books I ever read, and I can say I am giving all the spare time I have in helping the Y. M. C. A. I see now where all the money goes. Take it from me, there's no graft in the Y. M. C. A. I have learned that here, and the soldiers down here trust all the 'Y' men. I saw a soldier down here give a 'Y' man $20 and told him to keep it for him until he called for it, and he did not even ask for a receipt for it. One of the other soldiers said: 'Are you sure you will get it back?' Here is the answer: 'Yes; the 'Y' is better than a bank, and when I call for it I will receive it.' The men that work for the 'Y' are all honest men and are trying hard to get us all close to our Lord Jesus Christ.

"I know if a lot of people who have money to spare could see the good the 'Y' is doing in these camps for the boys who have left home and are giving their very lives for the flag, they surely would give more. Don' tforget to tell all the pastors to pray for the Y. M. C. A. men as well as for the soldiers, as they are doing their bit as well as we are, and may the Lord keep them in good health."

CLARENCE ROSSELOT ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Writes a Letter to His Parents Telling of His Ocean Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Rosselot, residing on rural route No. 1 out of Fort Wayne, are in receipt of a letter from their son, Clarence L. Rosselot, telling of his safe arrival in England. Clarence is a member of the medical corps and enlisted on July 25. His letter is as follows:

"I arrived here this morning and have been having a fine trip. We left New York Wednesday evening, October 3 and anchored in the harbor of Halifax on Friday afternoon. Left there Saturday afternoon with a fleet of nine other boats, one a cruiser and the rest freighters and passenger boats.

"We had very rough weather from Thursday until Saturday. A good many of the boys were seasick, but I felt fine all the time and really enjoyed the trip. Eight destroyers met us Tuesday evening and then our ships ——with two destroyers left the other boats and we landed at ——— at noon, Wednesday. We took a train there at 5 p. m. and got off at South Hampton at 2 a. m. Thursday. From there we walked out to the camp about two miles and got there about 4 o'clock. There were 1,200 soldiers, officers and Red Cross nurses on the boat.

"I am feeling fine and hope the same of all of you."

Married Men.

Many married men have asked questions about getting into the army, and for the information of all similarly situated, Sergt. Arthur Turner, of the recruiting station, has given out the following:

"Men who are separated from their wives but not divorced, may enlist providing they make affidavit that the wife will not come on the government for support other than that which he may send her from his salary while in the service. Married men, living with their wives, may be accepted in all divisions except in the infantry, cavalry, artillery and coast artillery, providing the man will file an affidavit that the wife will not come on the government for support other than that sent back by the husand from his wages."

Writes of Safe Arrival in France

THEODORE GEBHARD.

Mrs. Theodore Gebhard is in receipt of a postal card from her son Theodore, a member or Battery D, of the Rainbow division, telling of his safe arrival in France. Gebhard served with Company E on the Mexican border and was later transferred to the battery. Mrs. Gebhard lives at 1043 Grant avenue.

Dr. Barnett Home.

Dr. C. E. Barnett, a captain in the medical reserve corps, has returned on a twenty-five day furlough from Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, where he is on duty in the military hospital. He will await orders to some eastern port for immediate foreign duty.

Field Artillery Closed.

Three recruits were sent to Indianapolis, Friday, two to the engineer unit and one to the aviation section. The field artillery and cavalry sections are closed except to previous service men who may still get in the cavalry. All other branches of the service are still open except that the quartermaster corps is closed except to cooks and bakers.

Three Enlistments.

Three more enlistments were received Thursday at the local recruiting station, raising the total for the month to thirty-one. Two of these men went to the coast artillery, and one to the remount.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT BONDS SELL AT PAR

They Are Sold to the Tri-State Loan and Trust Company.

Road improvement bonds to the amount of about $76,000 were sold Saturday by William F. Ranke, county treasurer, to the Tri-State Loan and Trust company at par.

The bonds are for the improvement of the Pulver, Menchy, Munich, Scherer and Winchester roads. Bonds for the improvement of the Young road were sold to a party at Decatur.

These bonds have been held by the county treasurer for over a month.

BULGARIA SINGS AN AWFUL HYMN OF BITTER HATE

Washington, Nov. 10.—Publication of a Bulgarian hymn of hate, teeming with incitement to cruelty and atrocities has aroused officials and diplomats here and drawn from the Bulgarian minister, Stephen Panaretoff, the declaration that the purported author, Ivan Arnaudoff, described as "The Bulgarian Pindar," is of no standing to bespeak the national sentiments of Bulgaria.

A literal translation of the poem bristles with expressions and phrases of revolting incitement to the most unspeakable cruelties to the men, women and children of enemy countries overrun by Bulgarian troops.

ONE OF VILLA'S BROTHERS GETS OUT OF CORRAL

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 10.—Federal agents are seeking Hipolito Villa, brother of Francisco Villa, the bandit leader who has not reported to them since last Saturday and who is believed to have crossed the border near Presidio. By agreement the department of justice gave Villa his liberty on condition he stayaway from the border and make daily report to the authorities. This arrangement has been in effect nearly a year and Villa was punctual in his reports until last Saturday. On Monday it was learned he had left for the border.

HELFFERICH QUITS OFFICE

German Vice Chancellor is Dropped to Bring on Political Peace.

VON PAYER NAMED TO SUCCEED HIM

What is Now Called a Liberal Government Has Sway in Berlin.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—Via London.—Dr. Karl Helfferich, the vice-chancellor, has capitulated and political peace once more has been restored. The cabinet containing Count von Hertling as chancellor, Friedrich von Payer as vice-chancellor, and Herr Friedberg as vice-president of the Prussian ministry, means a virtually coalition liberal government.

The socialists accept the appointment of von Payer as evidence that Count von Hertling is willing to work with the present group of reichstag majority parties, but they are reserving to themselves complete liberty of action. The conservatives are the only important reichstag faction not having a member in the new government, which may be said to mark the active initiation of the first parliamentary cabinet in Prussia and Germany. Chancellor von Hertlin returned today to Munich, where he will assist in the reorganization of the Bavarian ministry from which he retires. His first public appearance as chancellor is expected to take place when the reichstag opens its next session on Nov. 22.

The liberals are now getting ready to combat the reactionaries in their efforts to obstruct the enactment of the Prussian electoral reform bill. These measures are expected to be ready for first reading at the end of this month. The clericals, national liberals, progressives, socialists and Poles will constitute an ample majority for it in the lower chamber of the Prussian diet.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT ADDRESSES TEACHERS

R. W. Himelick Will Assume Active Duties on Monday Morning.

Professor R. W. Himelick, the new public school superintendent, will assume active duties Monday morning. A reception at the high school building was held for him Friday after school hours. Superintendent Himelick comes to Fort Wayne with many new ideas and principles on school work. In his address to the teachers he stated that he was vitally interested in their various duties and urged thme to come to him with all matters of complaint or doubt.

In speaking of Fort Wayne's school system Superintendent Himelick said that the children of Fort Wayne spent entirely too much time in the grades. According to his views the grade schools should extend to about the sixth instead of the eighth grade. The great number of pupils dropping out of high school before even their freshman year was completed was another topic for discussion.

HIGH SCHOOLERS BUSY REHEARSING FOR PLAY

Farce Comedy, Who's Crazy?" Will Be Given Within a Few Weeks.

For the first time in the history of the school, the high school senior play is to be given in the Majestic theater instead of the high school auditorium. This move has been found to be necessary because of the great number of people who have already engaged tickets for the affair. The title of the play, "Who's Crazy," is not very enlightening, but sufficient to say the farce comedy of the highest type which it portrays is exactly suited to the talent of high school seniors.

The entire cast under the direction of Mr. Franklin is sparing no effort to make this play a great success. Rehearsals are being held daily and the players will soon be ready for the final dress rehearsal to be held on the evening of November 27. The play will be be given two evenings, November 28 and 30.

LIKE HUSBAND, ENDS LIFE.

Scottsburg, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Mary Payne, daughter of E. Gladden, former secretary of the Indiana state board of forestry, committed suicide some time yesterday by shooting herself through the heart. She was alone in her home at the time. Her death follows that of her husband, Marcellus Payne, Sept. 20, when she had been married but a short time. Payne shot Mrs. Payne and killed himself. Mrs. Payne was sent to a hospital and remained several weeks before she recovered sufficiently to return home.

INTEREST CENTERS IN WABASH-DEPAUW GAME

With no football games scheduled today for either Indiana or Purdue, and Notre Dame playing Morningside college at Sioux City, Iowa, the interest of football fans in Indiana today centered in the annual clash between Wabash and DePauw at Indianapolis this afternoon. The two schools have been meeting on the gridiron for a quarter of a century and during that time Wabash has won two more games than DePauw, who is expected to cut the Little Giants' lead to one game this afternoon.

The practice work at Indiana and Purdue this past week was comparatively light because of the fact that there were no games scheduled for today and also because the season is nearing an end and the coaches did not want their men to grow stale. Purdue has before it only the game with Wabash and the annual clash with Indiana, which will be played at Bloomington Nov. 24. DePauw is the only remaining opponent, with the exception of Purdue, on the crimson schedule, although there has been some talk of a post-season game with the University of West Virginia to be played at Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., where the national guard troops of the two states are encamped, on Dec. 5.

Little advance information has been received in this state as to what may be expected in the Notre Dame-Morningside game. The Notre Dame squad left Indiana, however, feeling confident of an easy victory, since it defeated the army at West Point last Saturday.

Hanaver and Franklin met on Franklin field, while Rose Poly was in Chicago for a game with DePaul. Earlham battled Wittenburg at Richmond and hoped to turn back the invaders from Ohio.

TAKES OVER CIRCUS.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Jess Willard's circus, which was installed in winter quarters near Jacksonville, Fla., has been leased by the government, according to Walter Monohan, sparring partner of the heavyweight champion, who has been traveling with Willard's show. Monohan came to Chicago Wednesday from the south after the show quit for the year. Jess intends to winter along the Florida beach. The show was taken off Willard's hands by a department of the United States army quartermaster corps, and the numerous saddle horses and other animals will bring a good rental, besides taking the heavy expense burden of winter feeding off Jess's purse. When the show was leased the government also contracted to take over the services of the big force of workmen with the show.

INDIANA GAMES.

At Indianapolis—Wabash vs. DePauw.

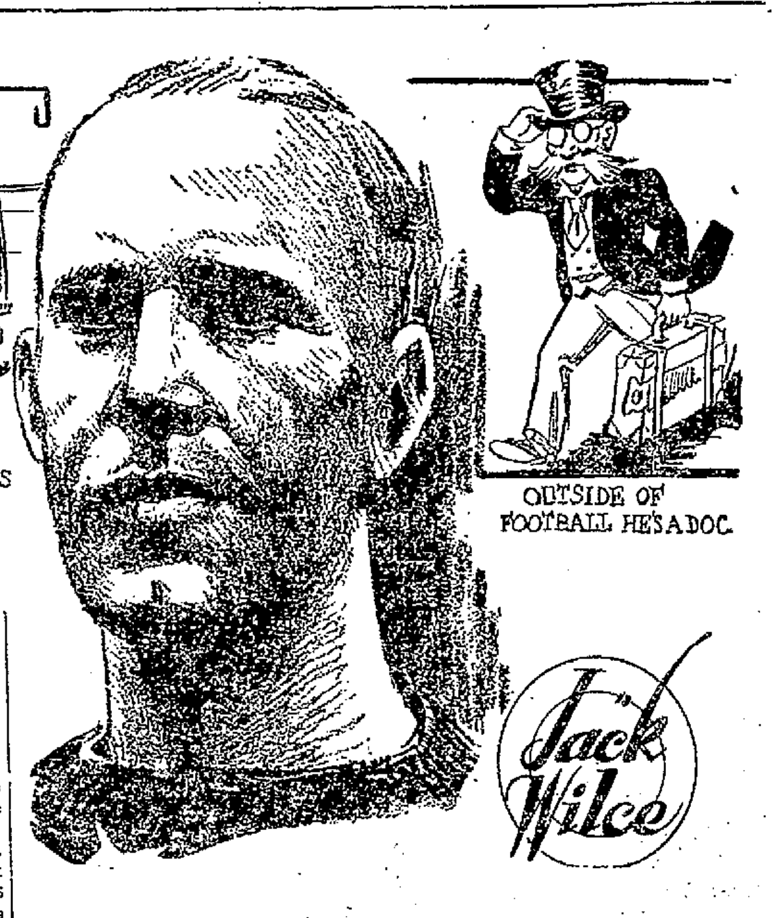
THIRD GAME.

Frankfort, Ind., Nov. 10.—The Frankfort Tigers will play their third game of the season here Sunday with the Peru LaBelles. The LaBelles average 165 pounds to the man, and have won five out or six games played. The Tigers have won from the Elwood Independents and the Kokomo Wildcats.

MINUTE MEN OF BASEBALL—JACK WILCE



OUTSIDE OF FOOTBALL HE'S A DOC.
Jack Wilce

(By Paul Purman.)

Can you win football games by psychology?

Can you make thought waves produce touchdowns and goals?

We don't pretend to know—but here's the story.

In 1916 Ohio state, the baby of the western conference, was playing Illinois, in the game which was eventually to give the Buckeye the big nine title.

Only a few minutes remained to play. Illinois had scored early and Ohio had just crossed the Illini goal. The score was 6 to 6 and Chick Harley was changing his wet shoes for dry ones preparatory to trying for goal from a difficult angle.

"He is going to kick that goal," said Wilce dramatically. "You must all believe he is. I want everyone of you fellows to concentrate and know he is until the ball goes over the bar."

Then Harley kicked and the ball sailed squarely between the posts. Ohio had won.

That is one side of the most successful young coach in the middle west. He constantly studies the psychology of every situation which comes up in games or in practice.

The other side is that he is a plugger; believes in thoroughness, in extensive preparation and he has absolutely no use for precedents.

His thoroughness is carried on throughout the entire year. He is constantly in touch with his players to see that they stand well in school scholastically; he conducts winter classes in football theory and long sessions of spring practice. He keeps in touch with the college alumni looking for new material. In the winter he spends long hours with a checker board working out new plays for the coming season.

With his men he is a driver. He demands hard work and gets it. He is quick to recognize earnest effort, and last year recommended for the varsity "O" a man who had not played in nearly enough games to win it.

"Nobody on the squad has worked harder than he has for three years," was Wilce's explanation, and the man got his letter.

Wilce is a Y. M. C. A. man—a man of character and a true sportsman against whom not the slightest insinuation of unfairness has ever been brought by an opponent. At Ohio State they hope he will stay forever, but he may some day give up coaching to take up medicine. He has made it his study ever since taking up coaching at Ohio. He graduated and played football at Wisconsin, where he was an all-western fullback and a crew man.

"HANDS OFF" POLICY.

National Commish May Not Heed Hickey's Plea.

New York, Nov. 10.—Whether the national commission will interfere in the threatened revolt of several A. A. and International league cities is problematical. The heads of the two major leagues are inclined to favor a new league. They figure it will be a good thing for the game, will keep up interest in the sport during the war and also will prove a financial success.

But the commission will undoubtedly adopt a "hands-off" policy in settling the dispute. It will not interfere, according to all reports, because of technicalities. The commission's jurisdiction is confined to disputes between major and minor leagues. The third league has not yet been formed. It is not as yet a major circuit. Thus the commission will be in its rights in refusingto heed Hickey's plea.

KNOCKS OUT HOMELAND.

Milwaukee, Nov. 10. — "Pinkey" Mitchell, brother of Richie Mitchell, a favorite local lightweight, celebrated his entrance into the ranks of professional boxers by knocking out Joe Homeland, of Chicago, in the second round of a six-round bout. Mitchell floored his opponent three times in the second with wallops to the jaw when Referee Stout put a stop to the affair.

THE WAY IT GOES.

When you hit straight down the fairway
With the best drive of the day
And your mashie shots are hitting straight and true.
And you get upon the green in three
And your putt is perfect—say
There's nothing like it underneath the blue.

But when you slice the drive at One
And hook a brassie shot
And are smothered in a trap at Number Four.
And miss a three-foot putt at Eight
And all that sort of rot,
Can you blame a guy for feelinig pretty sore?

OH! HE'S POPULAR.

FRESH AS I WAS TEN YEARS AGO!

An indication of Jess Willard's popularity may be seen in the fact that no ham has yet called himself Young Jess Willard.

A man from Germantown refereed a football game in which a soldier team was beaten. The soldiers probably thought they were discriminatde against.

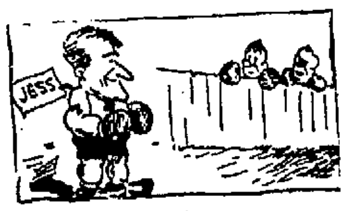
EGGS IS EGGS.



Oscar Egg has entered the six day bicycle race at New York. We may now look for bulletins like this: 'Eggs was strictly fresh after the tenth lap"

A third big league would give ticket sclapers a better chance to cop the dough at world series time. Another advantage would be that a few of the 8,000 ball players who think they ought to manage big league teams would get a chance.

NINE MEMBERS IN ARMY.

Cleveland, Nov. 10.—War is cutting deeply into the ranks of the Cleveland club of the American league. Nine members of the club have been called for the selective draft, the latest being Herman DeBerry, a catcher.

EVERYTHING IS SET FOR SUNDAY'S GAME

Friars and Racine Will Meet in Most Important Contest of Season.

Everything is set for Sunday's game with the fast Racine team at League park. The Friars will present practically the same line-up as last Sunday against the Toledo Maroons.

The game is the most important that has been played here this season for the reason that it may determine whether the Friars will play the Hammond Clabby's, who are claiming the state championship and who a few Sundays ago were defeated by Racine.

There is n ocertainty of Baujan, Pine Village end, and teammate of Helvie, being here Sunday, although a strenuous effort is being made to get him. An effort also is being made to secure Johnson, last year's halfback, who is now director of athletics fo rthe Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, at Akron.

Referee Joe Magidsohn, of Michigan university, who has given such entire satsfaction in the games in which he has officiated, has wired that he will be unable to be present, but is sending Aldridge, of Chicago university. Racine will furnish the umpire in the person of Gerum, and Jake Ritter, of this city, will again act as head linesman.

The preliminary game between the Tigers and Pyramids will start at 1:15 o'clock and the big game at 2:30 o'clock. Tickets are on sale at Meyer Bros.' drug store at Wayne and Calhoun streets.

The line-up of the two teams is as follows:

Friars.	Racine.
L. E.—Helvie (U)	L. E.—Ratchford.
L. T.—Jones (C)	L. T.—Eck.
L. G.—Denison (B)	L. G.—McEachron.
C—Feeney (A)	C.—Sehl.
R. G.—Bashaw (F)	R. G.—Glockson.
R. T.—Lockwood (H)	R. T.—Ruetz.
R. E.—Berghoff (M)	R. E.—Dory.
Q.—Dorais (G) capt.	Q.—Newton.
L. H.—Pliska J)	L. H.—Schnell.
R. H.—Specht (E)	R. H.—Foster.
F. B.—Chambers (R)	F. B.—Hueller.

Friar Substitutes—(B) Bradley, (L) Young, (N) Ambrose, (O) Ball, (P) Mann, (S) Robbins, (T) Smith, (K) Huntington.

SPORT RAVINGS

Friday night Richmond high school defeater Winchester high by an overwhelming score. Fort Wayne meets Richmond on February 15. Winchester defeated the local team in the first game of the season, but Coach Wright has a much better team now and hopes to beat Richmond when they get together.

The local management may secure Johnson, who played in the opening game against Camp Custer, here Sunday to go against Racine. Johnson always was a favorite in Fort Wayne and his playing would be welcomed.

Fullback Howard of Indiana University wil come in for much consideration when the all-conference team is picked. Howard is one of the best backfield men the state school has ever had.

Indiana will be interested Saturday in the game at Indianapolis between DePauw and Wabash for the secondary championship of the state. DePauw, who has lost only one game, and that to Purdue by a 7 to 6 score, rules the favorite over Wabash, who was seriously crippled by fourteen of last year's star team going to the army. The Little Giants started the season with a whole new team but they are working smoothly now and may spring a surprise on the confident Methodists.

Michigan is given the edge over Cornell in the only intersectional battle of the day. The eastern team is not up to it's usual standard and Coach Yost has developed a powerful eleven in a short time.

The conference title may be decided in the game between Ohio State and Wisconsin. Ohio, last year's champions, with a stronger team than ever, rule the favorites. The game will be a merry battle between two of the west's best players, Harley, all-American back, of Ohio, and Simpson, of Wisconsin. Both of these men do their team's punting and passing. Nearly al of the Buckeye plays are built around Harley.

Indiana and Purdue are resting for the big game of the Indiana year between the Boilermakers and the Hoosiers. Indiana will rule a heavy favorite this year.

The record crowd of the season will be at League park Sunday to see the Friars take the fast Racine team. The Friars will go into the game the favorites with all loyal Fort Wayne fans and this sort of support and confidence has won many games which otherwise would have been lost.

MAY NAME BRONKIE.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—Should Jack Hendricks, manager of the Indianapolis club, which won the 1917 American Association pennant, be selected to succeed Miller Huggins as pilot of the St. Louis National league team, Herman Bronkie, third baseman of the locals, will be named playing manager to succeed Hendricks, according to the stove-league critics. Bronkie has been field captain of the Indians for the last two seasons. He had some managerial experience in 1913 when he finished the season as pilot of the Toledo Association club after Topsy Hartsel had been deposed. Those who are so sure Bronkie will succeed Hendricks in the event of the latter leaving Indianapolis, point to the fact that such an appointment would be a good wartime measure, as Bronkie would be a playing manager and thus would save the salary of one man. Bronkie came to Indianapolis in 1914, when J. C. McGill purchased the club.

NAVY VS. GEORGETOWN.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 10.—Navy is in prime condition fo rits game with Georgetown this afternoon, which may prove to be one of the hardest of the local season. The Middies will be able to put their full strength in the field.

MARION HIGH SCHOOL WINS.

Marion, Ind., Nov. 10.—Marion high school basketball team was defeated last night by the Kokomo high school quintet in a fast game 22 to 19. Kokomo took the lead in the first half and was never in danger.

MICHIGAN PLAYING CORNELL'S ELEVEN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 10.—The University of Michigan winds up its home football schedule this afternoon with Cornell as its opponent. Michigan expects a hard fight, but Coach Yost and members of the team are confident of victory. Dr. Sharpe, the Cornell coach, was not optimistic concerning the outcome, but said his team would fight from start to finish. Sharpe probably will not have the services of left half back Vanhorn, but expects to start Pendleton at full-back. These two men have been suffering from injuries.

Yost will have both Sparks and Weston in today's game. Weston, taking Sparks place at quarter-back, when the latter was injured recently, has developed into the sensation of the local season. Yost intends to use Sparks at left half-back today.

SPORTING NOTES.

New York women golfers advocate securing a course exclusively for female enthusiasts. Almost all the clubs in that district restrict the play of women to the early days of the week and reserve the links for the use of men during Saturday and Sunday.

Milwaukee boxing commission is considering the introduction of a rule which was carried out in France previous to the war. It is proposed to have each boxing club engage four seconds to act in the corners of the contesting boxers, in order that they may have proper attention during their bouts.

Coach Charles Brickley, of Boston college football team, offers a silver loving cup to the player of the team showing the best spirit and best work on the football field and in the lecture rooms. This is the former Harvard captain's first step as supervisor of athletics to bring into closer relationship the athletic and the scholastic branches of Boston college activities.

University of Pennsylvania has a ruling making athletics compulsory for all students that are able-bodied and well. Dartmouth may require students to take at least three hours of athletics each week.

Columbia university spent $42,591.45 on athletics last year.

Prominent association football teams not entered in the annual cup ties for the national cup, conducted by the United States Football association, the governing body of the sport, include Pullman, of Chicago, twice semi-finalists; Howard and Bullough, of Pawtucket, R. I., and Brooklyn Celtic. Loss of players through the war has caused many other teams to disband.

EMROES ARE CHALLENGED.

The East End Grays challenge the Emroes for a game of basketball to be played next Tuesday night. For particulars 'phone 6052 red, between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight.

Wabash and De Pauw Clash at Capital

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—DePauw and Wabash coherts paraded through the downtown streets here today in preparation for thei rannual football clash at Washington park here this afternoon. DePauw, with her team of veterans, was picked a favorite, but the Wabash supporters are hoping for a surprise. The little giants have won the preceding two games which DePauw played in this city.

The weather was a little warm for the players but great for the spectators and a record-breaking attendance for the contest was expected.

BADGERS AND BUCKEYES WILL GRAPPLE TODAY

Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—Ohio State started a slight favorite in the football game today with the University of Wisconsin eleven on camp Randall field, due to its unbroken string of victories for the season and the presence of Harley, All-American halfback, and his running mate, Stinchcomb, in the lineup. The Badgers, however, refused to cocede anything and pointed to the victory over Minnesota as indicative of their strength. With fair weather promised and preparations made for 28,600 spectators, the game is expected to furnish the stellar football contest in the conference today. The probable lineup:

Wisconsin.		Ohio State.
Weston	L. E.	Boler
Scott	L. T.	H. L. Courtney
Kralovec	L. G.	Karch
Carpenter/	C.	Vadyne
Kiekhefer	R. G.	Seddon
Hancock	R. T.	H. G. Courtney
Kelly	R. E.	Peabody
Simpson	Q. B.	Yerges
Bondi	L. H.	Stinchcomb
Gould	R. H.	Harley
Jacobis	F. B.	Boesel

WILL USE SAME LINEUP.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Coach Fred Marshy at Northwestern university, announced before the football contest with the Michigan Agricultural college, that he would use the same lineup that has played in all the games this season. This meant that Brightmire was on the reserve list, due to his injuries, and would be called upon only in case of emergency. Underhill will pilot the purples. The aggies are said to outweigh the Northwestern eleven.

BASKETBALL RESULTS.

At Lapel—Lapel high school, 61; Frankton, 11.

Butler, 42; Tenth United States infantry, 7.

SEMINOLES.

ATHLETICS IMPORTANT.

Camp Funston, Kan., Nov. 10.—Athletics is playing one of the biggest parts in the training of the men of the Eighty-ninth national army division at Camp Funston. Staff members lay special stress on the necessity of athletics, declaring it puts fight and spirit into the men. Football is to be continued just as long as the weather permits, according to Lieut. Paul Withington, director of athletics at the cantonment. This winter the athletic work will consist of boxing, wrestling, handball, basketball, indoor racing and all kinds of intra-mural sports.

LEARY ENLISTS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—Jack Leary, first baseman with the championship Indianapolis club, has enlisted. Leary telegraphed Jack Hendricks, manager of the club, that he had enlisted in the navy as a yeoman at Waltham, Mass., his home. During the playing season, Leary expressed a desire to do "his bit." He wanted to enter the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison at that time, and only the fact that his brother joined the Massachusetts national guard and his mother depended on Jack for her support, prevented him from enlisting.

READY FOR RETURN MATCH.

Columbus, Nov. 10.—Bryan Downey, the Columbus welterweight, and Young Denny, of New Orleans, are ready for the return match of ten rounds which will be decided here Monday night, November 12. In their previous encounter, Downey had the better of the New Orleans ringman.

"FIRST SNOW" EDDYTORIUL

Well, whot we perdickted in last wks ishue has came to pass sinst whitch it done last Thursday night somers twixt bedtime and sunup, namely, towit viz as follers:—the first snow Bingville has had so far this season.

We dont know that we have ever took our costick eddytoriul pen in hand and dasht off a red hot eddytoriul on the 1st snow of the season and we dont know as the 1st snow of the season is important enuff to dash off a eddytoriul about, but being as we cant think up ennything more importanter at this sitting this subjeck of the "First Snow" will haft to do.

Ole Dad Henderson our lokal wether profet who perdicks what the wethers a goin to be hit or miss (mostly miss) when he got up last Thursday morning and seen snow on the ground tuk his 2-foot rule and went outside his house to measure the deepth of same for comparison with the deepth of the 1st snows of former yrs. Jest as Dad stepd outen the back kitchink door into the snow with his 2-foot rule in one hand and his cane in tother his foot slipd and he come down with a dull sikkening thud dogblame neer stabbin hisself in the vitals with his 2-foot rule. After Dad got on his feet and expresd hisself in langwidge befitting the occashion he meashurd the deepth of the snow and made it out 6 intches, but Lem Brown says only about 3 intches fell being as Dad meashured betwixt his house and woodshed where the snow had drifted.

Be that as it may to wake up and behold this 1st snow on the ground was a good eal of a surprise to everybuddy in Bingville altho they knowd it would come sooner or later, but they wassent expeckting it to sneek down on em in the dark, as it were.

Some grate pote of the past whose name has excaped us for the moment has wrote a pome enticeld, "Bootifool Snow." We cant jest repeet the lines of this pome being as they aint suffishently fumilyer to us, but from whot we can recolleckt this pote goes on to tell whot a lovely thing snow is becuz its so pure and white et cettery too numerus to mentchion.

All we have to say in this conneckshion is that the pote who wrote that pome couldnt of been as mutch ackustomd to snow eight munths in the yr like Bingville folks is, or he wouldnt talk so mutch about snow being so turrible bootifool. If he had to waller around in snow three or four ft deep all winter long like we haft to do here in Bingville he mite write things about snow and he mite call it things but he wouldnt call it bootifool. In our eddytoriul opinyun enuff snow is a genteel suffishency but when its three or four ft deep its altogether sooperfloos.

However well haft to make the best of the snow whitch has fell and the best of what further snow falls in the fuchure. Snow is somethink whitch we cant pervent. If we could we would.

Sossiety Items

Miss Amelia Tucker, our raining sossiety queen in a conversashion whitch we had with her tother day informd us that every indicashion pints to a unoshually gay & festive soshial season amungst the Bingville smart set this winter being as several seleckt taffy-pulls, charade parties and other festivities too numerus to mentchion is skeduled to take place in the not far distant fuchure.

Sim Wilkins says if he can git the floor down in his new barn he'll give a barn dance next Satterday night a week. Sim is workin fit to bust hisself to git the barn floor down in time, but it dont look as if he could make it.

Miss Clemintina Osgood made a shopping tower to the co seat with her mother one day last wk and purchased a pr of elbow gloves for speshial occashions. Miss Clementina will probly be saw wearing these gloves at soshial events later on.

Miss Sally Hoskins give a birthday party at her residence last Satterday afternoon from 1 to 6 p. m. in honner of her 19th birthday. It ockurd to us that Miss Milly must be oldern 19 so we went to the trubble to consult our back files as to when she was borned and it pains us to a nounce that Miss Milly will be 24 on next Satterday instid of 19. We persoom Milly has made a mistake in her calkilashions.

Hank Dewberry our well knowd but good for nothink cittizen informs us that his bulldog "Buster" is for sale to whoever desires a good watch dog. Hank says "Buster" eats moren he does hisself and he cant a ford to support him no longer. Good reason for selling. Here is a chanst to git a bulldog cheep.

P. S. (SPESHIAL NOTIS)—The above item about Hank's bulldog aint exactly whot you would call a sossiety item and should not be regarded as sutch, but we diddent have no room for it ennywhere else.—Editor Bugle.

PLEASE READ THIS IF YOU DONT READ NOTHINK ELSE IN THE PAPER!

Old Enoch Timmins one of the most respeckted cittizens of Hardscrabble was in Bingville last wk and made the trip clean over here speshially to subscribe for the Bingville Bugle whitch he done paying cash in advance like a gentleman whitch funds was recd by us with great cheer & acclaim.

We told Enoch that we cornsiderd it rather strange that he should come to Bingville to subscribe for the Bugle when the Hardscrabble Banner was published rite in his own town under his nose as we mite say.

"Pooh!" says Enoch, "the Hardscrabble Banner aint fit for nothink but to bild fires with and it aint very good even for that. Besides the edditor of the Hardscrabble Banner aint got as mutch brains in his head as Providence commonly gives to a goose. I tuk the Banner long enuff to find out whot a skandalus good for nothink cheep imitashun of a noosepaper it were, then I stopd it and desided to take the Bugle whitch is full of intelligent informashun to say nothink of your brillyunt eddytoriuls on all the leading topicks of the day."

When sitch a uprite man as Enoch Timmins talks about the Hardscrabble Banner and the editor of same as per above all we got to say is there must be some truth in it. In fackt we beleeve every word Enoch says about the Hardscrabble Banner & we also agree with whot he says about the Bugle.

When you want a noosepaper whitch is not only good to bild fires with and to spread on cupboard shelves, but also to read by intelligent people and thus add to your sum total of huming nolledge. Subscribe for the Bugle.

SPESHIAL REQUEST—Hardscrabble Banner please copy.

Quite coolish as we go to press and it may be more so tomorrow. Time alone will tell.

The resent snow will likely make the roads muddy & practikally impossible until it freezes up.

Are you aware that your Bugle subscripshion is back ennywhere from 5 to 15 yrs, depending on whitch partickler dead beat you be on the list? If this shoe pinches you come to the Bugle offis and pay up like a man—or a woman as the case may be.

Doc Livermore wants Jabe Winslow to let him amputate that bunch on his nose whitch is growin bigger & bigger, but Jabe says if it growd so big he couldnt see past it he wouldnt let Doc Livermore amputate it. Jabe says he lost a horse onct by letting Doc Livermore try to cure it and as a result he wouldnt let Doc docter a sick cat as fur as he is concernd. Jabe is a very plain spoke man.

Miss Almira Hobbs and Clem Winkley who have been keeping company for several yrs and who had a fall out recent has made up agin and we have it on good orthoritty that they be jest as love sick at present as they ever was. Miss Almira ort to pester Clem into poppin the questshion afore they fall out agin. First thing she knows she'll lose him yet.

Plutarch Stone of Sorrow Hollow cald at the Bugle offis last wk and when Plutarch come in we thort shure he had came to pay us somethink on his back subscripshion whitch he aint never paid a cent on sinst he subscribed so we was as perlite as could be. Plutarch smoked two pipefuls of our tobacko and talkd a hour after whitch he departed without payin us a ct or makin any referents to the fackt that he owed us. The gall of some people simply amazes & flabbergasts us at times.

Abe Thomas had a barl of hard cider to spring a leek last wk and before he discuverd it haff the barl had excaped. It made Abe turrible gloomy & blue to think of a whole haff barl of good old hard cider with a awful kick to it a going to waste when it mite of been used by Abe in emergencies or for medisinal use only.

After wearing mourning for several yrs Widow Hinckley has sprooced up like everythink recent and roomer has it that old Si Cummings has been paying her considerable attenshion lately. Nabers has observd a lite in the front parler of the Widows home quite numerously of late. The widow is a fine woman and we wouldnt blame Si if he did marry her, but we should think that he ponder a long time afore hed take over Bud Hinckley the widows son who aint quite rite in his head for a step-son.

Jim Mason got a cirkler thru the mail last wk from a stranger in Noo York who says if Jim will send him $500 he'll send back $1000 worth of counterfeit money whitch looks jest as nacherl as real money and cant be told from it. Jim says this looks like a turrible good chanst to double his money, but hes afeard theres some ketch to it. Jims purty smart if he does say so hisself.

Hi Henderson pasd thru our midst lately as fast as his horses could run and like to of run over Deacon Snodgrass who was crossin the road and is as deef as a post. Hi misd the Deacon only by a few intches. Everybuddy was commenting on His reckless of drivin so fast until he driv back about a hour later and explaind that his horses was runnin off when he pasd thru Bingville and he couldnt git em stopd until he come to Tecks Hill.

Hen Weathersby prop of our general store has posted a notis in the store requesting them as spends their evgs there not to set on the counter becuz it disarranges his ginghams, muslins and other drygoods. If they dont set on the counter where will they set, pray? If Hen desires to cater to his custumners let him furnish chairs, boxes, et cettery to set on.

Mrs. Cy Hoskins lost her purse somewheres on Main st betwixt her home and the P. O. last Tuesday afternoon containing $15. Whoever returns this purse will be rewarded very liberal and asked to stay to dinner. LATER—Whoever picked up this purse was saw to do it and unless it is returnd at onct the law must take its course. STILL LATER—Mrs. Hoskins has found her purse on the mantel at home where she left it and forgot all about it.

Miss Molly Tucker had a severe attack of the toothake last wk & as a result her right cheek was swole up twict as big as the left whitch give Miss Molly sitch a lop-sided and ridicklus apearants that it was all a person could do to keep from bustin out laffin in her fase when they met her. We persoom however it wassent no laffin matter to Miss Molly.

Dad Henderson perdicks that this is a going to be a turrible cold winter. Dad generally waits until after winter is haff over afore he perdicks whether its a going to be hard or open. Well we shall see how near Dad comes to hittin it.

Several is on the sick list in our midst but we wont mentchion no names becuz if we left out enny theyd be mad at us.

Eb Petersbys roomytiz has came back on him again with sitch a vengents that Eb has to walk with a cane. Eb says if there is ennythink worsen roomytiz in this world to pester a person hed like to know whot it is.

Mrs. Martha Coombs sold enuff sope in our midst to git a dining room table as a premium. It took a awful lot of orders for sope in order to git the table and as a result folks hereabouts has enuff sope on hands to last em several yrs even if they took a bath evry wk.

Joe Higgins who keeps the genl store here recd a stock of fly paper last wk. Joe says he ordered that fly paper away last Janooary and its jest arrove. Who wants flypaper in November when all the flies is froze deadern doornails? Nobody!

Doc Livermore of Bingville was here last wk to cure Mel Brownlees sick horse. Doc give it considerable medisin after whitch the horse laid down and dide.

We beleeve these is all the news whitch have happened lately in our midst. More subsequent.

VERDI'S OPERA "AIDA" AT THE PALACE WEDNESDAY EVENING

The San Carlo Grand Opera company, whose members, including the leading stars, have so firmly established themselves in all the big opera-loving communities that they are now aware of the degree of merit expected of them when they appear, will come to Fort Wayne next Wednesday morning by special train from Toledo, where Monday and Tuesday will be spent. This organization, according to the exchanges, is replete with splendid voices and personalities. The names of the principals speak eloquently of the aim of the San Carlo management to make the 1917-18 tour of the organization the attractive feature of the present operatic season, the very highest ideals in all departments, principals, orchestra, chorus, scenery, decorations, costumes and all of that being splendidly maintained. It is the only company that has solved the problem of opera for the people. It is supported by the people, without the aid of guarantees or subsidies; its managers have secured many of the world's foremost songbirds, removed the dollar-mark from them and steadfastly refuses to exploit them with barrels of printer's ink, as if printer's ink sounds well or constitutes musical art. There are many fine artists who could well be featured as stars, but the San Carlo company is the San Carlo company. Its forces recently invaded seasoned, opera-going New York city in a series of twenty-four performances and shattered all records for attendance and receipts there, so far as visiting companies are concerned.

Music critics have been generous and just in their estimation of the San Carlo performances, because it is an organization that has the hearty co-operation of every member. Each one is the possessor of a superb voice, with the added dramatic potentiality of a singing actor or actress. They have been gathered from the strongholds of art; they sing with unity, fine pitch and excellent tonal quality. The organization has always been recognized as a wonderful singing body, ever since its forces numbered among them such singers as Nordica, Campanari, Constantino and others. The performances are animated by a high and intelligent artistic enthusiasm. They are said to have real vitality; the kind that gets deep into the popular soil and enriches the love for the higher forms of music. Instant recognition has been won from the most critical audiences in the country, and the tours embrace all the prominent cities from Quebec to San Francisco, and from Winnipeg to New Orleans.

Verdi's "Aida," to be sung here by the San Carloans, is a masterpiece redolent of all the melodic perfume of its composer's native country, yet filled with evidences of the Wagner influence, and is a story that is tragically told as well by the music as by the dramatic action. Artists that stand foremost in public favor, will appear in the leading roles of the spectacular opera here. A splendid cast has been worked out, which will afford devotees of music to hear the following principals of the organization:

Mme. Mary Kaestner, dramatic soprano or Lusia Darclee, dramatic soprano, in the title part; Miss Frances Ingram, the celebrated Chicago opera contralto, who comes as a special "guest" artist for this occasion; Senor Manuel Salazar, the eminent Spanish tenor, acknowledged Spain's premier opera star; Mons. Joseph Royer, new French baritone, now making his first tour of the United States; Signor Pietro DeBiasi, former leading basso with the original Boston Theatre company; Signor Natale Cervi, former leading basso with the Montreal opera; Signor Luciano Rosini, second tenor, from the Carlo Felice, Florence.

"AIDA"
—Cast—
Aida..Mary Kaestner or Luisa Darclee
Radames ....Manuel Salazar
Amonasro ....Joseph Royer
Amneris ....Frances Ingram
Ramfis ....Pietro Deblasi
King of Egypt ....Natale Cervi

It is recalled that Salazar sings his biggest aria, "Celeste Aida," shortly after the rise of the curtain on the first act. This is one of the most beautiful arias ever written into an operatic score, and patrons wishing to enjoy it should be in their seats not later than 8:15.

Verdi's Opera "Aida" in Three Acts.

The text of Verdi's immortal opera "Aida" was translated from the French of Locle by Antonio Ghielanzoni. The opera was first produced at Cario, Egypt, December 24, 1871; at La Scala, Milan, in 1872; in Paris in 1876; in London later in the same year; and the first American presentation was in 1873, the cast including Torriani, Cary, Campanini and Maurel. The scene is laid in Memphis and Thebes, in Pharaoh's time.

The opera was written by request of the Viceroy of Egypt, who wished to celebrate the opening of his new opera house at Cairo by the production of a work with an Egyptian theme from the pen of the most popular composer of his time. The story originated with Marietta Bey, the famous Egyptologist, and seems to have inspired Verdi to unusual efforts.

Aida, daughter of Amonasro, King of Ethiopia, has been captured by the Egyptians, and is a slave at the court of Memphis, where she and the young soldier, Radames, have fallen in love. Radames goes to the Egyptian war, and during his absence the king's daughter discovers his attachment and is furious, as she herself loves Radames. Radames returns covered with glory, bringing many prisoners and among them, Amonasro, Aida's father. The king releases all the prisoners except Aida and Amonasro, and furthermore bestows upon the unwilling Radames the hand of his daughter.

In the next scene Amonasro forces his daughter to persuade Radames to become a traitor. The latter's love for Aida and his distastes for the approaching union with Amneris, leads him to consent. Amneris, however, has overheard the plot, and after vainly trying to induce Radames to abandon Aida, she denounces him as a traitor, and he is condemned to be buried alive. When the crypt is sealed he discovers Aida, who had concealed herself there that she might die with him, and the lovers slowly suffocate in each other's arms.

"MILITARY MAIDS" IN MUSICAL COMEDY TOMORROW

The ideas of musical comedy patrons have advanced so rapidly the past two seasons, that a manager can no longer expect to command attention with a mediocre attraction of the brand that has been handed out by some of the musical companies. The people who patronize a theatre now expect the same production, as to scenery and costumes that they would in the legitimate houses. Realizing this state of affairs Wainstock, who is looked upon as a showman of the first magnitude, has enlisted the services of the ablest people obtainable to give a performance of the kind that is demanded by the people who pay to see musical comedy. To begin with, he has engaged such well known stars as George A. Clark, that versatile comedian; Leona Fox, Charles Fagan, Caroline Warner, Myrtle Franks, Ben Holmes, James Hilbert, Harry Van. The scenery and costumes together with electrical effects have never before been attempted, and he deserves credit for the successful manner in which he has catered to the desire of the public. The company is a very good one, and the musical numbers are gems, and of that jingling kind that sets an audience whistling as they leave the theatre. Don't forget the beauty chorus of twenty sparkling pretty maidens all under twenty.

AT THE PALACE

MAX GRUBER'S PACHERDYM.

Max Gruber's famous Pacherdym, the trick elephant with the human brain, is the stellar actor in the Gruber animal act de luxe that features the bill for the first portion of the week opening at the New Palace Sunday afternoon. Gruber has taught this remarkable elephant a score of tricks that no other of these ponderous beasts can even attempt to do. In addition to the big elephant Gruber is presenting a group of ponies and dogs in a novel series of feats.

Harry Richards and Bessie Kyle, the best team of kidding funsters the Palace ever has presented are on this bill in their skit, "Club Night." Both have excellent singing voices but it is in their persiflage that they excel.

Yates and Reed, in their satire, "Double Crossing," a snappy study in travesty; Tabor and Green, two versatile darkies, who sing a bit, talk a bit, dance a bit and play a bit; Alex Sparks, Harry Ali and company in the skit, "Cat Tails," in which the two men do amusing cat impersonations, and the Steindel boys in a short musical recital on the piano and the violin also are on this bill.

Battery Films.

Tonight will afford the final opportunity for enjoying the official films of Batteries B and D, made just prior to the embarkation of these units for France. This exclusive film release is projected in conjunction with a real laugh show featured by Ed Blondell in "The Boy From Home," assisted by Katherine Caine. Included on this bill are Fred Whitfield and Marie Ireland in the rural satire, "The Belle of Bingville." Frazer, Bunce and Harding, a trio of comedians as alike as triplets, who do an identity act, "Who's Who?" The three Misses Weston in vocal and instrumental numbers. The Casting Lamys in an aerial thriller, and Nolan and Nolan, a crack team of jugglers.

AT THE GRAND.

"They are too strong for us. You get the settlers to your cabin, and I'll go get Black-eyed Pete and his Mexicans. They don't like the cattle men any better than you do." And with that, Cheyenne Harry, who had come to shoot up the settlers at a price, sped away to the mountain fastness. Harry was a fearless, hard-riding, straight-shooting bad man, whos gun was at the service of the highest bidder. The cattle chief had hired Harry and Fremont, a gun man of another kind, to rid the country of settlers, but Harry had in a weakening moment looked upon the face of Olive, the daughter of one of the settlers, and the badness had oozed out of him like water from a sponge.

When news went back to the cattle camp that Harry had gone over to the settlers, Fremont was commissioned to "get" his late accomplice as a preliminary to the big raid that night. All this information was brought to the settler by Hoot, Olive's sweetheart. A duel in the streets of the settlement settled Fremont, and then came the raid. When the cattlement had been routed, with many saddles empty, came the greatest test of Harry's reform, the test of himself. Should he give up the girl to Hoot, who loved her too, when he felt so certain he could cut out Hood? This battle tested Harry as nothing before ever had. It gives just the proper climax to a story of increasing thrill and finest suspense.

"I am going up to your grandmother's at the end of the subway to pay her a visit. I'll be back this afternoon."

With these words Mrs. Montgomery took leave of her little daughter Carol. But soon Carol became lonesome.

"I think I'll go and visit grandmother, too," she said to herself.

Accordingly Carol took her little parasol and her little satchel and bravely set forth. Kindly policemen directed her to the subway and the subway guard saw to it that she had a good seat. During the trip she fell asleep and the guard awakened her at the end of the line.

"I think I know the way," responded Carol.

But she didn't know the way and soon she was lost.

"Please don't ask me. I know, but I can't tell you," said Carol.

The reason she wouldn't answer was this: Her father was a naval officer who was being dogged by spies. He had told Carol never to answer any questions put to her by strangers, as in doing so she might be bringing harm to her daddy.

Carol steadfastly refused to answer all the questions put to her and, as the result, she experienced many surprising adventures. You will see them all in "The Adventures of Carol," the unusual and wholly delightful new World-Picture Brady-Made in which charming little Madge Evans is the delightful star, at the Orpheum.

DECATUR NEWS.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 10.—Miss Agnes Krick, of Gary, will return tomorrow to her work after a short visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krick.

Miss Esther Bowers has returned from Plymouth where she visited with her father, J. S. Bowers, who is in a nerve sanitarium there. Her sisters, Mrs. Kaugh, of Fort Wayne, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes, of Kendallville, accompanied her there. In Fort Wayne she called on her sister-in-law, Mrs. Will Bowers at Hope hospital, who is getting along well since an operation.

Miss Mary Osborne, of Indianapolis, of the state Anti-Tuberculosis society, was here and appointed School Superintedent M. F. Worthmann and the city high school students to take charge of the Red Cross Christmas seal campaign for the county. They began today with the distribution of 50,000 seals and expect to sell them all.

Tony and Herman Myers gave a delightful barn dance at the farm of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Myers, south of the city. The Geels boys furnished the music.

Henry Morningstar, of Celina, O., was here on business. Mr. Morningstar has the distinction of having boarded for forty-four years at one hotel in Celina.

Ralph Jahn, who enlisted and was called to military service this week, is at home again, having been granted a week's furlough on account of the illness of his father and brother.

Articles of incorporation of the Alberson cemetery in Jeffersontownship, have been filed with County Recorder A. C. Augsburger.

Mrs. Bargaret Meibers and daughters, Mrs. Anna Dropplemann and Mrs. C. B. Maibers spent yesterday in Fort Wayne.

The Adams County Sunday School association has elected the following officers for the new year: President. C. L. Walters; vice-présidents, John Nelson and J. F. Lehman; secretary treasurer, Helena Liechty, Berne.

Miss Josephine Malley has gone to Chicago to attend to business and pleasure.

Mrs. J. H. Voglewede and Mrs. Margaret Meibers have returned from a two weeks' visit in Toledo, O., with their sister and duaghter, Mrs. B. Uhl.

Rev. and Mrs. W. Paul Marsh were initiated by the Eastern Star chapter last evening. The state grand matron, Ella Smyzer, of Terre Haute, was the guest of honor also, and a banquet was given.

MRS. WARD BAILEY SUES FOR DIVORCE

Ward Bailey is Charged With Failure to Provide and Desertion.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Bailey, formerly Miss Esther Campbell, has filed suit for divorce from her husband, Ward Bailey, in the circuit court of DeKalb county. Mrs. aBiley charges her better half with non support, neglect and desertion. She states that they were married August 24, 1916, and have always lived with her parents in this city, as her husband would never provide a home for her although earning a salary that would enable him to do so.

Auburn Short Items.

The funeral of Carl Hettinger was held Friday afternoon at the Methodist church and interment was made at Woodlawn. Mr. Hettinger was killed at Kalamazoo, Mich., on the railroad tracks. It was a custom of his to walk along the railroad tracks to his work, it being a nearer route, and although no one saw him get killed the general supposition is that he was struck by a switch engine. Mrs. Hettinger will be remembered as Miss Pearl Roberts, of this city. The body was brought here Friday morning.

Frank H. Cook, of Garrett, is asking the court for judgment for $20,000 against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company for injuries sustained while working in the shops at Garrett. He claims to have been injured in a fall from a ladder when he was engaged in putting in a belt rigging in the saw shop.

The collection of clothing given by the people of DeKalb county for the children of Belgium and France will be displayed Saturday and over Sunday in the display windows of several of the local stores. The display from Garrett will be seen in the windows at the Bowers store and other goods will be seen at Schaab's, Culbertson's, Nebelung's and the Gas office.

The working girls of Auburn held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening for the purpose of organizing for the Y. M. C. A. war fund and any other war work in which they can be of assistance. Rev. A. P. Bourns, pastor of the Auburn Presbyterian church, had charge of the meeting and many were present and showed a keen interest in the work as outlined.

Roswell Bowers, an Auburn lad who enlisted early in the summer, has been made sergeant at Camp Shelby, at Hattiesburg, Miss.

Mrs. Arilla Carson, of Union township, filed action for a divorce Friday from her husband, Clayborn W. Carson. She charges her hubby with habitual drunkenness and non-support. The couple were married in 1912 and separated last July. They have one child, a son, four years old.

ANOTHER THEFT.

Ernest Marine, the auto and tire thief arrested in Fort Wayne and who escaped from the Delaware county sheriff, evidently must have covered practically all of northern Indiana in his thefts. Chief of Police Lenz received a letter Saturday from A. W. Sherer saying that Marine stole a tire from his machine in Indianapolis a few days before his arrest here.

PASTORS TO VOICE PLEA

Y. M. C. A. War Work Fund to be Urged from Pulpits Tomorrow.

PREPARING FOR NEXT WEEK'S DRIVE

Many Meetings Are Held as Campaign Teams Organize.

Opening guns of Allen county's campaign to provide $45,000 to aid the war work fund of the Y. M. C. A., will be fired from pulpits of many city churches tomorrow, when pastors will urge upon their congregations the need of active support for the three-days' drive of the soliciting teams on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next.

Preliminary work discloses a widely-awakened interest in the spendidly beneficent movement, and a popular determination that Allen county shall not only do her full share, but that her patriotic generosity will carry her "over the top" in this campaign with an amount n excess of the assigned quota.

More Club Captains.

City Campaign Director E. J. Little is rapidly lining up the club organizations for the campaign drive. Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, has consented to captain the Rotary club team.

L. L. Bart is announced as the captain of the campaign team representing the Fort Wayne Real Estate board. George H. VanArnam, past president of the Quest club, will serve as the captain of the team representing that live organization. The club at a meeting on Friday, took enthusiastic action to participate in the campaign.

Meetings Over the County.

Outside districts, as well as the city, are falling in line in handsome fashion, and the organization of the county under the direction of Arthur F. Hall and A. J. Hutchins is progressing rapidly. Last evening O. E. Tomes addressed the Parent-Teacher club at the Wayne-Haven school, and other county meetings scheduled are as follows:

Lafayette township—George Meyers will act as chairman of a meeting to be held in the Christian church, Beech Grove, Wednesday night.

Lake township—Earl Rummel will act as chairman of a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock Monday night in the Arcola Bank hall, Arcola.

Marion township—On Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. O. E. Tomes, of Fort Wayne, will speak at a meeting to be held at Poe. Cortez Hubler will act as chairman.

Maumee township—A general meeting of the people of Maumee township will be held in the M. E. church at Woodburn, Sunday night, with J. R. Yaggy, chairman. E. F. Yarnelle, Lieutenant Fuelling and E. W. Peirce will speak. All of the other churches will close to enable the people to attend the general meeting.

Scipio township—A meeting will be held on Sunday afternoon, announcement to be made later.

Springfield—Harlan Odd Fellows' hall Wednesday night. L. V. Lickens, chairman; Rev. A. J. Folsom, speaker.

St. Joseph—St. Joseph M. E. church, Sunday afternoon 2:30. Charles Ashley, chairman.

A man from Auburn visited the Y. M. C. A. campaign headquarters in Fort Wayne on Friday and stated that it was his desire to provide a number of New Testaments for men at the front who desire them, and to distribute them either directly to addresses to be furnished or through the Y. M. C. A. The latter plan was adopted, and the caller, who would not leave his name, gave three hundred copies of the Holy Word to be sent to the men in the cantonments or at the front. He stated that more would be forthcoming, as the demand is apparent.

Coming From Army Camp.

That the soldier boys in the camps are vitally interested in the Y. M. C. A. war work campaign because they appreciate fully what the Y. M. C. A. means to them in the form of better surroundings, wholesome recreations and uplifting influences is demonstrated by the fact that soldiers from Camp Zachary Taylor at Louisville are going out into the state to assist the campaign. I. H. Fuelling, a Fort Wayne soldier, will come to this city on this mission, and will deliver several addresses on Sunday in support of the work. At 9:30 Sunday morning Mr. Fuelling will speak before the Men's Bible class of the Firtst Baptist church, at 10:30 he will speak at Simpson M. E. church, and in the afternoon at the school hall of his home church—Concordia Lutheran. In the evening Mr. Fuelling will speak at Woodburn, where E. F. Yarnelle is also to sing.

Rev. W. T. Arnold, of Bluffton, was the principal speaker at a meeting in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. war work fund at Decatur, Friday evening, at which ten of the twelve townships in Adams county were represented. E. W. Peirce, of Fort Wayne, was another speaker at the meeting.

At Angola, Friday evening, Rev. H. B. Master, of Fort Wayne, spoke at a meeting held in the Steuben county court house, while A. C. Neal, also of Fort Wayne, was addressing another Steuben county audience at Fremont in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. campaign.

FALL RETAIL TRADE BRISK IN ALL LINES

Merchants Report Excellent Business With Return of Seasonable Weather.

The perfect weather of the past week has been reflected in the retail trade conditions which suffered a little from the cold, sleety days of the preceding weeks. Buying was brisk during the entire week, and especially on Wednesday, which some of the merchants now regard as "the new Saturday." Thousands of out of town people are now coming to the city regularly on Suburban day, as they recognize the weekly shopping day as the time of exceptional opportunity to buy war-time necessities at money-saving prices. It is noticeable, the merchants report, that the trade from outside is confined largely to lines which are not to be found in the stores of the smaller towns, and that the out of town patrons are evidently observing the slogan, "Try your home merchant first; then try Fort Wayne." Each week The Sentinel will give full announcement to the Suburban day "special."

ARRANGE FOR BIG POULTRY EXHIBITION

Fort Wayne is to have its annual poultry show on January 17 to 22. The decision to hold the affair was made at Friday night's meeting of the Poultry Fanciers' association. Two downtown buildings have been offered and one of them will be rented within a few days.

Purdue university will in a large way contribute to the show this year. Owing to the special efforts of the government in urging the people to raise chickens in order to reduce the high cost of living the school exhibit will be a large one.

The association has arranged to have two licensed judges of the American Poultry association make the selections of prize winners. The exhibit promises to be an exceptionally large one owing to the closing of smaller county shows this year because of the war. Many exhibits from nearby towns will be entered in the exhibition.

BIG COAL SUPPLY FOR INDUSTRIAL RESERVE

Washington, Nov. 10.—Coal estimated at 250,000 tons will be conserved annually for essential industrial and domestic use by a new order of the fuel administration limiting the use of fuel for electric display lighting to the hours between 7:45 and 11 o'clock p. m.

The order is but a phase of a big campaign planned by Dr. Garfield to restrict the use of fuel during war-time to those industries whose product is vitally necessary to the public or of use in carrying on the war.

NEGRO AND A GUN CAUSE A STAMPEDE

Art Morgan is a bad negro. He was arrested late Friday evening on Melita street after he had threatened to blow the head off of his landlady. The testimony of the landlady, her daughters and two boarders showed that Morgan tried his best to accomplish his threat, but Morgan gave a rather fanciful story about another one of his race for whom the lead bullet was intended. Judge Kerr ordered the gun and a wicked looking banana knife destroyed and sentenced Morgan to fifteen days on the county roads and fined him $35 and costs. His sentence was extremely light because none of the witnesses could testify that he was pointing the gun, all declaring that they were too scared to look.

Steals Coat.

Reymas Lucusom, a pretty little 16-year-old girl, was arrested by Detective Sergeant Pappert on a charge of larceny. A coat and pocketbook that had been stolen were found in her room. The girl had been working at the Holman street lamp works and had taken various articles from her fellow employes. Among these was the coat belonging to Marcella Kloren. She was bound over to the juvenile court.

Alvina in Again.

Alvina Genard was in court on a drunk charge Saturday morning. The offense is not the first by any means, but she was let go upon her promise to be good. Joe Hart and Matt Torrent, both drunks, were given $1 and costs and $5 and costs, respectively.

Didn't Like Caller.

Eugene Barrand didn't like his daughter's young man and told her so. The daughter objected to having the young man made aware of the fact and grew peevish when her father held open the door for him. As a result Barrand started a general housewrecking just to show who was boss. Officer Fred Fry settled the argument by taking the man to the station. He had cut his head so badly in the melee that it was necessary to give him medical attention. Judge Kerr decided that the fellow had had punishment enough and continued the case indefinitely.

Violates Ordinance.

H. J. Bowerfind violated a city ordinance when he stopped his car within the danger zone of the fire plug at the corner of Berry and Barr streets. His machine was pushed to the police station and Bowerfind was ordered to appear. It developed that he was inside of the limits by a very small margin and was therefore let go with a warning.

Auto Accident.

C. F. Israel, 1447 Taylor street, reported to the police that he collided with a motorcycle at the corner of Taylor street and Riedmiller avenue Friday evening. The rider of the motorcycle gave his name as Sowers. Although slightly hurt about the legs Sowers was able to proceed.

SPENCERVILLE NEWS.

Spencerville, Ind., Nov. 10.—The Christian Endeavor society of the Lutheran church met at the parsonage on Thursday evening and elected their officers which was followed by music furnished by the Misses Helen Lake and Leonie Widdifield, after which apples and popcorn were served. The new officers are: President, Harry Hersh; vice president, Gaylan Markle; secretary-treasurer, Miss Mary Henderson; chorister, Bertha Thornburgh; assistant, Florence Beams; organist, Gaylan Markle; assistant, Mary Pervines. Chairmen of the committees are: Sunshine, Miss Marjoria Hollabaugh; Lookout, John Ruppert; Missionary, Mrs. Mumma; Prayer Meeting, Miss Margerate Lake.

Mrs. Henry Beams and Mrs. George Beams motored to Auburn on Friday afternoon to attend the funeral of the former's nephew, Carl Hettinger, of Kalamazoo. The young man was killed on the railroad.

Miss Leiba Horn, of Fort Wayne, spent Saturday night and Sunday the guest of Miss Ruth Gratz and sister, Miss Olive.

Mrs. Frank Bachtol and daughter, of Coletown, spent several days the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Wilmot and family.

William Tyndall, Mrs. William Allen and daughter, Emma, and Mrs. Milton Chaney, left on Friday afternoon to spend a few days visiting the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jason Kees, of Fort Wayne.

Miss Leila Horn and Don Gorrell were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gratz and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank House, Mrs. Wilmott Coburn, of Coburntown; Charles Boston, of near Grabill, and Mrs. Frank Bachtol and daughter, of Coletown, were Tuesday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Wilmott.

A weiner roast was enjoyed by the freshman class and Miss Bertha Thornburgh, on Thursday afternoon after school on the green.

Easy to Rid Home of Rats and Mice

There is no need of suffering from the depredations of rats and mice now that Stearns' Paste is readily obtainable at nearly every store. A small box of this effective exterminator costs but 35 cents and is usually sufficient to completely rid the house, store or barn of rats and mice. The U. S. government has bought thousands of pounds of Stearns' Paste for use in cities where rats and mice are plentiful. The Paste is also effectual in destroying cockroaches and waterbugs.—Advertisement.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

The prompt and positive action of this simple, inexpensive home-made remedy in quickly healing the inflamed or swollen membranes of the throat, chest or bronchial tubes and breaking up tight coughs, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. You then have a full pint—a family supply—of a much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is known the world over for its promptness, ease and certainty in overcoming stubborn coughs and chest colds.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

About eight years ago a worker of the Pacific Garden Mission of Chicago, handed a printed invitation to a young man who was at the point of entering an evil resort. The card contained the golden text of the Bible, with the address of the mission on the reverse side. For a moment as the young man looked at it there was hesitation in his step. Then he thrust the card into his vest pocket, and followed his course. Six years later, moneyless and friendless, his body well night broken by debauch, when even his decent clothes had been gambled away, he put on that old vest, and, thrusting his fingers nervously into his pockets, recovered the card. It helped him to find the Christ.

He was a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and had practised law in a little town of that state. The big city attracted him; there seemed to be more chance for an ambitious lawyer. He secured a desk in a lawoffice, and upon his inquiring where he might most easily get started his new acquaintances advised the handling of cases for toughs and gamblers. Thus it came about that within a month from his coming to Chicago he had joined the ranks of shyster lawyers.

In order to make a success of the work he was forced to become intimately acquainted with the crooked ways of the underworld. He learned to "walk in the counsel of the ungodly." From this it was no long step to "the seat of the scornful." Six short years sufficed to drag down a young man of good family and respectable position to the lowest rung on the professional ladder.

Throughout these years of decline he remained in private life "within the law." While defending criminals whom he knew to be guilty and trying to show their innocence, he never committed a criminal act. And he might have kept free from crime, had it not been for the unrelenting hold which gambling took on him. The day came when the gambling-den had robbed him of everything he possessed—his books, his diamond stud, his ring, his watch, and his last decent suit of clothes. There was nothing more he could risk. Then it occurred to him that his mother had intrusted to him the deed and title to her little home, the house which she and his father had wrested from the small wages the father had earned while raising the boy and four other children. Driven by the devil of gambling, he staked that document, and lost.

When he awoke the following morning, it startled him that finally he had become a thief. That he had stolen from his own mother made the deed look so much the blacker. He knew well enough that she would never cite him into court; but there was no way of restoring the goods, and some day she must find him out. Silently the purpose crept upon him to put his few records in order, to write his mother a letter of confession, to ask forgiveness, and to rid the earth of one more nuisance.

He scanned his notes and papers and pawn-tickets, feeling over his person. What was that old card doing in his vest pocket? Where did he get hold of it? On it the words were printed, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." The words were not new to him, but that they should face him at so critical a moment, this impressed him deeply. The address on the reverse side brought to mind the incident of six years previous. It was the card he had received on his way to an evil resort.

The incident contained the elements of surprise and adventure that particular appeal to a gambler; for men of that type strongly believe in superhuman agencies. This strange find might present a clew that was worth following up; who could tell? Anyway, he decided to follow directions, to walk over to the Pacific Garden Mission, and to see what turn affairs might take.

His clothes, though no longer new, were much better than those of the other outcasts; but he knew that he was one of their kind. Looking about, he saw on the walls the words of his card, "For God so loved." There seemed to be something uncanny about it.

The mission workers came over to talk with him, but he gave them little satisfaction. There were too many dark and hidden labyrinths within and too litle sense of sin in the presence of mercy.

Toward the close of the evening session a student at the Moody Institute happened in, who had spent some years in Minnesota. He had never met the gambler personally, but had frequented his old home town, so that he was able to get into closer touch with him. A room was placed at their disposal, and there the weary sinner told the story of his failure. When he had finished, my friend, who afterward told me, said, "Now tell the heavenly Father this same story just as you told it to me."

"Can't, said the gambler; "don't know how."

"Simply use the words you used when you talked to me, but be talking to our Father in heaven," rejoined the fisher of men.

"But that would be praying," objected the thief; "and I can't pray. You can pray for me if you want to."

Still the other insisted that the wayward child should tell the Father all about it, until at last the gambler argued that he had no right to call God his Father, that he had no right to talk to Him. It was a great point gained. "I know you have no right to," said my friend, "but our heavenly Father gives you the right. You start out with the words, Merciful Father, and then go on just as you talked to me."

At last the wretch was persuaded. Falling upon his knees, he told God the awful story of his downward course, then pleaded to be forgiven for the sake of Jesus. When he was through, he turned to the man next to him, half hoping, half in doubt. "Do you really believe He'll forgive me?" For answer he was directed once more to the card. "Maybe there's something in it," remarked the doubtful penitent, to which the believer replied: "Something in it? There's everything in it. And let me tell you here and now, there's nothing in anything else." The gambler knew the truth of it, and silently consented.

That same evening the winner of souls was due at a prayer meeting with four other men whom he had promised to bring. The lawyer went with them. There was time before the service to request of the pastor to let some special word fall for the gambler's benefit. The season of prayer was earnest; it helped the penitent to see more clearly the face of a loving Father. Before the meeting was over the wayward son had come back, and the Father in heaven had received him. There were no more doubts after that.

But the affair demanded an immediate straightening out. With faith a-plenty our friends dispatched a telegram to the lawyer's mother, assigning a certain hotel in the city where at an appointed hour she was to meet her son. Then, without consulting the culprit he went to the gambling-den that had robbed his protege. From the police he gained the code for entering, and soon found himself face to face with the keeper. Soft words were not likely to have effect with a man of that type. It was made very clear to him that unless he gave up at once the deed to the poor widow's little home there would be worse things in store for him. It took some argument, but the Christian worker came out of that den with the documents in his pocket, and left the keeper feeling glad to be through with the affair.

Mother and son met at the appointed place. He made a clean breast of it, and asked for her forgiveness. The mother had heard rumors, but had not been willing to believe them. In due time their new friend handed back the papers to the wondering mother.

Today mother and son are again living in their little Minnesota town, where he has resumed his practice. There is small danger of his ever returning to the city. But should he go, he will seek different friends, and there will be a different story.

Who handed him the card on that fateful night eight years ago may never be known until the books are opened; but the Word did its silent work. As for the man who God used to bring home His truth, he is now preaching the gospel in the Dakotas, where he is bringing others still.

Stricken Love Has a Sequel in a World's Work of Evangelism

(Leonard Woolsey Bacon.)

You may go to the old burying-ground of Northampton, Mass., and look upon the early grave of David Brainerd, side by side with that of the fair Jerusha Edwards, whom he loved, but did not live to wed. What hopes, what expectations for Christ's cause, went down into the grave with the wasted form of that young missionary, of whose work now remained but the dear memory, and a few score swarthy Indian converts! But that majestic old Puritan Saint, Jonathan Edwards, who had hoped to call him his son, gathered up the memorials of his life in a little book.

And the book took wings and flew beyond the sea, and alighted on the table of a Cambridge student—Henry Martyn. Poor Martyn! Why would he throw himself away, with all his scholarship, his genius, his opportunities! Such a wasted life it seemed! What had be accomplished when he turned homeward from "India's coral strand," broken in health, and dragged himself as far northward as that dreary khan at Tocat by the Black Sea, where he crouched under the piled-up saddles to cool his burning fever against the earth, and there died alone, among unbelievers, no Christian hand to tend his agony, no Christian voice to speak in his ear the promises of his Master whom, as it seemed to men, he had so vainly served. To what purpose was this waste? But out of that early grave of Brainerd, and that lonely grave of Martyn has sprung the noble army of modern missionaries.

But thou, O Lord my God, hearken; behold and see and have mercy and heal me, thou in whose presence I have become a problem to myself; and that is my infirmity.—Augustine.

Mr. Bryan Pays His Respects to Theory of Man's Evolution

(Christian Standard.)

In one of his addresses at the late Winona Bible conference, Mr. Bryan paid his respects to the theory of evolution. He said, in substance:

If the Bible is a man-made book, then man should be able to produce another book equally as good, or man has degenerated.

If man made this book, he made it in a time when there were no great colleges and universities, and no great accumulations of knowledge. It was made from a scanty storehouse, if man-made, yet it deals with all great subjects from creation to everlasting life.

Man has made marvelous development in the last nineteen centuries, but on the subject, "How to Live," he has made no progress beyond the Bible teachings. Man needs a hundred, or hundreds of books to train the mind, but this one book is sufficient to train the heart.

Man's first failure is in the realm of morals. He first breaks down there, and the breakdown is due to lack of the education of the heart. Morality is the test of a man's endurance. The fundamental idea in religion is God. If the Darwinian theory be true, Christianity is false. If man has triumphed by the "survival of the fittest," then substituting love in its place will lead to the degeneracy of men. The Darwinian theory of evolution puts God so far away that he is no conscious force in the life of a man. If God is not such a force in a man's life, the life will be a failure and is likely to be dangerius to society. Drummond's theory is that nothing in the mineral kingdom rises until some power from the vegetable kingdom reaches down and lifts it up. So, in the spiritual world, there must be the lifting power from a higher kingdom, reaching down and transforming that which is low into that which is higher. Jesus said: "If I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me."

Evolution does away with the lifting power of the gospel, and substitutes therefore a theory which puts God so far away that he has no conscious influence in the life of man. German rationalism, and, undoubtedly, the present world war itself, is the fruitage of the theory of evolution, which has undermined the gospel of the Prince of Peace, taken God out of the lives of men, and put the doctrine of the "survival of the fittest," or "might makes right," in its place.

OBEDIENCE.

As we enter the path of obedience we begin to know. "He that doeth the will of God shall know of the doctrine." Each step of faith brings its proof of reason to justify it. Each duty we do in obedience to command gives us the assurance that we are in the right path. Duty, submission, obeying the rules that God has laid down, that is the pathway of faith, and after faith knowledge. God does not reveal himself to the idle gaze of curiosity, or to the mind that thinks itself big enough to weigh him in its balance. Irreverence cannot see God "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him;" and fear means the faith of obedience, the venture of trust. So the humble pathway of faith comes to reason, and reason goes back to strengthen faith for new journeys, and to kindle its eye with a new hope. What wonderful gifts of God in Christ for our salvation here, and for our unending growth in knowledge, and in love, in life everlasting.—Bishop Randolph.

"We live but one life, we pass but once through this world. We should live so that every step shall be a step onward and upward. We should strive to be victorious over every evil influence. We should seek to gather good and enrichment of character from every experience, making our progress ever from more to more. Wherever we go we should try to leave a blessing, something which will sweeten another life or start a new song or an impulse of cheer or helpfulness in another heart. Then our very memory when we are gone will be an abiding blessing."

ETERNITY.

A colored minister, in preaching on eternity, used this illustration of its immensity. He said:

"If a sparrow should take a drop of water from the Atlantic ocean at Coney Island and hop a hop a day until he reached the Pacific ocean at San Francisco, and when he got there, should let the drop fall into the Pacific, when this was done should turn around and hop a hop a day all the way back to Coney Island, get another drop and do the same thing until he had carried the whole Atlantic over into the Pacific, it would then be only early morning in enternity."

SUCCESS.

(By ALVA LEE KELTON.)

He has made a success of life, if a few
If the smile on his face and the words that he spake
Will be missed when he's gone, and if one heart shall ache
Because he is not here; yes, if only one mourn,
The world is better for his having been born.

He has made a success of life, if the end
Finds him tenderly borne to the grave by a friend.
If but one man shall say, "He was honest and true;
His voice was a voice that I have oft listened to;
He has made a success; for no man can do more.

Success, when you sum it all up, isn't gold,
Nor is it in doing some deed that is bold;
For the money we make and the houses we build
Mean nothing the moment the voice has been stilled.
But he has succeeded who, when he has gone,
In the heart of another is still living on .

YOUR HEALTH AND HOW YOU CAN KEEP IT

Climate Often Lures Consumptive Into Unwise Move.

The consumptive, who longs to go away to a favorite climate or what he thinks will prove a more favorable climate must consider the advantages and disadvantages. How much good the better climate will do, and what he forefits in making the change, whether the gains will compensate for the loss.

First is expense. It costs considerable to go away from home and live as a consumptive must live. There is the question of railroad fare, living expenses and medical supervision. There is usually a farbetter chance of regaining health at home than going away without sufficient funds in search of the will o' the wisp, a perfect climate.

Food also must be considered, for the consumptive needs greater attention to food than does the well individual. The food should be good, well prepared and appetizing. One should consider whether this will be obtainable away from home.

Work must also be considered for many expect to secure work to pay their expenses in the locality to which they go in search of health. One should know whether work can be obtained and whether it willbe work under conditions favorable to recovery of health.

The possibility of proper medical supervision must be looked into for every consumptive needs at times competent medical advice and supervision. This is particularly so for a patient who has not had training as to how a consumptive should live and what he should avoid.

Absence of family and friends is another important point to be considered, for in leaving family and friends to go among strangers in a new locality one should realize the possible effects. This is particularly true for one who has never before been away from home. It is practically impossible for a consumptive who is homesick to regain health.

How to Guard Your Children Against Germs.

Germs of disease come chiefly from other people's mouths and hands.

Therefore be careful to keep a young baby away from anyone who is not perfectly well. So-called colds, such as running nose, sore throat, bronchitis and all other such diseases, are easily communicated and may be serious for the baby.

Measles, whooping cough and diphtheria are very serious diseases for young children. The older the child the less the danger of fatal results.

Tuberculosis very often gets its start in infancy. Protect the baby from infection. Common ways of infecting a baby are by kissing, coughing or sneezing near the child, or allowing him to play with dirty toys.

Milk from tuberculosis cows frequently is the cause of tuberculosis in a baby. Enlarged glands in children are frequently caused by infection from the milk of tuberculous cows.

Children under one year of age are subject to diseases caused mainly by disordered digestion. Such ailments are first indicated by loss of appetite, headache, vomiting, and, often pain in the stomach.

At such times do not feel the child. Instead give it a dose of castor oil. To a child under two years give a teaspoonful; for children over two years of age, give two teaspoonfuls, increasing the dose for older children.

In giving castor oil the mouth should first be cooled by swallowing a little cool water. The spoon should be thoroughly wet so that the oil will slip off easily. The oil can be covered with a little orange juice to conceal the taste. After taking the oil, the child should lie down quietly for 20 minutes or half an hour.

If the castor oil does not act and the child does not appear better, send at once for a doctor.

On winter nights don't close your windows because you are cold but learn to keep warm with it open.

First arrange your room so that you do not sleep in a direct draught. If that is impossible the following simple method may be employed:

Cut a heavy piece of cotton six inches longer than the width of the window frame and 18 inches wide. Tack it along its lower edge to the window sill and hook the upper corners to the window frame. The windows may then be opened wide, but the current of air will be directed upwards.

Equally important is the bed. A thick mattress and pad should be sufficient under the sleeper, but if the mattress is thin, place heavy wrapping paper under it. Flanelette sheets may be used in preference to cotton. The lighter the top cover the better.

If down or lamb's wool are too expensive, a quilt made of two layers of flannelette with an interlining of newspapers will prove an excellent covering over the blankets.

The Klondyke bed is made by tucking the blankets under the mattress-pad at feet and sides and binding the whole securely by tucking the top covering 12 inches under the mattress at foot and sides.

For stormy weather a horse blanket or quilt with a canvas covering makes an excellent protection. The bed should be heated by hot water bottles before entering it and the covering must not be so tight that the feet are uncomfortable.

The best preparation for the cares of tomorrow is the faithful performance of the duties of today.

A Christian Mother's Outspoken Words of Love, Faith and Hope

(The Evangelical.)

I was in the company of a talented Christian lady when a friend said to her, "Why have you never written a book?"

"I am writing two," was the quiet reply. "Have been engaged on one for ten years, the other five."

"You surprise me" cried the friend," "what profound works they must be!"

"It doth not appear yet what we shall be," was her reply, "but when He makes up His jewels my great ambition is to find them there."

"Your children?" I said.

"Yes, my two children; they are my life work."

I rejoiced to hear this Christian mother's outspoken words of love and faith, and said in my heart, if all mothers builded over against their own house in this manner what would there be for reformers to do?

I know another—"who being dead yet speaketh." These volumes which lie by my hand are old and worn so that you can hardly read the words "Cottage Bible;" well do I remember a plain sweet face bending over these open volumes. She never held a pen other than for friendship's sake. Yet she gave the world the five living epistles. It was given her to come to the table of the Lord with every child. Once her wayward boy, to all human appearance, lay dying in a foreign land, yet he lived to say to that mother, "I knew you were praying for me. I knew you would pray me home."

Years after that faithful mother had gone to her rest he came for a casual visit to the old home. It was the evening of the usual weekly prayer-meeting, and he stood up to say a word for Jesus, and closed by saying, "Whatever I am or ever hope to be, or if I ever enter heaven, I owe it all to my mother."

The effect was electrical. One mother instantly arose and said, "When I am gone will my children say this of me?"

Another fell on her knees and begged God's mercy on her children. Prayer followed prayer, and a mighty outpouring of God's spirit in that church, in which scores of the young were gathered in, was the result.

Death to Self is Life in Christ, as He Himself Tells

Jesus answered them saying:

"The hour is come that the Son of man should be glorified.

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone, but if it die, it bringeth forth much friut.

"He that loveth his life shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life enternal."

Do you see that grain of wheat, alone and fruitless? Within its narow walls is a germ of life, instinctively yearing for a larger, nobler, fruitful life, yet cabined, repressed.

There is but one gateway to life and fruitfulness, viz:

"Fall into the ground and die."

You cannot climb up some other way. You cannot go around. There is no short cut.

Repelling though it may be, the law is inexorable.

Dread it, shrink form it, try to shun it if you will, there is no escape. "Fall into the ground and die," you must.

If you love your life as a grain of wheat, you lose it.

If you hate your present life, you will find the larger life and fruitfulness.

The application is plain: Death to the self life is the only gateway to life in Christ and fruitfulness.

"If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be (and shall see me.)"

"If any man serve me, him will my Father honor."

JOHN M. OSKISON

In Mother's Magazine.

The happiest boy in my neighborhood is Sammy Jones. A prize for being the most discontented would have to be divided between Willie Smith and "Tubby" Trott. We were talking about boys—their characteristics and their training—when one of us turned out this:

A boy I like is Sammy Jones,
He never cries, nor loudly moans:
"Oh, mother, give me this and that—
Some roller skates, a baseball bat—
Just like the ones their mothers got
For Willie Smith and 'Tubby' Trott."

Young Sammy takes a piece of string,
Six empty spools, a busted spring.
A board, three sticks, one wire nail,
A hoop from off a broken pail,
And mixes 'em with brains and zeal—
First think you know, a pushmobile!

Mrs. Smith's husband is the most successful lawyer in town. She probably has more money to spend than any other woman in town—and she has spending it. One of her favorite extravagances is her son, Willie. He is nearly nine; he has a pony, an air rifle, ball-bearing, two-wheeled roller skates, a twelve-ounce eight-dollar tennis racket and every book in which he has displayed an interest—however fleeting—is in his library.

Is Willie satisfied, grateful, or interested? He is not! He is carrying around a fretful air and dissatisfied face because his mother won't get him a track long enough to go round the back garden, and a train pulled by an electric engine—a train big enough for him to ride in, and which costs I don't know how many hundreds of dollars.

The Trotts have a nice house in a nice part of town. Mr. Trott is an honest and prosperous grocer. Mrs. Trott has to count the dollars she spends, and she thinks twice before spending five dollars for any sort of toy for Henry (alias "Tubby.")

"Tubby's" real sorrow is that he can't have the same toys that Willie Smith has. Thus, he wants a bugle, "like Willie Smith got last Christmas"; he thinks he wants to be bugler of his scout company, like Elmer Nixon. "Tubby" is only ten, but he thinks a scout ought to be fully trained when he joins at the age of twelve. The fact that Willie can hardly ride his pony, that he makes himself a nuisance by thoughtlessly shooting the air rifle, that he is a poor roller skater, and that he can't stay on a tennis court ten minutes at a time, makes no appeal to "Tubby." He is sorely discontented merely because he can't have what some other boy has.

Sammy Jones—Well, I have tried to picture him in the twelve lines of rhyme. It is true that Sammy's mother has less to spend that Mrs. Trott, yet Sammy is not the town's poorest boy by a long shot. Very early in his life, Sammy learned that his mother refused to accept as a reason for buying something for him the statement that some other boy had it. Mrs. Jones used to say this:

"What I want to know, Sammy, is whether or not you would like this thing. I know you'd like it today—but how about next week?"

Sammy, of course, couldn't tell about next week until it came.

In those intervals of waiting, as Sammy grew to the age of constructive curiosity, he began to plan and work for some of the things he wanted. I am sure that he was the first boy on the streets, in our town, to go hopping and pushing up the hills and then go coasting deliriously down on a pushmobile. It was homemade and subject to sudden and disastrous breakdowns, but it taught Sammy one great truth—if you want to be popular, get something different, and something into which you put yourself.

Mrs. Jones is quite willing to spend money on Sammy—indeed, she has a mother's pride and joy in doing so. But in one particular she has developed differently from Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Trott. Whereas they want Willie and Henry to have, she wants Sammy to be.

Do you see the difference? Willie and Henry, being dear and wonderful boys, deserve, and ought to have, the very best of everything. But Sammy, being equally dear and wonderful, must be the best. To arrive at excellence, in the opinion of Mrs. Jones, doesn't so much mean giving her boy things as it does teaching him what they mean, how to use them, and how to get them.

It is only a monkey-instinct, Mrs. Jones says, which makes "Tubby" Trott want the same kind of roller skates that Willie's mother bought for Willie. Before she buys them for Sammy, she wants to know—and from Sammy, if possible—whether or not they are really the best skates a boy can have, how well they wear, and whether or not they will give Sammy more fun than anything else of equal cost. In buying the skates, will Sammy become merely the play satellite of Willie Smith? If so, is that really good for Sammy?

The whine and the note of bitter envy, which come into the child's voice as it cries, "Other children have it—why can't I?" does not belong there. The child is human, and therefore covetous of what is interesting and amusing. But the child is, also generous. It is quite willing to admire a neighbor's fire engine and baby doll if the child next door will only come and play with its bridge-building materials or its tea set.

The fact is that the mothers too often are responsible for the child's envy of what other children possess. And the root of envy feeds in very shallow soil.

There is a distinction between envy and ambition. The first may drive us quite as hard as the second, but what a difference in the results! To come back to the three boys of Our Town, I think "Tubby" Trott spends as much time worrying over the problem of whether or not he can get thinks like Willie Smith's as Sammy Jones spends in building his devices and in earning money to help buy what he himself can't make. But it is anxious work and planning for "Tubby," whereas Sammy has the pure joy of anticipation, plus the stimulus which comes from knowing that you are helping to create a pleasure.

Broadly speaking, no family ever has money enough to satisfy the desires all its members. The children always can find other children who have more to spend, have better clothes and more elaborate toys, have an automobile in the family, or enjoy long trips during the summer. The boy or girl in high school always can find classmates who have more to spend on clothes, on parties, on football gear, on candy, in going to the theater. No young man or woman in college but will see some one else outstrip him, or her, in acquiring those things which money can buy—ample rooms, the materials for elaborate parties, generous contributions to the many college activities, the extra books recommended, the little week-end trips to country houses, and again clothes!

Out of college—or arrived at the age—the young man or woman marries and begins a life in which the spending competition seems to become the most strenuous of any period. Young wives demand a shelter—either owned or rented—in the best section of Our Town, where prices are high. And it isn't difficult to persaude the husband that if he expects to succeed he had beeter not advertise himself unable to pay what some other man is paying for a house or an office.

While the child is still in its most impressionable years, it can be made to understand most quickly that the money problem of its family is not like that of any other. It may be difficult to explain with complete satisfaction to the naturally socialistic mind of the child why the Smiths have more to spend than the Trotts, and why the Trotts have more than the Joneses. It may seem unjust and illogical. But also it must seem illogical that Sammy Jones at nine is taller and stronger, can run faster and dive better, than any boy in Our Town under eleven.

It is a question of getting in tune with the practical world as soon as possible.—Mother's Magazine.

THE MIZ.

A young Boston mother, with a practical sense of humor, has made a valuable contribution to the science of domestic discipline and incidentally solved a theological difficulty. Everybody has heard of the child who after long hearing of the phrase in the commandments, "the sea, and all that in them is," wanted to know what "the miz" was. This mother, after an extended and apparently hopeless struggle to develop in her young blood habits of order, procured a generous cretonne bag, on which were embroidered in large letters the words "The Miz." Into this went everything that the children left lying about, and once "in the miz," an article remained there for the rest of the week. On Saturday night Tom received back his knife, Katie her book, Jack his tennis racquet, and so on for toys, or clothing, or personal belongings of any sort. Will, who had been capless for a couple of days, was once more able to cover his curly head, and Nell once more was in a condition to skate. At first "The Miz" on Saturday night bulged, like an overfed elephant; but as time went on it became leaner and leaner, until its opening ceased to be a moment of the discipline of humor and common sense.

Each week we will publish an illustrated question from the Bible and the following week publish the answer. See if you can find the answer before we publish it!

Make a family pastime of this interesting feature—it will amuse and instruct you.

Last Week's Question and the Answer

Last week's query: "What is the Bible's list of a lady's wardrobe?" is answered in Isaiah, Chapter 3, Verses 18-23:

"In that day the Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their cauls, and their round tires like the moon,

"The chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers,

"The bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earrings,

"The rings, and nose jewels,

"The changeable suits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wimples, and the crisping pins,

"The glasses, and the fine linen, and the hoods, and veils."

TULSA FIRES I. W. W. CREW

quarters. The other six had testified last night at the trials of their fellows in city court. They were being taken by a round about route to headquarters in three touring cars by city policemen when they were halted by the black shrouded figures who pointed rifles and pistols.

Had Planned Leniency.

The policemen had intended to exact the I. W. Ws. a promise to leave the city and not return whereupon the prison sentences would have been suspended. The policemen in charge of the prisoners offered no violence but were forced to drive the motor cars to the rendezvous in a ravine near the city and watch the work of the "Knights of Liberty" none of whom were recognized because of the disguises. Later in the night the streets of Tulsa were placarded with printed signs bearing this warning:

"Notice to I. W. Ws."

(Signed)

"VIGILANCE COMMITTEE."

When the party reached the ravine the Industrial Workers were ordered to strip to the waist. A careful guard was kept over each one who previously had been searched and whose hands had been tied with ropes.

Lashed Then Tarred.

A circle of motor cars was drawn about a huge tree and in the glare of the headlights man after man was tied up and lashed on the back until the blood ran. Hot tar then was applied and handfuls of feathers thrown into the tar.

One old man begged for mercy and cried that he was not an I. W. W. but a "knight" declared he had been arrested in the raid on the state headquarters and he took his turn at the whipping post.

When the residence of J. Edgard Pew, vice-president of the Carter Oil company was blown up here October 29 by a nitroglycerine bomb, city, county, state and federal officials asserted it was thought premature breaking of an I. W. W. plot to terrorize the old industry of which Tulsa is a center. The reign of terror, it was said, was scheduled to begin Nov. 1. Extensive plans were made to combat the alleged aims of the I. W. W. and there were no serious developments.

HERE'S STORY OF TROTZKY, ANARCHIST LEADER

"He was expelled from Austria because he had written a book against kaiserism, and went back to Switzerland and from there to Paris, where he became editor of the Russian newspaper, Our Cause.

"That paper was suppressed by the French censorship and Trotzky ordered to leave Franc. He went to spain, but on request of the French he was again deported, so he sailed for New York, arriving last January.

"In New York he helped organize the Socialist Propaganda league, became a member of the Russian branch of the American socialist party, an dtemporarily, while our editor was away on lecture tour, he edited the paper here, fo rthree months.

"April 27, after the Russian revolution, he left New York for Petrograd by way of Canada and Norway, but was arrested at Halifax, with a few others of his comrades. On the intercession of Milukoff, he was released and arrived in Petrograd in May. He was almost immediately elected a member of the council of workmen and soldiers' delegates.

"He is identified with the Bolsheviki groups and wa selected chairman of the Bolsheviki convention recently held in Petrograd.

"He was arrested in July by the Kerensky government, after the uprising in Petrograd, but was released, and took a prominent part in the so-called democratic convention about a month ago. He was the leader of the left wing in that convention.

"Trotzky, as a leader of the Bolsheviki, stands for three things: First, peace; but not a separate peace; a general peace under the familiar formula of no annexations and no indemnities. All these men are against a separate peace with Germany. Why do they want a general peace? Because the war has ruined Russia, and she cannot be rebuilt until peace comes.

"The second demand is that the land shall be given immediately to the peasants. Without this, nothing can be done for the reconstruction of Russia.

"The provisional government consented to the distribution of land, long ago, but they want to wait until the constitutional assembly shall solve that problem. The Bolsheviki want the assembly to convene at once. That is their third demand. The land owners want the constitutional assembly delayed until the war is ended.

"The fourth demand of Trotzky and the Bolsheviki is that all the power shall be given over to the councils of workmen and soldiers' delegates; that is, that the council of ministers shall consist of representatives of the peasantry and the workmen, and be responsible to them.

"The news from Russia shows that the Bolsheviki have a lot of people behind them, but how many, and who is going to support them, and who is going to fight them, are difficult things to say."

IRELAND HAS PROSPERITY

in Ireland, particularly less war-time curtailment of personal liberty, as for instance, regarding restrictions in eating and drinking. There is no conscription there, no "defense of the realm act" and few war taxes.

More and Better Food.

There is not only more food and drink there than in England, but it is of better quality. And in most parts of Ireland it is cheaper. Meatless and potatoless days are unknown there. Potatoes were never so plentiful. That they are cheaper even than in the United States was unknown to the commissary department of the American navy which recently shipped to the flotilla about 10,000 bushels, but which were never unloaded. After discharging its cargo of other foodstuffs, the naval supply ship was sent to another port where the potatoes were sold to the British government.

Fresh meat also is cheaper in Ireland than in England or the United States. The Americans buy a large part of their meat ashore. Porterhouse steaks are from 5 to 7 cents a pound cheaper than in the United States.

Large Portions Served.

The Americans are struck by the large portions served in Ireland as compared with the lean ones they get in England. For three shillings they get a meal which includes soup, fish or lobster and sometimes both, hot or cold meat, dessert, cheese and biscuits and tea or coffee. The same meal in a hotel of corresponding grade in England would cost at least six shillings.

Drink, too, is not only more plentiful but of better quality. The drinking places in Ireland are open all day and until 11 o'clock at night, whereas in England and Scotland they are only open for two hours in the afternoon and three hours in the evening.

In England today it is considered indelicate to ask a friend for a match. In France matches are well nigh unobtainable. All the continental countries are suffering from a match famine. Not so in Ireland. Hotels, barrooms and cigar stands all have matches in abundance and they are used with the same freedom as in time of peace.

Great Area Under Plow.

The immense amount of land under the plow impresses the visitor and he talks with many farmers who boast of the record prices they are getting for their product, especially their live stock. Cows, sheep and pigs are so plentiful that the beautiful rolling landscape is fairly dotted with them. Neither is the farmer troubled with a shortage of labor as in England. Labor is plentiful and of good quality and laborers not only in the agricultural but also in the industrial districts, being largely young men and women. This favorable labor situation is due to the fact that there has been practically no emigration from Ireland for three years, and the thousands of young men and women who formerly set out for America each month now remain in the country.

enemy against our trenches and small posts, especially in the sectors of Loivre, Courcey and Dugodat. We repulsed the enemy by our fire and he was not able to approach our lines at any point.

"East of Neuville we penetrated a German trench and destroyed shelters.

"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun frnot) the artillery duel continues spiritedly near Chaume wood, where in patrol engagements we took prisoners.

In the Vosges and Alsace we inflicted considerable losses in raiding enemy lines northwest of Sennones and east of Seppois. There is nothing to report elsewhere.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

months will be offered by the Maximalist government of Petrograd. During this time, Nikolai Lenine, leader of the Maximalists plans that representatives elected by the people of all nations will settle the question of peace. Lenine's government is willing to consider proposals for a just peace from either side.

Moscow, the ancient capital of Russia, is reported to have gone over to the revolutionists. The garrison has suported the revolutionary government in taking over the government offices. Conditions in Moscow and Petrograd are reported to be quiet. The Bolsheviki element in the peasant's congress and the workmen's and soldiers' organizations is meeting with opposition from members of the Petrograd municipal council and the minimalists. The opposing factions will not acknowledge the authority of the Maxamilists and are said to be planning an appeal to the Russian nation regarding the Petrograd revolt. A cabinet has been named by the Bolsheviki with Lenine as premier. As yet no clashes between the Maximalists and the supporters of the Keresnky cabinet are reported and the whereabouts of Kerensky is still in doubt. The revolutionary committee had ordered that the former premier be arrested and imprisoned with other ministers now in the fortress in Petrograd. Lenine also has given instructions that his forces shall move against any soldiers supporting Kerensky and has appealed to the railroad men not to transport Kerensky adherents. It is not clear whether the Russian armies as a whole have accepted the new government but it is reported that some units have gone to the revolutionary side. All available Russian advices except reports from Germany must come through Petrograd and even these have not indicated any great rush to the revolutionary leaders from the soldiers outside Petrograd and Moscow. The Russian war office has not issued a statement for several days. Berlin in its statement, however, mentions no great activity on the eastern fronts and there are no reports that the Austro-Germans have taken advantage of the disorder in Petrograd to make a determined attack at vital points between the Baltic and Black seas. A report from Copenhagen says the Germans have occupied the Aland islands at the entrance to the gulf of Bothnia which lies between Sweden and Finland.

Italy's armies, under a new commander, General Diaz, are in their new positions, probably along the Piave river, ready to offer stout sistance to the Austro-German invaders. It is apparent the momentary halt on the Livenza river was only for the purpose of delaying the enemy as much as possible until the bulk of the Italian forces could establish themselves in the new defense line. British and French troops have arrived in northern Italy and will aid the Italians in beating back the invaders from capturing Venice and the rich manufacturing district in Lombardy and Piedmont. Berlin reports the Teutons advancing toward the Piave through hill and over plain, indicating that the Italian withdrawal in the Carnic Alps has not yet halted.

General Cadorna has been appointed Italian member of an inter-allied staff. The other members are General Foch, one of the great French leaders, and General Wilson, of the British staff. These three probably will take supreme direction of the allied campaign in northern Italy. It was General Foch who drove the wedge into the German forces at the battle of the Marne.

The British campaign in Palestine continues with marked success. The entire Turkish army is retiring northward toward Jerusalem from the Gaza-Beersheba line. British and French warships are bombarding the retreating Turks from the coast, while British aviators are harrassing them with bombs and machine gun fire.

PLAN TO USE WASTE WOOD.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Plans for using all available wastewood as fuel are being considered by the fuel administration. Fuel administrators in several states already have taken a step in the direction by appealing to farmers to cut timber in clearing their farms into cordwood rather than burning it in the field.

RED CROSS TO SHIP CAR OF SUPPLIES

Eight Local Workers Attend Convention of Lake Division at Cleveland.

The Northern Indiana warehouse of the Red Cross will ship a car of supplies for the fighting men of the United States army the first of next week. This car will contain ninety packed boxes, filled with knittings, surgical dressings, hospital garments, hospital linen, Christmas packs and comfort kits. A shipment was received at the warehouse Saturday from Bluffton chapter of the Red Cross and a similar shipment came from Nappanee.

A number of Red Cross workers from the warehouse and the workshop are attending the convention of the Lake division at Cleveland Saturday. Those attending are Mrs. A. E. Fauve, Mrs. E. J. Rieke, Mrs. William K. Noble, Dr. Jessie Calvin, Mrs. Clarence Schoo, Miss Winifred Callahan, Mrs. N. D. Doughman and Mrs. Max Fisher.

Mrs. Samuel M. Foster donated $10, a friend gave $5 and Max Bierbaum, of the Dudlo plant, gave $1 to the general fund of the Red Cross. The ladies of Sand Point are planning to aid the local chapter by holding a chicken supper next Friday night at the Sand Point school, No. 5, Wayne township. The supper will commence at 6 o'clock and continue as long as anyone wants to eat. The proceeds will be turned over to the Red Cross. The supper has been sanctioned by the Allen County Council of Defense.

The Red Cross has received a supply of yarn but have no place to keep it. They would like to get a small bookcase from some one who has an old one for which they have no use.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

This morning the pressure distribution is rather irregular, with an area of high pressure occupying the Rocky mountain states and a depression of slight intensity centered over the lower Missouri valley. Scattered precipitation occurred at several widely separated stations, but as a rule the weather has been fair. The temperature changes have been generally unimportant, but the weather is somewhat cooler in northern Rocky mountain states.

MOTHER OF ONE OF THE NATION'S FIRST HERO DEAD IN THE WAR FOR LIBERTY WAS FOREWARNED OF HER SON'S FATE, SHE BELIEVES

What Weird Premonition Foretold to Evansville Woman the Death of Her Offspring in Trenches?—Strange Story of the War.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 9.—What mysterious wireless, beyond the knowledge of man, forewarned Mrs. Alice Dodd of the death of her son, James Gresham, first soldier of the American army killed in battle in France?

The perils of army life were not a new nightmare to Mrs. Dobb. Her son had enlisted four years ago. She was proud of him. She signed his papers, for he was under age.

He was in the first contingent to France, too. His risks in warfare were an old thought to his mother. And yet—

Why did Mrs. Dodd, brave and proud, weep unaccountably in terror each day for a week? Why was it that on a certain morning while she was eating breakfast something strange seemed to enter among the familiar surroundings of the room, and her eyes and throat got full, and her heart suddenly became a dull lump in her breast?

I was the messenger first to inform her that her son James was immortalized at 23 as the first American soldier to stain the soil of France with his blood in land battle—what premonition had traveled to her swifter than telegraph?

"Don't you think any mother would be glad to have her boy the first to give his life for his country in such a cause?" I had asked her, as casually as I could. Then I raised my glance to her eyes. There was no light in them. "Ah, God! It's not my boy that's dead?" she cried. But not in question. And then only two more sentences:

"God help me to endure.".

"Will they bring his body home?"

In her hand she held a little silk handkerchief embroidered in gay-colored floss, her son's last gift to her before he went "over the top." She felt only the personal tragedy—not the heroism and the history.

"Yes, he's a hero, and for his sake I ought to be brave," she said, and she was weeping. "But I'm not a hero. I am just a mother—and my boy is dead."

Besides his mother and stepfather, William Dodd, James Gresham leaves two brothers and two sisters. They are better able to detach themselves from the sense of loss so far as to feel that with Thomas Enright, of Pittsburg, and M. D. Hay, of Glidden, Ia., James Gresham forms one of an immortal trio as the first members of the American expeditionary force to give their lives in battle.

AN UNCERTAIN COURSE IN THE STOCK MARKET

New York, Nov. 10.—Stocks pursued an uncertain course during today's short session, some issues of the same class, notably the motor group, scoring gain, while others were inclined to react. Leaders moved more consistently, however, advancing for the most part. Standard rails added to yesterday's improvement and equipments, especially steels, also hardened, though subject to occasional pressure. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 350,000 shares.

HAY MAKES ADVANCE; MAY REACH $20 MARK

The effect of the present war is clearly shown by the continued high price of hay. It is predicted that before the first of the year it may reach a $25 price. A number of bailers have gone through the country and contracted for hay at a price better than $20 a ton. Hay on the local markets reached a top price of $21 a ton. Twelve loads were received at the city scales and five loads were bailed hay.

As was expected, Saturday was a fairly good corn day. Five loads of new corn received ready market at $1.00@1.15 a bushel. Old corn went back to the $2 mark for two loads. Four loads of oats brought 58@59c a bushel. There was a large market Saturday Prices remained about the same.

Michigan and New York Concord grape shipments have dwindled and dealers are cleaning up what they have in storage at steady prices. The scarcity of sugar has kept the demand at a minimum and prices have been extremely low in comparison with other fruit.
